ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association will take place Tuesday, April 11, at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, Ledgewood road.

The association has been fortunate in securing Dr. Channing Frothingham, who will speak to the group on "Present Economic Trends in Medicine," a subject which is of vital interest. The meeting will start at 2:30 p. m. Ten will be served.

Everyone is playing Autobridge. Boards for this fascinating game are $1 and $2 at the Star Office.

SPRING LUNCHEON BRIDGE

Will She, or Won't She?

Will the play have to go on with Hamlet left out? Will the leading lady really refuse to appear? Three Winchester women are asking themselves those questions.

Every April the women of the parish of the Epiphany plan to hail the early spring with a social event in the parish hall. This year it will be a luncheon bridge at 1 o'clock, Tuesday, April 11, to which they invite themselves, their friends, and their neighbors. The date naturally has to be set while it is still winter, and the committee on decorations never can be quite sure whether that capricious merchant from which they get their flowers, that whimsical croaker, spring in Massachusetts, will really deliver the forsythia they want for a golden bowery effect. She has been more than a bit on the surly side this last month, but the committee on decorations, Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills, Mrs. Einar Bratt and Mrs. Charles Wansker, are just keeping calm and saying we shall see what we shall see on Tuesday next.

Color of tickets is assured, whether it is rain or shine, or snowing and blowing; for the table prizes will be small hand-made towels of various hues. These, as well as the luncheon menu, are in the charge of the parish chairman of way and means, Mrs. William Martens. Assisting her will be Mrs. Arthur Allan, Mrs. John Bodman, Mrs. Francis Booth, Mrs. James Cleaves, Mrs. Arthur K. Farrell, Mrs. Frederick Hamerstrom, Mrs. Robert Hart, Mrs. Laurie Platt, Mrs. Clarence Perkins, Mrs. Paul Roberts, Mrs. Harry B. Sawyer and Mrs. Francis Bowers.

The sale of tickets is in the charge of Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter. Some hostesses are arranging to have tables of four. For the luncheon there will be also larger tables, where those who come singly or in two's or three's will find friends and they can make up groups for cards if they wish.

From 12 until 3 many varieties of home-cooked foods will be on sale, articles for which epiphany cooks are well-known. The food sale is in the hands of Mrs. T. W. Harris and Mrs. John Hanlon of the Evening Branch.

MRS. JOANNA H. GASKILL

Mrs. Joanna H. Gaskill, widow of Guilford Gaskill and a native of Winchester, died Friday, March 31, at her home in Waltham where she had been for some time in failing health. Mrs. Gaskill was the daughter of Michael and Mary O'Connell. She was educated in the Winchester schools and had made her home in this town until she moved to Waltham. She leaves a sister and a brother in Winchester, Mrs. Peter Foley and Jeremiah O'Connell.

The funeral was held from Monday morning with requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

RETURNED FROM ABROAD

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cusack of Mystic Valley Parkway, returned to New York last week Thursday on the S.S. Normandie from a month's tour of England and the Continent during which they enjoyed skiing in Switzerland and heard the speech of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in England. Upon docking in New York where their automobile was awaiting them, they drove to Cleveland, Ohio, to attend the wedding of Mrs. Cusack's cousin, Ralph S. Tyler, Jr., Friday evening in that city. They returned to Winchester Sunday.

EXHIBITION OF LOCAL TALENT AT LIBRARY

Nearly 100 persons attended the tea and opening of the exhibition of local talent held last Sunday afternoon in the library gallery upon the auspices of the Winchester Art Association. Mrs. Hollis W. Nickerson was in charge of the tea, for which the pourers were Miss Edna Hatch and Mrs. Charles Smith.

The exhibition of local talent was first held by the association a year ago, and this year attracted many more entries. A large number of pictures and pieces of sculpture were rejected by the judges, who were for the pictures, Bernard Keyes, John Enser and Richard Briggs. Parker Lord judged the sculpture, this exhibition though smaller than that of the paintings, being generally good and including several pieces of outstanding merit. Unfortunately the committee did not think it wise to leave the sculpture on exhibition as no case was available and it was feared that some of the pieces might be damaged. They were therefore returned to their owners and will not be available for public inspection, but those who saw them last Sunday found them generally admirable.

The paintings selected by the judges covered a variety of subjects, including still life, portraiture, marines and landscapes. By far the greater number were of the latter variety. Oils, water colors, and charcoal were among the media used by the exhibitors who included both amateurs and professionals, children and adults.

Generally speaking the show occasioned much favorable comment and served as an excellent index of the increased local interest which the Art Association has aroused, even in the last two years, and of the need for such an organization as a cultural aid to the community. No one could see the exhibition at the library and remain in doubt of a fairly healthy interest in art in Winchester, nor could he examine the work shown and escape the conclusion that there is definite talent among those in town who are making art one of their hobbies.

An exhibition of local talent can not be held without incurring certain definite hazards. The Art Association has sought to avoid as many of these hazards as possible, but it is still some problems which must be faced before another local talent exhibition is held.

One is whether to permit any exhibitor to show more than one painting. With the large number of entries being received, the rather limited space and the inclusion of both amateur and professional entrants, this question was bound to arise and must be dealt with. Another problem is the place that work of professional grade should have in an exhibition of this sort. Amateur art can not fail to suffer by too close comparison with professional standards, yet both still have their place in the true cross-section of art in the community. If too much of the professional is accepted, there will obviously be soon too little of the amateur and much of the purpose of an exhibit of local talent will be, it would seem, defeated.

The place which the work of children should have in an exhibition of this sort is still another problem. The association will have to decide definitely how much indulgence it can, and should show the youngsters with the large increase in entries by more mature exhibitors and the limited space available.

The rejection of entries is bound to occasion disappointment which can easily become resentment if work is shown which seems to the prospective exhibitors definitely inferior to theirs. Judging for an art show, particularly for a show like the exhibition of local talent, is a thankless job at best, and those who judged this year's show were guided only by their own opinion of the entry's merit; they knew none of the exhibitors. That experts themselves can disagree sharply can be gathered from the fact that one of the pictures rejected was one which an artist of national reputation had found much to his liking.

Among the exhibitors of pictures were: Alderman, Henry O. Glidden, Jennie Haskell, George Hayden, Jr., Ann Crowell, Grace Aseltine, Eleanor Kleinschmidt, Edith L. Caverly, Francis S. Merritt, Frances B. Godfrey, Elizabeth Longie, Genevra C. Underwood, Dorothy Howard, Polly Hall, Claire Curtis, Winifred Williams, Brock Lynch, G. Russell Mann, M. L. Smith, Mildred Williams, Jennie Lou Elliott, Eve Wright, Henderson, E. D. Chase, Adelaide M. Bratt, Jane Atkin, F. A. Gaffney, Helen L. Redfern, G. H. McMillan, Barbara Elliott, Barbara Lynch, Jacqueline King, Bobby Lynch, Dorothy Glidden, De Ette Carver, Alice Donnell. Those showing sculpture included Ruth Sheldon, Adelaide Bratt, Rowena Halliwell, Edna Hatch, Winifred Williams, Mrs. Nelson, Carol Nickerson, David Lohman, Emily March C. Winsome, Brown, Margery Burr and Adele Williams.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In a recent issue of the "Union Signal" occurs the following statement:

"The brewers picture beer as 'for centuries the beverage of moderation.' They dodge the fact that the 4,000-year record of dissipation and degradation through alcohol, which preceded the use of distilled liquors in modern times, is a record of beer and wine debauchery alone.

The brewers claim that beer deserves a place next to the soda fountain, but this has been answered once and for all time by the Hon. W. S. Alexander, chairman of the Federal Alcohol Administration, who warns them: 'No campaign of education by the brewing industry will ever convince the American public that beer is a soft drink. You can never succeed in separating beer from other alcoholic beverages in the public mind.'

In a word, beer's program is a program of camouflage and suppression.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The members of the Winchester Garden Club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Arthur S. Kelley, 47 Mystic Valley Parkway, on Wednesday afternoon, April 12. Dessert will be served at 1:30.

Mr. Alexander L. Heimlich of the Snowflake Gardens will give an illustrated lecture on the construction, planting and population of pools.

MYSTIC SCHOOL NOTES

The next meeting of the Mothers' Association of the Mystic School will be held on Tuesday, April 11, at 2:30 p. m. in the school auditorium. This time we will hear about the physical education work that is being done in the elementary schools. The speakers will be Miss Niedringhaus and Coach Meurling, who will also give a demonstration program with some of the children from their classes.

WOULD YOU DRIVE WITHOUT A SPARE TIRE?

The wise family man needs life insurance for readjustment just as much as his car needs a spare tire. Whether it is all the protection he owns, or simply one policy in a complete life insurance program, it is likely to be the most important factor in his family's financial future—if they ever have to go along without him.

The John Hancock readjustment plan is designed with the idea of continuing the breadwinner's support for a year or more after death. It gives dependents time to prepare for living on a reduced income or for arranging to replace the breadwinner's earnings with their own.

This special protection is within the reach of every man who can earn a comfortable living for his family today. Ask a John Hancock representative about the Readjustment Plan or write for descriptive booklet.

MASONS TO HONOR GEORGE WASHINGTON

Masonic Lodges of the Somerville and Arlington Sixth Masonic Districts are to join in the observance of the 150th anniversary of the inauguration of the First President of the United States with a George Washington Memorial Service in the First Congregational Church on Sunday afternoon, April 30, at 3 o'clock. George Washington was at the time of his inauguration master of his Masonic Lodge and services similar to the one in Winchester will be held all over Massachusetts and throughout the nation.

Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the church, will make the invocation and among the other clergymen to participate will be Rev. George A. Butters, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Church, Arlington, and former pastor of the Winchester Crawford Memorial Church. The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

Mrs. Jesse S. Wilson, president, and all the board of the P. T. A. in the Junior High School wish to thank all those who helped make their Dessert Card party such an outstanding success. Mrs. P. T. Budgell as general chairman attended to the multitudinous details most efficiently, so the whole thing went off very smoothly. A delectable dessert of individual lemon pies and coffee was served by Mrs. G. C. Manning aided by her able committee. Mrs. Harris Richardson presided over the food table from which were sold delicious home-made cakes and cookies. Tray loads of gay baskets filled with candy and nuts were dispensed by Mrs. Ralph Bonnell. Every one hoped to win the gorgeous bowl of spring flowers which added such a decorative note to the gay Spring setting. Mrs. Forrest Pitman was in charge of the chances, and Mrs. Ralph Swanson the lucky winner. Our goal was realized, thereby enabling us to enrich the Scholarship Fund with a tidy sum.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

 Acting scoutmaster John C. Casler, Paul Butterworth, junior assistant scoutmaster, Ernest Butterworth, chairman of the scout committee and Ray Bohannon went to Camp Lane last Saturday with 12 scouts.

We arrived in camp about 9:45 a. m. Gerald Buckley, Richard Willis and Everett Stevens started at 8:30 to hike, they arrived at the camp at 10:35 a. m., covering the seven miles in two hours and five minutes. This may not be a record, yet it was very good time.

After the smoke from nine fires had cleared away, the aroma of steak and onions filled the air. At 12 o'clock the acting scoutmaster had a hot chicken pie, hot rolls, apple pie and cocoa for each scout for dinner.

Gerald Buckley passed fire building, second class cooking, knife and axe, scout pace and the 14 mile hike. Everett Stevens passed fire building, second class cooking, scout pace, knife and axe, tracking and the 14 mile hike. Richard Willis passed knife and axe and the 14 mile hike. Guy DeFillippo passed second class cooking.

Ralph Reynolds passed fire building, second class cooking and tracking. Philip Ewell passed fire building and second class cooking. Addison Augusta passed second class cooking. Edward O'Connell and Thomas Flaherty did splendid service in the camp kitchen. A total of 19 tests were passed. Gerald Buckley passed service and compass last Monday night.

UNITARIAN LUNCHEON

On Tuesday, April 18, Group VIII of the Ladies' Friendly Society will hold a peasant luncheon at the church at 1 p. m. Mrs. Richard Parkhurst, Mrs. Wado L. Grindle and Mrs. W. L. Mills are chairmen. After the lunch an unique white elephant sale will be held at which useful and beautiful articles donated by friends will be auctioned. Mr. Harry Goddard will be the auctioneer. Bridge tables will be ready for those who wish to play. Mrs. Edward Kensonson, tel. Win. 0914, has charge of the tickets. Single tickets, 89c; four for $3.50.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF CITIZENSHIP CLASSES

Pan American Day, which will be observed in the 21 Pan American countries on April 14, received special attention at the closing exercises of the Citizenship Classes in the Lincoln School on Thursday evening, March 30.

The pupils interpreted the meaning, origin and observance of this day through recitations, a playlet and presentation of colors of each of the Pan American Republics, climaxed by a salute and pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

During the presentation of colors, music of the Pan American countries was played by Miss Rose Desmond.

The "Hill Billies," composed of Cosimo Simonetta, Charles Gaine, Guy Migliaccio and Pasquale Ferrino furnished the march and musical selections of the evening.

Angelo Amico entertained with a piano selection.

Following the exercises, James J. Quinn, Superintendent of Schools, addressed the students and their friends. He exhorted all to accept and exercise civic responsibilities and to be ever mindful and grateful of the great American heritage and guarantee of "Human Rights." He urged his listeners to remember that these individual rights also bring individual responsibilities.

Mr. Quinn, in presenting the certificates and citizenship diplomas congratulated the students and gave special recognition to those who had had perfect attendance.

The milking of America goes merrily on, and like Charlie McCarthy's elevator, the money flows in and out like no other nation on earth, making secure our rulers in politics and jobs. Under tender terms, embellished with soothing terms, the old cow kicked around in the name of business is milked and milked. One hears on every side the carefully selected titles under which the milk is drained. "Security," "Aid," "Assistance," "Adjustment," "Welfare," and the like lull the animals. Business is appeased by "Contribution," a term much easier on the mind than the pocketbook. Now, under the uplifting title of Social Security we have sent in our checks for our first quarter's business fine. One hundred and forty-five dollars odd. Add to this other checks sent in under the same high-sounding title and we have paid to our rulers for doing business three hundred and two dollars thus far in 1939. All in the name of Social Security! Add the year's other taxes—Federal, State and Town (with Pay Roll Excise, the usual odds and ends added), along with unemployment compensation, disability insurance, fire insurance, welfare solicitations, etc., and wonder how we do it! We do. No wonder more and more business men, after struggling to keep out of the red and then being faced with pouring what little they can salvage into the pill are questioning whether the game is worth the candle. It is interesting to note that those who go down with the ship list prominently among contributory causes, increased wages and social security payments. Social perhaps, but no security for them. The line between the totalitarian states and the free and equal United States of America is being more and more closely drawn, and no manner of smiles and hearty laughter can draw it apart. We have no properly called concentration camps yet, but blind obedience is necessary if one is to escape the welcoming gates of our jails. So long as anyone has anything to put into the pill it is all right—they can and are getting it, but it takes a kick without the speed to see our jails. We don't come under big and we don't come under small, so we presume we are tiny, but if we can pay $301.95 with eight employees (if we are allowed to mention them), on this Social Security robbery, just how long can we continue to do so? Who cares?

ART EXHIBITION BY CHILDREN

The Children's Art Class sponsored by the Winchester Art Association held its own exhibition last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Robert Burr on Wildwood street with parents and friends of the young exhibitors invited to attend. The class has been meeting Saturday forenoon all winter in the recreation room of the Burr home, the children having evinced much interest and made considerable progress under their instructor.

Those who visited the exhibit Saturday were impressed with the youngsters' general sense of color values, their appreciation of design and ability to portray rather convincingly the highly imaginative subjects so dear to youth.

Among the pictures, done in pencil, crayon and water color, were illustrations for favorite nursery rhymes, still life, several very imaginative underwater pictures, action drawings of skiers and skaters, a very impressionistic picture of the hurricane and several rather good little sketches done from life of members of the class. One of a little girl lying prone on her stomach reading was very well done. Several of the pictures had a strongly religious motif.

Besides the pictures there were displayed a number of pieces modeled by the children, including animals, dancing girls, airplanes, St. Cecilia and sports subjects. A bas-relief of a dog in this group was especially well done and a baseball infielder stretching at full length to come up with the ball challenged attention.

Among those who exhibited were Ellen Jackson, Arthur Lawson, Dominic Talone, David Whorf, Louise Brown, Jean Bradlee, Gordon Clendon, Marilyn Drake, Virginia Burr, Barbara Wood, Francis Donahue, Josephine Gormley, Constance Budgell, Michael Brown, Fay Pike, William Eaton and Yvonne Clemmon.

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

The snow train trip scheduled for Cannon Mountain last week-end was changed by the B. & M. to Intervale. Those of the club who went were Harry Bean, Fred Whitney, Will Grush and Bubbles Larson. Other Winchester skiers were Ted Yeo, Cy Perkins, Hub and Bob Howe.

The inferno race at Tuckerman's Ravine will be the big event for Easter. Al Moorhouse of the Ski Bulletin reports that there is a huge amount of snow in the ravine and looks forward to a long season of spring skiing at least until the middle of June or later.

The annual meeting has been set for Saturday, April 22 at 6 p. m. The place will be the Boy Scout cabin on Border road.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Eight members were absent from the meeting of April 6, one of whom has already made up for his absence. The month of March will be distinctive in the annals of the club as having registered the lowest attendance of the year. Members out of town and other members in poor health account chiefly for the low mark which is uncommon on all but the month of April should bring a much better story. Everybody up.

Frank had planned to be with us today but transportation difficulties intervened and change his plans. We shall be pleased to welcome him at his regular post next Thursday. Harry Winn is much improved in health and he too should be on hand at our next meeting. It looks as if there might be a grand reunion at that time.

President Ralph is with us once more after his excursion to Pinehurst which, unfortunately, resulted in a mean cold for Ralph. Bill Hever also, has returned from his outing but he is not afflicted with a cold. All of which brings to mind the query, to what extent does relaxation relax?

Our radio friends "Lum and Abner" who broadcast regularly at 7:15 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays have discovered Rotary and are going to "tell the world" about it on Wednesday, April 12. Local Rotarians and their friends should tune in on WEEL on the above date. This will be too good to miss and will be a welcome addition to the celebration of the Massachusetts holiday.

The Rotary Club of Queens Borough in Greater New York City has arranged to hold its meetings in one of the restaurants on the World's Fair grounds and so will be in a position to entertain all Rotarian visitors during the Fair at a minimum of inconvenience to these visitors, thus giving them little cause for worry in regard to makeups.

Our Chief "Bill" Rogers was an eye witness of the unfortunate airplane accident at East Braintree last Tuesday at the time of the launching of the plane carrier Wasp. He was induced to tell his story of the crash at our meeting today. We infer that Bill is not anxious to observe another such incident. And we wish that another might never happen.

Our past President Warren Hersey had the floor after luncheon at today's meeting when he entertained us by presenting various details in connection with his latest hobby, miniature railways. Warren exhibited a large assortment of locomotives, cars, trucks, tracks, etc., and his accompanying talk proved that he is more than a little familiar with the technicalities necessary to operate the same. Thanks, Warren, and may you be successful in keeping monkey wrenches and such like remote from the smoothly running gears. As is customary Warren offered to reply to questions from the floor at the close of his address but, alas, intelligent queries seemed beyond the grasp of his audience and he got away "with the greatest of ease."

The attendance record, previously mentioned in this writing, should experience a vigorous boost as a sequel to our announcement that Mayor Kane of Woburn is scheduled to speak at our next meeting on April 13 when he proposes to tell the whys and wherefores of his spectacular efforts to promote economy in the civic affairs of our neighbor to the north. An exceptional opportunity for us to get this thing straight. Yes, we know that all you members propose to be present on the 13th inst.

Percentage of attendance, March 30, 76.47 per cent.

TWENTY-ONE APRILS

To the Editor of the Star:
To me, the piece in last week's Star, entitled "Twenty-One Aprils" was the most touching piece I ever read in your paper, bringing back to me, as it did, those days when Winchester was saying Good Bye to her boys and promising to be ready to welcome them back when the war was over.

Many mornings I took boys to Arlington from where they embarked to different points of light in the Great War to end all wars. Some of them I never saw again and it touches me deeply when it is brought to mind as this piece has done.

How little that great sacrifice really accomplished towards ending wars. May God keep the United States of America out of war forever.
J. A. Laraway

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Higgins of Hemmingway street returned to Winchester the first of the week after spending three months in Florida.

... but it also takes RESPONSIBILITY

You can't let a home "go" without inviting discomfort and risking your investment. It takes repairing, redecorating — sometimes remodeling — to keep a home a home.

That's exactly what our Property Improvement Loans are for . . . to help you make home repairs promptly and pay for them conveniently.

This is the FHA Plan: You repay the loan in monthly payments which are spread over a convenient period of years to suit your income.

The Golden Rule: "I am the Lord that beareth thee" (Exodus 15:26).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But ye are doers of the word and not hearers, only deceiving your own selves. But who so looketh into the perfect law of liberty and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, shall be blessed in his deed" (James 1:22, 25).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Every day makes its demands upon us for higher power. These demands consist solely in the destruction of sin, sickness and death, the power of Spirit, as Jesus destroyed them. This is an element of progress, and progress is the law of God, which law demands of us only what we can certainly fulfill" (p. 233).

GROUP'S SPRING PLAY FAMED MODERN COMEDY

"The First Lady" was one of Broadway's smash hits. Its success was based on the excellent characterization, amusing dialogues and the satirical Washington background.

In attempting the production of this famous comedy with its huge cast, the Group Theatre offers real spring theatrical fare to the long list of sustaining and active members. The cast, which includes such well known actresses as Martha Kelley, Hersilia Elmer, Ann Norton, Lenore Gamage, Anne Burnham, Esther Caldwell and many others, has been hard at work under the direction of Beulah Page Sibley of Brookline.

The full list of those taking part in the final production of the Group's fifth anniversary season will be released next week.

Tickets for the sustaining members will be in the mails this week. Those wishing to become sustaining members before the presentation on April 29 may do so by communicating with Mrs. Theodore W. Rosenvinge, Win. 2603. The sustaining memberships signed for at this time will be good for the spring and the fall productions of the Group. In addition to those memberships guests are cordially invited to attend the production by using guest tickets available from every member.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Clark presented Mrs. Whitman with the gavel as a sign of her induction into office, and Mrs. Whitman gave, as the main plank in her platform, those immortal words of Goethe's, "That which our fathers have bequeathed to us, we must earn to keep."

HIGH SCORER

Winchester's entry in the junior division of the Boys' Club basketball tournament in Charlestown Tuesday evening lost a close game to the Lynn Harps 28 to 26. At the last minute Lane McGovern, one of the local boys, was unable to make the trip and his place at right forward was taken by "Dick" Hakanson, last year's captain at Winchester High, now at Lowell Textile. All "Haky" did was tally 22 points, seven more than the second high man in all five divisions. Playing with "Haky" were Spaulding, Murph. R. and P. Drew, Coon, and Terrault.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Shirley Temple in "The Little Princess," plus "Tailspin" starring Alice Faye, Constance Bennett, Nancy Kelly, Charles Farrell, is the double bill opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden on Friday. "The Little Princess" presents Shirley Temple for the first time in technicolor and her supporting cast includes such favorites as Richard Green, Anita Louise, Ian Hunter, Cesar Romero, Arthur Treacher and Sybil Jason. "The Little Princess" was written by Frances Hodgson Burnett and stands as one of the most widely read books ever published.

"Tailspin" is something new in aviation pictures as it presents three former hat check girls who saves her tips and buys a plane. She is frank in saying that she only wants the money she can get out of it. Nancy Kelly is married to a famous stunt flyer and flies her own plane to please her husband. Constance Bennett is cast as a wealthy girl who flies for the fun of it. She enters her new plane in the ladies race which makes it look as if Alice Faye and Miss Kelly are out of luck and Miss Bennett's plane is the latest in development. Then the husband of Nancy Kelly is killed in the opening event of the derby, while trying out a plane belonging to Miss Bennett. The next day the girls take to the air for the derby and Miss Bennett, after lapping the field, fakes motor trouble and allows Alice Faye to win.

The resourcefulness and bravery of an old native water carrier in keeping three men alive during the siege of a Hindu temple in northern India, provides one of the thrilling episodes of "Gunga Din," screen version based on Rudyard Kipling's verse, which starts Sunday at the University Theatre. Gary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. portray the three British sergeants. John Fontaine, Eduardo Ciannelli, Montagu Love, Robert Coote and Abner Biberman have prominent supporting roles.

Robert Sherwood's Pulitzer prize-winning play, "Idiot's Delight," comes to the screen Wednesday with Norma Shearer and Clark Gable in the memorable roles created by Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne. Among them are Edward Arnold, Charles Coburn, Joseph Schildkraut, Burgess Meredith, Laura Hope Crews, Skeets Gallagher, Peter Willes, Pat Patterson, William Edmunds, Fritz Feld and a group known as "Gable's Glamour Girls," who dance with him in a burlesque number. YOU'VE probably noticed that most of the folks who drive Buicks come back again and again to this great automobile when it's time to buy a new car.

There are two reasons for that. One's a money reason, the other's a pleasure reason.

Sticking to Buick means you're sure every year that you're getting top value, and no hunting all over town to find it.

Repeating on Buick means that season after season you ride behind the ablest eight of its size in the world—the Buick valve-in-head straight-eight, that Dynaflex power-house that's livelier and smoother and thrifter than engines of other type.

Year after year you'll travel in comfort—the smooth, easy, level-going comfort of the torque-tube drive and BuicOil Springing, sailing along on a staunch and sturdy chassis that holds you true and steady to your course.

You always have room in a Buick—and this year you've a new and broader outlook through 412 added square inches of safety plate glass. And you're leading the style parade—no doubt about that—with appearance that's like a leaf from tomorrow's book.

All of which adds up, you'll find, to satisfaction so complete that once you've got the Buick driving habit, no other car quite seems to measure up.

Now this big strong resilient straight-eight costs less than you think. It's priced lower than a year ago—even below some sixes.

So why not simplify your car-buying for all time—get that smart Buick riding habit now.

In no other way that we know can you make sure of having so much fun. Or of getting so much value for every penny you spend!

FORMER PRESIDENT OF CZECHS TO SPEAK

Mrs. George G. Brayley of the Winchester League of Women Voters is a member of the General Committee arranging for the lecture of Dr. Eduard Benes, former president of Czechoslovakia, now in this country lecturing at Chicago University. This will be Dr. Benes' first visit to New England and his first public address here. He has announced his subject "Will European Democracy Collapse?"

He is sponsored in Boston by the League of Women Voters and will speak Wednesday evening, April 10, at Symphony Hall, Boston, where seats are now on public sale.

Since the World War, Dr. Benes has worked for the extension of democracy in Central Europe, first in Paris during the days preceding the Treaty of Versailles then at Geneva in connection with world organization, and always since its creation in the new Democratic State of his home country, Czechoslovakia. He became its second President after resigning after the Munich Pact became a reality. After all the disillusioning events of the past months, Dr. Benes declares he remains "a democrat and not a defeatist." His spirit and his insight into the forces determining governmental policies have significance not only for Europe, but for the United States.

His Excellency, Leverett Saltonstall and Hon. Maurice J. Tobin, Mayor of Boston, head the list of the honorary committee which, with the League of Women Voters, has issued over 3,000 announcements of this timely event.

AMENDMENT TO BUILDING LAWS
TOWN OF WINCHESTER, MASS.Adopted at Representative Town Meeting
on March 20, 1939

VOTED, That division 29 of the Building Laws be and it is hereby amended by inserting after section 201, the following new section:—

Section 201A. The following regulations shall apply to air duct systems installed in residences for heating, cooling or ventilating or air conditioning or for any combination of any of said purposes, in which the movement of air is induced or accelerated by mechanical means;

All heaters which are automatically controlled from a house thermostat shall be equipped with an approved automatic device to limit the air temperature in the furnace bonnet which cannot be set at a higher temperature than 200 degrees Fahrenheit.

OIL OR GAS FIRED HEATERS

In every main supply duct a damper shall be installed, near the heater and in such manner as not to interfere with the passage of air when open, which shall be held open by a fusible link, fusible at a temperature not above 210 degrees Fahrenheit and the fusing of which will cause the damper to drop and effectually stop the passage of warm air into the duct and in oil fired heaters will also stop the flow of oil.

In every such duct there shall also be a hand hole to permit the replacement of fuses, so made and covered as to be substantially airtight.

All ducts shall be constructed entirely of non-combustible material not less than No. 26 U. S. gauge in thickness in round ducts not exceeding 12 inches in diameter, and in square ducts not exceeding 14 inches in width; and not less than No. 24 U. S. gauge in larger ducts.

All such ducts shall be so constructed as to be substantially airtight and shall be supported by metal hangers, straps, lugs or brackets and installed in such a manner that nails shall not be driven through the walls, and plaster shall be keyed.

All spaces between ducts and combustible partitions on floors through which they pass shall be thoroughly firestopped on all sides with non-combustible material.

All ducts above any cellar ceiling shall be installed and in place before any rough wiring is done.

No exposed ducts in cellars shall be installed until after the ceiling is plastered smoke tight and all such ducts shall be attached as close to the ceiling as possible.

No exposed ducts and not more than one inlet duct shall be permitted in a garage. The inlet duct shall be installed not less than six feet from the floor and shall be equipped with a carefully hung and balanced damper which will prevent the return of air or gasses through the duct.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an amendment to the Building Laws adopted by the Town of Winchester, Mass., at an adjourned session of the Representative Town Meeting of March 16, 1939, held on March 20, 1939, and approved by the Attorney General of Massachusetts on April 4, 1939.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The dreadful moment of parting approaches, the announcement of the annual meeting heralds the breaking up of the happy get-togethers of recent months, for the long, but happy summer days, but come it must, on next Monday, the 10th.

But to counteract the sadness of parting, comes word of the splendid program arranged for the important occasion. Luncheon will be served at 12:30, call Mary Cass if you have not already made arrangements for a seat, the annual meeting will begin at 2:30, after which we are to hear the inside story of Hollywood, its personalities and activities, as reported by Alice Dixon Bond, whose charming personality and sparkling humor have endeared her to club women everywhere.

She will tell of her interesting visit to Hollywood, describe some of the interesting stars she has met there, and some of the new pictures she saw in production, an apt subject for a talk in these movie conscious days!

WHICH LEVEL OF LIFE?

Young people of Winchester filled the Church of the Epiphany Palm Sunday afternoon to hear Dr. Norman B. Nash speak to them on "The Three Levels of Life." Human life can be lived by any one of three levels.

A man may live an aimless life, or an ambitious life or a devoted life. The aimless life needs no definition for us; we all know what it is; it is the life we have in our early childhood. But just the accumulation of birthdays does not assure our growing out of it; we may stay all our life long in that drifting, undeveloped state, childlessly restless, grasping at this and that, dependent on things and circumstances for our happiness, never really growing up.

Out of this childish drifting young people are much exhorted to lift themselves to a more adult kind of self, to the ambitious life, the life that makes the most of ourselves, that does our best, that looks out at some of the great achievements and successes men and women have attained and says, "that I mean to do and to be." This stage, of mapping the world of men's activity and taking stock of one's own powers and dreaming shining dreams about the kind of business and house and home one hopes to have is important and proper to youth. But one who stops there, and people can and do stop there, is not fully grown up. We see such people pitifully wrapping themselves the more tightly in dreams the less they have made those dreams reality.

To grow up in the real sense one must find the third level, the devoted life. On Palm Sunday we were remembering one special life among all the lives that men have lived. Dr. Nash recalled to his hearers from that time and that circle three young men, two who were still living the ambitious life and one who was steadfast in the devoted life. James and John wanted the chief places in an earthly kingdom, and the rest of that circle were still on that same level; for if they were less energetic to ask they were ambitious enough to be irritated at the askers. Jesus was living life on the third level, utterly devoted to a purpose for which it was worth while to fail and to die. Life in its essential quality is the devoted life. "Of this life religion is the beginning. Of this life Christianity is the sum."

Assisting in the devotional service was Rev. William Packer, known to many of them already as a friend of the tennis courts. The choir of the Epiphany gave the music, which included "Fling Wide the Gates," the processional Palm Sunday portion of Sir John Stainer's "Crucifixion." Rev. Dwight W. Hadley read the service of Evening Prayer.

The Palm Sunday service was the first that young people of Winchester have held. It was arranged by the Affiliated Youth Organization, which should be encouraged by the large response to make it a yearly event.

"ANTIQUES BARTER"

With the latching out to all federated women's club members, the monthly "Antique Barter" will be held on Thursday morning, April 13, from 10:30 to 12:30. While planned primarily for the exchange of ideas for programs, the "Barter's" present varied hobbies of members of the division of preservation of antiques, of which Miss Eleanor Hudson of this town is chairman. At the coming meeting of the group of speakers includes Mrs. Schuyler F. Herron, a former well known resident and wife of one of Winchester's school superintendents, who will speak on "Collecting Old Houses."

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

A decided atmosphere of spring permeated the April meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association held last Friday, the seventh.
Mrs. Schmidt, the president, reopened what proved to be a very live meeting with a few well chosen words of praise to her board for their good reports and general co-operation.
The treasurer's report immediately followed, perhaps one of the most interesting items of which was the total number of calls made during the year by the nurses—3809 at an average cost of $1.13 per call.

As even the most casual reader will observe this represents a busy year and it is interesting to know that this month just past, March, has been the busiest of the year.

Mrs. Nichols, the Education Committee gave a short but comprehensive talk on the trends of Public Health Nursing and the probability of changes along this line in the near future. She also spoke of the destabilization of co-operation between existing organizations in a community dealing with the public welfare and illustrated her point with a specific case in our own community.

Reports were also made by the chairmen of the Membership, Finance, Publicity and Nursing Committees.
Mrs. Gormley reported 290 full pay calls; 34 free calls; 6 O. B. S. patients; 19 prenatal calls; 5 emergency calls; 90 Metropolitan Insurance calls and 26 John Hancock Insurance calls.
At the conclusion of the meeting the following members of the board were the guests of Mrs. Schneider at a delightful buffet luncheon: Mesdames Pond, Spencer, Horner, Young, Slocum, Homer, Shoemaker, Clarke, Jope, Kugler, Elliott, Taylor, Parkhurst, Greiner, Nichols, Dyer, Pearson, McDevitt.

ON PANHELLENIC COMMITTEE

Mrs. Harry Moore, of 5 Orient street, who is district president of Phi Mu Fraternity, has accepted membership on the co-operating committee of national and province officers of the National Panhellenic Fraternities in the eastern area, recently formed by the Fraternity Women's Committee for the New York World's Fair, which has headquarters at the Beekman Tower Hotel in New York.

The Fraternity Women's Committee, which is composed of the alumnae of the 23 National Panhellenic Fraternities in New York City, is planning a hospitality program for visiting fraternity members and their friends at the Beekman Tower for the duration of the Fair, and are sponsoring an essay contest in 846 colleges and universities in the United States, the subject matter of which is devoted to the first article of the Bill of Rights: freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of worship and freedom of peaceable assembly, and the prize of which will

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Winchester Historical Society was held on April 6 at 8 o'clock at the public library.

Miss Quimby for the Gifts Committee called attention to a real "find" which had been presented to the Society from the estate of the late Mrs. Samuel J. Symmes by her niece, Mrs. Walter J. B. Smith of Providence, R. I. This was the original Constitution and By-Laws of the Winchester Literary Association which flourished in the days of that celebrated American institution, the lyceum, between 1850 and 1869, which conducted a lyceum here and occupied the hall in the then new Lyceum Building from which it received its name. This document was written by hand in beautiful old-fashioned script, and Miss Quimby read most of it to the meeting, some of its provisions being quite amusing. There were also a number of gifts recently presented by Mrs. Charles Tufts Kimball, which included shawls, a pumpkin seed, mortal and pestle, 110 years old and two samplers worked in 1825.

The following officers were elected for the coming year:

President—Marshall W. Symmes
First Vice President—A. A. Siedhof
Second Vice President—Miss Cora A.
Quimby
Secretary—Miss Clara R. Russell
Treasurer—Edward B. Ladd
Directors—Earl E. Andrews, William N.
Breen, Edgar J. Rich, Miss Eleanor Hudson,
Miss Jean MacLellan, Jonas A. Lera-way,
Mrs. Daniel C. Bennett, Mrs. Harry S. Parsons, Ralph T. Hale and Mrs. Nathaniel M.
Nichols.

At the conclusion of the business meeting Mrs. Nichols, the retiring president, presented the speaker of the evening, Hon. Richard B. Coolidge, former Mayor of Medford, whose subject was "The Brooks Estates in Medford from 1860 to 1939."
Mr. Coolidge traced the course of the Brooks land owners and estates from the first member of the family to settle here, Thomas Brooks, who received the original grant of 400 acres in 1660, running along both sides of the present High street, Medford, including the present Oak Grove Cemetery, and who built the first homestead on the south side of High street, to the present grey stone mansion on Grove street, built by Peter Chardon Brooks in 1860, which may be said to be the sixth of the Brooks homesteads. Mr. Coolidge not only traced the ownership of the land with interesting sidelights, but touched on the history of several members of this very illustrious family, of which one of the most famous was the late Bishop Phillips Brooks. This lecture gave a great deal of interesting information about this large estate adjoining Winchester on Grove street.

the Girl Scout Chalet located in the

CAMBRIDGE STREET BLOCKED

Sunday morning the police were notified that a part of the ledge on Cambridge street at Pond street had broken away and had rolled down onto the road, blocking one side.

Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patman John Hutton went to the spot and found among the debris one huge boulder estimated as weighing about two ton in the street. Officer Hanlon placed warning horses each side of the boulder and Sergeant Cassidy notified the State Department of Public Works of the obstruction to traffic.

SOCRATES SAYS—

ONLY A GESTURE

Secretary Morgenthau's proposal to modify the Social Security tax schedule gives absolutely no relief to business whatsoever. Rates of present payments are to stay right where they are. The only thing suggested is that they go no higher in 1940. There is to be no cut or easing of the burden that has so hurt business. If it helps any to say that a bad mess will not be made any worse for a year or so, then just imagine what one "Be Kind to Business Week" would really bring about.

What they have proposed is like telling a man with a broken arm that he must forever go without the use of that arm, but for a year or so they won't break the other one.

Oh, New Deal, where is thy sting?

THE STATE OF MAINE

According to U. S. Treasury statements the returns of Federal Income Taxes for March 15, 1939 showed 30 per cent less than 1938.

This same report, on the state of the Nation, shows that the Republican State of Maine, so often ridiculed by the New Deal High Command, was the only State in the Nation where collections were higher in 1939 than in 1938—over 25 per cent higher, instead of 50 per cent less.

The State of New York, home of President Roosevelt, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor Lehmann, and many other heads of the New Deal Party, showed the biggest decrease of any State in Federal tax payments.

The Treasury Department stated that the returns would be sufficient for budget purposes, even though 30 per cent less than last year—apparently we have a "managed budget," like "managed currency." If income will not meet outgo, manage your budget so that it does. It is simple. As Maine goes, so goes the Nation, but the Nation went the other way. If only it had followed Maine in 1932 and 1938, instead of marching with the New Deal into the red.

WHAT'S WRONG?

Chairman Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board states that Congress now believes that business recovery can be brought about by the curtailment of spending and a balanced budget.

Mr. Eccles, however, does not agree with this theory, and neither apparently does the President—hence, neither the curtailment of spending nor the start towards a balanced budget will be attempted.

America is still a democracy; Congress is still supposed to represent the will of the American people—what is the answer? Is it still parliamentarism—is it still fear of administrative favor—who is cracking the whip over Congress?

We had a misunderstanding once in this country due to taxation without representation—now we are having one due to taxation because of representation.

If Mr. Eccles is right that Congress believes in economy, and spending is not curtailed, then Congress either does not know the will of the people, does not care, or does not dare.

NEWSPAPERS EDITED

High School pupils are editing newspapers under the supervision of Mr. Raymond V. Hayward English teacher. Each class is editing four papers with an average of five members on each staff, with the exception of one paper, edited by Mary Pardon, with no other aid. Each paper has an editor-in-chief, who has charge of giving assignments and seeing that they are in on a certain day. These papers are to be completed Friday, April 14 and will be on exhibition in Room 16.

INTERESTING WINCHESTER DATA PRESENTED

Appearing recently before the group of officials representing the State Planning Board and National Resources Committee, engaged in making a survey of Winchester's municipal services, Chairman Edmund C. Sanderson of the Water and Sewer Board presented so many facts pertinent to the town's enviable financial standing that they are reproduced below as being of general civic interest.

The group before which Mr. Sanderson and other town officials appeared is an agency of the Federal Government primarily. Its members are studying Winchester's municipal records of expenditure, endeavoring to perfect a formula for long-range planning during a suggested six-year period which will be applicable to any city or town which may be in need of assistance in setting up a sound financial system.

A high light of the formula is the separation and endeavor to forecast capital expenditures as differentiated from running expenses and maintenance. Good results from the application of such formulae have been obtained in Milwaukee and Cincinnati. There is no attempt being made to force a new financial system on Winchester. The presence of the investigators in Winchester is distinctly a compliment to the town which it has been felt by municipal authorities has so successfully handled its financial affairs as to make its system worth the studying for possible adoption elsewhere.

Following is Chairman Sanderson's paper:

In making this study it would seem advisable that you should know something of the background that has entered into making Winchester so highly successful from both an operating and a financial standpoint.

The first outstanding factor is that politics has never entered into Winchester's civic life.

Secondly, there is no compensation given to any elective Boards, with the exception of the assessors. Therefore, there is no incentive to run for office for the sake of the financial return. This attracts a better type of civic-minded citizen to the position.

Thirdly, when a citizen has desired to remain on the same Board and his work has been satisfactory, he has usually been re-elected permitting him to participate in planning and executing the work of the Board according to his best judgment. To substantiate this statement the following is a list of the departments with the length of service of their individual members.

Board of Selectmen:

Members serve three years.

In 1928 the Town adopted what is called the kellyway plan for a comprehensive development of the waterways which was to extend over a long period, but, on account of the depression of this work has been done as Unemployment Relief. The work has been done under the direction of the Park Department. The Park system has been very largely developed. There is only one section of the Town in which there should be a playground and that will come in the near future. The Park Department is not adequately housed.

The Water Department has kept very careful records of all phases of its work and from these records it was easy to determine the proper time for expansion, the plans for which have been made and carried out in 1936 to 1939. As a result, the Town has a water supply for its future growth which is estimated to be approximately 20,000, to be reached about 1970. From now on the work of the Water Department will be largely maintenance as there is no expansion work to be done.

The Water and Sewer Department does not have money to spend on new developments. The developer is required to build both water and sewer lines at the same time. The sewer takes them over for operation and the developer has no more expense. The Sewer Department is also well developed, most all of the streets being covered by sewer lines. The sewer construction work is about finished. The department is properly housed with an up-to-date shop and equipment.

The Board of Health and Building Department now occupy rented quarters at a nominal rate. A large room is used for clinics and there is also a well equipped dental clinic. Here is located the office of the agent of the Board of Health who is also a Plumbing Inspector, the head of the Building Department and the Sealer attended by a capable staff

39 Church St., 418 Mass. Ave., Winchester, Arlington of Weights and Measures. The clerk of the Board of Health is also clerk for the other departments. This is a very fortunate combination as it makes efficiency and low operating costs. If for any reason it was necessary to change this combination, here are spare offices in the Town Hall which can be used for the Building Department. Alterations can be made in the old library wing in the Town Hall to accommodate the Board of Health. These alterations will not require a large expenditure.

The highways are almost completed. Highway maintenance is the primary item from now on. When developers build new streets they are required to pay 100 per cent betterment when accepted by the Town. All bridges in the town, have been rebuilt within recent years. The department is well housed.

Fire and Police Departments are housed in modern buildings. Sometime in the future a fire station should be built near the new school location on the West Side hill. The Cemetery Department owns a large tract of land and no expansion is necessary for many years to come, if ever.

There is a new library recently constructed which will serve its purpose for many years to come.

The schoolhouses have all been built recently and are modern. The Town recently purchased a lot of land on the West Side hill where it intends to build a new school in the future. The growth of the grade schools has practically ceased, although the High School is carrying a heavier load than ever, but this is bound to decrease in time.

The Town Hall is an old building, but is serving its purpose very well. The main auditorium should be overhauled and sprinklers installed at a probable expense of less than $25,000. This would install a new ceiling at a lower level, helping the heating and acoustic properties of the hall. The insurance received in case of fire would not entirely cover the cost of building a new Town Hall. We also run the risk of losing many valuable records as the vaults are very old and are neither fire-proof nor waterproof.

As I see the financial picture of the Town, there need be no capital expenses for some time to come. In the future a new schoolhouse will be built, a new fire station and some arrangement made for the Park Department, possibly in connection with a recreation centre. The recreation centre is now in an experimental stage. It may develop to a point where a new recreation building will be needed. The Water and Sewer Department will have small capital expenses each year in proportion to the demand for expansion. The problem of abolishing the grade crossing is always with us. It now looks as if it would be a long time before anything could be done about it. If the Excess and Deficiency Fund grows as it has in the past, a large part of the capital expenses can be taken care of out of this fund, thus saving any bond issues. If the State expenses are properly curtailed and the State Tax decreases, in a few years Winchester will have a much lower tax rate.

On Jan. 1, 1939 Winchester's bonded debt was $567,000.00. On Jan. 1, 1945, or six years hence, it will be $143,000.00. The interest charges payable in 1939 amount to $21,101.25, and in 1945, $5,190.00. This also will have a very decided effect in reducing the tax rate.

To the Editor of the Star:
The following sign which has appeared for three different times on a private lawn in Belmont should be placed in the next section of Winchester which have suffered from the same abuse: "Are you the guilty party who has been throwing beer cans and whiskey bottles on these premises? Are you ashamed to use the ash can?"

MRS. ROGERS FLAYS TARIFF TINKERING

The important Puerto Rican market for shoes, textiles, and other products of the United States is being "slowly choked to death" by the reciprocal trade agreement program, and other New Deal policies, in the opinion of Representative Edith Rogers, of Massachusetts.

Pointing out that Puerto Rico has been one of the leading purchasers of products from the United States, Representative Rogers declared: "But the economic welfare of the island has been so endangered through lowering of tariff walls on its products, and the inflexibility of the wage-hour law, that the island is likely to become impoverished and another market will be lost to us."

She pointed out that while working conditions in the island are entirely different from those in the United States, no provision was made in the law for industries in Puerto Rico, and advocated a thorough investigation to determine what wage-hour laws should be applicable there. The minimums should be made high enough to prevent migration of industry from the United States to the island, but at the same time low enough to enable industry there to survive and provide employment for the people," she said.

"The wage-hour law was designed to be helpful, not harmful. But it has been harmful in the case of Puerto Rico, since those who wrote the bill apparently failed to take into consideration the peculiar disadvantages of industry there. It has thrown people out of work there, making them less able to buy products from our factories and farms in the States."

She pointed out that according to figures recently released by the Department of Commerce showing that the value of textile fibers and manufactured goods sent to Puerto Rico from the continental United States dropped from $16,256,000 in 1937 to $14,514,000 in 1938.

These figures on Puerto Rico simply are an indication of how trade among citizens of the United States has dropped off," she declared. "We can't obtain figures on sales in the various States, but these figures on Puerto Rico are indicative of what has happened throughout the Nation, and what will continue to happen in accelerated fashion so long as we continue to tear down our tariff barriers for the floods of cheaply made, cheaply-produced foreign products."

She pointed out that Cuba was given a sugar allotment twice as large as Puerto Rico, which flies the flag of the United States. "I never could understand why, when we are not producing as much sugar as we need, we should put it on an allotment basis," she said. "But if we must, why can't we give our own people at least as large an allotment as we give foreign countries?"

She pointed out that the Trade Agreement with Cuba had operated against the citrus fruits and the pineapple industry of Puerto Rico; that the Trade Agreement with the United Kingdom had adversely affected her rum industry; and that the Trade Agreement with Great Britain had effectively removed her coconuts from the American market.

"All important cash crops for the island," Needlework, another major industry, was discriminated against in the Treaty with Switzerland, which also gave preferential treatment to the unregulated labor of China, she pointed out. "I don't see how anyone can urge the consistency of a policy that tries to raise wages in the same time-super industry to competition of Cochin labor in China," she declared.

New England and Puerto Rico have been brought closer together by the mutual opposition under the reciprocal trade agreement policy," she said. "We certainly have a common bond of sympathy."

She pointed out that in 1938 almost 3,000,000 pair of shoes were brought into Puerto Rico from the United States, according to figures from the Department of Commerce. "And of course they can't continue to buy our shoes if their means of livelihood, all their industry is turned over to foreign governments. Thus we are hit two ways by the trade treaty program—not only do they subject us to ruinous competition, but they destroy the purchasing power of our customers at one and the same time."

She said that she believed that a special committee should be appointed to study the situation with regards to application of the wage-hour law in the island. "The law was made to help, not to destroy it," she pointed out. "And this is the way it seems to be operating in Puerto Rico."

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

As in other years, the School Department is urging parents who have children who will enter school for the first time next September to register their children at the several elementary schools from April 25 through April 27. Parents will be welcome on Tuesday and Thursday from 3:30 to 4:30 and on Wednesday from 2 to 4.

At the time of registration, the parent will be given a physical record card which he is asked to take to his private physician to be filled out at the time of the physical examination. If physical defects are disclosed as a result of the physical examination, there is the possibility of having the child enter school in September. If there be any parents who feel that they cannot afford the physical examination given by a private physician, they may arrange with the local Board of Health at 9 Mt. Vernon street for a physical examination without charge. ap14-39

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, April 16.
The Golden Text is: "We also joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement" (Romans 5:11).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Then came the Lord Jesus Christ, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us wait? If thou be the Christ, tell us plainly. Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not: the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me" (John 10:24, 25).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Atonement is the expiation of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life, and Love. Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this he owes him endless homage. His mission was both individual and collective. He did his work aright, not only in justice to himself, but in mercy to mankind, to show them how to do theirs, but not to do it for them nor to relieve them of a single responsibility" (p. 18).

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

Easter turned out to be a perfect skier's Easter, even in this southern region, where so many Burries contentedly reminded those not fortunate enough to get away, that there was still excellent spring skiing in the mountains to the north. Bob and Phoebe Low went to Cannon Mountain, Bubba Larson and Harry Bean went to Guilford where they found fine skiing. Will Grush rode the train to Brainerd Valley, Vt. and Phil and Gray Twombly of the club went to Jackson, N. H. with Mr. Allen Howard, his daughter Jean and Connie Bond. Carroll Hilton spent several days in Guilford, skiing on Belknap Mountain. Other Winchester skiers at Brainerd Valley were Ted Yeo and Bronson Garner. Everyone reported excellent skiing.

Gray reported at least 1000 skiers in Tuckerman's Ravine in spite of the fact that a snow storm forced cancellation of the Informa downhill race from the summit to the base of Mt. Washington by the end of the Headwall and the John Sherburne Trail. This race will be run this coming Saturday or Sunday, weather permitting.

The class in first aid took their final written examination Wednesday night with the practical test to be held tomorrow afternoon at Bob Low's shop at 10 Allen street from 2 to 4 P. M. Because of the interest in this work, anyone wishing to join another class should contact Duncan Ferguson, chairman of the first aid committee, at Winchester 077-M, and have gone out to members notifying them of the annual meeting at the Boy Scout cabin on Border road on Saturday, April 22 at 6 P. M. There will be picnic suppers, each bringing his or her own, together with a lot for the fireplace. Dues for next season may be paid at this meeting. The committee promises an evening of fun.

Junior members continue in the annual meeting are urged to bring their parents. The senior members will welcome meeting all parents and this will give the parents an opportunity to meet them.

SENIOR FORUM

Dr. Howard M. LeSourd, dean of Boston University Graduate School, will address the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church, starting this Sunday, April 16, at 9:30 A. M. As chairman of the committee on Social Values in Motion Pictures, and in co-operation with the Motion Pictures Producers and Distributors of America, Dr. LeSourd conducted a study to determine the contribution which excerpts from feature pictures might make to programs of character education. The type of motion picture most widely approved is one which presents a life situation or problem that can be discussed. Dr. LeSourd will bring the motion pictures developed by his committee to our Forum. These include situations from current photoplays depicting everyday problems.

SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH NOTES

Easter Sunday the "Little Church on the Corner" (the Second Congregational) was filled with a capacity audience at both morning and evening services. In the morning special music was rendered by both choir and a large class was received into membership. In the evening the pageant "The Children's Vision" was repeated and was, if possible, even more beautiful and impressive than last year. The performance of the cast, with the exception of the "angels" were younger than those who took part last year, and possibly for that reason it seemed even more effective than last year. The singing of the angel choir was beautiful, and the ensemble was such that there were many moist eyes in the audience.

NUT SHOW AT LIBRARY

Entries submitted for the first "Nut Show" sponsored by the Winchester Art Association are still on exhibition in the trustees' room at the public library, and are well worth seeing. Most appropos is a picture submitted by Ernest Dudley Chase in which the background is real peanuts, and many have found the impressionistic view of Winchester's center by John Ely Burehard both amusing and much to the point. Mr. Chase's impression of the Aberjona Delta will strike a responsive chord in the hearts of all those who live near Mystic Lake and Mr. Eason's mixture of alcohol and gasoline strikes a prophetic note.

Other entries are equally intriguing, among them being two especially unusual assemblies of cutout pictures. Those exhibiting include, besides Messrs. Chase, Eason and Burehard, Mrs. Robert Abbott, Mrs. E. W. Bratt, Mrs. R. N. Halliwell, Mrs. George Marks, Mrs. William E. Priest, Miss Helen Redfern, Mrs. Robert Burr and Mrs. Fulton Brown.

"CALLING ALL NEIGHBORS"
MRS. SARAH EMILY PECKER

Mrs. Sarah Emily Pecker, wife of Walter Ellsworth Pecker of 25 Washington street, Stoneham, a former resident of this town, died Tuesday morning, April 11, at the New England Sanitarium and Hospital after a short illness.

Mrs. Pecker was born March 22, 1883, in Yarmouth, N. S., daughter of Daniel and Emily (Marshall) Goodwin. Before taking up residence in Stoneham she made her home with her family at 21 Park avenue. Besides her husband, she leaves three sons, Howard, Marshall and Ellsworth Pecker.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Kelley & Hawes Chapel with Rev. L. G. van Leeuwen of the Stoneham Baptist Church officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

From Richmond, Va., comes a stirring message from Bishop James Cannon, Jr., as reported in the Jan. 5 issue of the Watchman-Examiner. A section of it is emphasized in heavy type.

Prohibition Was Betrayed

There was never a large army of law-enforcement officers; there never were funds totaling many millions of dollars. The failure of the Federal Government to provide adequate funds and a sufficient force of law-enforcement officers was the fundamental reason for the repeal of the prohibition law. Had the Federal Government provided the money and the men which it should have done to enforce the constitution of the United States the 18th amendment would never have been repealed. Certainly sooner or later society will be compelled to protect itself against the inherent evils which inevitably follow the traffic in intoxicating liquors.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Arthur S. Kelley was hostess to the members of the Winchester Garden Club at her home, 47 Mystic Valley Parkway. As previously announced, Mr. Alexander Heimlich lectured on garden pools, "Mirrors of Beauty," explaining the correct modern construction of pools, and illustrating his lecture with particularly interesting and beautifully colored motion pictures.

LECTURE ON TREE CARE ON MONDAY

The April meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club will be held in the Public Library on Monday, April 17, at 7:45 p. m. Attention is called to the change in date. Harris A. Reynolds, secretary of the Massachusetts Forest and Park Association, will speak on "Trees and Their Care." This subject is of especially timely interest in view of the replanting and repairing of trees that confronts most home owners as a result of the hurricane.

The class in flower arrangement to be held in Winchester during May under the instruction of Mrs. Anson H. Smith of Dedham is almost filled, and plans indicate a valuable series of lessons.

The all-Winchester Flower Show will be held this year in June instead of in September. The dates are June 8 and 9 and further details will be announced later.

CONLEY—CURRAN

Miss Marie C. Curran of Church street and Bartholomew Conley of Forest street were married Easter Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in St. Mary's Church by Rev. Fr. Joseph Mahoney. The wedding music was played by the church organist, Mrs. Irving Reardon, and the marriage ceremony was followed by a reception at the new home of the bride and bridegroom, 9 Bridge street.

The bride, who is a member of St. Mary's Sodality, wore a princess style gown of white satin with a conventional veil of tulle and carried Easter lilies. Mr. Conley is a well known member of Winchester Lodge of Elks.

FOURTH DRAMATIC SOCIETY PRESENTATION

Group D of the Winchester High School Dramatic Society had its try-out Monday, April 10. Lee Clarke is in charge of the directing and producing, and Miss Marion Bailey, freshman English teacher, is the faculty advisor.

The play will be "The Ring and the Book" by Mary Thurman Pyle and it is scheduled for production some time in May. The cast is composed of: Mrs. Tuttle, Della Greene; Bertha, Lella Jane Smith; Marion Tuttle, Edna McCormack; Edna, Emma Hall; Tommy Tuttle, Emma Hall; Doris Moore, Mary Lou Allen; Edna, Ruth Coulton; Billy Martin, Edward Scully.

"CALLING ALL NEIGHBORS"
WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Art Study Group on Friday, April 28 at 10 a. m. in the Public Library. The discussion will be in anticipation of the final museum trip of the year when the members of the group will go to the Gardner Museum, Tuesday, May 2. Further details in regard to the trip will be published at a later date.

Reptile Inspires Fear

The domestic fowl will tolerate any reptile, but a hawpaw, curlow, or snipe will dash away from one as quickly as its wings will carry it. A parrot that has been kept in captivity for many years will show the greatest panic at the sight of a harmless grass snake.

Earliest Dictionaries

The earliest English dictionaries gave no help with pronunciation.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

An array of talent that reads like "Who's Who in Hollywood" was assembled for "You Can't Cheat An Honest Man," which opens at the University Theatre on Sunday. Headlining the cast of this comedy, declared one of the best to come out of Hollywood, are W. C. Fields, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy. For a comedy combination you just can't beat that trio. Mortimer Snerd, Constance Moore, Princess Baba and Blacman the animal hypnotist, are featured in important roles.

"Peg of Old Drury," the associate feature, a colorful comedy-drama, is the story of Peg Woffington's romantic rise from obscurity to fame, and tells of her well-known love affair with David Garrick.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Merrily We Live" co-starring Constance Bennett and Brian Aherne and "South Riding" an Alexandra Korda production, featuring Edna Best, Ralph Richardson and Edmund Gwenn.

Featuring some of the most spectacular flying ever seen on the screen and telling for the first time the story of women of the sky, "Tail Spin" which comes Thursday is reported to be a smashing romantic melodrama of adventure. Allen Fung, Constance Bennett and Nancy Kelly are starred in the film.

In answer to thousands of requests from her fans Darryl F. Zanuck presents Shirley Temple in Technicolor in "The Little Princess," the companion feature. The most impressive cast ever assembled for a Shirley Temple production supports the dimpled star headed by Richard Greene and Anita Louise and including Ian Hunter, Cesar Romero, Mary Nash, Arthur Treacher, Sybil Jason, Miles Mander and Marcia Mae Jones.

GRAND ILLUSION COMING TO WINCHESTER THEATRE

The Winchester is privileged to present "Grand Illusion" April 23, 24, 25. This picture was awarded the best film of the year from any country by the National Board of Review. "Grand Illusion" is the best World War motion picture yet made, more truthful than any other, more intimately revealing human nature, and nobler in spirit. This is a picture that does not minimize the brutalities of war and yet it has an infinite sympathy and tenderness that one feels as he does the overtones in music, so that it is quite true to say that "Grand Illusion" has soul. The basic thought seems to be that in all human nature there is a common denominator that makes all persons of all races much alike at heart. The story is full of dramatic incidents, all of them reflecting the inner nature of the persons concerned in the action, those persons not being shown as heroes or as villains but as ordinary mortals wavering between conflicting motives. The camera has selected unusual and picturesque scenes as background and somehow, the pictures have a refreshing novelty. It will do anyone good to see such an excellent production.

READING THEATRE

There will be a big Amateur show on the stage of the Reading Theatre today, Friday afternoon and evening, in addition to the regular screen show. There will be 15 or more good acts on both shows. The feature picture will be "Drums," starring Raymond Massey and Sabu.

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, there will be one of the finest double feature programs ever presented. The feature picture will be "Wings of the Navy" starring George Brent and Olivia de Havilland, the second big feature will be "The Beachcomber" starring Charles Laughton and Elsa Lanchester. Don't miss this fine show.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

W. C. Fields, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy in "You Can't Cheat An Honest Man" will headline the double bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Friday. Hilarious comedy is the key note of "You Can't Cheat An Honest Man." W. C. Fields is cast as the owner of a traveling show which is having financial difficulties. Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy are performers with the troupe and Fields wants to get rid of them, particularly Charlie McCarthy who is always making wise cracks about him. Charley keeps telling Bergen to quit the troupe as Fields does not pay them regularly. Then Constance Moore, Fields' daughter, joins the show. She and Bergen fall in love, much to the disgust of both Fields and Charlie McCarthy.

Humphrey Bogart and Kay Francis in "King of the Underworld," will be the second attraction on the bill starting Friday. Although "King of the Underworld" is a crime picture, it is not without humorous twists. Humphrey Bogart is cast as a half-villainous and half-humorous gang leader, with an enormous conceit. He kidnaps a novelist to write a biography of him. He wants the world to know him as the Napoleon of crime. All of which is reported to be very funny. Humphrey Bogart is said to give his finest screen performance in this new film. But he is finally out-smarted by the woman doctor, and lands behind the bars.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Robert Taylor and Wallace Beery in "Stand Up and Fight" plus Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell in "Fast and Loose" is the double feature bill opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden on Friday. "Stand Up and Fight" presents Robert Taylor as a bankrupt young Maryland aristocrat who accepts a position as a driver of a stage coach line, Florence Rice is one of the owners of the stage coach line which is having rough going owing to a newly opened railroad. "Stand Up and Fight" is a romantic action drama that never lags in its pace.

"Fast and Loose" presents Robert Montgomery as the devil-may-care dealer in rare books who inevitably finds himself in the role of amateur detective, surrounded by mystery which he eventually solves. Rosalind Russell plays his charming, fun-loving wife who shares all of his adventures and has a few of her own.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The annual meeting of the Fortnightly, bringing to a close its 58th year, was held on Monday, April 10, in Fortnightly Hall, preceded by a luncheon served by Mr. Fred Scholl. The hall looked unusually lovely; the gay, colorful spring flowers seemed to vie with the flower bedecked hats and floral print costumes of the many beautiful Fortnightly members, in an effort to coax Spring from its hiding place.

The business meeting was called to order promptly at 2:30 by the president, Claire Reynolds, after which she introduced Mrs. Donald Ash, vice president of the Fortnightly Juniors, who presented to the Fortnightly a beautiful hanging for the back of the stage, in the name of the Juniors. Then Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond, president of the Professional Women's Club, gave a most interesting and amusing talk on Hollywood, its foibles and fallacies, its beauties and "b-loneys," under the title "Previews and Reviews."

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The January number of "Our Message" gives an estimate of the cost of alcoholism in the opinion of Judge Zottoli. The paragraph says: "Studying the cost of alcoholism to the State in the year 1934, Judge Zottoli reckons it at $12,000,000 for that period, in which he included the cost of maintaining jails, houses of correction, State penal institutions, State and private asylums, welfare for those reduced to pauperism by intemperance, and charity dispensed to persons destitute through alcohol. To offset these costs, Judge Zottoli said, the Commonwealth received $2,428,483.15 in 1934 from the licensed sale of liquor, $3,433,043.16 in 1935, $4,120,227.59 in 1936."

NEW CAMP FOR ARLINGTON GIRL SCOUTS

The Arlington Girl Scout Council has purchased the land and camping equipment of Camp Waubunaki at Meredith Neck, New Hampshire, formerly owned by Dr. Matthew O'Brien of Philadelphia, and operated by him as an exclusive private camp for boys.

Arlington is very fortunate indeed in being able to acquire this property for the use of Girl Scouts. The property is an 100 acre tract of heavily wooded land on the easterly shore of beautiful Meredith Neck with a mile of shore front on Lake Winnepesaukee. The camp, which will be called Monotony after the Indian name for Arlington, is today equipped to accommodate 60 campers and will be expanded to take care of 70 for this first season. The equipment includes tennis courts, a basketball court, six standard canoes and two war canoes as well as five sturdy row boats. There is a fine camp house with dining facilities on the shore of the lake. A delightful sandy beach of white sand slopes gently to deep water which will furnish safe bathing for the younger girls and at the same time afford excellent swimming and diving facilities for the more experienced. The camp will appeal to the older girls because it affords opportunity for mountain climbing and long canoe trips. It is also possible that sailing will be available.

In addition to the superb equipment at the camp and its unparalleled scenic beauty the Council has succeeded with the kind co-operation of the Belmont Council in securing as its director the eminently qualified and experienced Mrs. Frederick Fish, who for several years past has directed Camp Arbridge at Cedar Hill. Not only Mrs. Fish thoroughly competent to manage a camp of this sort, but she is so immensely appreciated by girls and parents alike, that she alone is capable of making a success of the camp were it ever so humble. Given the superb setting and excellent facilities of this camp Mrs. Fish should make it one of the most popular Girl Scout camps in New England.

You'll hardly believe you can get two smooth writing pencils with your initials for 5c. You can, at the Scout Office.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony

After feasting on poultry and ham, the appetite responds to beef and fresh pork with renewed gusto. Fortunately both are lower in price. Lamb is higher and veal prices are steady. Poultry prices are low. Eggs and butter are both low in price which is an incentive to turn to baking cakes and making custard type desserts and Hollandaise sauce for artichokes and asparagus. Louisiana strawberries are fairly plentiful and reasonable. Puerto Rican pineapples plentiful and inexpensive, bananas unusually cheap and plentiful, supplies of oranges and grapefruit still available. Asparagus is getting down to reasonable levels. Green beans, broccoli, peas and spinach are all moderate in price.

Three dinner menus follow.

AUSTRALIA TO PROTECT "TEDDY BEAR"

The Koala bear, for which the Australian Government is reported to be seeking additional protection, is the living copy of the teddy bear found in toy shops, according to the National Geographic Society.

With beady eyes, pointed noses, and short, sturdy bodies, they are among Nature's least offensive creatures. Their habit is curiously human. A cuffing by the mother bear for misbehavior will bring cries from the young one that resemble those of an unhappy child. Once very common in Australia but now seen only in the east and southeast part of the continent, the Koala bear has been nearly exterminated by hunting (for the sake of the fur) and by the ravages of an epidemic half a century ago.

M. S. P. C. A. NOTES

The regular monthly meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association two thoughts seemed to be uppermost in the minds of those present: regret and pleasure; the regret being caused by the resignation of the organization's most valued friend and worker, Mrs. Gormley, and by the retirement of its president for the past four years, Mrs. Schneider. Both have given most valued and untiring service. Mrs. Gormley has upheld the finest traditions of the association during her 21 years of service, and Mrs. Schneider's efforts have been invaluable. Together they have, through their work, established a splendid ideal. The pleasure was caused by the speaker of the afternoon, Dr. Channing Frothingham, who presented his advice in a most delightful and interesting way.

Mrs. Schneider opened the meeting, which was held on April 11 at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, promptly at 2 o'clock. Business reports immediately followed.

Mrs. Gormley made her report, followed by that of the secretary, Mrs. Spencer. She reported generous gifts by the En Ka and Fortnightly Societies, and spoke of the approaching drive of the Community Chest. Of the total number of calls made by the visiting nurses, of which there were 3800, 65 per cent were full pay, 20 per cent part pay and 15 per cent free. Mrs. Spencer spoke of the very real value of the child conservation work being done as a preventative to more serious illnesses, and finished her report by reading a letter of tribute to Mrs. Gormley written by a friend. Comprehensive reports were made by the treasurer, Mrs. Pond, and the chairman of the various committees.

The ballot for the coming year was presented by Mrs. Paul Elliott for the nominating committee, and the following board of directors was elected:

President—Miss Adelaide Homer
Vice President—Mrs. Henry K. Spencer
Secretary—Mrs. Ralph F. Jope
Treasurer—Mrs. Gardner D. Pond
Finance Committee—Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker, chairman; Mrs. Charles E. Young, Mrs. Robert J. Holmes, Mrs. Harlow Russell
Nursing Committee—Mrs. Clarence G. McDavitt, chairman; Mrs. Richard Parkhurst, Mrs. James S. Sturum
Publicity Committee—Mrs. E. Craig Greiner, chairman; Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke, Mrs. Thomas M. Righter, Jr.
Membership Committee—Mrs. E. O. Horner, chairman; Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, Mrs. Malcolm S. Nichols, Mrs. John W. Pearson, Mrs. Theodore Munroe
Nominating Committee—Mrs. Percy Bugbee, chairman; Mrs. Arthur M. Jackson, Mrs. Lowell L. Smith

Mrs. Schneider closed the business meeting by thanking the members for their co-operation during her four years as president and introduced the incoming president, Miss Adelaide Homer, who spoke briefly.

Dr. Frothingham then introduced Dr. Frothingham, whose subject was "Present Economic Trends in Medicine." He opened his talk by stating that the rapidly growing cost of medical care is one of the main reasons for the number of medical surveys which have been made in the last few years by various groups. In many respects the prepayment plan, similar to that inaugurated so successfully by the Blue Cross in 1937, covering hospitalization, would seem to be the solution for those in the so-called low income group. This group comprises far and away the greatest number of people in the country.

One of the main problems along this line is the question of financing the medical care of the indigent. At present in a few communities where funds are sufficient the poor are receiving proper medical attention, but in many more there is little or no provision being made.

Whether this financing should be undertaken by the local communities, assisted when necessary by state organizations, and when neither or both can assume the whole burden, to be helped by Federal funds, is a question. It would seem that the most obvious solution would be through some form of taxation. At present there is much discussion on the subject and nothing definitely organized, except in comparatively few communities. In conclusion, Dr. Frothingham stated that though in a very experimental stage, the prospect of socialized medicine seems a very definite possibility.

Tea was served at the close of the meeting.

Commander Conrad Larson presided at the business meeting which among other important business elected members of the nominating committee. Refreshments were served.

The committees for Memorial Day and Independence Day have already been announced. The Convention Committee includes Past Commander John H. McCarthy, chairman; George J. Barabro, Patrick T. Foley, Bertram G. Gentry, Past Commander Kenneth S. Hay, Richard W. McAdams and Past Commander Stafford Rogers.

The Post, on April 2, presented to the New Hope Baptist church a handsome American flag, flagpole, standard and surmounting spread eagle. The presentation took place with appropriate ceremony at the church with the former pastor, Rev. William H. Smith, presiding. Mrs. Charlotte Richardson, superintendent of the Sunday School, officially received the flag. Legionnaires present included Senior Vice, Commander Richard W. MacAdams, Martin J. Foley, Past Commander Stafford Rogers, Ezekiah Griffith and Conrad White of Woburn Post 101.

It is officially recorded that Past Commander "Nate" Thumim has finally paid Prof. R. V. Hayward that much discussed ten gallon hat, lost in an ancient wager on the technical point of beating a queen in pinochle. Never bet with the Professor!

Winchester Chapter, No. 10, World War Mothers, is preparing for the annual convention to be held May 2 and 3 at the Hotel Brunswick in Boston. Mrs. Mary DeMorris is on the committee in charge of arrangements.

The Auxiliary to Post 97 held a successful whist party Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Anna Colgate on Elmwood avenue. Plans are now under way for the Auxiliary's annual "Poppy Day" on Saturday, May 27.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 2 News

Last Monday Troop 2 had a very interesting as well as educational meeting when Sergeant Harold of the Police Department showed the Scouts how to use the inhalator. He demonstrated this on Arnold Smith who proved a very effective corpse. Sergeant Harold also showed the boys how to tie some new knots and gave them some tips on semaphore signaling.

Patrol competition has gotten underway and as the score now stands it is very close with the Lion leading with 115 points followed by the Flying Eagle with 105 points, the Wolf with 100 and the Beaver, a newly formed patrol, 75.

Don't forget the Spring Dance Troop 2 is holding April 28 in the parish house, Church of the Epiphany.

Troop 2

The members of Troop 2 wish to express their thanks to Sergeant Harold for the demonstrations of the H. H. inhalator and of knot tying which he gave at the meeting last Monday night.

The troop had planned a hike for Wednesday to Camp Lane and in spite of the rain, 13 Scouts were present. An hour after arrival in camp the rain drove in inside the mess hall although B. Smith and W. Wild built a lean-to and the former insisted on staying outdoors to cook his steak. Both Wilde and "Smitty" declared that the shelter was water proof.

Several passed their firebuilding tests.

BETHANY NOTES

The spring supper which was given in the vestry of the Highland Community Church last Thursday evening by the ladies of the Bethany Society added another culinary success to their record of many delicious repasts.

It has become an established fact that when Mrs. Effie Farnham and Mrs. Susan Foster officiate in the kitchen the result is always a well planned and beautifully executed meal.

The entertainment following the supper was conceived by Mrs. Alberta Baker and proved to be one of those delightful surprises which are so much fun for both audience and actors.

An unheard-of one act play of the gay nineties era, melodramatic and side splitting was cast "on the spot" and without further ado, acted! As is usual, when given the opportunity, unsuspected talent appeared. Whether the audience hissed the red haired, black-mustached villain loudly or they applauded the simple country hero with the heart of gold would be hard to say. However, we do know that those who witnessed the performance came away more than ever convinced that it would not pay to miss any events scheduled on the calendar of the Second Congregational Church.

REPRESENTATIVE ROGERS ON COMMITTEE

Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, who is a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives, is also one of the subcommittee to select witnesses to appear before the full Committee on Neutrality legislation. Hearings began this week, the Committee receiving permission to sit while the House is in session.

Mrs. Rogers has repeatedly urged upon the Foreign Affairs Committee that every angle of the Neutrality problem be considered in order that no stone be left unturned in the effort to keep our country out of war. It is expected that witnesses will include Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Cordell Hull, Bernard Baruch, Norman Thomas, Dorothy Thompson, William R. Castle, and a number of others.

Mrs. Rogers expressed her great satisfaction and pleasure over the result of the Gallup poll of last Sunday, which showed that 90 per cent of the people of the United States endorsed her bill to amend and broaden the National Cancer Institute Act of 1937.

TENNIS INTERSCHOLASTICS AT WINCHESTER

High School to Sponsor Invitation Tournament May 20 and 22

The twelfth annual Interscholastic Invitation Tennis Tournament, sponsored by the Massachusetts High School Athletic Association, will be held this year in Winchester on May 20 and 22. This tournament has been held for the past 11 years in Newton and its shift to this town is a tribute to Winchester's increasing prominence in Greater Boston tennis circles.

Among the schools already indicating their intention of entering teams are Attleboro, Boston English, Boston Latin, Brockton, Brookline, Haverhill, Lexington, Lynn English, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Needham, Newton, North Quincy, Quincy, Roxbury Memorial, Story, Weston, Worcester Classical, as well as Winchester. Eighty-seven boys representing 19 schools competed in this tournament a year ago and this year's entry list promises to be somewhat larger.

These matches always produce some excellent tennis and are well worth watching. Matches will begin at 9 a. m. and will be played on the courts at Palmer street and Ginn Field.

Newton High won the team prize a year ago, the individual winner being William Tower of Worcester North.

METCALF LUNCHEON GAY AFFAIR

Metcalfe Hall in the Unitarian Church looked very gay with its bright spring flowers and colorful travel posters on Tuesday. Over 100 ladies enjoyed the delicious peasant luncheon and then listened to the auction of treasures offered for sale by Mr. Harry Goddard who so kindly came and took charge of the auction.

The weather was dull but there was not a dull moment while articles old and new were sold. Marjorie Mills, who was one of the chairmen, had been given some delicious relishes, and she told the audience where the jellies and ripe olives and salad dressings could be purchased. It was a very successful as well as enjoyable afternoon and those who braved the weather felt repaid.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 0029

Well, the truth will out. Sunday's paper announced that London hailed our President as the "world's greatest ruler." The goal reached at last!

A recent publicity release (commonly considered by us as propaganda) from the Social Security board opens thusly: "To make things easier for the large number of employers newly-subject to the Unemployment Compensation Law, etc." Evidently it is even recognized by the enforcing officers that things along this line are "hard" for employers.

According to our present custom of following the European lead, we are now being rapidly introduced into the latest phase—that of barter. Notwithstanding our prosperity, or dropping of the gold standard, and our unemployment problem (or is it a problem today?) we seem to be about to pattern after the totalitarian powers and start the ancient practice of bartering. Come horse and buggy; you're not so bad after all.

A short time ago we heard considerable about business appeasement, and the word was passed out that no New Deal legislation would be attempted at the present; rather, the gains which have been made would be consolidated and stabilized until the time was ripe for another "step forward" in making over the country. At that time we wondered how the New Dealers could refrain from any length of time from trying out some more new ideas. Apparently they couldn't. Thus far it has been their custom to take the public by surprise, and their wiles as fast as each new headache was put in force, by springing something else. The usual scheme prevails; hence our present war scare. They are running true to form.

An increasing number of complaints is being received by the police of unlicensed boys and girls under 16 years driving motor vehicles about town. Several have been caught by the authorities and their parents warned that further driving will result in a report to Registrar Goodwin who has a very effective way of dealing with this serious violation of the motor vehicle laws. Loss of registration of the car being driven, black listing of the youngster for future licensing and suspending of the license of any parent permitting a person under 16 years of age to drive are some of the possible results of such driving. Anyone of these penalties is severe enough to make the game hardly worth the candle, and the excuse that the youngster is driving is good only once; that is in this town. There are places where it won't even do to start with. It ought to be possible to keep youngsters under 16 from driving the family car. There are many who believe that the youth of the land, even at the legal licensing age, isn't old enough to drive under today's conditions. No one will question the advisability of keeping boys and girls under 16 from the wheel.

OPEN LETTER TO SENATOR RICHARDSON

Hon. Harris S. Richardson, Senate,
State House,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir,
Due to the enormous amount of publicity given to the proposed State Budget and to the various suggestions made to reduce it, we believe that your views on the matter would be of interest to this Association as well as to your constituents.

We therefore respectfully ask your opinion on the following savings as suggested at the public hearing held at the Mechanics Hall on April 4th.
(a) Are you in favor of discontinuing the State Teachers' Colleges in Framingham, Hyannis, Lowell and Wrentham from July 1, 1940? Which would result in a saving of $119,500 in 1939 and $476,280 in 1940 or $595,780 for the biennium?

(b) Are you in favor of reducing the budget of the Lieutenant Governor—Office Assistant time No. 98 to one stenographer at $1200 from June 1, 1939 thereby saving $2250 in 1939 and $4500 in 1940 or $6750 for the biennium? Said office having no office assistance at all up to 1930.

(c) Are you in favor of the transfer of the functions and consolidation of the State Racing Commission and the State Boxing Commission thereby effecting a saving of $90,820 for the biennium in personal services, expenses, etc.?

(d) Are you in favor of deferring the erection of a brick cottage for girls at the Lancaster Industrial School thus saving the immediate amount of $90,000? Said building to be replaced within only 20 years.

Your reply to the above questions will be awaited with great interest by our directors and by the people whom you represent.

Cordially,
Arlington Taxpayers' Association
Charles M. Sawyer, President
Authorized by vote of the directors
April 10, 1939.

SOCRATES SAYS-

The White House Spokesman says that, "Our political and economic well-being are made less secure with each new foreign aggression." The inference is that we will gradually lose our export markets; the facts are, we have already, except for war supplies which have largely accounted for any increases.

Perhaps there are those who may now lay our future losses to foreign aggression and not to the Hull Reciprocal Trade Treaty Theory. At least it divides the blame.

GROUND

The New Deal take-off of 1933 might have gone down in history as a "Wrong-Way Flight," except for the fact that they never landed anywhere.

Thus, history will refer to this "Rocket Ship" episode as a stunt, an attempt at altitude records, finally grounded in 1940.

BUSINESS APPEASEMENT

Secretary of Commerce Hopkins ascribed to political rivalry and "cynicism" doubts which might have been raised as to New Dealers' sincerity in promoting recovery through helping Business.

He further stated "How absurd it would be to make statements and have the American people assume we meant business if we did not follow up our words by action." Has Mr. Hopkins forgotten President Roosevelt's pro-election words, when he criticized President Hoover for the mounting national debt (then doubled it); for the many governments he created (then created so many that few can even name them); for the annual "breathing spells" for business—(then socking it).

In 1937 "We planned it that way," then the Roosevelt depression of 1937, 1938, and 1939—the stopping of "Quoddy Dam" and "Florida Ship Canal"—then urging their continuance—the attempt to pack the Supreme Court—then the "breathing spells" for business—(then socking it).

In 1937 "We planned it that way," then the Roosevelt depression of 1937, 1938, and 1939—the stopping of "Quoddy Dam" and "Florida Ship Canal"—then urging their continuance—the attempt to pack the Supreme Court—then the "breathing spells" for business—(then socking it).

What a confession this is, anyway—"Laws to be modified to aid business." "Our business is to pass laws these laws—who is to blame? Yet he says "Since 1933 everything has been done to aid business." It is a confession of six years' failure, but not a clear-cut open one, as is the naked with a charge to carry, that is why the American people "might be cynical."

Mr. Hopkins is again quoted as stating that "It was erroneous to call the New Deal a present attitude of "business appeasement," yet he would have business believe that he meant it—then he says they are in error to believe it. Appeasement means, "satisfaction, pacification, calm."

Business and the American people know that the election of 1938 scared New Dealers—it was a mandate, and 1940 is just around the corner. The people fear for 1941 and beyond, for if the New Dealers defeated the Jeffersonian Democrats and Lincoln Republicans in 1940, the same old New Dealer reform plan would appear again, and centralized, bureaucratic government would control the nation.

Another strange phenomenon is how certain business men become "tamed" by forceful New Deal "breathing." It is most amusing, for they then regain consciousness and run out.

Yes, the depression is all over—all over the country. Billions of dollars of the people's savings are borrowed money. "Our business is to pass laws these laws—who is to blame? Yet he says "Since 1933 everything has been done to aid business." It is a confession of six years' failure, but not a clear-cut open one, as is the naked with a charge to carry, that is why the American people "might be cynical."

Imagine business being told, anyway, that it can breathe, in a free American democracy—not once, as by Mr. Hopkins, but several times. "Breathing spells" are "breathing spells" is temporary—who can know for a fact that "words" are to be permanently followed up by action after what has happened for six long years? The record has been bad—real confidence banks for the New Deal. It has been killed either on purpose, or by poor judgement—the results are the same. The New Deal "purges," reforms, "breathing spells," and "business appeasement" have left "the oppressed minorities" where they must unite in 1940 and change the Administration, if confidence is to be permanently returned.

These "breathing spells" are like "a wolf story" in which the difference is the sheep are destroyed long ago. If it is now this time, it's too late—for we need new shepherds before we slide into business again. "It is what you do that matters, not what you say." —Socrates

Ten members were absent from the meeting of April 20. And this on the most spring-like day of our month-long spring season. This time the long-suffering weather man is not responsible.

President Ralph is still confined to his home as the result of his severe cold, contracted some weeks since. He is improving slowly and should be present at our next meeting.

Irving Symmes also is obliged to remain under the home roof for the present. We know that he will meet with us as soon as this is physically possible and we also know that he will get a most cordial welcome when he comes.

Billy Beggs is recognized as a specialist in introductory service and he has been in great demand, of late, as starting official for our entertainment periods. "You can't keep a good man down."

Spring Conference at Swampscott, May 12. This club will send an election and alternate and we hope many members to make up a strong delegation. Better register now for a day of pleasure and profit and an introduction to our District Governor-elect. Rotary is still carrying on in China, but under severe handicaps. Several clubs have been obliged to suspend because so many of their members are absent from their respective cities. Refuges have been closing from various places, but bi-weekly in Shanghai. They have a temporary organization with chairman and secretary but have no stated meeting-place, having adopted the rotating plan for their meetings somewhat on the order of the procedure followed when Rotary started back in 1905.

And the Rotarians in that district of Chile recently devastated by an earthquake are carrying on under severe conditions. Some of these clubs keep up their organization, but meet in the public squares of their respective cities, as their regular meeting-places have been destroyed. They send themselves on the ground because they do not even have tables and chairs. But they do have 100 per cent attendance. There must be something in the spirit of the old martyrs in men who have the will to carry on under such circumstances as these. And it is evident that Rotary inspires and supports just this spirit.

We are indebted to our Malcolm Bennett for his services in preparing the guest speaker at our current meeting. Mr. H. D. Bardwell addressed us on the subject, "What the Funeral Director Means to his Community."

Business and the American people know that the election of 1938 scared New Dealers—it was a mandate, and 1940 is just around the corner. The people fear for 1941 and beyond, for if the New Dealers defeated the Jeffersonian Democrats and Lincoln Republicans in 1940, the same old New Dealer reform plan would appear again, and centralized, bureaucratic government would control the nation.

At our next meeting we shall listen to Mr. James Davies who will speak on "The Funeral Director and the Community." Billy Beggs will be expected to perform with his usual efficiency.

IN THEIR DAD'S FOOTSTEPS

Included among the members of this year's baseball squad at Winchester High School are several boys whose fathers were playing ball for the high school 25 years ago.

"Jackie" Margure's father, "Jack," well known postal clerk and member of the finance committee of the town, was catcher on the high school team in 1913, and Earl Goldsmith's father, Earl, Boston insurance broker, played center field for that team. W. Phippen's dad, "Bill," a salesman, was second baseman on the same club, and Eben Ramsdell's father, William E., now a Boston insurance agent, was Winchester's representative in the General Court, was manager. All the younger generation out for the current nine are candidates for the outfield.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

With appropriate exercises the "Franklin Fury," venerable Ford laund sedan, the pride and joy of "Squire" George W. Franklin, clerk of Selectmen, observed its tenth birthday on April 20. Two years ago the "Fury" turned its 100,000th mile and had added appreciably to its total since that occasion when interested and enthusiastic friends added a decorative note. Judge Curtis Nash was among those who volunteered to help the "Squire" celebrate the current anniversary, and letters and telegrams were received from Springfield and Michigan.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The Girl Scout Rally will be held in the high school auditorium on April 27 at 3:45 p. m.

Troop 6 wound up its Scout year with an entertainment of folk dances and music for mother and friends at the Mystic School. Badges were awarded of which one of the most coveted was a gray little badge for the completion of winter sports program.

On Thursday, April 13, Troop 4 held its final troop meeting at the Winchester School. At which time the parents, two Brownie Packs and the troop waiting list were invited. The troop presented two one act plays, "Strawberry Cottage" and "The Sentimental Scaererox."

Following the plays the troop held a formal opening and received six Brownies from Pack 1, namely Ellen Baylies, Alice Jennings, Elizabeth Jennings, June Moffette, Nancy Reynolds, Shirley Zirkel.

Marjorie Ebens, Corinne Marvin, and Amy Pierce were invested as tenderfoot scouts. Betty Dolloff received her second class badge. The patrol leaders Louise Brown, Betty Dolloff, Janet Pride and Jane Russell were presented their ex-patrol leaders badges.

The troop formed a large circle, just inside of this circle the Brownies who flew up and the girls on the waiting list form a second circle and in the center the Brownies formed a third circle while the Scouts sang, "The Golden Sun" and "Taps."

If the following attend the rally at the high school on April 27, they will receive their gold stars for perfect attendance: Louise Brown, Jane Russell and Charlotte Underwood; and sixteen stars will be given to Barbara Booth, Mimi Cini, Betty Dolloff, Jane McGrath, Janet Pride, Joanne Simons, Sally Thayer, Barbara Vincent, Joan Zimmerman and Janet Zinn for 9 per cent attendance during the year.

Jane Russell and Jean Bradlee were chosen for the campship from Troop 4 and are planning to attend Camp Four Winds.

SWITZERLAND-INTERNATIONAL BAROMETER

Ringed about by Germany, former Austria, France, Italy, and little Liechtenstein, Switzerland is particularly susceptible to shifts in international affairs, says the National Geographic Society. The Swiss hotel business, for example, an important item in domestic economy, suffered greatly in 1938 as a result of fewer foreign tourists, especially those from Germany. Rail freight returns were lower, the annexation of Austria considerably reduced cross-country shipments. Transport of lumber, the principal commodity so shipped from Austria to France, is recorded practically at a standstill. On the other hand, north-south traffic through Switzerland by way of the Alpine tunnel St. Gotthard has declined less than was expected, according to commercial reports. St. Gotthard's continued business—despite heavy competition from the Brenner Pass that now joins Germany and Italy—is interpreted to mean that the Swiss route still offers a satisfactory, short and cheap means of communication between Germany's coal regions and Italian industrial markets.

"Probation after Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, April 23.

The Golden Text is: "Yes, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." (Psalm 23:4-5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."

But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you. (Romans 8:9, 11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is the origin and ultimate of man, never attainable by the senses, death walking in the pathway of Truth both before and after that which is called death." (p. 487).

ACQUISITION OF MEMEL ADDS 1,099 SQUARE MILES TO GERMANY

The return of the Memel district, surrendered by Germany under the Treaty of Versailles, adds 1,099 square miles to the fast expanding German empire, according to the National Geographic Society.

In this region, a silver of land running along the border of East Prussia and curving northward into the Baltic Sea, live about 152,000 people, of whom some 38,000 are residents of the port city of Memel.

The city (Klaipeda to the Lithuanians) is predominantly German, but there are many Lithuanians in the surrounding country. As in Sudetenland, German population here is largely urban.

Leading Baltic Port

By the acquisition of the Memel district the German seaboard is pushed strategically north along the Baltic. The Reich gains control of one of the largest and most convenient ports on this sea. Memel's harbor, protected by a narrow spit of land, has a special advantage over other Baltic ports in that it never freezes over.

Shipping facilities of the port have been much improved since Memel was lost to Germany. New wharves, warehouses, docking machinery, elevators, and cold-storage equipment have been built. Linked by regular sea lanes with British, Polish and Latvian ports, and by air and railway with Berlin and Moscow, it is the outlet for 80 per cent of Lithuania's foreign trade.

Besides its traffic in outgoing bacon, butter, eggs, amber, and skins, plus incoming coal, machinery, cotton and wool, Memel is a busy industrial town on its own account.

At present Lithuania sells more to Great Britain than to any other country, a business amounting, roughly, to about one-third of her exports. Germany in 1938 bought nearly 27 per cent of Lithuania's products; sold to her about 24 per cent of her total imports.

Under the new regime, however, it is reported that Germany will become Memel's chief, if not her only, customer.

Uncle Sam's business is relatively unimportant in Lithuania's trade. The United States buys only about 2 1/2 per cent of Lithuania's exports; sells to the European nation less than four per cent of her imports.

AN OLD SPANISH TOWN— IN FRANCE

One of the most striking anomalies in geography, says the National Geographic Society, is that a small portion of Spain is entirely surrounded by France.

To put it another way, there is a Spanish town (Llivia) in France. It happened this way: When the present boundary between the two countries was established nearly 300 years ago, it was provided that France should have the "villages" of the old Pyrenean province of Cerdagne. Llivia, the capital of Cerdagne, was no village, however, but a "town" by charter. So Spain, under the letter of the treaty, retained it, together with a fringe of land, with the understanding that it should never be fortified by the Spaniards.

Today a mile-long neutral road, cutting across the intervening French territory, ties Llivia to the rest of Spain.

FRANCE OWNS ONLY RAILROAD INTO ITALY'S ETHIOPIAN POSSESSION

Repeated hints that Italy wants control of the railroad from French Somaliland to central Ethiopia brings that narrow-gauge highway into the world news. Italian interest in Djibouti, salt-water terminus of the road, springs chiefly from its status as gateway by rail to the new Italian possession.

Until the conquest of Ethiopia by Italy, the railroad, winding over and breaking through mountains, and crossing torrid deserts, was the only means of moving passengers and freight to Addis Ababa except for tortuous caravan trails, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "The railroad runs two types of trains. Twice weekly there is a 60-hour service. During the dry season an express makes frequent trips in 25 hours.

No Dining Car Service
The 60-hour train leaves Djibouti early in the morning. There is no dining car service so passengers breakfast before train time. After six hours of riding across dust and sun-swept desert, the train stops at Aisica for lunch. Dinner is ready on arrival at Direwada where passengers stay for the night and also have breakfast. The passengers have traveled a whole day; yet at Direwada they are only 200 miles from Djibouti.

Afdam is the second-day luncheon stop and then the traveler moves on to Awash for dinner, another overnight stop and another breakfast. The lunch stop of the third day is at Moggio and after a four-hour climb up the rocky slopes, the train arrives at Addis Ababa. In its 500-mile ramble, the train climbs from sea level to an elevation of 8,000 feet.

French Capital Built Road
The railroad has been called the "most expensive in the world." While the cost of construction was staggering and was one of the reasons it took 20 years to build, the high cost of passenger fares and freight rates gave the railroad its nickname.

Construction of the road was one of the outstanding engineering feats of the era in which it was built. Original plans drawn in 1894 made Intotto, six miles north of Addis Ababa the highland terminus. Intotto then was the Ethiopian capital.

Since France had been granted permission to build the road, French capitalists organized the Compagnie Imperiale des Chemins de fer Ethiopiens, and raised nearly all of the initial funds for construction in France.

Work on the road began at Djibouti in 1897 and for the next two decades troubles, financial and political, rose in rapid succession. Hostile natives had to be pacified and the hot Ethiopian sun was no ally. It took seven years for the builders to reach Direwada about 200 miles. Work was suspended then for six years, when a new company was organized to complete the project. In 1914 work ceased again for two years and it was not until 1917 that the rails reached Addis Ababa.

GERMANY IS ROMANIA'S BEST CUSTOMER

The politico-economic tug-of-war in southeast Europe moved into a new phase with the reported trade agreement between Germany and Romania.

Germany is already Romania's best customer, points out a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. In 1938 she bought more than 26 per cent of all Romania's exports, and sold to the south European country around 37 per cent of her imports.

Trade Suffered from "Jitters"
As a whole, Romanian foreign business registered considerable decline last year. Exports dropped about $70,000,000, imports about $12,000,000. These declines reflected conditions in domestic and European. Romania suffered two separate depressions, and an almost continuous state of "jitters," common to nearly all of Europe. During the first two months of 1938, Romania's commercial life was reported at rock bottom levels as a result of the domestic political situation, leading to a change in the form of government. In the fall came the first Czech crisis, with its consequent effect on business.

Furthermore, since the export-trade drop was so much greater than that of imports, Romania found herself faced with a steadily less favorable trade balance. Her largest adverse balance was with her chief trader, Germany.

Chief among the products which Romania sends through channels of world commerce are oil, wheat, corn, wool, hides, and furs. She takes considerable manufactured goods, machinery, steel, rubber, automobiles, and munitions.

Romania's customer No. 2 in 1938 was England, which is now planning, according to reports from London, to send a new trade mission to King Carol's domain. Third on the list was Czechoslovakia, with Greece, Italy, Hungary, and France following close behind. Business between Romania and the United States is relatively unimportant. Last year Uncle Sam ranked 16th on the score of purchaser of Romanian goods, 7th as a seller.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The Orlando Morning Sentinel, Orlando, Fla., published on March 3, the following stirring talk on Prohibition Failure Blame Placed On Church.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, ardent agitator and co-composer of the 18th Amendment, spoke on Temperance last night at the First Methodist Church.

He laid the blame for the relative failure of the 18th Amendment both at the feet of the church and of the Federal Government.

"The church failed to measure up to its responsibilities as regards the amendment was placed in the Constitution," said the Bishop, who since 1903 has been an executive of the powerful Anti-Saloon League. "And the Federal Government never took enforcement seriously."

Introduced by presiding elder, Dr. W. F. Dunkle, the Bishop opened his talk with readings and then told of the present recurring attitude favoring the dregs.

"Brewers and distillers, at a recent convention," he said, "were urged to set their house in order because of the rising tide of dregs; the National Broadcasting Company has banned liquor advertisements over its airways; at the close of Senator Sheppard's (Texas) annual anti-liquor address this January, other Senators recognized and commented sympathetically on his words for the first time in 20 years."

Then, giving still another view on the subject, he told of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, which recently announced that it considered the effects of alcohol one of the leading problems in America today, classing it with cancer, tuberculosis and insanity. Specific evils named were drunkenness and highway accidents because of liquor.

"The passing of the prohibition amendment," Bishop Cannon opined, "was the social conscience of the American people functioning at the highest point ever reached in passing legislation for the protection of society."

"A great issue—which will remain—the right of society versus the right of the individual." But society protects itself in other ways, the Bishop pointed out, naming quarantines, traffic lights, and food laws.

EARTHQUAKES ARE NOT NEW IN CHILE

Earthquakes have caused so many panics in Chile, that now a mere rumor of an earthquake can start a panic. Recovering from a quake that last January devastated six provinces, this shivering South American country is now fighting earthquake rumors—with the lash.

It has just been decreed that whoever is found guilty of spreading rumors about the dread tremors will be punished by public lashing to the beat of drums.

At any whisper of an earthquake, Chileans fear the worst, because their country is called the shakiest region in the world," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Scientists who keep tab on the earth's seismic disturbances have found that Chile quakes about 1,000 times to Japan's 400. These two countries lie at opposite sides of the world's most active earthquake zone, which almost encircles the Pacific Ocean. Two out of every three major quake disasters in the world occur in this circum-Pacific zone.

A study of Chile's earthquakes, both large and small, for a period of 17 years revealed more than 12,000.

Few of them, however, have been as devastating or as widespread as the recent one. If this earthquake had occurred on the Pacific coast of the United States, it would have been felt from Canada into Mexico. If on the Atlantic side, it would have extended along the entire east coast from Maine to Palm Beach, Fla.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Leslie Howard in Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," with Wendy Hiller, is the rare treat opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. Shaw's famous play makes superb screen fare with its scintillating dialogue and compelling drama. The story of "Pygmalion" revolves about Leslie Howard in the role of a professor of phonetics, who on a bet takes Wendy Hiller, a drab flower seller out in the London slums and trains her in correct speaking, deportment and social graces with the intention of passing her off as a duchess at an ambassadorial reception. The Bernard Shaw dialogue is not only witty but shrewd and penetrating. "Pygmalion" is grand entertainment which will make audiences laugh more than any film in recent months.

"Four Girls in White," with Florence Rice, Una Merkel, Ann Rutherford, Mary Howard, Alan Marsh, and Kent Taylor as the stars, will be the second feature on the bill starting today. "Four Girls in White" deals with a group of young women who enter training to become nurses for varied reasons.

HOMEOWNERS SPRING FINANCING

Boston Mutual Life Plans to Aid Residential Development

Many home owners in the Metropolitan Boston District are taking advantage of the modernized plan of home financing, according to the Boston Mutual Life Insurance Company. Inquiries are increasing concerning the Company's campaign to aid owners of one and two family homes in this territory.

Francis J. Carney, well known attorney, and Chairman of the Mortgage Loan and Real Estate Committee of the company stated that the company, with ample funds available, desires to do its part in bringing about a building boom and to assist home owners in maintaining and setting up good homes.

"Persons coming to us," Mr. Carney said, "will have prompt and courteous attention, and mortgage loans granted will have reasonable interest rates and friendly servicing during the term."

BEES IN THE BELFRY

The few bee keepers in town will be pleased to learn that we are now blessed with a government inspector of bees. They have the right to enter anyone's property, and open the hives to make an inspection. They have the authority to say just what kind of a hive anyone may keep his bees in and if he wishes to take them to his summer home across a state line he must have a certificate stating that every one of the bees is in good health. Another state, which is a strong supporter of the present national government, has a bill before their legislature this week that would prohibit honey bees from flying across state lines, and also would direct the president of the United States Board of Agriculture to have the stings of all bees removed within that state. This bill also would compel all bees arriving at their hive after 6 p. m. to spend the night outside. In case anyone does not believe such a thing as the introduction of such a bill into the legislature of any state could happen, the state in question is Oklahoma.

FREE LECTURE

Gardens Where Nature and Man Work Together

The Fortnightly of Winchester is privileged to present Dr. Charles H. Tozier, eminent lecturer for the benefit of lovers of gardens and the great outdoors. The admission is free and by ticket only. Mrs. Robert Reynolds, president of Fortnightly is distributing the tickets. Mr. George R. Carter, manager of the Winchester Theatre, has generously donated the use of the theatre for this splendid lecture.

This lecture will open with the dawn of day over one of Nature's most spectacular regions, and by means of special color plates, the fundamentals of soil formation and the minerals which are necessary for the growth of plant life will then be shown on the screen.

Specimens of this form of life, from the lowest to the hybrids, will show a great variety of color and growth. Examples of outstanding structures of vegetable life will be illustrated by slides photographed by the use of a microscope.

Spring will blossom before your eyes, and as the lecture progresses, you will see America in bloom. There will be flowering trees and shrubs, gorgeous flowers, artistic gardens, from all over this continent, from Mexico, Central America, Florida, Charleston, Victoria and Vancouver, and these will be followed by the distinctive and tropical gardens of Hawaii and the South Seas.

To add variation, moving pictures will be shown of the animals and birds which are characteristic of the different localities of the gardens, especially of the Great North Woods, along the Pacific Coast.

While some of these gardens are very extensive and conventional, there are many that will appeal to everyone because of their simplicity of design and their effectiveness obtained by the arrangements of the shrubby flowers and riot of colors.

This lecture will be appreciated not only by the lovers of gardens and flowers, but also by anyone who is interested in the Great Outdoors and the finest things that are found in all nature.

GARDEN CORNER

By William Ward Preston of Little Tree Farms

Growing flowers from bulbs and tubers is an intriguing hobby that attracts more devotees every year. No other class of plants has so wide a range of form, color and habit of growth. And it can be followed throughout the year, for not only do the bulbs start the procession of flowers in the spring and continue late into the fall, but there are many varieties that can be easily brought to flower indoors with the minimum of care and effort.

April and May are the two months when the spring bulbs reign supreme, starting with the Snowdrops, Scillas, Winter Aconites, Chionodoxas, Crocuses and all that adorable company of spring beauties that brave the late spring snows, followed by the daffodils and other Narcissus to burst into full splendor in May with the gorgeous Tulips! If you haven't these planted here and there in beds or odd corners, or just scattered throughout the shrubbery, you are certainly missing something. Whether you have or haven't, better make a note to visit your neighbors' gardens and all the nursery displays within reach, as the best way to select varieties for planting next fall is from the bulbs in bloom this year.

Passing by the Peonies and Iris, weighty subjects better discussed later in the season, we come to a group of summer flowering bulbs which we can plant now and reap a harvest this year.

First, the Gladioli, whose varieties are innumerable, and all beautiful. Plant them through May and June, 25 to 100 at a time, two or three weeks apart, and enjoy them all summer and late into autumn. Then the hardy garden lilies, each bulb a splendid investment in pleasure for years to come. All are children of the sun, requiring a loose soil and good drainage. Grouped here and there in garden beds or the rock garden, they form splendid accents of color in July and August when needed most.

Lastly, let me mention a few of the sorts which you will do well to buy this year. They are the tuberous rooted Begonias, single and double the summer hyacinth, candelabras, the Amaryllis lili, the graceful Montebrias, the Mexican Tigrida, and the Double Tuberoses. These are all semi-tropical plants requiring lots of sun, with the exception of the Begonias, which prefer partial shade and thrive in a loose rich soil with plenty of moisture.

Speaking of soil, a bag of granulated peat moss would be an excellent investment when it comes to planting these bulbs, as it lightens and aerates the soil, and holds many times its weight in moisture without getting caked or sloppy. Here at the Farms we are using a new brand which has been heavily inoculated with the friendly bacteria which make freely available to the plant the food elements locked in the soil itself. It is, we think, a decided improvement.

As in other years, the School Department is urging parents who have children who will enter school for the first time next September to register their children at the several elementary schools on April 25 through April 27. Parents will be welcome on Tuesday and Thursday from 3:30 to 4:30 and on Wednesday from 2 to 4.

At the time of registration, the parent will be given a physical record card which he is asked to take to his private physician to be filled out at the time of the physical examination. # There's Extra good news in this price tag

The model illustrated is the Buick Special, model 41 four-door touring sedan $995 delivered at Flint, Mich.*

THERE are a lot of things about this Buick any wide-awake-to-value buyer ought to know, but there's one important point that's worth making especially clear.

That's this: Many an item you'll pay extra for elsewhere is included in Buick's eye-opening prices!

Indeed, so many "extras" are standard on Buick that when you count them in, this beauty costs actually less than more than one car with lower advertised prices!

No other car, for instance, gives you the Flash-Way direction signal for sure, clear, unfailing signaling on turns by a mere touch of a switch—a $10 item right there!

Few have locks on both front doors—or a light in the luggage compartment—or automatic electric lighters in the dash—or ash receivers as numerous and as handy.

And where else, we'd like to ask, may you have your choice of wide running boards or narrow—or get a gas-saving economy gear just for the asking?

No other car, of course, gives you the extra silkiness of the delivered at Flint, Mich.

*Prices subject to change without notice. Transportation, state and local taxes (if any) optional equipment and accessories extra.

Dynaflash valve-in-head straight-eight engine—none has quite the comfort of the Buick "full float" ride—the security of Knee-Action that banks on curves plus the safety of rear springs that actually lessen skid-risks.

Naturally, it's the smart white-tie look of this Buick, its agile stepping and wide-paned outlook that are causing most of the talk.

But look into the good news about "extras"—and you'd spot this honey as the car and the value of the year even without its beauty and its brilliance!

PARISH PLAYERS IN "TOVARICH"

The Parish Players of the First Congregational Church closed their 13th season in the Little Theatre Beneath a Spire with a very pleasing performance of "Tovarich," a two act comedy-drama by Jacques Deval, for which the cast was as follows:

Prince Mikail Alexandrovitch Ouratieff
Grand Duchess Tatiana Petrovna
Olya
Count Fedor Brekonev
Chaufourier-Dubief
Martelleau
Fernande Dupont
Charles Dupont
Louise
Georges Dupont
Helene Dupont
Madame Van Hemert
Madame Chaufourier-Dubief
Commissar Gorotchenko
Paris after the Russian revolution is the scene of the play which recounts the adventures of Prince Mikail and his Grand Duchess who have sought sanctuary in the French capital. Refusing to use a vast sum bequeathed them by the Czar, which they consider a royal trust, they obtain employment as a butler and maid in the home of a wealthy business man where they finally give the money to the very Soviet commissar, who had tortured them in prison, to save Russia from exploitation by foreign oil interests.

Last Friday's production was well in keeping with the generally high "Little Theatre" standard. Ably directed, blessed with fine sets and generally well cast, the performance, after an unexceptional opening scene, moved swiftly and smoothly to its climax in the Dupont kitchen, a scene as powerful and as well done as any we can recall in "Little Theatre" history.

"Tovarich" is well written. It has abundant humor, pithy lines, amusing and tense situations and real death. The build-up for Gorotchenko's entrance and the Commissar's scene with the Duchess are especially finely drawn.

For the Parish Players' production the roles of Prince Mikail and the Grand Duchess were in capable hands. Experienced performers, both Dr. Pollard and Mrs. Graves are able to play parts, certain aspects of which are not especially kind to them.
They were well mated in "Tovarich," the strength of each complementing nicely the weakness of the other.

Mrs. Graves was at her best in portraying the emotional depths of the tragic Grand Duchess. To this strong figure she gave real vitality, without exaggeration, acting with an intensity that brought conviction and a simplicity that enabled her audience to feel something of her own sublime faith in the Russia of the Czars. Her scene with Gorotchenko was a fine bit of acting, and again in the scene with the ardent Georges her sincere handling prevented any possibility of the ridiculous. If she was less convincing in the lighter demands of her role, it must still be admitted that she scrubbed an excellent floor.

Dr. Pollard made much of the humor written into the role of Mikail, few being able to play high comedy with so deft a touch. He was at his suave best as the valet, though he rose to the heights of real drama in his first scene with Gorotchenko, and was a very human figure in his final appearance with Dupont. Only in the amorous demands of his role did he show weakness.

Mr. Pennell's Gorotchenko was one of the production's outstanding characterizations. His commissar, played with a nice restraint, was a strong
tinged with embarrassment, then contempt, ruthlessness and finally sentimentality. His handling of his entrance scene was admirable, but no less so than his climactic scene with the Duchess when both he and Mrs.
Graves scored heavily. His makeup was impeccable.

Dr. Blanchard's performance as the bank president was per excellence, his ability to vitalize his lines with a simple gesture, shrug, nod or subtle voice inflection being a real treat.
The Louise of Mrs. Gross was another from, a triumph of pantomime and consistency. Not once did she deviate from her conception of her role, and her entire performance gave the greatest pleasure.

Mr. Graves was happily cast as Dupont, the testy business man with a penchant for petrole and forgiveness "in the Russian manner." Miss Randall, too, as Fernande, his wife, gave a very finished performance of a role that one less experienced could easily have overplayed.

The juveniles, Helene and Georges, the one with a "crush" on Mikail and the other infatuated with the Duchess, were well played with both spirit and poise by Miss Hall and Mr. Kishler. The more minor parts were satisfactorily taken by Mrs. Pennell, Mr.
Crowers, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Mueller and Mr. Olivier. Whether a less flamboyant Madame Van Hemert would not have been more effective is a question, and surely Martelleau, in makeup, was more Italian than French.

"Tovarich" was directed by Alan Hay. Chairmen for the show were:
production, Eugene M. Pollard; stage, William G. Morse, art, George Hayden, lighting, Richard Ashenden, Jr., properties, Mrs. John Willis; furnishings, Sherman Russell; costumes,
Mrs. Lawrence Palmer; draperies,
Mrs. William Morse. Assisting were
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Graves, Mrs.
Eugene Pollard, Mrs. F. M. Cooper,
Lawrence Palmer, Ralph E. Fulton,
Robert Higgins, Harry C. Goodwin,
Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, J. Waldo
Bond, G. Dwight Cabot, Philip Cabot and Melvin Engle.

patrick of 9 Highland avenue, Wob-urn, by Justice William Henchy in the District Court at Woburn Monday morning.

The complainant was Patrolman James E. Farrell who arrested Fitzpatrick on Swanton street at Quigley court that same morning shortly after 1 o'clock. Officer Farrell noticed Fitzpatrick's car coming toward him in a zig-zag manner, and when the driver refused to stop, gave chase in Patrol 51 with Sgt. Joseph Derro and Patrolman William Cassidy.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The international Baptist magazine, "Missions," has in every issue a paragraph entitled "The Great Delusion." In the February number the heading is:

We Are All Paying the Cost
Based on a calculation made in Los Angeles, which is doubtless typical of other American cities, the non-drinking population also pays for the cost of alcohol consumed by the drinkers as well as its share of the cost of its consequences.

According to the Christian Advocate, license fees furnish a revenue to Los Angeles amounting to $335,000 annually. That sum, large as it seems, is not enough to pay for the cost of arresting drunks, housing and feeding them as prisoners, treating them as inebriates and alcoholics, and supporting their wives and children, as well as paying for the damages caused by intoxicated men to property and persons. And a Los Angeles councilman figured it out that every time a drinker pays 25 cents for a drink, the non-drinking population of Los Angeles must pay an additional five cents to take care of the consequences. In other words, the entire community pays one-sixth of the total drink bill.

Again we have been deluded. Those who do not drink but who mistakenly voted for appeal, never imagined that they would have to share its cost.

For everybody in America, this will be one of the hidden, invisible items of expense in the new year.

You'll hardly believe you can get two smooth writing pencils with your initials for 5c. You can, at the Star Office.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony

Young chickens, heavy fowls and ducklings are all excellent values.
Beef and veal are reasonably priced.
Lamb and pork, particularly the former are high.

A plentiful supply of fine quality eggs awaits the shopper who appreciates a good value. Butter, after a brief drop in price returned to its former level which is very reasonable indeed.

Strawberries, pineapple, rhubarb, avocados and oranges are all available at reasonable retail.

Cabbage, potatoes and onions, those usual cheap standbys are relatively high. Asparagus is much cheaper.
Salad greens are inexpensive.

Three dinner menus follow.

AMENDMENT TO BUILDING LAWS TOWN OF WINCHESTER, MASS.

Adopted at Representative Town Meeting
on March 20, 1939
In Force April 22, 1939

VOTED, That division 29 of the Building Laws be and it is hereby amended by inserting after section 204, the following new section:—

Section 204A. The following regulations shall apply to air duct systems installed in residences for heating, cooling, ventilating or air conditioning or for any combination of any of said purposes, in which the movement of air is induced or accelerated by mechanical means:

All heaters which are automatically controlled from a house thermostat shall be equipped with an approved automatic device to limit the air temperature in the furnace bonnet which cannot be set at a higher temperature than 200 degrees Fahrenheit.

OIL OR GAS FIRED HEATERS

In every main supply duct a damper shall be installed, near the heater and in such manner as not to interfere with the passage of air when open, which shall be held open by a fusible link, fusible at a temperature not above 210 degrees Fahrenheit and the fusing of which will cause the damper to drop and effectually stop the passage of warm air into the duct and in oil fired heaters will also stop the flow of oil.

In every such duct there shall also be a hand hole to permit the replacement of fuses, so made and covered as to be substantially air tight.

All ducts shall be constructed entirely of non-combustible material not less than No. 26 U. S. gauge in thickness in round ducts not exceeding 12 inches in diameter, and in square ducts not exceeding 14 inches in width; and not less than No. 24 U. S. gauge in larger ducts.

All such ducts shall be so constructed as to be substantially air tight and shall be supported by metal hangers, straps, lugs or brackets and installed in such a manner that nails shall not be driven through the walls, and plaster shall be keyed.

All spaces between ducts and combustible partitions on floors through which they pass shall be thoroughly firestopped on all sides with non-combustible material.

All ducts above any cellar ceiling shall be installed and in place before any rough wiring is done.

No exposed ducts in cellars shall be installed until after the ceiling is plastered smoke tight and all such ducts shall be attached as close to the ceiling as possible.

No exposed ducts and not more than one inlet duct shall be permitted in a garage. The inlet duct shall be installed not less than six feet from the floor and shall be equipped with a carefully hung and balanced damper which will prevent the return of air or gasses through the duct.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an amendment to the Building Laws adopted by the Town of Winchester, Mass. at an adjourned session of the Representative Town Meeting of March 16, 1939, held on March 20, 1939, and approved by the Attorney General of Massachusetts on April 4, 1939.

M. S. P. C. A.

Through the generous and enthusiastic support of Mr. George R. Carter, manager of the Winchester Theatre, the Winchester Auxiliary of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was able to present the film, "On Behalf of Animals" on April 20, 21, 22, as a grand finale to Be Kind to Animals Week.

This picture, produced by the Film Foundation of Harvard University and released through the M. S. P. C. A. American Humane Education Society gave a full account of the care and treatment offered to the 30,000 animals who pass annually through the Angell Memorial Hospital, as well as scenes of activities at the Methuen Rest Farm for Horses. This highly informative film, so beautifully photographed throughout, has been impressed by all those fortunate enough to have seen it, as a tremendously valuable document.

On Saturday night, just before the final showing of the picture, Mrs. George R. Carter, secretary for the Auxiliary, introduced Mrs. Richard S. Taylor, who spoke to the audience from the stage.

Mrs. Taylor, president of the Auxiliary for the past eight years, talked most interestingly of the history of the Auxiliary, and of its steady growth as an integral part of Winchester's community life. No one, listening to Mrs. Taylor, could help but be impressed by the splendid work which this society has accomplished, nor doubt the great necessity which brought it into being.

Following Mrs. Taylor, Mr. Frederick A. B. E. of the New England Dog Training Club, resident of this town, presented his shepherd dog, Grafmar Bedonna, C. D. X. who briefly demonstrated some of the accomplishments learned in the obedience classes at the Club.

Throughout the evening, the following members of the Auxiliary alternated in distributing informative literature in the lobby: Mrs. Richard S. Taylor, Miss Carolyn B. Rice, Mrs. Stanley Pattison, Mrs. John H. Clarke, Mrs. Ambrose E. Reasoner, Mrs. Geoffrey Harwood.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The annual meeting of Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held on Monday, April 24, at the home of Mrs. Frank E. Rowe, 30 Vine street. We were very glad to welcome back Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes who has been spending the last two months with her son in Texas, and Mrs. Anna W. Fisher, who has spent the winter in Florida. There was no election of officers, as last year's election holds for three years, and the meeting was given over to reports and general discussion.

Mrs. Harry T. Jackson read extracts from the diary of her great-grandfather, Caleb Haskell, which he kept on the march from Newburyport to Quebec, under command of Benedict Arnold, beginning May 5, 1775. This diary went into much detail and contained some of the material Kenneth Roberts used in writing his famous novel "A Candle." We hope to hear more from this diary at a later meeting.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee, Mrs. Reginald F. Cahalan, Mrs. David A. Merriam, Mrs. Nestor Davis, Mrs. Anna W. Fisher and Miss Ethel C. Smith.

MRS. CLARA HANKS STARK

Mrs. Clara Hanks Stark, widow of Harry W. Stark and a former resident of South Boston, died Sunday, April 23, at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edwin Booth, 18 Sheffield street, after a brief illness. She was in her 83rd year.

Mrs. Stark had made her home in Winchester for the past two years. She was the daughter of Squire and Joan (Hawthorn) Booth and was born in Fall River. She taught for many years in the Girls' High School in Boston, having been one of the first to give shorthand instruction in the Boston schools.

She spent most of her life in Dorchester and South Boston where her husband was a house-builder and dealer in real estate. Besides Mrs. Booth, she is survived by two stepsons, Harry W. and Robert W. Stark of Needham; by a sister, Mrs. Alice Moore of Boston, and a brother, William Booth of Dorchester.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Hawes Unitarian Church in South Boston, with Rev. George Mark officiating. Interment was in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

a dentist in Norway, almost across the street, who suggested dentistry. That is as good a reason as any for the vocation.

Frank can control his enthusiasm in recalling his professional three years in Norway. Me. He speaks with more pleasure, however, about his marriage during this period to Mildred Elder of Malden.

Back in Louisville, where he had graduated in dentistry, Frank divided his time between teaching and private practice. The development of a surgical specialty within dentistry was becoming evident, and he studied extensively with Doctor George Winter of St. Louis, to whom is accorded the distinction of having developed the modern art of Exodontia. Frank moved again in 1922, this time opening offices in Boston, and in 1923 took up his residence in Winchester, where he and his family have since resided.

A year ago Dr. Rounds became president of the Massachusetts Dental Society, which during the week of April 24 celebrated its 75th anniversary meeting.

Dentistry is still a young profession, not quite 100 years in existence as an independent entity. It has important responsibilities to the public, and has continuously labored to improve its own standards. Seventy-five years ago, barely 30 dentists banded together to form the Massachusetts Dental Society. During its current meeting, nearly 4000 dentists came to the Hotel Statler to review past progress, and to plan for greater achievements. Consequently, the president of such an organization is faced with no small task.

For purposes of dental organization, Massachusetts is divided into 11 districts, each with its functioning committees, guided by a central office and by its president. The president must keep in continuous personal contact with the districts, and is charged with the responsibilities of a multitude of committees incident to the annual meeting in Boston. The judgment of his friends is that Frank Rounds has accepted all assignments with a cheerful disregard of self, and with a studious attention to details unusual even to other capable presidents of the organization. Parenthetically, the dentists are extending to Mrs. Rounds a hearty vote of thanks for her patience, and the sincere hope that when her husband's tour of duty in the Society is finished, he may again see something socially of his family and friends.

In stature, Frank Rounds is not a large man, but his dynamic energy cover a lot of territory. Unless the work he is doing is fun, and you can almost take it for granted that he makes it fun, he hasn't had much enjoyment in a conventional way for a long time. The weather, please God, will presently allow him to play golf. He plays a lot of golf, much of it far better than he admits it is. The comment is offered for the protection of those of his Winchester friends who still think that you pay off on the drive. Frank is happy to place a bet on himself, subject to suitable handicapping, at any time, and will pay off his losses with the same cheerfulness which characterizes his attitude when he wins. And he does both.

President of the Massachusetts Dental Society on the occasion of its 75th anniversary. A specialist in Exodontia. To you, that is the science and art of removing human teeth. A specialist in usefulness. A good citizen, and a faithful friend.

More than that, however. As if all this wasn't enough, Frank and Mildred Rounds have a great many friends. These friends are united in admiring the job these two parents have done with their two boys. Both graduated from Andover. One has already graduated from Princeton with a record of distinction not likely to be soon equalled. One boy is still in Princeton, a credit to his University and source of great hope to those who know him. The other hears that he too may select dentistry as a vocation.

Thank you, Frank, for coming to Boston. It's nice you live in Winchester. Nice for Winchester, we hope nice for you. Thanks for being a dentist. Because dentistry needs you.

HELEN BARR TO LECTURE

On Monday evening, May 1, at 8 p. m., at the Nurses' Home of the Winchester Hospital, Helen Barr will lecture on, "Good Grooming is Essential to Health and Happiness."
All are welcome.An all day hike to Camp Lane, Saturday, April 22, was participated in by 18 members of the troop and three leaders and in spite of a rainy beginning, turned out to be one of the most successful hikes of the year.
Mr. Moore gave instruction and demonstration in the selection of tent sites and in the pitching of tents. The boys played "Capture the Flag," "Scout Baseball," and other games but also spent part of the day with the more serious business of passing advancement tests.The meals were planned by the various patrols and the cooking was done by patrols. This was put on a competitive basis and each patrol was judged with respect to, fire, plan of meal, cooking schedule and cleanliness. The points obtained are scored together with those obtained in other patrol contests and will determine the winner of the patrol trophy to be awarded at the end of the year.In the evening all gathered around the campfire and enjoyed themselves roasting marshmallows, telling stories and singing. It was discovered that a number of the members of the troop have considerable talent for singing and solo, duet and quartet numbers were given. The group broke up at 9 p. m. and the Scouts were taken home in the cars of Mr.
Moore, Mr. Millikan and Mr. Fovold.
The tests passed by various scouts were as follows: cooking, Scouts L2, Roy and Horne; handicraft, Scouts
Costello and Young; fire, Scouts
Leary and Armstrong; tracking, Scouts Leary, Dick Sheehan, Muchlig and Symmer; knife and axe, Scout Armstrong.At the regular meeting Monday night, the troop was reviewed by Assistant Commissioner Cole. The new troop bugler, Scout Symmer, demonstrated his ability in this capacity for the first time and Mr.
Lindy Lane was presented with his tenderfoot pin. Assistant Scoutmaster Millikan gave the troop a demonstration of the use of the microscope and illustrated the importance of microscopic study in many fields.

TALK ON GARDENSA beautiful example of the friend-

Dr. Charles H. Tozier, our friend and neighbor, spoke on "Gardens Where Nature and Man Work Together," for the members of the Fortnightly and their guests last Sunday afternoon.
Through the courtesy of Mr. G. Roland Carter, manager, our splendid new Winchester Theatre was offered to the Fortnightly for the occasion.Beginning with a view of a sunrise over the Pacific Ocean, Dr. Tozier showed several remarkable colored motion pictures of boiling molten lava, from the pit of Kilauea, on Hawaii, and ice covered mountain ranges, to illustrate how the earth began. These were followed by pictures of insects, butterflies, moths, birds and creatures of the sea.Starting with tiny crocuses, golden bushes of forsythia tulips, iris and lilacs they progressed through the year, including pictures of many famous gardens from different corners of the earth. Many of our lovely Winchester gardens were shown, as well as views in the Bird Sanctuary in the Fells, and in Mr. Downs exotic orchardarium. The lecture ended with a view of the Grand Canyon, which Dr. Tozier described as the greatest rock garden in the world.Mrs. Paul H. Howard, president of the Fortnightly, introduced Doctor Tozier, and expressed to him the deep appreciation of his vast audi-to those among whom she lived durshe has lived in Winchester, her pass-lived always for others, a devoted friend. Staunch and true, with a spiritual strength that knew no bounds, she was a credit to her New

SENATOR RICHARDSON REPLIES

To the Editor of the Star:
Enclosed are copies of letters received by this Association from Legislators in your District in reply to our letter to them dated April 15th, a copy of which you published. Yours truly,
G. Bertram Washburn, Exec. Sec.
Arlington Taxpayers' Association

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Senate Chamber, Boston
April 22, 1939

Mr. G. Bertram Washburn, Secy.
Arlington Taxpayers' Association
Arlington, Massachusetts.

Dear Sir:

I acknowledge your letter of April 15 in which you request my views on certain definite proposals made by the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Associations at the recent hearing at Mechanics Hall.

Item A. In relation to State Teachers' Colleges I believe substantial economies can and should be effected either through consolidation or abandonment of certain colleges. I am not prepared to say that your recommendations are better than those suggested by Governor Saltonstall, who I assume is being advised by the Commissioner of Education.

In my opinion the most effective way to combat foreign ideologies and the so-called "isms" is through the medium of education especially as applied to the underprivileged youth. I am reluctant to deprive many less fortunate young men and women of the opportunity for low cost education if equivalent economies are possible through curtailing less important services provided by our state departments.

Before arbitrarily abolishing any specific college I believe the Commissioner of Education should make a careful study of the whole problem and make public his recommendations.

Item B. I believe the budget of the Lieutenant Governor can be reduced as suggested.

Item C. I am heartily in favor of consolidation of the State Racing and Boxing Commission. I doubt if $90,820.00 can be saved in the first biennium but there is no valid reason why very substantial savings cannot be made and still adequately protect the interests of the State.

Item D. I believe no undue hardship will result by postponing the erection of a new building at the Lancaster Industrial School. I favor postponement.

While the above are but brief replies to the questions propounded may I say in general I am heartily in accord with the program of His Excellency in his effort to cut cost of government.

The cumulative evils of past administrations cannot be cured overnight but under present leadership rapid progress is being made and I can assure you I shall continue to support such leadership in the interests of economy and efficiency in the administration of State affairs.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) Harris S. Richardson, Senator Sixth Middlesex District

TRIBUTE TO "FURY" INADEQUATE!

To the Editor of the Star:
Last week you gave brief mention to the tenth anniversary of Squire Franklin's Fury. The tribute was a kindly one, but inadequate to an honored institution of our town, for the Fury is by way of becoming a tradition second only to the hallowed "Mary Ann" of olden time. Even now, mention of that name brings a tear to the bronzed cheek of Paddy Craughwell.

Future years (and may they still be far ahead) will bring back to us the picture of the Fury as we now see it daily. It heaves into view over the rise of Washington street, dashes down to the traffic circle which it rounds with a swoop, then a quick turn of the wheel, and with a sharp list to starboard, makes the turn into the Town Hall drive; one more zip of the wheel and it twists into its berth against the back wall of the building and comes to a full stop with all four wheels braced forward. The "Queen Mary" is longer, and makes more noise because she has a bigger whistle, but watching her you can have no greater thrill than this. I believe the Fury could do it alone, even without George behind the wheel.

I can think of no more fitting close to this eulogy than:
A PLEA

There comes a time in the lives of men, After they reach three score and ten, When they are freed from toil and strife, To enjoy their rest in the quiet of life. The faithful horse, when his work is done, Is turned out to graze in the pasture sun, And he old bound chaise the fox no more, But is driven away on the good main floor. So, why not be kind to the shabby old car? That year after year has transported us? Where is the ingrate who heartlessly bar Old Age Assistance to George Franklin's car?

Yours truly,
An ardent admirer

OPPOSED WEST SIDE DEVELOPMENT KILLED

To the Editor of the Star:
A short time ago the County Building Supply Company, Inc. purchased a tract of land in the vicinity of Emerson road, High street and Arlington street extension, with the intention of erecting houses considerably below the average valuation of those already existing in the neighborhood. Fearing that such a development would be detrimental to the Town of Winchester, a group of interested citizens sought means to prevent completion of the company's plans. To carry out such an aim it was decided to form a trust to be known as the Myopia Park Association, the objectives of which would be to purchase the land, place adequate restrictions on it, and sell it to prospective builders.

In order to finance this transaction the columns of your newspaper and personal letters were utilized to encourage the citizens of Winchester to subscribe to units of ownership in this trust.

It can now be announced that the trust has been formed and that its objectives will be carried out.

The land has already been purchased from the County Building Supply Company, Inc. To protect the Town of Winchester it is the intention of the trustees to sell the land only to those prospective builders who will file building plans which satisfy the trustees that the town will not suffer from the character of the houses to be erected. As the land is sold, the subscribers to the units of ownership will receive dividends in liquidation.

Prospective purchasers either of individual lots or of this property in its entirety are encouraged to communicate with any of the trustees.

Those who have shared in the formation of this trust and the carrying out of its objectives are deeply grateful to the citizens who have so generously responded to the appeal for subscriptions. Their co-operation testifies to that splendid community spirit which raises Winchester to its enviable standing among other cities and towns.

"YOU MUST WAKE AND CALL ME EARLY"

The human race can get itself up early, but it always needs a good reason. Dawn is not usually its favorite time of day. Its stock adjectives for the season are "cold and gray," and unless it knows that something pleasant is going to come up over the horizon, it turns over on its pillow and isn't in the market for very early hours. So it takes John Pett with his horn and his hounds and his halloo, or a poet's song at Corinna's window, of an engagement to be queen of the May to get people up voluntarily early in the morning.

But for the Epiphany Young People's Fellowship their annual May Breakfast is a good and sufficient reason for greeting the dawn. They pledge themselves to be ready at 7:15 Saturday morning, May 6, to serve their earliest customers with unhurried coffee that has had every minute that beverage needs to attain its golden prime. No marks of the cook, whose alarm ring will be marring the breakfast viands even if the older and younger members of the parish are standing in a hungry line when 7:15 comes.

The captain of the early risers will be Barbara Mayson, her adjutants will be Joan Moffette and Cynthia Newton.

They will not use as picturesque ways of rousing their staff as mere England used to know, but their modern and prosaic alarm clocks and telephones will be on hand in good time.

The proceeds from the breakfast will supply the Fellowship purse with money for various things the young people have found they want to do in the parish. Breakfast will be served throughout the period from 7:15 to 9 o'clock.

WE TELL 'EM

Mr. P. Stewart Newton has again returned from the hospital, and during the week has been in daily communication with this office to find out how he is. The Star, not being issued until Friday, gives out no advance information, so he has had to wait until now.

So now, Mr. Newton, we'll tell you how you are:
Your frequent and extended trips to the hospital are rapidly making you a familiar sight to the staff of the Winchester Hospital. This is largely your own fault. Your mental activity far exceeds your physical ability. You can go back to work, run a mile and meet "P" in the trailer, but do it in your mind only. Otherwise that homely nurse will get you. On the whole you are much better; your color is high and your spirits are good. But sit around during the New England weather. We can't take care of you without assistance.

Forecast: slow and sure.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

THE MACMILLAN LECTURE

Touched by the waves of enthusiasm for his beloved North demonstrated by Comdr. Donald B. MacMillan, in his illustrated talk at the Winchester High School auditorium, Wednesday evening, a small but appreciative audience filed out exclaiming to their neighbors. This one impressed by the native food of the Eskimos, another exclaiming over the skill of the dog teamsters, all wondering how a man and a crew of eight boys could accomplish so much, teachers, parents friends, boys and girls returned to their homes thrilled by Commander MacMillan's reliving his experiences through the power of his ready memory and his thoroughly enjoyable slides and movies. It was a full evening.

After a brief but thoroughly convincing introduction in which Commander MacMillan indicated the purpose of his trips to be to learn something more than previous trips had taught him, he confined his lecture to the explanation of his films and slides, so well interchanged that the transition was quite agreeable.

Wednesday's audience is deeply indebted to the Teachers' Club for bringing Commander MacMillan back to Winchester. For the club, President William Branley spoke briefly in introducing the speaker. Assisting Mr. Branley in arranging this program for the Scholarship Fund were Miss Mary Mackdon, vice president; Miss Inez Keller, secretary-treasurer; the Misses Gertrude Lewis and Hazel Kinsley, delegates at large; the Misses Alice Davis, Florence Sullivan, Louise Taylor, Hilda Maxfield, Elizabeth Powers, Barbara Ashton and Esma Hackett; and Samuel Graves and John Stevens, building representatives.

HOLD THE LINE, Please

The average time to make a long-distance telephone connection is but one and one-half minutes. Most calls go through while you "hold the line." Friends, no matter how many miles away they may be, are within quick and easy reach. And there's a personal quality to telephoning that's like nothing else except a personal visit. Out-of-town rates, you'll find, are very reasonable.

Both boys were taken to Headquarters, where the boy living in Woburn was returned to his father with the admonition that he be kept out of this town. His companion was returned to the Middlesex School authorities.

Wednesday testimonial meeting, 7:45 P. M. Reading room, 5 Winchester Street, (off Thompson street). Open daily 11 A. M. to 4 P. M., except Sundays and holidays.

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, April 30.
The Gospel is the "shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?" (Genesis 18:25).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the "shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?" (Genesis 18:25).
"Behold, happy is the man whom God corrects; therefore despise not the chastening of the Almighty." "He shall deliver thee in six troubles; yea, in seven there shall no evil touch thee." (Job 5:17, 19).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth, and He scourgeth every son whom He will or the demands of divine Science and obeys them, incurs the hostility of envy; and he who refuses obedience to God, is chastened by Love." Divine Love corrects and governs man. "Calling on Him to forgive our work badly done or left undone, implies the vain supposition that we have nothing to do with his work, and that afterwards we shall be free to repeat the offense." Every supposed pleasure in sin will furnish more than its equivalent of pain, until belief in material life and sin is destroyed" (pp. 241, 6).

FRANK P. ZAFFINA
Frank P. Zaffina of 14 Hill street, prominent Italian resident and World War veteran, died suddenly Friday evening, April 21, being stricken while attending a meeting of Winchester Lodge, 1580, Sons of Italy in America, of which he was past venerable. His death was wholly unexpected and came as a severe shock to his family and many friends.

Mr. Zaffina was 43 years old and a native of Italy, the son of John and Guernino (Lento) Zaffina. As a young man he came to this country and served the United States during the World War. Since the war he had conducted a barber business in Winchester, his shop being located at the time of his death on Washington street.

Mr. Zaffina was prominent in the social life of the town's Italian residents. For several years he was venerable of the Sons of Italy men's lodge, representing the town in Winchester conventions and being widely known among its members. He was a member of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion.

Active civically, Mr. Zaffina was a special police officer and for the past four years a constable. He was interested in local politics and took an active part in the original campaign which sent Harris S. Richardson to the State Senate from Winchester.

Flags on the common and public buildings were at half staff in his honor.

FLORENCE CRITTENDON LEAGUE

The annual meeting of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion was held Thursday afternoon, April 20, at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, Ledgewood road.

The meeting was opened at 2:30 o'clock by the president, Mrs. William Cusack, and after a prayer by Rev. Carlton Jones, minister of the Second Congregational Church, the regular business of the day was presented. The annual report was read by the secretary, Mrs. Percy Bugbee. In this report she told of the work the various committees have accomplished during the past year. At the conclusion of the reading of this report the following officers were elected for the coming year.

President — Mrs. Harold B. Richmond
First Vice President — Mrs. Percy Bugbee
Second Vice President — Mrs. Frank Garrett Recording Secretary — Miss Gretchen Stone
Corresponding Secretary — Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth
Treasurer — Mrs. Benjamin Hill
Director (for 3 years) — Mrs. Fred Ritchie

The Circle then presented the retiring president with a beautiful bouquet in appreciation of the splendid way in which she fulfilled her duties as president during the past two years.

Special guests for the day were Miss Helen Fowler, superintendent of the maternity home in Brighton, Mrs. Mary P. Chute, superintendent of the Welcome House in Jamaica Plain and Mr. Clarence Preston, executive secretary of the League. The accounts of the work which is being done by the League in each of the branches which they represent were most interesting.

A very delightful musical program was presented by Idabelle Winship, soprano, with Mary Ranton Witham, pianist. Her program included "What's in the Air Today?" by Robert Eden, "Le Nil" by Leroux, "Charity" by Hagenman and "Let My Song Fill Your Heart" by Charles.

Mr. Edward E. Whiting, former Washington correspondent to the Boston Herald, was the guest speaker and both amused and delighted his listeners with his fascinating discussion of "What Makes Great Men Great."

At the close of this enjoyable meeting, tea was served by Mrs. Kingman Cass and her committee. Mrs. Bowen Tufts and Mrs. Vincent Clarke, past presidents, poured.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOR

Members and their guests were entertained at the dramatic afternoon Tuesday by Miss Dorothy Day and Company. Miss Day and the two members of her company presented three sketches and several monologues, all of them entertaining and one dramatic and exciting.

Mrs. John S. O'Leary, sewing chairman was in charge of an exhibit of work done by members of the Guild. There was a great variety in the articles exhibited and the Catholic Charitable Bureau will have many lovely pieces to assemble into the layettes which they present to needy mothers.

The hostesses for the day were Mrs. Joseph Donahy, Mrs. James F. Gaffney, Mrs. Thos. W. Hennessey, Mrs. H. G. Osterberg, Mrs. T. E. Riley, Mrs. J. E. Shay and Mrs. Earl Woods.

The annual Communion Sunday is April 30 with mass at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's Church and breakfast immediately following at Lyceum Hall. Mrs. F. S. Evans is chairman and requests members to let her know promptly if they expect to attend so that she may inform the caterer of the number to be served.

Lane, Treasurer of Country Fair; Miss Gladys Marchant, Miss Clara Butterworth, Properties Chairman; Mrs. Robert MacArthur, Midway Chairman; Mrs. A. Allen Kimball, General Chairman of Country Fair. ## COME TO THE FAIR!

Of course you're coming to the Country Fair! Winchester is truly "going rural" on Saturday, May 20, so you had better plan now to get into the spirit. Here you will have the opportunity at the Town Hall grounds to renew old friendships and join in the thrills and excitement that await every member of your family.

Miss Gladys Marchant and Miss Clara Butterworth are hard at work with their committees, including Mrs. Morris Kerr, Mrs. Donald Boothby and Mrs. Chandler Symmes designing booths and making unprecedented plans for one of En Ka's most picturesque and charming Street Fairs. "Aunt Betty's Bakery," which will be managed under the skillful eyes of Mrs. Edwin W. Zimmerman, will lure you with its bakery goods, made from celebrated recipes in a hundred Winchester kitchens. It is a well known fact that this booth is always an early "sell out" so we give you fair warning. Happily your family and win their love and the prize winning home a pan of feathery rolls or one of the "Frosting" cakes that the kiddies love and a pie (the kind that mother used to make) for dad. Here you will find the willing services of Dr. Sanford Moses, Mrs. Raymond Holdsworth, Mrs. Otto Becker, Miss Flora Locke, Mrs. Paul Forester and Miss Barbara Goodwin.

The perennial library lawn will be a sanctuary for the foot weary where tea will be served from 4 to 6 at "Ye Singing Tea Kettle." You will surely welcome the pleasant relaxation which this spot will afford you while you sit and chat with a friend and listen to the soft strains of a violin or become intrigued with the tunes of a quaint harmonica band. Mrs. William Cusack with his Richard Wilder as vice chairman have on their committee a group including Mrs. N. Robert Voorhis, Mrs. Jameson Slocum, Mrs. Forest L. Pittman, Miss Dorothy Pendleton, Mrs. Raymond Dexter, Mrs. Blanchard, Mrs. Theodore Monroe, Mrs. John G. Penniman, Mrs. Harris Richardson, Mrs. Woodford Wilcox and Mrs. Harold Dadds.

Attractive young country maids, including Betty Thompson, Ann Cole, Polly Kimball, Geneva Underwood, Ruth Olsen, Claire Tapley, Barbara Dadds, and Betty Pride, will assist Mrs. Harold B. Richmond and her co-chairmen, Mrs. Arthur T. Rogde and Miss Carolyn Mercer in the sale of balloons.

ENGAGEMENT

TAKING FISH FROM SOUTH RESERVOIR

Two men have been busy this week taking fish from the south reservoir. They have done their work from a boat with hand-lines, and the casual observer might get the impression that the fishing restrictions in force everywhere on the town's watershed had been let down.

Nothing is further from the facts! The men in the boat are from the Fish and Game Division of the Department of Conservation and they are catching the fish to take them to the pond in the Parker Forest Reservation for breeding purposes. The general public is advised not to emulate their activities unless desirous of a trip to court!

MUSICAL COMEDY GREAT SUCCESS

World Premiere Pleases Winchester Audience

The first performance of "The Red Flame," a musical comedy by Mrs. Larz Anderson of Boston, with music by Dr. Henry Hadley, was given at the Winchester Town Hall last night. It has been many years since a musical production of this magnitude has been seen in town, and a large and distinguished first night audience greeted this ambitious presentation with the greatest enthusiasm and hearty applause. The Winchester Unitarian Players, aided by the members of the Ladies' Friendly Society and the Unitarian Men's Club, were responsible for the production.

The plot concerns the romantic and exciting adventures of a group of American tourists who become involved in native intrigue on the colorful island of Bali. The story is well told, consistently worked out, interest is kept high, and characterizations are well drawn, with a fine balance of romance, music and comedy.

Dr. Hadley's musical score is rich in melody and rhythm, and reflects the mood and character of the scene most expressively. The love songs are tuneful and beautiful, and the dance music, catchy and rhythmic. William Friz Frank conducted the large orchestra which accompanied the performance with skill and understanding, and arranged Gadowski's music for the Balinese dances.

The cast was a carefully selected group, which included some of the finest singing voices in the town, with a great balance of youth and beauty on the feminine side, and stalwart characters of the masculine persuasion. All of the leading parts were taken by persons of training, both in acting and singing, and the result was well above the standard usually reached by amateurs.

Marguerite Brady of Reading, who has a marked resemblance to her famous cousin, Alice Brady, handled the leading feminine role with distinction, while Gordon Bennett played the part of her lover most capably. Helen Walker was a convincingly terrifying villainess, the volcano, and acting honors should also go to Helen DeMeth, whose portrayal of the feeble little temple dancer was exceedingly well done. Isabelle Winslip and William Schwartz contributed much real pleasure to the public by their over-the-top, headed by Carl Wood, provided a rollicking flavor of Gilbert and Sullivan to the plot.

All of the singing was exceptionally good, and the whole performance well cast, with no exceptions except in the part of the chorus. The players, in appearance and ability, most perfectly suited to his part. Delightful comedy was furnished by David Downe and Robert Jackson, assisted at various times by other members of the company in singing and dance routines. Ball dances, of authentic origin, were performed with the stately grace characteristic of the island by an attractive group of young dancers. The chorus sang and danced well, acted capably and displayed much of that indispensable quality, pep.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF P. T. A.

The final meeting of the Junior High School Parents Teacher Association will be held in the high school auditorium this evening May 5 at 7:45 o'clock. At this time the proposed changes in the by-laws will be discussed and officers elected for the coming year.

Most of us have heard about Choral Reading, but few have had an opportunity to hear any, so will be glad to know that a seventh grade group will give a demonstration of this new development in the English Department.

The Girls' Glee Club which has always given so much pleasure in other years will sing a very different type of music, giving an exhibition of strength, agility and nimbleness that will make all of us wish we were back in school once more. Don't miss this excellent opportunity to see how roundly our children are being developed.

EPIPHANY MAY BREAKFAST

Saturday, May 6, the Young People's Fellowship of the Parish of the Epiphany will borrow the family alarm clock and dash over to the parish kitchen to cook breakfast in time for even early birds in the Boston way of business to get their early trains. They will begin serving at a quarter past seven and will continue for those with a more leisurely day's schedule until 9 o'clock.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk by the following: Paul Eaton Lamarche of 37 Myrtle terrace and Barbara Wheeler of 16 Elm street.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

One member was absent from the meeting of May 4. And the club has registered 100 per cent attendance for the meeting of April 27. Can it be that the "good old days" of excellent attendance records are in process of duplication?

President Ralph has appointed a menu committee to carry on in the interests of our luncheon service. Kindly communicate your suggestions to the chairman as announced at yesterday's meeting. At this time President Ralph also appointed a nominating committee to present a list of nominations for officers to serve the club for the year 1939-1940.

What a difference when pianist Jim McGrath is with us! In promoting good fellowship few affairs are so effective as a period of joyous doing and new combinations of work smoothly as our own social leader and pianist. We are indeed fortunate when we can enjoy them.

Rotarian Reg. Standerwick of Lynn was present with us today and spoke briefly in the interests of the 1940 District Conference to be held at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, on Friday, May 12. This is the last notice of the Conference to appear in this letter. We hope that several members who have not already done so will find it feasible to send in their registrations (cards obtainable from the secretary) with the next few days. Extra early card being made to conduct a Conference of outstanding significance. And remember, ladies of Rotary can enjoy this gathering also special provisions for their entertainment have been arranged for Friday, May 12, the big day at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, which will open three days in advance of its regular date for the purpose of accommodating our Conference.

Mr. Ross Landry, representing the Esso Motorists, associated with the Colonial-Beacon Oil Company, appeared at the entertainment period of the current meeting and presented a motion picture and sound film entitled "News of the Air." After a brief historic outline of the methods of communication employed from primitive times on, this film gave a graphic account of the time when which an important news item is handled from its occurrence, through its transmission to the central press agencies at New York, to its final announcement to the public by radio, newspaper, etc. This service is performed with a speed, accuracy and conciseness which is well-nigh miraculous, a convincing testimony to the ingenuity and human ingenuity and invention. Mr. Landry's short reel of comics at the close of an exhibit which was extremely well received.

There will be another meeting of the club at the regular time next Thursday, the 12th. These last two meetings have confirmed the often expressed opinion that those meetings most largely attended bring the greatest satisfaction. Let's keep it up!

Percentage of Attendance, April 27, 1939—100 per cent.

TO MEASURE FLOW OF RIVER

Monday forenoon a representative of the U. S. Geological Survey met a group of town residents and newspaper men at the dam in the Aberjona at the foot of Mystic avenue to explain the working and importance of the flow-meter installed there by his department.

Contrary to what has been rather a prevalent belief the meter has nothing to do with flood control. It has been installed to record the daily flow and volume of the river in order that the proportion of pollution can be accurately checked by the Department of Public Health. Two glass pens, filled with ink and controlled by an impressive gadget replete with wheels, set screws, rolls of graph paper, pulleys and cables, record the flow and volume which a representative of the Geological Survey will read at stated intervals. A new machine was ready for installation Monday morning and it has been found that an old type meter which had been in use, had not been registering for several days.

The dam, meter house and appurtenances have cost $4000, divided between W. P. A. and P. W. A. funds. The estimated cost of $2500 was exceeded due to the necessity of working during the winter months.

In reply to a question concerning the law calling for a fish weir at any dam built in a river the engineer stated that the water below the dam had been lowered by the flashboards at Mystic Lake to permit easier construction of the weir. The water level there would be only about an eight inch jump for a fish to go over the dam which, the engineer stated, was an easy accomplishment, even for the smallest of herring. He also stated that there were no wires at the dam built by the town further up the river.

Already some damage has been done at the meter house and dam, stones having been displaced and thrown on the dam and some of the windows at the rear of the house having been shot out. The engineer expressed surprise at this having happened in a town like Winchester.

The Fire Department had two runs last Friday night, the first at 8:19 in response to an alarm from Box 34 for a fire in the remains of a previously burned building owned by the General Crushed Stone Co. on Holton street in Woburn. At 10:45 Box 37 was pulled for a fire in the basement of the home of Mr. Frank Miglicio at 32 Chester street.

The occasion also serving as a preview of the work of Dean Cornwall which is to be on exhibition in the Winchester Art Gallery until June 1. Miss George of the Vesper George School of Art will speak.

Mr. Cornwall, a native of Louisville, Ky., is one of this country's foremost mural painters. He is now finishing the murals for the General Motors' Building at the World's Fair in New York and his other commissions include outstanding examples of this sort of art in many large cities.

At 35 Mr. Cornwall turned to mural painting and his first commission, completed after six years in the Los Angeles Public Library, is the largest executed by one man since Michelangelo decorated the Sistine Chapel.

Mr. Cornwall has been a professional trumpeter and drummer, an inventor, a manufacturer, a cartoonist and staff artist for the Chicago Tribune. He first studied art with a correspondence school that was prosecuted for defrauding the mails, then for three weeks at the Art Institute in Chicago and later with the famous study with Harvey Dunn in Leonia, N. J. A job illustrating for Red Book followed, and between 1915 and 1927 he painted a thousand canvases. Many are familiar with his illustrations for stories having a historic background.

At the Library there will be an exhibition working drawings and cartoons for the murals for the Raleigh Room of the Warwick Hotel in New York, at the Detroit Athletic Club and others. Mr. Cornwall recently had an exhibition of originals of his illustrations at the Vesper George School in Boston.

DERRO-DEMINICO

The marriage of Miss Mary J. Deminico, daughter of Mrs. Marian Deminico of Florence street, to James J. Derro, son of Mr. Thomas Derro of Swanton street, took place at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, April 29, at St. Mary's Church. Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick performed the ceremony and also was celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed.

Miss Deminico was given in marriage by her brother, Carmine Deminico of this town, and had for her honor attendant her sister, Miss Josephine Deminico. Miss Eleanor Li-onetta of Arlington and Miss Mary Penna, Miss Rita Deminico, Miss Mary Derro, Miss Ida Cuccolo and Miss Philomena Corbi, all of Winchester, were bridesmaids. Miss Marguerite Derro of this town was flower girl.

Alfred Subrizio of this town was Mr. Derro's best man and the ushers were Albert Derro, Dominic Provizano, Anthony Ciruso, William Felziano, Frank Deminico, all of Winchester, and Anthony DeLuca of Hartford, Conn.

The bride wore a gown of white embroidered marquisette, made with a court train, and a long veil of tulle arranged with a coronet. Her flowers were white roses and lilies of the valley. The honor maid wore a blue marquisette gown with matching crown and carried Columbia roses. The bridesmaids also wore gowns of marquisette, two French rose, two magenta and two cadet blue. All wore crowns to match their dresses and carried roses in harmonizing shades. The little flower girl wore a frock of rose colored embroidered marquisette and carried an old fashioned bouquet of red roses.

A wedding breakfast was served at the bridal party at the Hotel Statler in Boston and in the evening a largely attended reception was held in Waterfield Hall. The wedding journey is to take Mr. Derro and his bride to the Golden Gate Exposition at San Francisco, Calif. Upon their return they will make their home at 50 Harvard street in Winchester.

Winchester Cubs outclassed the Bosten Pill Boys, 14-4, last Sunday at Belmont, opening their season in impressive fashion.

"Lab" Gaudioso went the route and limited Belmont to seven well scattered hits, coasting the last four innings with a 12 run lead. Sam Provinzino, Bernie Styles and Ralph Murphy each collecting three hits in the winning cause. "Ducky" Rallo injured his finger in the 8th and was replaced in the hot corner by brother "Len." Pete Provinzino taking over the latter's patrol in right field. The summary:

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

With the final examinations in first aid and the annual meeting on Saturday, April 22, the Winchester Ski Club has closed its second season.

Every member of the first aid class passed, with marks ranging from 82 per cent to 95 per cent. Everyone who took this course is more than enthusiastic over it and feels that the interesting evenings were invaluable. In slight token of their appreciation for the patience and kindness of their Red Cross instructor, Mr. Hansen, they, in the small person of "Bubbles" Larsen, presented Mr. Hansen with a ski jacket at the final review class Wednesday night.

Mr. Hansen has very generously offered to conduct another class for those who could not attend the first one and has suggested that these might be held twice a week in order to have the work completed before hot weather and vacations arrive. These classes definitely are not limited to members of the Winchester Ski Club and do not apply specifically to skiing accidents. They properly train the first aider to care for any type of accidental injury. The course is recommended to anyone wishing to take it and complete information may be obtained from Duncan Ferguson, Win. 0777-M.

The annual meeting was held at the Boy Scout cabin on Border road. Everyone brought a box supper and those were served by the log fire. The business meeting followed with the unanimous election of officers and directors of the 1939-1940 season. Following this, five reels of ski movies were shown and were greatly enjoyed by the members with numerous remarks on technique as shown by those in the action shots.

The officers for next season are: President—Robert L. Lovell; Vice President—Marshall R. Phil; Secretary—Hilda Thomson; Treasurer—Kenada Thomson.

Directors: Richard A. Harlow, William Stalker, Alton Dunsford, John Coon, Fredrick Fish, A. Munton, Flakham, Theodore Elliott, William Best, William Syer and Harry B. Bang.

Except for the Tuckerman Ravine die-hards most of the club members have put their skills in presses and are waiting for those hot summer days to do their oiling, after which will follow that long impatient wait until late fall when St. Peter again drifts his fleecy mantle across the hills and trails. And so, 'til then, "Ski Heil!"

WINCHESTER SWAMPED READING

Winchester went into first place in the Middlesex League Wednesday afternoon by defeating Reading High at Reading, 14-4, while Stoneham was setting back Belmont. "Bob" Farrell started his first game for Winchester and while a bit wild was effective. He was relieved by Don Thoman. Hrynowski of Reading walked 16 men, and Farrell 8. Gainey's triple was the game's longest hit.

WINCHESTER TRACK MEN WON

Winchester High School's track team journeyed to Concord last Friday afternoon and opened its current season by outclassing Concord in a dual meet, 55-22.

The local boys won first places in five of eight events, winning seconds in the other three. Underwood of Winchester copped the high jump with a leap of 5 ft. 7 in., fine going under last Friday's conditions, and also took second in the 220, second in the broad jump and ran on the winning relay team. Polson of Winchester won the half mile and took third in the mile which was won by Winchester's Connolly in virtually five minutes. Fred Donahue's second gave the locals a clean sweep in this event. Captain Pilkington gave Winchester a first in the quarter and anchored the relay team, while "Fran" Murray, football halfback, won the 220, took second in the hundred and led off the victorious relay quartet. Connolly ran second to Polson in the half, and again a Winchester boy, "Bill" Spaulding, copped third for a grand slam.

Winchester is being coached this year by "Jim" Shaw, a Harvard graduate school student who handled freshman football last fall. Apparently he has some good material to work with. Following is the summary:

100-yard dash—Won by Henry, C.; second, Murray, W.; third, Sanborn, C. Time—11 1/8.
220-yard dash—Won by Murray, W.; second, Underwood, W.; third, Cousins, C. Time—28 3/8.

WINCHESTER WON OPENER

In frigid weather on Manchester Field last Friday afternoon, Winchester High opened its Middlesex League baseball season, winning from Lexington by the football score of 13-11. The official scorer only credited the teams with three errors, two for Winchester and one for Lexington, and there must have been several times that number of bobbles committed. The locals had very little practice under their belts and were playing their first game. They showed promise of being quite a ball club before the end of the season rolls around. Lexington's showing for a club with at least two games played was a sorry one, though the Minuteboys might have won with a little better handling of their pitching. They had a 10-0 lead going into the fifth.

The locals put one over in the fifth and tallied 11 times in the sixth, a solid clout by "Tony" DeTeso with the sacks loaded breaking the inning wide open. Michelson, Lexington shortstop, who finally finished up for the visitors, held Winchester to a single in the last three frames. "Al" DiMinico, bespectacled pitcher, who went the route for Winchester, tied with McDonald, visiting hurler, for batting honors, each getting three out of four. "Tony" DeTeso got three out of five and Eben Ramsdell, two out of four. The local boys' bingles were of the solid variety that means trouble, and while Lexington had little to offer in the way of pitching, Winchester's showing at bat was very encouraging. The summary:

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The annual spring mixed doubles tournament of the Winchester Tennis Association is scheduled for Tuesday, May 16 at 8:45 p. m. at the Palmer street playgrounds. This tournament in which partners are chosen by a blind draw has always been a very popular event and is open to all residents of Winchester. Please give your entry to Mr. Skilling at the Palmer street courts.

At the annual meeting of the Association held May 1 the following officers were elected for the current year: Hazen Ayer, president; Richard Riley, vice president; Wallace Blanchard, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Jeanne Thum of this town is singing in the House in the Pines Glee Club and quartette at the concert being given tomorrow evening at Tabor Academy.

WINCHESTER SWAMPED CONCORD

One again Winchester made 11 hits to win its second Middlesex League game of the budding season from Concord Monday afternoon, 14-2. Eben Ramsdell with a perfect three in three, including a triple, and Capt. "Ed" Kenney with three in five were the leading sticklers.

Carl Johnson, blonde southpaw, and "Pete" Provinzino worked for Winchester and held Concord scoreless until the final frame. Coach Leizer used DeTeso at second base and sent Gainey behind the bat against Concord, also giving many of his second stringers a chance to get into action against the weak opposition.

Mrs. Anderson Pleased with Local Cast

Mrs. Larz Anderson of Boston, whose most recent play, "The Red Flame" is being produced in Winchester this week-end, has been a keenly interested observer at the rehearsals this past week and has expressed great satisfaction with the assembled cast. Author of some 50 books and plays, a world traveler who has been an important figure in the courts of Europe, an honored friend and many times a guest of royalty, Mrs. Anderson is a person of charm, graciousness, and unassuming modesty, whose gentle appearance and demeanor hardly suggest the life of adventure, travel, and, on several occasions dangerous living that has been hers. During the World War, she was in active service with the Red Cross, working under fire with courage and fortitude, and was decorated by several European nations for distinguished service. One of her books was written while in service.

Her home in Washington, one of the most magnificent private homes in the Capitol City, has been the scene of many gatherings of the distinguished and important people of the world, and has been recently given to the Society of Cincinnati, for a national museum.

A world traveler, she has absorbed with intelligence and sympathy all that is good, beautiful and interesting in foreign lands and many of her plays reflect her love and understanding of the Orient. Both professional and amateur companies have acted in her plays in a great many American cities and some have enjoyed long runs.

Mrs. Anderson wrote much of "The Red Flame" while visiting on the island of Bali where she found in the native customs, dress and superstitions much colorful material for this tropical romance. Others with oriental settings have been "Under the Tree," produced in Washington by the Writers' Club; "Kung," a Chinese play produced in Boston last year, Mrs. Whitehouse directing; "The Green Turban," given by the Professional Women's Club; "A City Built in a Night" and so on.

WINCHESTER COMMUNITY CHEST

To the Editor of the Star, May 3, 1939
The first campaign for the Winchester Community Chest has been completed with total subscriptions of $20,584.21.

One of the great objects of the campaign has been to increase the number of contributors to as great a degree as possible, and I am glad to report that the total number of contributors is 2274. This means an average contribution of about $9.05 per person.

This result would not have been possible without the wholehearted co-operation of those who worked so faithfully as solicitors and the general response of citizens of the town, to all of whom we extend our thanks. We also greatly appreciate your support and help in the publicity for the campaign. It was of great value to us.

Although the total amount raised is somewhat below the goal set by the Budget Committee, we hope that the various agencies, by careful management, can carry on their activities throughout the coming year without any serious handicap.

Again, our thanks to all those who so generously helped with their time and money.

Very truly yours,

Winchester Community Chest, Inc.

James Nowell,

Chairman of the Campaign

TEACHERS' CLUB BOWLERS DINE

Team Trophy and Individual Prizes Awarded

Closing their first season of tournament bowling Wednesday evening with a dinner at Sellers' 1775 House, the Winchester Teachers' Club wrote into the 1939 schedule. The team trophy, a beautiful statuette, suitably engraved with the names of the members of the winning team and handsome individual prizes for the highest averages compiled during the season were awarded by Mr. Henry Sacco, one of the members of the Saccos Rubico Co. which owns and operates 13 alleys besides the Winchester alleys.

In awarding the team trophy to Mr. Samuel Graves, captain of the highest scoring combination, Mr. Sacco expressed the opinion that it had been a pleasant season and hoped that the tournament bowling had served a useful recreational purpose. Members of the team so honored included the Misses Barbara Ashton and Agnes Montgomery, second highest scoring Edward Bartlett and Captain Graves.

Individual trophies, beautiful desk calendars with appropriate bowlers in miniature, were awarded by Mr. Sacco to Miss Gladys Follansbee, who compiled a final average of 81.7 and a high string total of 110, and to Mr. Alfred Pennell, who averaged 97.9 and high string total of 132 topped this year's competition.

Those attending the dinner were Mr. Henry Sacco, Mr. and Mrs. Pennell, Mr. Edward Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Brantley, Mr. and Mrs. Grindle, Mr. and Mrs. Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Leary, Miss Gladys Follansbee, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, the Misses Mackdon, Culen, Storer, McCarron, Ashton, McAuley, Powers, MacPartlin, Salice, Davidson, Beaman Keller Montgomery, Clark, Larrick and Bowie. Mr. Otis Leary, secretary of the league was in charge of the dining and John Stevens introduced the speakers, captains of the teams and trophy winners.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

In spite of the frigid weather of the last few days there has been a great deal of activity around the Winchester Boat Club. With the increasing enthusiasm for sailing it looks as if the club is going to have the busiest season of its career on the water.

Already there are 12 sail boats at their moorings off the club house, eight of them being of the popular one-design Snipe class. One of these was built by the Burleighs last winter and is now being tuned up. Ted and his father did an excellent job, and the new boat seems to handle very well. The other new addition to the fleet is a Tenacious Snipe belonging to Mr. Sprague. This is a smooth looking boat and may give the other Snipe sailors something to worry about. Fred Fish, who is one of the canoe sailors, has changed the Ransome crew to a sloop rig and had her out for the first time last Sunday. Fred reported that the boat was a bit tender, but that she was very fast. When the season really gets underway, the club will have at least 18 Snipes, ten boats of the Handicap class and three Decked Sailing canoes.

The race schedule this year should satisfy the most rabid racing enthusiasts. There are 37 club races listed and six with M. I. T. This year with the Medford and Winchester clubs co-operating the mix-ups that used to occur between the two fleets tried to round the same mark at the same time and in opposite directions will be avoided.

A large number of club members have been at work cleaning up the wreckage left by the hurricane and have made good progress in getting things shipshape again. The steward, Mr. James Fitch, and his wife have started the practice of serving inexpensive but superb suppers on Sunday nights. The first one was held last Sunday and was a complete success. The steward is anxious to make the club house as attractive and home-like as possible and would appreciate gifts of furniture, cushions, etc. either new or second hand.

The junior members are holding a dance on Saturday, May 13, at the club. The patrons and patronesses are Mr. and Mrs. Simonds, Mr. and Mrs. Merrow, Dr. and Mrs. Cunningham and Mr. and Mrs. Burleigh. Tickets may be had from Ted Burleigh or at the Boat Club.

Mr. P. H. Randall, well known educator and former proprietor of Randall's on Mt. Vernon street, was expected home yesterday after a six weeks stay in the hospital.

Major Nathan Thumim of Oxford street has been assigned to inactive duty with the Headquarters Staff of the 101st Quartermaster Regiment of the 25th Division. He will commence a tour of active duty at Plattsburg in August.

Russell Ellis, Lindley Burton and Lyman Snow are Winchester boys playing on the Harvard freshman tennis team. Ellis playing number one. The Harvard cubs lost a 4-5 match to Dartmouth last Saturday at Cambridge.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Corliss of Fells road arrived back in town last week from a 3100 mile automobile trip to Arizona and the West Coast. Gone two months, Mr. and Mrs. Corliss visited their son, Dr. Gordon Corliss at Yuma, Arizona, and also stopped at Mission Beach, San Diego, Los Angeles and the World's Fair in San Francisco.

Bruce Underwood, capable high jumper of the Winchester High track squad, sustained a bad ankle injury while at practice this week and may be lost to the team for the balance of the season. Underwood is credited with a 5 ft. 7 in. leap against Concord and looks like one of the best prospects the high school has had in some years.

STONEHAM HERE TODAY

Winchester High will play an important early-season Middlesex League game this afternoon on Manchester Field with Stoneham High which was leading the league circuit until upset by Lexington Monday. The locals have too much all around strength for the remainder of the league this spring.

On Friday morning of last week Mrs. J. Edward Downes opened her lovely home for a morning lecture. Coffee was served from 10 until 10:30. Miss Leona Varney, a pupil of Miss Pieler entertained with four selections, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Mary Rantham Witham.

Rev. Francis X. Downey was the speaker, his subject being "Catholic Literature." Suitable books for children as well as adults were discussed and the large number of members and their friends who attended spent a very interesting morning.

The annual Communion breakfast was held on Sunday at Lyceum Hall following mass at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Thos. W. Conlon was the toastmaster and certainly her ready wit and fun of stories helped a great deal in making the breakfast the success it was.

Mrs. James H. Carr, president, greeted all members and thanked them for their co-operation in the last year. The toastmaster then introduced Rev. George Gorman and Rev. Joseph E. McGoldrick, both of whom addressed the members.

The officers were called upon and each spoke a few words. Mrs. J. J. Walsh played three piano selections and community singing was enjoyed. Mrs. F. S. Evans was chairman of the breakfast and she and her committee are to be thanked for a pleasant morning.

On Tuesday, May 9, the last meeting of the year will take place in Lyceum Hall. The president has stressed the fact that all officers and heads of standing committees should be present.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL REPORT MARCH 31, 1939

Annual Report of the Executive Committee for Year 1938-39

To Members of the Winchester Hospital:

Your Hospital has just finished a successful year of service to the public not only of Winchester but also the surrounding towns. Your Treasurer's report will show that while operating receipts do not by any means cover the operating expenses, the contributions secured have a little more than made up the operating deficit.

The service for the past year shows 17,048 patient days compared to 16,064 patient days the previous year, an increase of six per cent. The average cost to the Hospital is $6.27 per patient day. The ward patients pay substantially less than cost while the private room patients pay from cost to slightly above cost.

The endowment funds and income, other than from patients, make up some of operating deficit and the remaining amount has to come from donations and contributions. This means that we are rendering a genuine charity hospital service to needy, sick, and injured people in our community. This should be an inspiration to our workers and the members of the friendly organizations who contribute so largely to our support and we hope will interest persons who may desire to leave bequests to be applied to charitable purposes. We are very grateful to the organizations such as the Pop Concert Committee, the Winton Club, the En Ka Society, the Fortnightly, who have materially assisted us during the past year.

Among the material improvements to the Hospital were, the installation of sprinkler system in Nurses Home to remove the fire hazard that has worried us in the past, a practically complete electric kitchen installation, new refrigerators and dish sterilizers. To lessen the noise in certain parts of the Hospital sound-proof ceilings have been installed in some of the utility rooms. Through the generosity of the Weber Fund of Boston we have been able to install air conditioning equipment in our operating suite. This equipment has sufficient capacity to extend the air conditioning to the obstetrical suite where the wards are available for the purpose.

For many years replacements and improvements have been kept at absolute minimum on account of expense. The time has come when much of this delayed work must be taken up unless we wish the efficiency of our Hospital to suffer. The pressing needs just now are for new X-ray equipment, both stationary and portable; a steam table; utility room utensils; a number of new beds; besides many minor matters.

We have a staff of 25 to 30 graduate nurses on duty with special nurses as needed to take care of varying requirements.

Our Medical and Surgical Staffs have increased in members and interest shown. Only through their wholehearted cooperation could the Hospital have made satisfactory progress and have maintained our rating as a Class A Hospital of the American College of Surgeons.

Our nursing staff and our Dietician with her staff deserve high credit for their loyalty and high standard of service maintained by them and, of course, a great deal of the credit for all the accomplishments of the year goes to Mr. Frank E. Crawford, our business manager since December of 1932, to Miss Dempsey, our Superintendent of Nursing, and to Miss Delaney, our Dietician.

We are entering the coming year under the Winchester Community Chest, this service taking the place of our usual Hospital drive. While the results of their campaign are not yet known we feel hopeful they will be satisfactory.

Respectfully submitted,

The Executive Committee,

ALBERT A. COMINS, President

April 25, 1939

Annual Report of the Staff for Year 1938-1939

The Staff has held nine monthly meetings during the past year, at which the average attendance was four hundred and twenty.

Several interesting clinico-pathological conferences were held during the past year, as well as discussions of timely medical topics, in an attempt to not only make the Staff meetings more interesting but also to increase the attendance, particularly of the members of the active Staff.

The problem of the proper qualification of applicants for admission to the Hospital, particularly as regards their surgical ability has been considered by the Staff and a special committee was appointed to submit criteria for accepting applicants. The problem is not as simple as it may seem. The Staff does not wish to deny the facilities of the Hospital to any properly qualified applicant, but on the other hand, the Staff feels that the qualifications, particularly surgical, should be carefully investigated before an applicant is given free hand to perform all surgical operations.

In the rapidly advancing complexity of the practice of medicine and surgery the Staff has tried to keep the Hospital standards and efficiency at the highest level possible and deeply appreciate the splendid cooperation of the Hospital Manager and the Board of Directors.

Respectfully submitted,

ROGER M. BURGOYNE,

Secretary of the Staff

During the year $3,400.00 was donated to the Hospital by the Frederick Weber Charities Corp. to be used for the purchase and installation of an air-conditioning system for the operating room. This amount was credited to Surplus and is not included in the Income and Expense Statement.

In the fiscal year ended March 31, 1938, the Pop Concert Committee turned over to the Hospital a sum of $4,000.00 to assist the Hospital in meeting their current expenses. During the year under audit this $4,000.00 was returned to the Pop Concert Committee for the purpose of increasing Income from patients during the year has increased $3,258.22 as compared with the previous year, whereas general expenses have increased $5,049.88. The increase in expenses is largely attributable to an increase in salaries and repairs and general maintenance.

General

FARRELL—BRADFORD

A marriage of Winchester interest took place in the Belmont Methodist Episcopal Church Saturday evening, April 29, when Miss Grace E. Bradford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Bradford, of Chester road, Belmont, became the bride of Frederick L. Farrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Farrell of Sargent road. Rev. D. Joseph Imier performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock and a reception was held immediately afterward in the church parlor.

Miss Bradford's honor attendant was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mae (Ross) Bradford of Watertown. Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Charlton of Wellesley Hills, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Helen (Watt) Martin of Saco, Me.; Miss Louise Campbell of Medford Hills and Mrs. Helen (Walking) Mallion of West Medford.

A Gordon Farrell of this town was his brother's best man and the usher corps comprised William H. Bradford of Watertown, brother of the bride; Sydney W. Farrell of Belmont, cousin of the bridegroom; William J. Mallion of West Medford and George E. Martin of Saco, Me.

The bride wore a princess style gown of white satin, made with a sweetheart neckline, and a tulle veil arranged with a coronet of lace and clusters of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of orchids, sweet peas and valley lilies.

The matron of honor wore an orchid gown with matching hat and carried a bouquet of snapdragons. The bridesmaids wore periwinkle blue dresses with hats to match and carried bouquets of spring flowers. The bride's mother was gowned in fuchsia crepe and wore an orchid corsage. Mrs. Farrell, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue lace gown with a corsage of roses.

Upon their return from a southern wedding journey, Mr. Farrell and his bride will make their home in Belmont. The bride is a graduate of Miss Pierce's Secretarial School. Mr. Farrell, who is associated with the Secony Vacuum Oil Company, attended Norwich.

TWO BREAKS

Monday evening shortly before 7 o'clock the Police were called to the Skilling estate at Ridgeway. As Sergt. Joseph Derro and Patrolman William Cassidy arrived in the cruiser they saw two boys running from the old office building on the estate. The officers caught the boys at the rear of St. Mary's school yard. They found they had gained access to the office building by breaking two windows. Some medals, a key, cow-horn and a snail, ten katie were recovered by the officers. The boys will be summoned into court.

Tuesday morning shortly after 7 o'clock a representative of the Boston & Maine Railroad notified Headquarters that the station at Winchester Highlands had been entered some time following Sunday, April 30. Access was gained by forcing the front door. Two keys to an electric clock controlling signal lights were found to be missing. The police are investigating.

OPEN HOUSE AT THE MYSTIC SCHOOL

On Tuesday evening, May 9, from 7 to 10 p. m. there will be an exhibit of school work in the assembly hall of the Mystic School. This has become almost a traditional evening, looked forward to by all parents as an opportunity to make a general survey of the elementary school work, as well as a comparative study of their child's work in his particular grade. There is time to become better acquainted with all the teachers of the school, renewing old friendships and forming new.

The Mystic Chapter of the Winchester Mothers' Association has an especial interest in the exhibit this year as its program for the year has been based on a study of the work and aims of our elementary grades. It is hoped that all parents will take advantage of this opportunity to see the concrete results of the methods which have been discussed and demonstrated at meetings all through the year.

Mystic School parents and friends are urged to save Tuesday evening, May 9, for Open House at the Mystic School.

Merry, because winter's far behind... because Spring is in the air... and Summer's just ahead... and because you're planning to go places and do things.

Let the telephone help make plans or reservations. Long distance calls cost little nowadays, especially at night and on Sunday. Then 5c takes you nearly 100 miles* — 50c takes you 150 miles* — and it's most economical to reach almost every friend you have or place you plan to go.

*5 minute station-to-station rate. A small Federal tax applies where the charge is 50c or over.

A GOOD YEAR

"The best year we have ever had." This note was struck in more than one report given by activities of the Parish of the Epiphany at the annual meeting of the women's division of the Church Service League, Tuesday, May 9, at the parish hall. Sometimes it was the best in dollars, as in the case of the Evening Branch. For this small but indefatigable group of workers, Mrs. John Sharon reported that they had earned more than $300 and had made substantial progress on their own special push project—paying of the mortgage on the old homestead like dutiful daughters, or to speak quite literally, reducing the indebtedness on the rectory. When the League heard the branch ways in which the Evening Branch makes its money, they were sure that in this group there was no decline in the resourcefulness and venturing that in earlier days founded the prosperity of New England. The Evening Branch talked of a good year also in other terms than dollars, in varied participation in the parish life and in fellowship of spirit.

Another group whose report was enthusiastically cheered was the Tuesday Luncheon Group, Mrs. Warren Jenney, chairman. Their co-operating efforts had earned more than ten times as many dollars as the members of this group year '38. But here, too dollars did not tell the whole story. This group means a ready circle of friendly acquaintances into which newcomers are fitted and in which they are likely to find not only play-fellows but friends in the ampler sense of the word. This year in Lent 28 of these busy young wives and mothers came weekly to converse on personal religion which they invited an older member of the parish, Mrs. Henry C. Sache, to lead. That they read and thought as well as conferred is attested by the women with which one of them returned to the Rectory, the little book by Pat McCormick, Rector of St. Martin's in the Fields, London, called "Starting Afresh."

She said, "Six people have been reading it."

The most astonishing report, if we talk in percentages, was that of the Epiphany Librarian, Mrs. Ellsworth Snow. Library cards show that the number of those reading books of a religious and spiritual nature increased five-fold during the past year in this parish.

Mrs. Edward Boyd, who thought up and set going "the Epiphany Exchange," reported that this newest of the parish ventures was successful by both the tests for a business, service and reasonable profits.

The retirement of the chairman, Mrs. Alfred Sweet, after being in charge of surgical dressings for ten years, occasioned a survey of what Epiphany hands have accomplished on Tuesdays at this one table. Winchester Hospital has received more than 60,000 dressings. In the past year 8600 have been made. This department will be in the charge of Mrs. Walter L. Hawkes during the coming year.

Other new officers of the Service League are: secretary, Mrs. John T. Phelps; second vice president, Mrs. Donald Heath; ways and means, Mrs. Ralph L. Garner; hospitality, Mrs. L. Phillips; church choir, Mrs. William H. Wightman; parish housekeeper, Mrs. Harvard Mann; kitchen housekeeper, Mrs. Ernest Marron; parish director, Mrs. S. W. Taber; Epiphany Luncheon Group, Mrs. Warren Shoemaker; vestments, Mrs. Thaddeus W. Harris. These were recommended by the nominating committee: Mrs. Frederick Abbott, Mrs. Warren Jenney and Rev. Dwight W. Hadley and were unanimously elected.

The League expressed lasting gratitude to Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer, who retires from his leadership after three successful years. To succeed her the League elected Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills, who said as she took over the office that she dared do so only because she knew how substantially her predecessor had laid the foundations of general good will, unselfishness and responsible initiative.

Mrs. Hills announced the leader for the next all parish undertaking, the autumn bazaar, Mrs. Albert Crockett. With this forward-looking project in mind the League ended the annual meeting and the year's work.

One more Tuesday will see a gathering of Epiphany women, but that will be just a prelude to the event, the lobster luncheon, May 16.

LOBSTER AS YOU LIKE IT

At 1 o'clock Tuesday, May 16, at the Epiphany parish hall, Winchester and its favorite New England dish right here in the village. Again the Jordan Group will present their annual contribution to pleasant Winchester ways, their lobster luncheon.

The leader of the undertaking is the president of the group for this year, Mrs. Hardy Jackson. The sale of tickets is in the hands of Mrs. Archibald Jordan, whose service in starting this group for good works and good fellowship in the Parish of the Epiphany and in leading it through its first years is remembered in the name the group has taken.

Other veteran members of the Jordan Group actively working on this year's lobster luncheon are Mrs. Fred Archer, Mrs. Malcolm Cook, Mrs. Gerald Curtis, Mrs. Frank Fallon, Mrs. Edward Larned, Mrs. Ore Mortensen, Mrs. Ray Mauger, Mrs. S. Walter Taber, Mrs. Charles Wansker. New members of the Group and of the luncheon staff are Mrs. Charles Jones and Mrs. William Priest.

The hall will be decorated with garden flowers, though nobody is willing to risk her reputation as a prophet by saying just what kinds and colors this capricious and dilatory spring may bring to hand for the decorating committee in the next four days. It seems safe to say that forsooth will ring its golden bells for the occasion, and the individual tables will have color by blooming plants in bright containers. These will be the table prizes for the cards which will follow the luncheon.

GARDEN AND FLOWER SHOP AT COUNTRY FAIR

No Country Fair would be complete without its flowers and vegetables. Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes and Mrs. Willard Hudson with their committee, including Mrs. T. Milne Blanchard, Mrs. Paul Goddu, Miss Dorothy Nash, Miss Constance Lane, Mrs. Ralph Larson and Mrs. George French, have worked arduously on their plans for a garden shop where every nature lover will linger. Tools, bird houses, bird baths, pottery, bushes and plants may be purchased here and gardenias will be sold by young Farmerettes including Olga Nyström, Miriam Nash, Shirley Cook, Ideella Tapley, Ruth Olmstead, Sally Shoburne and Barbara Odum.

This committee is also sponsoring a moving picture show, to sell their proceeds, which Mr. Edward Ladd of Yale street has offered to put on in Waterfield Hall, Monday, May 15, at 8 o'clock. He will present colored pictures taken by him on a recent trip to the West Coast including Yosemite Valley, Grand Canyon and the San Francisco World's Fair. Mr. Ladd will also show beautiful pictures of Bermuda and previous Enka Street Fairs. The show will be well worth the price of admission, 25 cents, and educational as well as enjoyable for the entire family.

Don't miss the fortune teller at the Country Fair on May 20! Mrs. Charles H. Woolley and her committee, Mrs. Theodore Atkinson and Mrs. Thomas Aldrich, have engaged the services of a well-known palmist and graphologist who will banish all your worries about the future. In the setting of a realistic Gypsy camp with red baskets and trappings, you will learn all that old Dame Fortune has in store for you.

Mrs. Samuel D. Cole and Mrs. Guy Howe are to "take over" the island for one of the most original and exciting features ever planned for Enka Street Fairs. An Auction and Trading Post! Auctions will take place at 2, 3, 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon and in the evening 7:30 and 8 o'clock. How much are we offered? It won't be necessary to mortgage your future or pawn the family heirlooms to bid on these articles, either. So come on—attend a real old Country Auction your own town and bring home a bargain.

Among the enthusiastic auctioneers are such well-known village folk as Dr. and Mrs. Wilfred McKenzie, Mr. Samuel Cole, Mr. Guy Howe, Mr. and Mrs. John Turbell, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hadley, Mrs. Newell Squires, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelley and Mrs. James McGovern.

Cheese lovers will surely capitulate when they sniff the imported varieties that Mrs. T. Price Wilson and her co-chairman, Mrs. Frank W. Rounds will have on display at the Dairy. A famous array for snacks, sandwiches and appetizers, piquant and zestful. These may be purchased by the pound or in swanky glasses. Just step up and state your preference! Mrs. Phineas S. Newton, Mrs. Sanford Pettis and Mrs. Jack Wilson will be on hand to assist you. Get your supper tickets now. Don't forget that the number is limited and remember that date, May 20.

WINCHESTER LODGE OF ELKS

All Elks are cordially invited to the Mother's Day exercises to be held Tuesday, May 16, at Lyceum Hall.

The exalted ruler, John J. Doherty and officers, will conduct the exercises. Charles A. Farrar, P. E. R., will be the speaker.

Carnations will be worn by the members. Be mother in your being; white if mother is dead. Music by Strands Orchestra.

TO MOTHER

Backward turn backward, O time, in your flight.
Make me a child again just for tonight.
Mother, come back from the echoes alone,
"Like a bird in a cage," I hear the heart of you.
Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care,
Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair;
Over my slumbers your loving watch keep,
Rock me to sleep, Mother, rock me to sleep.
Backward, now backward, O tide of the years,
I am so weary of toil and of tears,
Till with weary, weary, tears all in vain,
Take them and give me my childhood again!
I have grown weary of dust and decay,
Weary of finding my soul's wealth away;
Weary of sowing for others to reap;
Rock me to sleep, Mother, rock me to sleep.
Over my heart in the days that are flown
No love like mother love ever shone.
No other woman abides and endures
Faithful, unselfish, and patient like you.
None like a mother can charm away pain,
From the sick soul and the weary brain.
Slumber! Swift calm o'er my heavy lids creep,
Rock me to sleep, Mother, rock me to sleep.

The largest bluesh on record (27 lbs.) was caught off Nahacket Island in 1903.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Last week-end was another busy time at the boat club. Col. Burleigh lead an expedition, to clean up the rubbish that had accumulated in the brook behind the clubhouse. And, on Sunday morning the "athletes" had their annual struggle with the float which is now in the water ready to use. The work of repairing the wall behind the tennis court started Wednesday and it won't be long before the rest of the tennis department is in shape again.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitch served their second buffet supper last Sunday evening. These suppers are becoming very popular as they are an opportunity to enjoy good home cooking and to have a pleasant evening with one's friends.

Don't forget the dance the junior members are having tomorrow night. A well known orchestra has been engaged and there will be dancing from 8 to 12.

There were several sailboats on the lake over the week-end. Some of the Shipe owners decided to rush the season a bit and had some informal racing. Ted Bee with Ted Burleigh at the tiller won Saturday's race and Mr. Merrow brought Don't Duck across the line first on Sunday.

A large delegation from Winchester attended the Medford Boat Club smoker on Wednesday evening. Jack Wood, the sailing instructor at M. I. T. showed movies of last year's Bermuda race and of the Star Class championship series.

THRIFT OFFICERS

The officers of the Thrift Association of the Winchester High School were elected on Tuesday, May 9. Those were elected: Samuel Crabtree, president; Peter Hickey vice-president; Sally Sharon, secretary; Jane Armstrong, assistant secretary.

HIGH SCHOOL JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

The annual high school Prom sponsored by the junior and senior classes, and presided over by the popular faculty advisors, Mrs. Stacy and Mr. Butters, took place in the high school gymnasium on last Saturday evening. The gym was gayly and originally decorated this year, being transformed uniquely enough along the line of the New York World's Fair. Orange and blue predominated in the color scheme with multi-colored balloons and streamers lending a gay aspect to the room at the end of the last dance. Carl Morris' orchestra furnished excellent music for the crowd of young people who proclaimed the 1939 Prom as the best yet.

An artistic program was due to the talents of Suzanne Gleason, and much credit is due to her, to chairman Jane Howard and to the committee, including Grace Coughlin, Daniel Dineen, Mildred Girardin, Suzanne Gleason, Douglas Graham, Donald Gray, Whitelaw Wright, seniors; and Patricia Cole, Samuel Crabtree, Ellen Edwards, Peter Galuffo, John Grady, Stephen Holmes and Phyllis Horie. Twombly, juniors, who worked hard to make the evening a success. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Grindle, Mrs. McCormack and Mrs. Styles. Mrs. Stacy and Mr. Butters were ably assisted during the evening by Miss Verne Hall and Mr. Bartlett of the faculty.

GIRLS' BASEBALL

The Winchester High School girls' baseball team lost a well-played game to Medford on Tuesday, with Janet Doub and Janet Hayward starring for the locals, both scoring home runs. Before the first game the players elected Joyce Maxson a sophomore, as captain for the 1939 season. The lineup for the Winchester-Medford game was:

Medford—McCarthy, p; Robbins, c; Healey, 1b; Mahoney, 2b; Merkle, 3b; Cirigliano, ss; Roberts, lf; Eagan, cf; and Green, rf.
Winchester—Marchesi, p; Downer, c; Maxson, 1b; Collins, 2b; Manzie, 3b; Sharon, 3b; Mayhew, ss; Hayward, lf; Doub, cf; McNally, rf.

WINCHESTER 11—STONEHAM 6

Win Put Locals at League Peak

Winchester High went into undisputed first place in the Middlesex League by virtue of its 11-6 defeat of Stoneham High on Manchester field last Friday afternoon. Though out by the visitors the locals looked much the better ball club, and showed championship possibilities by winning from behind after a prodigious homer by Johnnie Russell, who put Stoneham two up at the end of the fifth.

Connors fanned to start Winchester's half of the first, but Captain Kenney dropped a safety in center and reached third when the Stoneham middle diamond pair stood rooted at second, letting the center fielder retrieve a short over-throw from Art Rich on his steal. Ramsdell walked and went right down Kenney counted as Tole threw out DeTos, Ramsdell reaching third. Rallo's hit shot to center brought in Rallo, Garcia over-ran second and was erased by Tole to end the frame.

Stoneham got two in the second. O'Toole was safe on a soft fly which fell on the grass too far for center fielder Kenney to field. The Stoneham first sacker stole second and third, the latter while DeMinico was holding the ball in the box. Davis hoisted to Connors and Russell to Goldsmith, O'Toole holding third. Nazarian walked, stole second and scored behind O'Toole on Houghton's single. Gardner fanned for the final out.

Two more came over in Stoneham's fourth, O'Toole hitting cleanly to center and coming all the way home on Johnny Russell's well hit home run. Connors' head into deep center field. With one away in the 6th, O'Toole hit sharply to left center, stole second and reached third on Davis' single.

Kenney hit O'Toole at third while throwing out Russell, but when Connors' grounder went through Rallo, the run came over. Goldsmith took Houghton's line drive in left.

Connors hit and stole to start Winchester's sixth. Kenney walked and both advanced as Gardner threw out Ramsdell. Russell bore down and fanned DeTos, but Rallo hit over second scoring Connors and Kenney. Garcia doubling to right, both boys came in as Goldsmith's grounder went past Houghton. Russell threw out Gaiety.

Singles by Ramsdell, Rallo, Gaiety and DeMinico, DeTos's triple and Goldsmith's sacrifice gave the locals four in the 8th and put the game on ice. Hits by Houghton and Tole and Russell's double added one to Stoneham's total in the 9th.

DeMinico was captain for Winchester but Russell, Stoneham's hard-worked hurler was relieved late in the game by Messina. Winchester gave its pitcher much the better support and Russell got himself in more or less trouble trying to keep the ball low and outside for the hard-hitting local boys. Winchester got a break when Rich's home run smacked in the first curved foul and hit a tree. The big boy really leaned on that one. The summary:

Notwithstanding reports to the effect that fish would be able to jump the recently constructed dam in the Aberjona River, and that any need of a fish weir was aside from the situation existing there, numerous fish have been noticed during this week on the down-stream side of the barrier trying to pass it to go upstream to spawn. So far as could be observed none of the fish were able to jump the dam although they repeatedly attempted to do so.

The Editor extends thanks to "Anonymous," whose communication appears in this issue. It is unique to say the least in these days to receive a perfect envelope, neatly and clearly postmarked, and carried under a Jackson 1869 two cent stamp. It will go into our collection "Anonymous."

There is printed in another column a letter explaining the uses of the new dam in the Aberjona River at the south end of the playground. This is where some of the millions are going which are daily swelling our unbalanced budget and which our so-called social security is aiding in financing. The chief item is the charge of $125 a year added to the town's expenditures. This is right in line with present day efficiency and economy. The numerous aids to the more abundant life which are cited in the letter are also in keeping with the times, although those applying to recreation, navigation, wild life preservation, bridge design, power development, etc., seem to say the least more a matter of a nightmare than an advantage to the taxpayer. Winchester, being easily satisfied, will probably take the bitter with the sweet—provided there is a sweet side; and until someone gets a ducking trying to hoist a canoe over the barrier, in an endeavor to carry out the much heralded program of paddling to our band concerts, and ascertaining its advantages to navigation, we will probably just regard it to the junk yard of New Deal ideas.

Notwithstanding propaganda tooting the so-called Social Security we are enjoying (?) and having been told constantly of its wonderful advantages to mankind, and furthermore being apparently alone in our contention that it does big harm to the business of the thousand and one obstacles placed before us by our rulers, we now find that instead of cutting off both arms of business, only one arm is to be cut off. Instead of paying all our profit into the pot on this excuse for big spending, we are to be allowed to continue to pay only half! "Employers of Massachusetts will save more than twelve millions by (a) proposed revision." Although the employees have been allowed to omit the original payment of one per cent and the employer pays all, the money has accumulated so fast that future raises in the rate will be limited. Well—if this perfect scheme for the uplift of the USA is about to be rebashed, we as an employer do not look for much relief. We cannot get out of our mind that statement about "letting up on new legislation and stopping to consolidate our gains." We do not look for any sudden and joyous spirit of business. The milking of America will still go on. The distribution of all wealth must be continued.

AH—SO?

The Washington newspaper correspondent was getting fed up on his daily routine. He planned a vacation and when he was asked where he was going he replied:
"I'm pastime a big picture of President Roosevelt on the outside of my car; and I'm going to drive until somebody asks 'Who's that?' That's where I'll settle!"

AGREES WITH THE PLANNING BOARD

To the Editor of the Star:
In scrutinizing the town report of 1938 I observed that our able Planning Board advised 144 residents of the west side that in their opinion the purchase of the Witherell property adjacent to Glen road is an ideal place for a playground.
I for one most heartily concur with the Planning Board's suggestion. Why? Because it is centrally located for the future development of that immediate vicinity. Consider the 73,200 square feet of level land that is assessed for $1000.

At the recent town meeting we purchased 5 1/2 acres of land adjacent to Middlesex street for a playground or park. When that land is developed we shall have four playgrounds and two public parks in the so-called north end of the town; namely, Lord Avenue playground, Leonard Field and Shors Road field and a beautiful unnamed public park adjacent to Cross street and Brookside road. Observe the handsome rustic bridges that arch the Aberjona River, the beautiful rock garden, marvelous beds of tulips and gorgeous rose bushes.

Some years ago the beautiful park was a mosquito breeding swamp. Wedge Pond Park adjacent to Main street and Lake street is a substitute for a discarded town used to be a very stable and please remember, the "vest side" folks have no public park, but if they fall in behind the Planning Board and purchase the Witherell property, they will have a park playground for small children that will undoubtedly be a valuable asset to the Town of Winchester.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craugh

THE WAIL OF THE PRODIGALS

To the Editor of the Star:

An underwritten Congress is now in session in Washington trying to correct the blunders of its previous session. At the same time some of its crack pot members are proposing legislation which, if enacted, would require the time of the next session to correct, amend or annul. It requires the time of one session of this Administration to correct the blunders of the previous one, consequently there is little time for wise, constructive legislation that the country needs in its present crisis. Under such management there can be no progress and there will be none until wiser men direct the affairs of state.

The national administration early set the example of prodigality. Loose government and thoughtless expenditure with other peoples' money. It spread to the states, counties and cities like a contagious disease. The absurd slogan was, spend to restore prosperity. Well, the day of reckoning has come, the dream is over, it is the drab dawning of the day after—a rude awakening. Like the wail of the prodigal son there is now heard throughout the land the cry for help from the President and municipal officers who followed him, a plea for more and more money for relief. Help us out of the jam we are in, they wail, we cannot get out unaided. It is always that way, the city of it is that those who know better must stand aside and see their warnings unheeded while the spendthrifts nonchalantly go their way to ruin. Their sorry plight is the result of six years of running things according to their own ideas. They planned it that way, they brought it on themselves. Now those who know better and warned them are called upon for help. The European war scare has been a God-send for them because it has diverted attention for the time being from the mess and confusion they had inflicted upon their own country.

No nation can prosper with administrators of the Cochran, Cohan, Tugwell type, smart men with much knowledge, but lacking in wisdom, common sense and ability in sound administrative affairs. The brain may be full of knowledge but devoid of wisdom. Of what avail is an ideal if it will not work? What good is reform if it retards constructive progress and adds to the burdens of the poor? What does it avail a wisely managed corporation if its increased earnings are wiped out by increased taxes?

The Roosevelt administration has started a spending blow to every industry, university and college in the land by a rising tide of taxation that has reduced the income from their securities to a dangerous and distressing degree. Even owners of stocks see the dividends that should be his taken away by the government in taxes resulting from extravagance and mal administration. The poor have been made poorer, the unemployed have not been helped to work, care, worry and unhappiness have been increased.

At the very time the Administration was taxing the people millions of dollars to pay the farmers for getting their fertile acres go fallow because there was crop over production it was spending other millions on the Grand Coulee dam for the purpose of irrigating thousands of arid acres for greater crop production! Is that common sense? Better have used these millions towards reducing the national debt. We can get along without the Florida canal; save the money. The country can get along well without the great system of highways the President proposes; save the money to reduce taxes. We do not need these things, we do need to pay our debts. Stop expending money on silly projects with the people's money!

What a grand and glorious feeling it would be to awake some morning and find the President actually scheming for thrift and economy instead of consuming his energies in devising new means for spending and taxation. The difference between an experimenting spendthrift and a wise and thrifty man may be appreciated by remembering the words of the Calvin Coolidge who said, "I favor the policy of economy, not because I wish to save money, but because I wish to save people. The men and women of this country who toil are the ones who bear the cost of government. Every dollar that we carelessly waste means that their lives will be so much the more meager. Every dollar that we prudently save means that their lives will be so much the more abundant. Economy is idealism in its most practical form." How does the Roosevelt administration check up with that?

The annual interest on the national debt created by futile experiments and waste, is now greater than the total national debt was in 1914. When we forsake simple, common sense, old time tried and true business principles, we get into a vicious circle of hard times and bankruptcy. The wail of the prodigals is heard in the land.

THE GEOLOGICAL DAM

The following letter, received by the Selectmen, regarding the new dam on the Aberjona River at the south end of the playground, is self explanatory.

United States Department of the Interior
Geological Survey
Water Resources Branch 945 Post Office Bldg.,
Boston, Mass.
May 2, 1939

Mr. George W. Franklin
Clerk of Selectmen Town Hall
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Mr. Franklin:
As requested in your telephone conversation with Mr. Thomson this morning, I have prepared the following brief article on the gaging station recently installed on the Aberjona River in Winchester.

The purpose of the gaging station is to obtain accurate and continuous information about the quantity of water flowing in the Aberjona River. The U. S. Geological Survey is the recognized public organization for the operation of stream gaging stations and cooperates with state and local public bodies to collect records of stream flow.

Records of stream flow are useful for a number of purposes. The principal reason for the station on Aberjona River is to provide information for the study and control of pollution in the Aberjona River and Mystic Lakes. The actual measurement of flow will provide health authorities with reliable information to use for their studies.

The discharge is measured by a process of first rating the gage to determine the stream flow for any gage height and second, obtaining a continuous gage height record. The first is accomplished by frequent discharge measurements by an engineering crew who measure depths and velocities of the water from which they compute the discharge of the river. Gage heights are obtained for the time these measurements are made. When the measurements are plotted on cross section paper they will define a "rating" curve for the station.

The purpose of the low dam or "control" which we built is to stabilize or make permanent the relation between the gage height and discharge so that it can be defined. Without the control the operations of the dam on the Mystic Lakes and changes in certain channel features in the River would prevent the establishment of a satisfactory rating.

The continuous gage height record is obtained by the operation of a recording machine in the gage house on the bank of the river. The gage house is simply a shelter over a well which is connected to the stream by intake pipes so that the water level in the well is always the same as that in the stream. The recording instrument has a float which operates a pen that records continuously the gage height of the water. A weight driven clock propels a chart under the pen leaving a graphical record of the gage height.

From these two types of data our office engineers compute the discharge of the stream which are published as mean daily discharges in the Water Supply Papers of the U. S. Geological Survey so that the records are available to the public. Also for the benefit of the cooperating parties more extensive records and data in special form are prepared when required.

The use of the data collected on the Aberjona River is not limited to its principal use in connection with the pollution prevention program but is of general hydrological value to surrounding localities. The records will be useful in studies related to water supply, sewage disposal, sewer, culvert and bridge design, power development, flood control, navigation, recreational development, soil conservation, mosquito control and wild life preservation in eastern Massachusetts.

The construction of the gaging station was started with the aid made available by the Works Progress Administration and Public Works Administration but because of unforeseen difficulties encountered in the construction the cost of the station was abnormally high and other funds were required for its completion. The operation of the station will be financed by funds from several cooperating agencies and will cost $500 per year.

It is hoped that next year the town of Winchester will be able to assume its share of this cost amounting to $125. per year.

Very truly yours,
H. B. Fumison
District Engineer

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, May 14.

The Golden Text is: "We that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life" (II Corinthians 5:4).

The eloquent and inspiring Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord, and in his law doth he meditate day and night." (Psalm 1:1-3).

For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, but the way of the ungodly shall perish" (Psalm 1:1, 2, 6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The real man is spiritual and immortal; but the mortal and imperfect, so-called 'children of men' are converted from mortality to be laid aside for the pure reality" (p. 409).

DO YOU LIKE CHEESE?

If you do you are going to be in luck. The success of the cheese booth at the En Ka Street Fair of two years ago has led to the installation of another similar booth at the En Ka Country Fair to be held a week from Saturday, May 20.

This year the assortment of various cheeses will be greatly augmented. The world famous Kraft Phenix Cheese Corporation has agreed to produce a complete line of its famous domestic and imported products. Dainties from the S. S. Pierce Co. of Boston and the Whiting Milk Co. will be for sale. Winchester will undoubtedly see the finest display and have the opportunity to buy the greatest variety of cheese ever collected under one roof.

Of much interest will be the big 300 lb. New York State cheese—the kind that just melts in your mouth. There will be a 200 lb. Swiss cheese, a 22 lb. gorgonzola; limburger, oka, camembert, chianti, trappist, gruyere, crown, gruyere, gjetost, belpas, pineapple, edam and sage. How does that sound to you cheese lovers? In addition there will be sold delicious spreads in great variety and an exceptional assortment of cheese in wine, cream cheese and other delicacies.

The En Ka Country Fair has always been the most popular spring event in town. This year, being a country fair, farm and country products will be stressed, and the cheese girls are certainly promising something pretty nice.

YOUNG MEN OFFERED FREE SUMMER COURSE ON TRAINING SHIP

The American Nautical Academy, National Training School for Merchant Marine Officers, Washington, D. C., announced today that boys and young men between the ages of 15 and 21 years will be allowed to secure practical ship experience on a training ship of the Academy within the period from June 1, to October 1, 1939.

The young men may remain on board ship for the entire period, or for any shorter time they may wish, but not for less than a month. Students who enter for any period less than the full course will receive instruction only in those subjects being taught while the student is on board ship.

The purpose of the course is: First, as a foundation for those who wish to become officers in the Merchant Marine, and devote their lives to a career in the service; Secondly, for those boys and young men who, though not desirous of following the sea, still wish to obtain a general knowledge of ships, and the life aboard ship.

There is no charge for instruction nor for living quarters on board ship. The only required expense is for meals, which are 49 cents. Three meals are served daily.

There is no tuition charge for any of the courses offered by the Academy; and no obligation for future merchant marine, military or naval service of any kind is incurred by the young men.

The schoolship to which the young men will be assigned is the Training Ship "Marsala," a vessel of 2422 tons, 284 feet long, 45 feet breadth, and built in 1919-20.

On Sunday the cadets will be allowed to attend divine services at the churches of their respective denominations on shore. While on board ship cadets will receive free minor first aid treatment when necessary.

This is the tenth annual summer course offered by the Academy, and will be under the personal supervision of the Captain Commandant of the Academy who will be in command of the vessel.

While on board ship the students will follow the regular daily ship routine, and will be given practical instruction in nautical subjects, including seamanship (ship's work), signaling, rowing, handling, and the use of motor boats, pulling boats, life-saving, and naval drills. Many of the duties on board ship are performed by the cadets as part of their training. They will also receive instruction in the use of life buoys, first aid, the compass, log, lead, ground tackle, and the duties of lookouts, as well as the duties of the watch on deck.

Students will join the training ship at Virginia where the vessel will be based at Hampton Roads for the Summer training period.

Those completing the summer course with a passing grade will be eligible to apply for a scholarship in the Navigation Course.

Due to the fact that the number of accommodations available is limited, those wishing to take advantage of this opportunity should write at once to the American Nautical Academy, National Training School for Merchant Marine Officers, Washington, D. C.

"LOVE AFFAIR" AT THE UNIVERSITY

Making their first appearance together as a romantic team, Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer have the stellar roles in "Love Affair," coming to the University Theatre next Sunday. Miss Dunne is cast as the lusty-loving fiancée of a wealthy business man who sends her on frequent trips to Europe to collect art objects for him. Returning from one of these missions, she meets Charles Boyer the notorious Continental playboy. The plot development mounts to an exciting, heart-grIPPING climax, after the principals endure an interlude of personal sacrifice.

"Cafe Society," the companion film, features Madeleine Carroll, Fred MacMurray and Shirley Ross.

On Wednesday, May 17, the program includes Noel Coward in "The Scoundrel," and the Marx Brothers in "Horse Feathers."

Strange goings-on in France's glittering international set make up the plot of "Midnight," the new Claudette Colbert-Don Ameche starrer, which shows what can happen, and does, when a desperate and pishish Paris business man hires a daring American girl to steal his wife's boyfriend to restore domestic happiness to his home. As their leading co-players in this film, Miss Colbert and Ameche have John Barrymore, Mary Astor, Elaine Barrie, Hilda Hopper and Rex O'Malley and Francis Lederer, surely one of the most star-studded casts of years.

"Torchy Blane in Chinatown," featuring Glenda Farrell and Barton MacLane is the associate picture.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

An article headed "Wheeled Churches to War on Rum" appeared in the "News Press" of Pinehurst, N. C., on Feb. 13.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 14. Facing proposed legislation of liquor in Tennessee, Memphis ministers today considered "churches on wheels" to thwart licensees.

Under the legislation plan, liquor stores could not be located to "interfere" with churches.

Dr. David A. Ellis, Baptist pastor, suggested to the ministerial association that in the event of liquor legislation "we put our churches on trucks," park them near liquor establishments and "remove every license that might be granted."

The Meagher Memorial Company have earned a reputation for quality Memorials at reasonable prices. They have devoted nearly half a century to the Memorial manufacturing industry and their plant is the largest and best equipped in this state, having every modern appliance for the production of a high class memorial; many beautiful specimens of their work appear in the local cemeteries here.

A visit to their plant and exhibit will prove very interesting; it is one of the few places in this state to make a memorial from start to finish and to see the blocks of granite taken in its rough state as it comes from the earth and then through the various processes of construction, moulded and finished into the beautiful specimens that are on display is indeed an admirable sight. The public is invited to visit their cutting plant and exhibit, and for the convenience of their patrons, they are open daily until 9 p. m. and all day Sunday for inspection.

The bride wore a Snow-white style gown of white satin, made with a long train, and a finger-tip veil of tulle arranged with a conventional cap. Her shower bouquet was of bride's roses and valley lilies. She was attended by her sister, Miss Pauline Dizazzo, who wore a coral marquisette dress with a matching floral headpiece and carried a bouquet of spring flowers. Gideon Fillipone of this town was Mr. Vespucci's best man.

Miss Dolben, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alfred Dolben of 15 Lakeview road, prepared for college at the Brimmer School in Boston. At Smith she majored in sociology. Miss Dolben was a member of the Sociology Club, an organization of students who have shown marked ability in the field. She was also a member of the Junior and Senior Choirs.

Miss Flanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace F. Flanders of 19 Lakeview road, prepared for college at the Winchester High School and the Brimmer School in Boston. At Smith she majored in government. Miss Flanders intends to continue work in this field. Her activities in college included membership on the House Council.

Miss Hildreth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Hildreth of 371 Highland avenue, prepared for college at the Abbott Academy. A major in the department of music, she was a member of the Clef Club. She also held membership in the Riding Club, the Camera Club, the Curriculum Committee and the House of Representatives. The May board meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association was held last Friday at the home of the new president, Miss Adelaide Homer, who welcomed the new board members and told how money was raised in the early 1900's to finance the nursing association. In those days a June breakfast was held at the Town Hall, which was a big social event with as many as 1000 persons being served at 25c a person.

Also around 1905, when few people had cars, owners of automobiles conducted tours of the town for 25c. The following board members were present: the Mesdames Shoemaker, Young, Holmes, Russell, Parkhurst, McDavitt, Slocum, Homer, Jope, Spencer, Pearson, Horner, Monroe, Nichols, Pond and Greiner.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

Pilgrimage to Arboretum for Lilies

The May meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club will take the form of a trip to the Arnold Arboretum at lilac time. After consulting Arboretum authorities the date has been fixed for Thursday, May 25 at 9:30 a. m. in case of bad weather it will be Friday, May 26. Transportation may be offered or secured through Mrs. Elliott, Win. 1579-J, or Mr. Howard, Win. 0707-M. Those requiring to ride through the Arboretum should give early notice so that car permits can be reserved in time.

The class in flower arrangement under Mrs. Anson Smith got off to an inspiring start on May 9. Mrs. Smith discussed the principles underlying design and illustrated her points with different beautiful arrangements shown in several cases against appropriate background and fabrics to indicate their function as part of a room design. Attention of the class is called to the fact that the hour set, 10:30 a. m., does not allow time for much work at the class. Since all arrangements should be completed by 10:45, when Mrs. Smith will begin her criticism and discussion, it is suggested that the major planning and experimenting be done at home, reserving class time for the last touches only. The problem set for next Tuesday is a line arrangement in a pitcher.

May is the month for open gardens and attention is called to those of the Milton Garden Club, Saturday, May 13 (Sunday if stormy), the Beacon Hill Garden Club on Thursday, Friday, May 18 and 19, and the Chestnut Hill Garden Club, Tuesday, May 23 (Wednesday if stormy). The Lawrence Garden Club will have its flower show and garden conference on Wednesday, May 17, at the Lawrence Y. W. C. A. lecture at 11 a. m. by Mr. Charles Stockman of Newburyport, on "Plants that Live in Your Garden," will be followed by luncheon. At 2:30 p. m. Mr. Leonard Craske of Gloucester will discuss, "The Changing Seasons." Members of the club are invited to attend. The only charge will be that for luncheon.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Troop 1

Last Tuesday, April 25, Troop 1 made a visit to Perkins Institute for the Blind. We had a very enjoyable and inspiring evening. We watched the girls at work in Scouting. At the beginning of the meeting a Winchester girl took a Perkins girl for a partner and danced folk dances, waltzes, and fox-trots to the music of a blind pianist who was wonderful at the piano even though he couldn't see. We saw the girl's map work which was very good for not being able to see. The girls were very friendly and wanted to know all about our Troop and our Troop activities.

The girls were in Troop 8, Watertown.

A few months ago Troop 1 had as its guest Miss Edith DeDominicis who was a Red Cross Braille worker. Although she couldn't see she was a great help to the Red Cross. We had our meeting at Mrs. Carr's house and Mrs. Carr directed the opera, Siegfried. About nine girls from our troop played two or three songs from the opera while Mrs. Carr told the story.

Miss Edith (as everyone called Miss DeDominicis) was very interested and told us something about Braille. We had refreshments and also a very interesting meeting.

ICKES-LEVINE

Robert H. Ickes, son of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, and a former resident of this town, was married Saturday, May 6, to Miss Marcelle Charlotte Levine of 526 Cornell avenue, Chicago, Ill. The ceremony was performed in Lisbon, Ohio, by Rev. C. W. Kennedy of the Lisbon Methodist Church. During his stay in Winchester the bridegroom was employed for nearly a year in the WPA office, then located on Thompson street. His bride was graduated last June from the Starrett School for Girls.

Smart to See—Smarter to Buy!

The model illustrated is the Buick Special, model 41 four-door touring sedan $996 delivered at Flint, Mich.*

NOBODY has to tell you, skimming along at that brisk Buick pace, that plenty of eyes are turning your direction!

It's a smart car to see, all right—what you're discovering there behind the wheel is how much more there is to this beauty than a look or two will uncover!

You're feeling the eager power that a straight-eight can pour—when it's a Dynaflex eight with a cyclone in each cylinder to give life, lift—and thrust—to every smooth-flowing mile!

You're finding out that bumps can be tamed, that car riding can be level as flying—when all four wheels, not just the front, ride on stout coiled springs of soft and cushiony steel!

You're discovering how pleasant it is to look out through windows enlarged as much as 412 square inches. And you're enjoying that very special Buick "feel," firm and taut and steady, nowhere any skittery looseness, or wind wander, or hump!

In a word, you're beginning to realize that, smart as it is to see, this Buick's even smarter to buy.

Smarter for the extra contentment you'll get from owning it—smarter even if you had to pay a premium to get it.

But you don't have to pay a premium! Instead, this great-eight beauty is today priced lower than some sixes. Costs are below those of a year ago. Total outlay—counting included equipment you'd pay extra for elsewhere—is often less than for some cars with lower advertised prices.

So what to do? Easy! Simply turn around, head for the showroom, get down to the details of trade-in terms, monthly payments, all that!

Even there you'll find your Buick dealer ready, willing, eager to serve—just like the good and gallant car he sells!

$894 AND UP
delivered at Flint, Mich.

TWELFTH ANNUAL INTERSCHOOL TENNIS TOURNAMENT SATURDAY

Record Breaking Entry

On Saturday, May 20, the Twelfth Annual Interscholastic Invitation Tennis Tournament for Massachusetts High Schools will be held at Winchester, with Winchester High School acting as host to 18 other schools. This tournament has been conducted by Newton High School for the past 11 years.

Nineteen high schools have filled out official entry blanks for the tournament: Attleboro, Boston Latin, Brockton, Brookline, Fitchburg, Haverhill, Lynn, Malden, Melrose, Needham, Newton, Quincy, Quincy North, Roxbury Memorial, Salem, Storey, Winchester, Worcester, Classical and Worcester North. Ninety-seven boys will represent these schools in the tournament. This year's entry is a record breaking list, topping last year's entry by 11 players. Many of the best high school tennis players of the Metropolitan District will participate and some excellent tennis will be provided for the many Winchester people who will wish to take advantage of the opportunity to see the future tennis stars of this section. There will be no charge for watching these matches, and every one who is interested will be made welcome.

The matches will be played at the Palmer street courts, the Ginn Field courts and the Country Club Courts, unless unexpected conditions should arise to make one or more of these locations unavailable.

Headquarters will be located at the Palmer street courts with an information center established at the location of all matches will be posted and the returns listed as they come in. A telephone will be in operation at the information center, listed under Town of Winchester, Park Dept., Palmer Beach, Win. 1664.

Mr. William S. Packer, Mr. Herbert Ross, and Mr. Charles Wansler will serve as referees during the tournament. As many rounds as possible will be played on Saturday with possibly quarter-finals, semi-finals, and finals to be played the first part of next week at the Palmer street courts. Umpires will be provided for all matches.

The matches will begin at 8:30 on Saturday and carry on into the afternoon. A refreshment booth will be available under the direction of Fred Scholl.

Winchester High School is presenting a beautiful silver cup to the team winners and a record in the division of the tournament. These cups will be on display in the window of McCormack's Pharmacy until the center until the date of the tournament, when they will be on display at the Palmer street courts.

The tournament committee consists of Walker M. Taylor of Newton High School, E. Kendall Gleason of Attleboro High School, Donivan L. Barnes of Brookline High School, Richard M. Udall of Melrose High School and Raymond Hayward, George Lauer of Winchester High School.

Winchester High School's entries in this tournament are Richard Bugbee, Douglas Graham, Lane McGovern, John Pennings, David Riley and James Coon. These six boys have played a lot of tennis and are sure to give a good account of themselves. The location of the first round matches will be shown on the draw sheet in McCormack's window during the week.

The Winchester High School authorities regret that the date set for this tournament should conflict with the date of the En Ka Street Fair, but the date of the Harvard interscholastic, and the necessity of holding this tournament as late as possible in the spring season precluded any other choice, if opportunity were to be provided for a possible postponement on account of bad weather. It is not believed by the committee that the tennis tournament will compete with the fair, however, and it is quite possible that many of our out-of-town guests at the tournament may wish to visit the fair after the matches are over.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

The regular meeting of the Rotary Club of Winchester was held yesterday noon at the Country Club. A number of visitors and neighboring Rotarians were present and the new officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

NORSEEN-WILSON

The marriage of Miss Anita Marie Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Wilson of Yale street, to Wilbur Henry Norseen of Wilmington, Del., took place Saturday evening, May 13, at 8 o'clock in the Swedish Evangelical Mission Church in Cambridge. Rev. C. Eric Petersen performed the marriage ceremony which took place by candle light in a setting of tall cedars. Mr. Wilson gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Wilson's honor attendant was Miss Louise Hobbs of Albany, N. Y. Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Bidwell of Boston, Miss Lucile Dobson of Doughton, Pa., Miss Mildred Norseen of Brooklyn, N. Y., Miss Virginia Smalley of Cambridge, Miss Margaret Strasser of Buffalo, N. Y., and Miss Ruth Westland of Belmont. Mr. Norseen had for his best man Claus Hoie of Forest Hills, L. I., and the members of the usher corps included William Gotwalds of Philadelphia, Harold Norseen of Downingtown, Pa., Hobart Putney of Wilmington, Nathan Schoenfeld of Hot Springs, Ark., Albert O. Wilson, Jr., and Donald Wilson, both of Winchester and brothers of the bride.

The bride wore a seventeenth century gown of ivory bengaline over a skirt of tulle and ruffles with a long veil of tulle and ruffles in her hair. She carried a prayer-book instead of the conventional bouquet. The honor maid wore an empire style gown of mink and yellow crepe with a long yellow gown in her hair and carried a bouquet of spring flowers. The dresses of the bridesmaids were of aqua crepe similar in style to that of the honor maid. They too, carried spring flowers and wore flag-grass ribbons of aqua in their hair. Mrs. Wilson, the bride's mother, wore a gown of aqua crepe with a gardenia corsage.

After the ceremony with a wedding party and guests returned to Winchester for the reception which was held at the home of the bride's parents where the decorations were white snapdragons, roses and freesia.

Upon their return from a wedding journey Mr. Norseen and his bride will live at The Gate House, Chadds Ford, Pa., where they will be at home after June 1. The bride was graduated from Walledale College in the class of 1936, holding membership in the Tau Zeta Epsilon Society. She also attended the Child-Walker School of Design. Mr. Norseen graduated in the class of 1936 from the University where he was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Worshipful Master W. Allan Wilde observed its 75th anniversary and the founding of masonry in Winchester by a banquet and dance at the Unitarian Church on Tuesday evening. The affair was attended by the largest gathering of Masons to be held here in many years. About 250 attended.

The affair was in charge of a capable committee headed by Wor. Kingman P. Cass and included Messrs. Franklin J. Lane, Harold F. Meyer, Paul D. Goddard and Harry L. Pilkington, this committee working under the direction of W. M. W. Allan Wilde.

Previous to the banquet a reception was held in the church parlors. The banquet was served in Motell Hall, where most attractive tables, decorated with flowers and candles, were grouped before the head table. The banquet, by Selzer, was most delicious, replete with the dishes which have made this firm famous. A musical program was given by Ken Reeves orchestra and soloists.

Worshipful Master W. Allan Wilde presided and seated with him and Mrs. Wilde at the head table were Rev. George Hale Reed, chaplain of the Lodge, and Mrs. Reed; Most Wor. Joseph Earl Perry, Grand Master, and Mrs. Perry; Col. Bro. Charles T. Cahill, personal aid and member of Governor Saltonstall's official staff and Mrs. Cahill; Rt. Wor. Earl W. Taylor, Grand Marshall, and Mrs. Taylor; Rt. Wor. Eugene B. Hamilton, D. D. G. M. Arlington 6th District, and Mrs. Hamilton; Rt. Wor. Paul N. Shiverick, D. D. G. M. Wallace Cooper, Worthy Patron, Order of Eastern Star, and Mrs. Cooper; Bro. Francis E. Booth, Senior Warden, and Mrs. Booth; and Bro. LeRoy M. Jordan, Junior Warden, and Mrs. Jordan.

Richardson, P. M. Preston E. Corey, P. M. J. Henry Miller, P. M. Vincent P. Clark, P. M. John R. Wallace and P. M. Kenneth P. Cass.

Attractive souvenirs presented to all attendees were silver pencils with eagle, lion or griffin emblems and mother of pearl pencils for the ladies, suitably inscribed.

Following the banquet dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

OFFICER PALMER INJURED

Shortly after 11 o'clock Monday forenoon Motorcycle Officer Winthrop Palmer of the Police Department was painfully injured when he was hurled from his machine after striking a dog on Cambridge street near the junction of Wildwood street.

Officer Palmer was riding north when he dog ran from the sidewalk directly into the path of the motorcycle.

The rider was thrown off, landing heavily on his right side, painfully injuring his right ankle and hip, sustaining a bad shaking up and raining his uniform. The motorcycle was not badly damaged.

A call was sent into Headquarters and Patrolman James P. Donaghey picked up Officer Palmer in the patrol car, taking him to the office of Dr. Harold Brown. The physician was unable to determine at once the extent of the shoulder injury and after treatment Officer Palmer was taken home by Officer Donaghey.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Bruce Webster Whitney of 26 Hemingway street and Lillian Ada Swanson of 26 Hemingway street.

BORSE SHOW VERY SUCCESSFUL

Good Entry List and Large Attendance Despite Cold

Frigid weather failed to dampen the ardor of local horse enthusiasts who gathered at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday for the annual show in aid of the Winchester Hospital, which incidentally opened the season herewith. The attendance was considerably better than a year ago, the list of events longer and more varied, and the entry list of more than 200 especially noteworthy in view of dwindling stables.

Competition was keen and the judging exceptionally good. Jay G. Day of South Carolina and B. Nason Hamlin of Dedham judged the saddle horses, Charles Macomber of Framingham Center, the hunters; and Mr. Victor Wesson of Springfield, horse-manship. The show manager, Arthur H. Loversy of Boston was ringmaster.

Wins of local horses were naturally especially popular. Miss Gladys Marchant's Quintus won both a blue and a red in the five-gaited classes and her Bit O' Glory took a blue in the event of novel riders, adding a third in the class for saddlers under 15.2. Miss Janet Ober's Jo Jo placed in the saddle ponies class, and Miss Ober was among the trophy winners with Miss Sally Badger in the Mickey and Minnie Mouse event. It is of interest also that in this event Sterling Sanborn Ralls, grandson of the perennial chairman of the show, O. C. Sanborn, was among the winners.

Because of the nearness of their home to the show grounds and their many Winchester connections the Misses Ursula and Elise Burkard are the only girls to have won a blue and the wins of their horses, Leila Owen, Hobnob Fancy and Vivacious Lady were very pleasing. An old Winchester football star, Dean Wheatley, scored with his horse, Hazard, in the maiden hunters' class. Fair Knight owned by the Misses Natalie and Priscilla Wilson, won the special saddle horse competition and as a consequence will compete for the trophy of the Eastern States show in the Eastern States show in the fall.

A pleasing innovation at this year's show was the box luncheon served at noon by Caterer Fred H. Scholl.

Besides Mrs. Sanborn as chairman, the show committee included Miss M. Alice Mason, treasurer; Mrs. Lillian M. Gail, secretary; Mr. Edmund J. Brando, Jr., Mr. Charles Beebe, Mr. Ralph Burkard, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cliff, Mr. and Mrs. William Coburn, Miss Dorothy Comstock, Mrs. James Curry, Dr. Thomas F. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Forde, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Bradley French, Mrs. Lyman T. Gatterson, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gatterson, Mr. John A. G. From Bacon street to water level it is proposed to clean out the high spots and maintain the bed at approximately elevation 11.00 for the entire distance. In the last section of the river where shoaling has occurred it is expected that the material taken from the Abenja River on the last section will have to be carted away.

TAXPAYERS' ASSOCIATION

Meets with Town's Members of the Legislature

Senator Harris S. Richardson and Representative William E. Ramsdell were present by invitation at a special meeting of the Directors of the Winchester Taxpayers' Association held on the evening of May 11 at the Public Library. The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the State budget.

Senator Richardson, a member of the Committee on Ways and Means, stated that the budget was still under discussion in his committee, and would probably be reported out about June 1.

There followed a general discussion of the situation from the point of view of the taxpayer. It was pointed out that the real estate tax could stand no heavier tax burden. The directors found both Senator Richardson and Representative Ramsdell in complete accord and agreement with them as to the necessity for reducing expenditures.

Before adjourning the directors gave our members in the Legislature assurance of earnest support in their efforts to secure substantial reductions in State expenditures, for the benefit of all the people of the Commonwealth.

"FIRST LADY" PLEASURES

Final Play of Group Theatre

The Winchester Group Theatre brought its fifth year to a triumphant conclusion last Saturday night with the production of "First Lady," by Katherine Dayton and George S. Kaufman. Beulah Page Sibley directed the play, which is a comedy of Washington diplomatic life and was a great hit on Broadway a few seasons ago. It provides much interest and amusement and was very well acted by a wholly capable cast.

The play concerns the long-standing feud between two leaders of Washington society, both clever, attractive women who stop at nothing to arrange events and people to suit their own desires. The play has some diabolically clever lines and the cast used them to great advantage. Hersilia Elmer took the part of Lucy Chase Wayne, and Ellouise Graves that of her arch enemy, Irene Hibbard. Both of these characters, about whom the whole play revolves, were beautifully done. Mrs. Elmer's acting smooth, natural, restrained, yet full of vital energy. Mrs. Graves' portrayal was a masterpiece of pent-up frustration, and smug conceit. Considering that Mrs. Graves joined the cast only a few days before the play she is to be congratulated upon a fine performance.

William E. Spaulding took the part of the Secretary of State, and gave this role the charm, dignity and quiet humor that he understands so well. Mrs. Wayne's secretary, the tactful and knowledgeable Sophy, was well handled by Lucille Townley-Tilson, and Annette Burnham, who looked very pretty as Emmy Paige, had a Southern accent that would do credit to Scarlett O'Hara! Ann Norton's Mrs. Greevey was priceless and Ex-husband as well as Belle Hardwicke was splendid.

Senator Keane, as played by Lyndon Burnham, was likable and sincere. Tom Hardwicke, Carter Hibbard and Ellsworth T. Ganning, as played respectively by J. Henry Smith, Jr., Kenneth S. Hall and Edwin C. Whittemore, were well drawn characterizations, and well acted. Others in the cast, who portrayed various members of the diplomatic set in Washington and their households, included Gerald Y. Hills, Edith M. Chamberlin, Dorothy Wadsworth, June C. Chandler, Ruth P. Dellicker, Hede Gross, Herbert T. Wadsworth, Ernest W. Gross, Arthur Thad Smith, Jr., Roger D. Newell, Clinton Brown, George Nardin, Van Cunningham and Ronald Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Harlow were chairman of the production and their management of all the various details showed great intelligence and efficiency. George W. Hayden, Jr. lent his always splendid talents to the problems of lighting, and James Woolley executed the sets designed by Jerome Bailey Foster, well-known architect. Doris Hills supplied the properties, which were in perfect accord with the charm and simplicity of the interiors. Marvin von Rosen-vinge handled the ticket sale and Ernest W. Gross the publicity.

"First Lady" seemed a happy choice of play and a large and responsive audience was most enthusiastic in their praise of a splendid performance. The many friends and supporters of the Winchester Group Theatre look forward to a successful season next year.

Others whose efforts were bent toward the success of the play included:

At the recent award of medals to students in military science at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a recognition of outstanding performance in various phases of work in this field, Cadet Richard S. Leghorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Leghorn of Westmoreland avenue, was the senior in the ordinance unit of the advanced course, R. O. T. C., chosen to receive the coveted gold scholarship key for superiority in ordinance scholarship. Two such keys are awarded by the Army Ordnance Association, one going to a senior and one to a junior member of the course.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The dance held by the junior members of the club last Saturday evening was very well attended. Music was furnished by Ned Marshall's orchestra. Patrons and patronesses were Commodore and Mrs. Donald R. Merrow, Dr. and Mrs. Allan R. Cunningham and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Burleigh. The dance proved so successful that it is hoped more of them may be planned for the future. We are glad to see so much interest being shown by the younger members of the club; and, with several applications for junior membership on the bulletin board, the coming season should be a busy one for this group.

There are now 11 of the Snipe Class boats in the water. Some of these again indulged in informal racing over the week-end, and John Sprague's new boat cleaned up in both races. More boats are expected to be in commission for the first official race on Saturday.

Under the newly formed Mystic Lakes Yacht Racing Association a schedule has been prepared by which the races are divided between the Winchester and Medford Boat Clubs, each club on its assigned day, assuming all details and handling all classes from its own starting line.

The first scheduled race of the year will be run under the burgee of the Medford Boat Club on Saturday afternoon, May 20. The Hon. John C. Carr, Mayor of Medford, will fire the cannon starting the first class at 3 o'clock, and a record number of boats are expected to cross the starting line. On Sunday morning, May 21, Winchester goes to the Charles River Basin for the first of a series of team races with M. I. T.

The schedule for May follows:

Saturday, May 20, Medford Boat Club.
Sunday, May 21, M. I. T. at Cambridge.
Saturday, May 27, Winchester Boat Club.
Sunday, May 28, Winchester Boat Club.
Tuesday, May 30, Winchester Boat Club.

JUNIOR HIGH PARENT-TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

On Thursday, May 11, Mrs. Jesse Wilson of Lakeview road entertained the outgoing and incoming boards of the Junior High School Parent-Teachers' Association at a most interesting tea. "Interesting" is not an adjective one usually associates with teas, but in this instance it is apt, for as much as the new Board had an opportunity to sit at the feet of the outgoing Board and learn from its experiences. Furthermore, the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Dickman made the tea doubly interesting. Sixth grade mothers, with no former contacts with the Junior High, have something in common with European refugees—we are leaving home, represented by our various primary schools with which we have very close contact—and it is very nice to meet informally the man who is to guide our children's footsteps during the next two years.

There are many successful hostesses in Winchester, but Mrs. Wilson is a genius when it comes to making perfect strangers feel at home, everyone had such a good time. Presiding over the most attractive tea-table were Mrs. Lucius Smith, the new president, and Mrs. Clarence Fogg, vice president of the board.

MAYNARD BROKE WINCHESTER'S STREAK

Winchester had its five-game winning streak broken at Maynard last Friday afternoon when the locals dropped a 7-2 verdict to Maynard High in a Middlesex League contest. Frank Wojtkiewicz of the Orange proved a hard hit as his name is to pronounce, bailing Winchester to four well-scattered blows and yielding no runs until the ninth when he had a seven run lead. Not a single batsman was passed by the Maynard hurler who fanned five and drew one pair of hits including a double.

Thoman, Winchester pitcher, allowed 11 bingles, walked two and fanned two, but was not given the best of support by his mates at critical times and really deserved a better fate than the score would indicate.

The reverse was Winchester's first of the season and left the locals still in first place, but with Maynard in a good position to threaten from its second place notch. The summary:

WON SKIDMORE RIDING HONORS

Miss Anne P. Simpson, daughter of Mrs. Nellie P. Simpson, of Wedgemoor avenue, carried off the honors in the Skidmore College riding club annual spring horse show, held last Friday at Oklahoma track, a unit of the famous Saratoga Racing Association. As winner of the jumping exhibition, the advanced riding class demonstration for points, as well as the pair class feature in which she won by some very fine riding with Miss Marietta Sullivan of Bridgport, Conn., she was awarded the jumping cup given by Alice Furish, class of 1935, the advanced horsemanship cup, presented by the riding master, Carl Baur (which cup must be won twice for permanent possession) and finally the championship cup and ribbon presented by the riding club.

The spring horse show is a feature of the May Day and Founder's day celebrations. The students have been training for weeks and the result was seen in a well executed performance from the formation drill work in which most of them took part, through all of the features. A particularly pretty piece of work was the tandem driving and jumping exhibition given by Miss Simpson and Miss Sullivan.

WON MAINE FIELD TRIALS

Avard L. Walker Jr.'s pointer, Game Commissioner, once again won the open all age-stake in the Western Maine Pointer and Setter Club's final field trials at West Falmouth last Sunday, being among the dogs to win 13 of 16 places in the two day program.

Game Commissioner is competing again in this week's trials at West Falmouth and is the leading contender for the Palmetto Kent and the Foster Trophies which are emblematic of bird dog supremacy.

WINCHESTER EDGED WOBBURN IN 10TH

Murdoch's hit in the tenth with the bases loaded gave Winchester High a 13-11 victory over its traditional rival, Woburn, Monday afternoon at the Woburn High athletic field.

"Robbie" Farrell, diminutive right-hander, started for Winchester and was very good for seven frames, yielding only a pair of hits, though two runs were scored by the opposition. The locals meantime were making very free with the Orange hurlers, and had a 10-2 lead at the end of the 7th.

Farrell's 15 strikout pitching commenced to take its toll in the 8th, two hits, a pair of passes and a couple of errors giving Woburn four runs in its half while Winchester put over one to start the frame.

With the score 11-6 starting the 9th, Woburn hit safely twice and a batter walked, Farrell retiring in favor of DiMinico who finished up. Shaugnessy's hit with two on, followed by Daw's safety fly, made the score 11-10 and the teams squared away to start the 10th.

In Winchester's half errors by Gaffney gave Kenney and Ramsdell lines and a walk to Errico, reserve catcher, filed the sacks. Murdoch then unfurled his game winning bing. DiMinico holding Woburn safely in the final half of the inning.

"Chief" Geoghegan hit the hardest ball of the game, a real clout to right that went for three bases against the wind. Carr's homer went to center and while a well hit ball was not so harshly smacked as the Chief's.

Both teams played sloppy ball a field at times and Winchester did not win by base-running to help the local cause. Farrell's pitching was the real feature of the game though Woburn's bid for victory, facing a nine run deficit in the 8th, was commendable. "Joe" Mathews, former Winchester High star right-hander, umpired the game. The summary:

DROVE OUTBOARD TO BOSTON HARBOR

Three Winchester boys, Dan Roop, John Spaulding and Ted Mauger, boating enthusiasts, put in quite a day last Saturday, leaving the Winchester Boat Club at 6:45 a. m. in a nine foot rowboat powered with a 2 horsepower outboard motor, en route for Boston Harbor.

Two carries were made, the first at the dam at the Medford Boat Club and the second at the locks in Medford. After a short rest from the mariners ploved down the winding Mystic River to the Harbor.

After visiting the Navy Yard where some destroyers are being built the boys went through the locks in the Charles River and up to M. I. T. arriving there at 10:30. Harvard was the next port of call, the local boat stopping there at 12:30.

On the return trip via the Harbor the boys stopped off at the East Boston airport for a spot of flying and then chugged back up the Mystic to the lakes, mooring at the home port at 5 in the afternoon. All agreed that the day was interesting and well spent.

WILL TAKE SUMMER CYCLE TRIP

Miss Cynthia Carr of 2 Gardner place, a student at Lincoln School, Providence, R. I., will make a trans-continental bicycle trip this summer which will include both World's Fairs and many of the important show places in the United States and Canada, when she sets out on July 1 as a member of the American Rolling Youth Hostel group.

The coast-to-coast hostellers on leaving Northfield will proceed to Montreal, striking west at that point for Callender, Winnipeg, Calgary, Banff, Jasper, and Vancouver, then south to Seattle and the Golden Gate Exposition at San Francisco. The eastward trek will begin at Los Angeles and will include the Grand Canyon, Santa Fe, Colorado Springs, Denver, the Ozark Mountains, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, and the New York World's Fair.

Although the hostellers do most of their traveling by bike under their own steam, the Rolling Youth Hostel actually is a private railroad car equipped with upper and lower berths, washrooms, and even a kitchen. It can be coupled to travel and sidetracked 500 miles or so further along the line where the cyclists unpack their bikes and set out on interesting side trips.

Other youth hostel passholders in Winchester are William W. Abbott, Francis E. Carlson, Hildegard Hunt and Arthur O. Phinney. There are numerous other passholders in adjacent towns and about 40 in Boston.

MILLIONAIRES AT HOME WEDNESDAY

The Winchester Millionaires will open their home baseball season Wednesday evening, playing the Chelsea Millstreams on Manchester Field at 6:15.

The Millstreams formerly played in the Inter-City League under the name of the Chelsea Merritts and were one of the outfits to give the Millionaires some tough competition while the local club was a member of that circuit.

Manager Paul Quigley stated that the local pitching burden would be divided between Buster Kendrick and the veteran Olio Leach with slugging Rusty Donaghey behind the bat.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 0629

Day after day the Police blotter is dotted with complaints of damage done property by the youth of the town. At random yesterday we noted a fire alarm broken out of a garage on Emerson road and a large quantity of valuable zinc nailed to a floor there, broken pipes and the interior of a new dwelling on the same road smeared with paint; new cement walked on and ruined on Main road, windows broken in a house on Worthen road and the roof torn from a good sized tool house at the corner of Pierpont road and Highland avenue. Damage like this is by no means unusual. Both private and public property has been suffering much of late. Twice within a week, for instance, good sized sections of sod have been stolen from Manchester Field. One of the town's clubs was badly damaged earlier in the year. No one type of youngster seems to be involved. Both the privileged and underprivileged seem equally prone to smash and destroy, perhaps the privileged more than those less fortunate for whom some little excuse might be made. Nor is it always boys who are to blame. Girls also seem not without a flare for hoodluminism. What is to be done? It should not be understood that the youngsters who indulge in this destructiveness are not often rounded up by the Police. They usually are, and their parents are obliged to make good the damage done. It is even possible that some parents try to impress upon their offspring the error of their way. The authorities have hesitated to give the town boys and girls court records, but in view of the continued and even increased hoodluminism prevalent their efforts to correct a bad situation have not been crowned with any apparent success. The "big brother" attitude seems to be getting up where fast. What is the answer? Property owners and those seeking to develop property are obviously entitled to the enjoyment of their homes and the protection of their investment in Winchester. The community is failing in its duty to its citizens if this is not the case. While the town fathers are on the subject of long range planning they might take serious thought to the destructiveness so prevalent among our young idea.

SOCRATES SAYS-

According to the press, the Boston Post Office returned a letter to the sender because the address, "Governor Leverett, Saltonstall, Boston, Mass.," was insufficient.

Perhaps General Farley's men believe that the address should be "Washington."

THE CAT IS OUT OF THE BAG

The people of Massachusetts decided last November, in no uncertain way, that they did not approve of the manner in which the New Dealer Party had run their affairs in this State.

Leverett Saltonstall was chosen to clean house and to establish a State Administration that would conduct the business of government in the way that the people wanted it done.

Now the Attorney-General, Mr. Dever, a possible New Dealer candidate for Governor in 1940, another New Dealer, is openly finding fault because Governor Saltonstall is starting to carry out the mandate of the citizens of Massachusetts. The criticisms of Mr. Dever and the New Dealer Party can only mean one thing—they are equivalent to saying, "Never mind what the citizens voted that they wanted. When and if we are in control the very office holders the methods, and the theories that were in effect from 1934 to 1938 will be maintained."

What did the November 1938 mandate mean, and what does the 1939 New Dealer purge charge mean? If the citizens did not mean clean house, what did they mean? If the charge of "purge" by New Dealers does not mean "the device with the wishes of the people" what does it mean?

DEMOLAY DOINGS

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Winchester was well represented at the 19th annual convention of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters held at the Hotel Stoneham in Springfield on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 16 and 17. Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, the retiring president of the Winchester League, Mrs. William C. Cusack, the president-elect, Mrs. Errol Horner, Mrs. Theodore Atkinson, Mrs. John Dickey, Mrs. Marshall Hall and Mrs. William Spaulding attended Tuesday's sessions. Mr. Cusack, who has been secretary of the State League for the past two years and Mrs. Horner were present on Wednesday.

Presiding at the luncheon meeting on Tuesday was Mrs. Arthur M. Schlesinger, State League Chairman of Government and Education. She introduced as the speaker Dr. Hermann Cooper, assistant Commissioner for Teacher Education in New York State, who took as his subject, "The State's Responsibility for the Education and Training of Teachers."

Referring to the convention on the department's study of Massachusetts State Teachers Colleges, Mrs. Schlesinger's aid in part.

"Germane to the subject is the fact that our State Teachers Colleges are not accredited by the American Association of Teachers Colleges. Indeed, there are no accredited teachers colleges or private normal schools in Massachusetts. To go a step further, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maine and Vermont in New England states, are the only ones in the whole nation which do not possess an accredited college or normal school."

"In 1932 these institutions became colleges by a legislative act. It is interesting to observe that the General Court said, 'Let them be colleges,' and over night they became so. The dire effects of this forcing policy are self-evident. It is not the fault of the Teachers Colleges that they are below the standards of similar institutions in other states, but that they were created entirely upon the State Department of Education and the Legislature which set tasks for them which they were not equipped to perform. We are expecting the impossible. When we assume that college standards can be maintained under the prevailing conditions."

"Some of the weak spots discovered which would prevent these colleges from being accredited are found in the equipment of libraries, laboratories, preparation of the faculty, care of student health, and financial support."

Referring to the proposed consolidation of colleges, Mrs. Schlesinger said, "With the various Massachusetts sets are really interested in restoring public education to the foremost place it once occupied among the states of the nation, they will seize this opportunity to improve the General Court appoint a Commission of recognized experts in the field of teacher education, from outside the state if possible, which will study the problem and advise what colleges to consolidate, and the best educational interests of the state."

SOFT BALL TEAMS ORGANIZING

Early spring (or should we say mid-winter) practice sessions of the soft ball enthusiasts during the past 10 days have brought out most of the regulars on last year's teams and some new talent which forms one lineup known as the Winchester "Blues" and the nucleus of two new teams.

Games, regular or scrub, are planned for Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:30 and Saturdays at 2:30, when sufficient material shows up they hope to organize four teams in Winchester, which will constitute a local league.

Games with outside teams will probably be scheduled by all of these teams.

Players Wanted
The only thing lacking at present is man power, so, if you're interested, come down to Manchester Field when games are scheduled, make yourself known and those present will see that you get a chance to play.

Twenty to 50 seems to be the present age limits but ability still counts. Within the next two weeks Ginn Field will be ready for the soft ball players and a sparkling good season has been laid out.

Last Saturday the "Blues" won easily from the "Scrubs" to the tune of 21 to 9 and last night a cracking good team from Milton gave the Blues their first defeat with a 12 to 7 score. "Blues" line up was Mel Oliver, catcher, Harry Bean, pitcher, Hall Gamage, first base, Joe Thompson second, Doc Blanchard, short stop, George Black, third, Al Pennell, left field, Bob Morse, center, Steve Root, right and Bob Harmon, short field. The "Blues" lined out two homers against some excellent pitching and really started hitting during the last two innings of the game. They are looking forward to a return engagement at Milton.

MAYNARD AGAIN TOPS
WINCHESTER

Maynard High's aggressive ball team pulled into a top tie with Winchester in the Middlesex League race Wednesday afternoon by winning its second game from the locals, 3 to 1, on Manchester Field.

The visitors deserved to win, playing much more heads-up ball than Winchester and getting very effective pitching from their ace right-hander, Frank Wojtkiewicz. Blond Carlisle Johnson, fork-hander who worked for Winchester, also pitched a nice game and might have won with better support from his mates.

The local second first in the 3rd, Goldsmith leading off by pushing a slow single into center. He stole second, reached third when Creighton threw into the dirt and scored as Goldzirowicz threw out "Red" Carr. Connors hoisted to short.

Smith singled to center with one away in the fourth, going to second when Johnson's throw-over to catch him off hit him on the arm. Johnson here down and fanned Zolkiewicz, but Goldzirowicz hashed a liner into right that Ramsdell excusably misjudged and then couldn't pull down, the blow going for a triple and easily scoring Carr. The following boys and girls are graduating from the various departments of the First Congregational Sunday School:

The annual Children's Day Service of the First Congregational Church will be held on Sunday, May 21, at 10:45 at the regular morning church service. There will be procession to the strains of "Rejoice ye pure in Heart." The entire church school from the Nursery through the Forum will enter the church in the procession. The Junior, Junior High, and adult choir will lead the procession.

There will be baptism of infants and children by Dr. Chidley. A very beautiful copy of the King James version of the Bible will be presented to each graduate of the Primates' outfit as a gift from the church. MORNING MUSICALS

Mrs. Edwin Ginn opened her charming home on Wednesday, May 17, for a Morning Musical under the sponsorship of the Women's Guild of the First Congregational Church.

At 10:30 o'clock patronesses gathered in the spacious, paneled dining room for coffee and tiny doughnuts. The table, spread with blue damask cloth, had as its centerpiece a large bowl of cherry blossoms, effectively arranged.

Mrs. Harold Bates and Mrs. Clifton Linnell poured.

Mrs. Ginn introduced the first artist at 11 o'clock in the music room, William F. Sharp, who played Prelude and Toccata, by Lachner. Mr. Sharp's second group included "Wedding Day at Troldhaugen" by Grieg; "Liebestraum" by Liszt; and "The Little White Donkey" by Debussy. His third was a Chopin group, "Nocturne" in F Sharp; "Fantasy Impromptu" and "Polonaise" in A flat. Although Mr. Sharp may have taken some liberties with tempi and notes it was an excellent performance for a blind man with such an ambitious program. He was particularly happy in the Chopin numbers, and all his work was appreciated as was evidenced by the applause.

The other artist, Mildred Taylor Shaw, violinist, played "Romanza" by Wieniawski; "Allegro," Procco, in her first group and "Songs My Mother Taught Me," Dvorak-Kreisler; Ravel Hebaneria, and Brahms's Hungarian Dance No. 8 in the second. Mrs. Shaw's lovely tone, perfect bowing, intonation and nimble technique discloses the true artist which she is. No less the artist was her accompanist, Frances Adelson.

Mrs. F. Patterson Smith, general chairman, in a gracious speech, thanked those present for their cooperation and said, in thanking Mrs. Ginn for her hospitality, "I know why we love to come here, Mrs. Ginn; it is because you love to have us."

Mrs. James Nowell had charge of the tickets and other members of the Guild contributed largely toward the success of the affair which was enjoyed by about 100 ladies.

FOR CHARITY FUND

Joseph Peel is chairman of a hustling committee of Elks who are completing arrangements for a monster bridge and whist which the lodge is staging on Wednesday evening, May 24, at 8:30 o'clock in Lyceum Hall for the benefit of the charity fund.

With the Charity Ball a thing of the past, the Lodge has been forced to seek other means to keep its fund replenished, and the bridge and whist has proved an effective substitute.

Chairman Peel reports a large number of prizes ready for the high scores and a door prize. A pleasant evening awaits all who attend.

MRS. SQUIRE GREGSON

Mrs. Mary Welch Gregson, widow of Squire Gregson of Norwich, Conn., died Saturday, May 13, in the Norwalk Hospital, Norwalk, Conn., after a brief illness resulting from a fall. She had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lorimer B. Slocum, of Darien, Conn. Funeral services were held in Norwich, Conn., on Tuesday, May 16, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Weston C. Pullen.

Surviving her are three daughters, Mrs. Weston C. Pullen, Mrs. Frederick B. Craven of Winchester, and Mrs. Lorimer B. Slocum, also five grandchildren, Weston C. Pullen, Jr., a senior at Princeton, Janet G. Pullen, Christine Craven, Robert G. Slocum, and Mary Jean Slocum.

Mrs. Gregson was born in Stockton-on-Trees, England, and came to this country when young. She lived in New Britain, Woodstock, and Danbury, Conn., before moving to Norwich. She was married in 1890 and made her home in Norwich until her husband died in 1930, after which she has made her home with her three daughters.

MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Mothers' Association of the Mystic School will take place on Tuesday, May 23 at 2:30 in the afternoon. After the business meeting and election of officers for the coming year, Mr. Quinn will speak to us about our elementary school system. Since the year's programs have been built primarily around a study of our various school departments, Mr. Quinn's talk should be of great interest to all members of the chapter. Following this, there will be music, furnished by Mr. Freeman, of Belmont, who will bring with him a small group of children to demonstrate what has been done with music in the Belmont public schools. Mr. Freeman arranged the recent music festival in which children from all over the state participated.

GEO-GRAPHIC FACTS

U. S. SENTRY ON CARIBBEAN

Guantanamo, Cuba, constitutes one link already in place in the steel chain which Uncle Sam is considering as an outer ring of defense for the Panama Canal. Located on the south shore at the eastern end of Cuba, the Guantanamo Naval Base came into being early in the 20th century, when land there was leased by the United States from the Cuban Government, the National Geographic Society recalls.

Today, the station costs a comparatively small rental fee, and provides an important sentry at the Caribbean crossroads. Under the jurisdiction of the U. S. Navy Department, the Guantanamo base affords in addition one of the best harbors in the West Indies, wide enough and deep enough to give shelter to the whole American fleet, yet protected by a narrow entrance from hurricanes and sea attack. During the Spanish-American War, American Marines were landed on the shore of Guantanamo Bay and set up camp, fighting off the Spaniards there for several days. Later more Marines and Cubans arrived, assisted by warships, and took possession of the harbor.

RAGUSA, HOME OF ARGOSIES

Preparing recently for a visit from the Italian fleet, the port of Ragusa in southern Yugoslavia could recall earlier and more fateful visits of ships from Italy. Nine hundred years ago Venice sent fleets there, which were the first to challenge Ragusa's independence.

Dubrovnik is the Yugoslavian name used since 1918 for the 2500-year-old port of Ragusa, says the National Geographic Society. But the name Ragusa lingers in the English language in the form of "argosy," the full-sailed galleon in which Ragusan merchants trans-shipped their treasures from the East to all the ports of Europe, and finally to the New World. This walled city on a rocky promontory overlooking the Adriatic was for centuries an independent city-republic, a vast pocket sea-power of ship-owners and sailors.

In Massachusetts during 1938 the W. P. A. constructed 145 miles of sewers, 133 miles of water mains, 314 miles of new streets, and 656 miles of improved roads.

W. C. T. U.

At the W. C. T. U. meeting at the First Baptist Church on April 21, the devotions included Bible verses on warfare and Richard C. Gallienne's poem, "The Illusions of War," also a poem entitled "A Prayer in Armor."

We have sent to Washington, D. C., one Winchester petition bearing 110 signatures, asking Congress for legislation to restrict liquor advertising in magazines and newspapers connected with interstate commerce, and to stop liquor advertising over the radio. The twenty-first amendment empowers Congress to make such laws. Mr. W. S. Alexander, Federal Alcohol Administration, has said emphatically that it will be for the best interests of the liquor industry to withdraw the radio advertising. We hope to send a few more petitions soon.

Mrs. Mabelle Groves, our County Treasurer, attended the January Peace Conferences in Washington, D. C., as a member of the National Temperance and Prohibition Council and as a delegate to the Fourteenth Conference on the Cause and Cure of War. We had an interesting forum on the subject.

Church groups have been making great educational plans. The 25 temperance organizations in their discussions showed an unanimity of purpose for a great crusade program.

"Not Force But Reason" was the theme of the Cause and Cure of War Conference, and the Lima Declaration were discussed. One hundred ten resolutions were agreed on at Lima, toward continental solidarity.

At the Cause and Cure of War conference the Neutrality Act was indicted as contributing to strife. Cooperation of the United States with other states to eliminate war was advocated, and by unanimous vote they approved a national defense policy which recognizes the economic wastefulness of armaments and the need for internal economic stability, but the reciprocal trade agreements were favored.

Mrs. Groves has an article on this subject in the March number of the state W. C. T. U. paper "Our Message," and we trust that our members and others will carry out her suggestions to send postal cards thanks to the National Broadcasting Company, Washington, D. C., for cutting out beer and wine advertising from their 115 stations, and postal card protests against such advertising to the Columbia Broadcasting System, 485 Madison avenue, New York City, and the Mutual Broadcasting System, 435 Michigan avenue, Chicago, Ill.

PETRUZZI-GIGLIOTTI

Miss Catherine Gigliotti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gigliotti of Florence street, and Anthony P. Petruzzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Petruzzi of North Garland avenue, Youngstown, Ohio, were married at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 14, at St. Mary's Church by Rev. Fr. Joseph Mahoney. A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Gigliotti was given in marriage by her father. Her only attendant was Miss Mary Girona of this town. Francis Patt, Jr. of Farrell, Pa., was Mr. Petruzzi's best man and the ushers were four brothers of the bride, Thomas Gigliotti, and Bernard Gigliotti of this town, Frank Gigliotti of Rosindale and Anthony Gigliotti of Revere.

The bride wore a princess style gown of ivory slipper satin and a tulle veil arranged with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of bride's roses and valley lilies. Miss Girona wore a full-skirted gown of white net with a deep red hat and slippers, matching the shade of her roses which were combined in an arm bouquet with babies' breath. Upon their return from a wedding journey to New York and Washington, Mr. Petruzzi and his bride will make their home at 830 North Garland avenue, Youngstown, Ohio.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER, D. A. R.

Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, enjoyed a very pleasant outing on Monday, May 15, at the Country-side, in Lexington. A special table to accommodate the 16 members who attended was set up in one of the dining rooms reserved for our use, and a very delicious luncheon enjoyed. After the luncheon the doors were closed and a short business meeting held. At the opening of the meeting the regent, Mrs. Sewall E. Newman read the Pulitzer prize-winning editorial for 1938, "My Country 'Tis of Thee," recently published in the Boston Herald, which was particularly appropriate to the occasion and which was much appreciated by the members.

As the chapter will hold no meeting until after the State Conference in October in Swampscott, it was necessary to appoint alternates at this meeting to attend the conference in addition to the regent and vice regent who attend as delegates, and the following were appointed: Mrs. Francis O. Carlson, Mrs. Nester W. Davis, Mrs. Edmund A. Merriam and Mrs. Reginald F. Cahalan.

After the meeting adjourned the members visited two of the famous historic buildings in Lexington, the Hancock-Clarke house and the Munroe Tavern, where they were specially entertained as a group.

WON PHOTOGRAPHY AWARD

Mr. William H. Burr, Jr., of 233 Main street has been awarded first prize in Modern Woodmen of America's national amateur photographic contest for May. His prize-winning picture, "July Afternoon" will be published in the June issue of "The Modern Woodman," official publication of Modern Woodmen of America, a magazine mailed to over 500,000 people in all parts of the United States, thus giving both Mr. Burr and Winchester favorable publicity. The prize-winning study was selected from an entry list of about 1000 pictures.

M. S. P. C. A.

The Winchester Auxiliary of the M. S. P. C. A. met for its final meeting of this season at the home of the president, Mrs. Richard S. Taylor, 137 Mt. Vernon street, last Thursday afternoon, May 11.

After hearing the reports of the secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Taylor appointed the nominating committee for the Fall elections: Mrs. Daniel C. Dennett, chairman, Mrs. Albert O. Wilson, and Mrs. Leon Hughes. Besides the regular executive officers, it was voted that the nominating committee should also suggest a board of directors which will meet, in an advisory capacity, along with the regular executive board.

Extensive plans were made for the annual Fair, which will be held earlier this year than heretofore, probably the second Thursday in November.

Although its meetings are suspended during the summer months, the summer months, the work of the Auxiliary is carried on throughout the year and the doors of the Animal Shelter which it operates at 452 Washington street, will remain open at all times to lost and stray animals.

It is a sad commentary on the frailties of human nature that the Auxiliary finds its heaviest work during the summer when, so frequently, household pets are abandoned in the holiday exodus. It is gratifying to know that Winchester at least, has a Shelter which will give refuge and protection to these forlorn, abandoned creatures.

The May meeting brought to a close a most encouraging season, and with a large increase in membership, prospects for a more expansive program loom very bright indeed.

Members and guests of the Auxiliary all stayed at the conclusion of the meeting to enjoy the delicious refreshments served, by Mrs. Taylor, who was assisted by her sister, Miss Carolyn B. Rice, and Miss Gladys Folts.

Do you know that Castle Island, in Boston Harbor, is the oldest military post in the country; the fort was erected by Governor Winthrop in 1634.

WITH CALIFORNIA PRESS ASSOCIATION

Winchester Resident Returns From Trip to Central America

Our townsman, F. W. Howard, has just returned from a most interesting and delightful five weeks trip, with the California Press Association. This trip included parts of Guatemala, Honduras and California.

He was enabled to join this editorial party, qualifying after a fashion as a newspaperman, through the long standing friendship of over 30 years of Hon. Friend W. Richardson, ex-Governor of California and president of the California Press Association for 38 consecutive years.

The trip, most attractive under ordinary conditions was made especially so through courtesies extended to the Press Association and the Governor personally.

The occasion of the trip was the 50th anniversary of the California Press Association. The party left San Francisco and Los Angeles in a special chartered air-conditioned double-deck Pullman sleepers and proceeded on the Southern Pacific's famous "Sunset Limited" train to El Paso, Tex., where the cars were put on a special train, proceeded by comfortable motor buses to the world famous Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico.

More words fail to describe these great caverns which are cool, dry and well lighted and modern elevators are provided to take visitors down to a depth of 750 feet. Colonel White of the Forest Service explained the most interesting points to the party. The Paso Del Norte Hotel extended every courtesy.

The party was met at New Orleans by city officials, newspaper reporters and camera men and was welcomed to "America's most interesting city" at a fine luncheon by the Association of Commerce with city officials and local publishers present. This luncheon was followed by a sight seeing trip including the great Huey Long Bridge over the Mississippi River and other points of interest, terminating at the Hotel Monteleone where they were most hospitably entertained.

L. J. McCall, general passenger agent of the United Fruit Company came from Chicago to New Orleans especially to look after the comfort of the party.

The next day they boarded the United Fruit Company's fine steamship "Ulua" and it was at this point that Mr. Howard joined the party.

A delightful three days sail brought the party to Puerto Barrios, the Guatemala port on the Atlantic coast, and a nine hour train ride carried them from a tropical climate at sea level to a temperate climate, 5000 feet elevation, in Guatemala City. Evidences of good, strong government were on every hand. The people were polite.

The Palace Hotel made the stay of two days in Guatemala City most pleasant. The Clark Tourist Bureau then took the party in charge for a four days tour through central Guatemala, which tour was made in fine new seven passenger automobiles driven by English speaking chauffeurs who were necessarily both skillful and careful drivers.

Most of Guatemala is mountainous and the country through which we passed has high steep hills and deep gorges and the roads are wonderfully steep with thrilling hairpin turns. The drivers are very intelligent and give valuable information regarding the country, native Indian habits and historic facts.

We passed through many native towns with their narrow streets, small one story adobe houses and always a large Plaza with a fountain in the center surrounded by more pretentious buildings, such as a church, a military barracks, local stores, etc.

A stay of one day in the ancient capital Antigua proved as fascinating as the story entitled "The House of Antiqua." A large coffee plantation and a number of ruins from old earthquakes were visited. The party was divided between the hotels Manchen and Aurora, both of which proved neat and comfortable.

An all day drive up hill and down hill from Antigua, passing through several native towns and over the Chicko Pass at 10,000 feet elevation brought the party to Chichicastenango.

They stayed here for two memorable days at the Mayan Inn, very modern for comfort but savoring in a delightful way of the old Mayan and Spanish in its atmosphere. The hotel was for the most part a succession of small one story buildings, on the different levels of a side hill, with overhanging red tile roofs and bedrooms opening directly out of lovely small patios.

In Chichicastenango we were fortunate to witness a special market day with religious celebration in the ancient church 400 years old. The native worship seems a mixture of ancient Indian rites mellowed by Christianity.

They wave charcoal censers on the church steps, fire off bombs and bow before candles which they light on the floor of the church and sprinkle rose leaves around them. The native Indians come on foot distances of five, ten and fifteen miles and sometimes even more, all bearing heavy loads for sale or barter. The women carry their load on their heads with a baby on their back. The men take their load on their backs, and the small boys and girls carry loads just like mama and papa.

These native Indians seem happy and industrious, clean and for the most part well dressed in their respective tribal costumes; but occasionally you see the very limit of rags and mending indicating dire poverty or indifference. After the market they have to walk back just as far as they came, frequently sleeping by the roadside.

Resuming the automobile tour through more native towns, usually passing groups of burden-bearing Indians on the road, and stopping at Lake Atitlan for lunch and a visit by launch to a most interesting native town across the lake, the party arrived back in Guatemala City.

After one more night in the Palace Hotel the train brought the party down to Puerto Barrios where they boarded the "Santa Marta" of the United Fruit Company's Great White Fleet for Puerto Cortez in the Central American republic of Honduras.

While the ship was being loaded with bananas, courteous United Fruit Company officials took the party by a special train through the tropical jungles and the great 37,000 acre banana plantation for more than 100 miles. Stops were made to show how the bananas are grown, sprayed, harvested, washed, carried by mules to freight trains on branch tracks which radiate through the plantation and thence to ship and northern ports.

A fine lunch served by the United Fruit Company at their well-equipped headquarters at La Lima and a return trip to the ship was by a different route than still through banana plantations and jungles to the ship.

The ship sailed from Puerto Cortez for New Orleans during the night and thanks to the skill of Captain McBride docked in New Orleans in time for the party to pass health and customs inspections and reach their special cars on the Southern Pacific's Sunset Limited, where every provision had been made for the comfort and convenience of the party under the magic touch of Fred S. Howard of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

The party began to disintegrate at New Orleans and was pretty well broken up at Los Angeles as they scattered here for different parts of the state.

Our townsman's schedule allowed only six days in California which is just about like a drop in a bucket. Six days in that glorious state with its hundreds of natural wonders, orchards and vineyards, etc., as well as its many marvelous engineering works, like bridges, dams, irrigation projects, etc., etc., is only an aggravation, particularly when one has old friends who he left behind 26 years ago, to look up and get acquainted with again. Two days in Los Angeles, one calling on old friends and one given to drive through parts of the city and up into the lower end of the big San Joaquin Valley which was actually covered with a carpet of wild flowers as far as one could see. The return trip was through the Mojave Desert giving a distinctive and attractive change in scenery.

A day which should have been a week, in the truly wonderful Yosemite Valley and three days in and around San Francisco and the Exposition used up the available time, and four days and nights on the train brought him back to Winchester satisfied to "stay put for another while."

Some time during the night last Friday some one ripped the brass tailor's sign, owned by Mr. George Bigley of Myrtle street from the Common street entrance to Waterfield Hall. Mr. Bigley discovered the theft shortly after 7 o'clock in the morning and notified the Police.

CAST your eye just once on the passing traffic and you spot this stunning Buick as the one car of the year you can instantly identify.

It's the pattern—no mistaking that—and you'll find plenty of admiring glances following wherever you travel.

But if attention had been all we were after, we might have got merely that with a lot less pains than we took.

What we were shooting for was something a heap more important than attention: a picture that does you justice—and mister, look how gloriously we hit the bull's-eye!

You try out the driver's seat—it fits. You take hold of the wheel—it seems molded to your hand. There's the gas treadle, right where it should be...

So you ease down on the gas—and pronto, you've got rhythm! You fingertip the wheel—presto! there's control!

You wing down the straightaway, cruise around curves, swoop up the hill. Eagerly, instantly, amiably, your car does what you want—it's almost a part of you, your wish is its action!

So, you happily discover, here's where you belong!

It isn't the big and powerful wallop in that big Dynaflex straight-eight alone. It isn't only the level skimming comfort of soft-coiled Buick Coil Springing. It isn't simply the visibility—though those extra 412 square inches come in mighty handy.

It's the feel of this great car you'll go for, the way you feel at home!

Now such a car is worth plenty. But this Buick actually costs less than a year ago, less than you think—less than some sixes.

Surely, that leaves nothing else to settle except when you can get delivery. Why not see your Buick dealer and get the answer?

MUSIC CONSERVATORY IN WINCHESTER

The Northeastern Conservatory of Music has opened a branch school in Winchester teaching the lighter stringed instruments to children and adults. Classes are being held at the Association Building on Vine street, and instruments are furnished free to each student. Samuel Quaganti, musical director, is conducting the school with Mr. Vincent Petrucci as instructor. Mr. Quaganti and Mr. Petrucci are graduates of the New England Conservatory of Music and members of the National Academy of Music, having specialized in stringed instrument instruction. For several years they have conducted classes in many cities and towns throughout New England and are well known in musical circles.

Teacher's meetings are held quarterly in which the latest teaching material and other important items are given consideration and put into practice. A modern highly organized curriculum embraces a course of 62 weeks in which students cover the first three grades of music consisting of all elementary studies. Certificates are awarded to pupils who satisfactorily complete the course. Other activities include recitals, and special groups are arranged for entertainment. Report cards are issued twice during the course.

The school furnishes instruments to pupils to create musical interest among children and adults. Today, more than at any time in the history of our country, music plays a vital part in the life of the individual and is considered essential to the cultural development of the boy and girl of school age as well as of great benefit to adults.

Mr. Vincent Kelly, who is in charge of registration reports a growing interest and that school's quota will be filled in a very short time. The school's advertisement appears in another column of the Star.

The City of Boston welfare expenditures for the first quarter of 1939 have averaged a little more than a million dollars per month.

CHAPTER

The annual meeting of the Washington-Highland Chapter of the Mothers' Association was held in the assembly hall of the Washington School on Tuesday afternoon, May 10, with the president, Mrs. Clark Kenney, presiding. Chairmen of the various committees gave interesting reports of their activities during the year, after which Mrs. Earl Doub, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following list of officers for the ensuing year.

President Mrs. Lyman Smith
First Vice President Mrs. Francis Barrett
Second Vice President Mrs. Arnold Chantrel

Secretary Mrs. John E. Burke, Jr.
Treasurer Mrs. J. Stewart Chaffee
Auditor Mrs. Arthur Fox

On behalf of the Chapter a drapery for the new stage window and a tapestry covering for the piano was presented to the school and graciously accepted by Miss Hatch, principal.

At the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Harold Scheibe, past chairman of Drama and Literature of the State Federation of Women's Clubs gave an informal talk on Current Books and Authors. Herbert Clement, a former pupil of our school pleasantly rendered several violin selections.

The proceeds of a food sale held in the rear of the hall helped swell the fund for a campership in the Girl Scout Troop which meets at this school.

The afternoon closed with the serving of delicious refreshments by Mrs. George Byford and her committee.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

All signs point toward Swampscott these days, where the Spring meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs will be held. Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth (own own, beloved, Harriet) president of the State Federation will preside and the program sounds exceptionally interesting.

On Saturday, May 20 the Juniors will hold their pre-convention meeting, which will be of great interest to all mothers of growing daughters. The Senior meetings open Monday morning at 10, and, if your wife, you'll be there long before that, to be sure of a good parking space, a registration card and a good seat in the auditorium.

The full program will be outlined on the Club Woman's pages of the Boston papers, on Saturday and Sunday. Select the programs you prefer, but do go to at least one, and be thrilled by the enthusiasm, ambition and achievements of united club women.

So now, all together! Hi-ho To Swampscott we must go. To hear the news and air our views On "Good Citizenship" And oh how thrilled you'll be Our Harriet to see Preside with grace and smiling face, And brilliancy!

COLORED MOTION PICTURES

Last Monday evening, Mr. Edward B. Ladd showed at Waterfield Hall his moving pictures in color taken on his recent trip to the West Coast as well as movies of the En Ka Street Fairs in recent years and other scenes in New England. His western pictures included Death Valley, Grand Canyon, Yosemite Valley and the International Exposition at San Francisco. The hall was well filled and the profits went to the Garden Shop of the En Ka Society.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Willard Hudson, Mrs. Paul Goddu, Mrs. Bertha Blanchard, Mrs. Marion L. Symmes, Mrs. Ralph Larson, Mrs. George French and Miss Dorothy Nash.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia, of Feb. 6, is a short item labelled:

Liquor Statistics

Sir: Here are some statistics that will help us understand why we are so long pulling out of the depression: $5,000,000 were spent in the United States for liquor during 1937, just a little less than 50 per cent of the total spent for food, clothing and residence construction; there is now one licensed saloon for every 209 people, including children and infants, in the United States. It is claimed this is a record never before approximated in any nation.

ALL WINCHESTER FLOWER SHOW

The fourth annual all-Winchester flower show, sponsored by the Better Homes Garden Club, will be held on Thursday, June 8, from 2 to 9 o'clock and Friday, June 9, from 10 to 5 o'clock in the recreation room of the First Baptist Church. This represents a change from the usual September date. The staging committee, under Mrs. Samuel Kinswood, well-known landscape architect, is working out an ambitious and very attractive plan for the show as a whole.

With one large group of exhibitors having just completed a working course in flower arrangement under Mrs. Anson H. Smith of Dedham the standard of exhibits should be high.

A right and wrong exhibit of garden features and gardening gadgets, and a members' plant sale offering bedding annuals and unusual perennials will add color and variety to the show.

All residents of Winchester are eligible to exhibit; one exhibitor may enter as many classes as he wishes, but is limited to only one entry in each class.

Miniature arrangement, to be shown in boxes furnished by the committee and finished by exhibitor.

Arrangement for porch or garden luncheon table.

Children's class; arrangement in red, white and blue.

Horticultural class; the best specimen in your garden.

Five-set playing cards at the Star Office.

SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

A miniature version of the opera, "Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdinck will be produced by the Children's Choir of the Second Congregational Church in the vestry of the church on Friday and Saturday evenings, June 9 and 10.

The title roles will be sung by Allan Higgins and Joan Lavery. Mrs. Ethel Goodwin and Mrs. Anna Lochman have the direction of production and many people of the parish have volunteered to help.

During the past year the children have been most loyal in their attendance at Choir School and service participation and have made great advances in the appreciation of great music and interpretation through singing at the Sunday services. This in turning to this secular opera arrangement the children have made excellent progress during rehearsals.

It has been the policy of the Choir School to use only great service music and in turning to a secular opera the same purpose has been kept in mind by the leaders. The traditional German children's story and the music by Humperdinck arranged for children's voices will give the audience and the children a most worthwhile aesthetic experience. Reservations will have to be made early because of the seating limitations of the vestry.

PAST NOBLE GRAND SERVICE CLUB

The Past Noble Grand's Service Club of Victoria Rebekah Lodge, 178, met on Tuesday evening at the home of Sister Josephine Arnold, Dix terrace.

The regular business meeting was held which was presided over by our President, Sister Ella Good, after which a Round Table discussion of current events was held, each member taking part, this was followed by dainty refreshments served by the hostess assisted by Sister Arzila Higgins.

The next meeting will be in the form of a weanie roast and will be held at the home of Sister Jessie Ripley, Widge Pond road, Tuesday, June 27 at 7 p. m. tributing tickets for prizes all over town and in many surrounding communities. This list included Mrs. Alvin Mancib, Miss Eleanor Dowd, Miss Barbara Pratt, Mrs. Alan Blanchard, Mrs. Richard Bolster, Mrs. Paul Badgley, Mrs. Malcolm Burr, Mrs. Roland Carter, Mrs. Kingman Cass, Mrs. F. G. Chase, Mrs. Roland Fletcher, Mrs. Maurice Garrett, Mrs. Samuel Graves, Mrs. E. Craig Greiner, Mrs. Charles LeBoyer, Mrs. Harris Richardson, Mrs. Alden Sherman, Mrs. Gilbert Tapley, Mrs. William O. Thompson, Mrs. Erskine White and Mrs. Allan Wilde.

Of course the children had the grandest day ever! Many stayed there all day and into the evening, enjoying the fun and games. A real Merry-Go-Round was a new feature this year—the real "Flying Horses," with music, too! Not only the little tots, but adults climbed up to ride "round and round and recapture a childhood thrill. Working here were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Flag, Mrs. Paul Dunn, Miss Gladys Marchant, Mr. Theodore Monroe, Mr. Francis Felt, and Mrs. A. Allen Kimball.

Right next them were Miss Marguerite Barr and Miss Mabelle Nickerson, who had charge of the Ponies, where the little folks had rides on real live horses. Balloons were a lot of fun to carry around, and those that escaped the clutches of the excited purchasers rested in the trees above, to make bright spots of color throughout the day. Mrs. Harold Richmond was assisted by Mrs. Arthur T. Rogge, Miss Carolyn Mercer, Mrs. William L. Thompson, and the Misses Polly Kimball, Geneva Underwood, Ruth Olsen, Claire Tapley, Barbara Dadds, Betty Priddy, Ann Thompson and Betty Thompson.

Mrs. Francis E. Booth and her assistants were busy as bees all day pulling Grabs from the Old Well, where the children had great fun tearing the wrappings from cunning gifts. Her helpers were Mrs. Bouldin Burbank, Mrs. Warren Goddu, Mrs. James Doty and Mrs. Robert Smith. The Midway, in charge of Mrs. MacArthur and Mrs. Lindblad, provided fun and amusement all day and evening. One could hardly pass the enthusiastic "barkers" who shouted, "colored, begged and browbeat one into trying his luck at the games. The prizes for the lucky winners were delightful, and in some cases, very nice souvenirs to take home from the fair. Mrs. Lowell Smith, assisted by Mrs. James Doty, acted as treasurer of the Midway, and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Clarke took charge of distributing and replacing prizes as they were used up.

Mrs. Francis Millett had charge of the "Cane Rack," and was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wyman, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Phil, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Browning, Mrs. Alexander Aiken and Dr. Sanford Moses. "Pitch 'Til You Win" was run by Mrs. John Kenerson and Mrs. Clark W. Collins; helped by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilder, Miss Priscilla Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. John Turner, Sonny Kennedy, Mr. Robert Wilder, Miss Ella Armstrong, Mr. Kenneth Pratt and Mrs. Danforth Comins, Jr. of Concord. Mrs. William J. Parrot, Jr. managed the "Pan Game," assisted by Mrs. Katherine Smith of Cambridge, Miss Shirley Smith, Mrs. Stephen Rogers, Mrs. Harold Smith, Miss Katherine Whitcomb, Mr. Thomas Aldrich, Jr., Mr. Percy Bugbee, Mr. Clark Collins, Mr. Kenneth Moffatt and Mr. Lawrence Tobey. Helping Mrs. Parrot with the Bowling Alleys were Mr. Gordon Poney, Mr. Stephen Rogers, Scott Parrot, David Ritchie, Billy Saul, Carl Tourtellot and George Sexton, Jr.

"Smash the Tea Cups" was under the direction of Mrs. Warren Jenney, with assistance from Mr. Don S. Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Whittemore, Mr. Philip Wadsworth, Mr. Maxwell McCreery, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Weil, Mr. Warren Jenney, Billy Whittemore and Bobby Sharon.

Mrs. George Warren Smith and Mr. Smith ran the "Wheel," helped by Mrs. Edwin Rooney, Mrs. Harry Beane, Mr. Alfred Sweet, Mr. Frank Owens, Mr. Lyndon Burnham, Mr. Charles Eaton, Mr. Jerome Foster, Dr. Burton Gove, Mr. Samuel Graves, Mr. Fred Hill, Mr. Allen Lindblad, Mr. Robert MacArthur, Mr. Robert Oxford, Mr. Charles Sheldon and Mr. William O. Miss Barbara Watters was the manager of the "Bottle Game," her assistants including Miss Eleanor Lampee, Miss Kay Boutwell, Mr. Paul Forester, Mr. Edmund Merriam, Mr. Frank Barker, Mr. Jacob Bond, Mr. Charles Butler, Mr. R. Marvin, Mr. William Hoagland and Mr. Harry Beane.

"Beano" was under the direction of Mrs. Charles C. Clarke, her helpers assisted by Mrs. William Beal, Mr. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Eaton, Dr. and Mrs. Hollister Olmsted, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Farnsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fenn, Mrs. William Beal, and Mr. and Mrs. James Dwinell, Jr., Mr. William Beal and Mr. Clinton Mason.

The Legion House was turned into a movie theatre for a day, and under the management of Miss Ruth Bove, calicoed, begged and browbeat one into trying his luck at the games. The prizes for the lucky winners were delightful, and in some cases, very nice souvenirs to take home from the fair. Mrs. Lowell Smith, assisted by Mrs. James Doty, acted as treasurer of the Midway, and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Clarke took charge of distributing and replacing prizes as they were used up.

There couldn't be a Fair without good things to eat, and the "Lunch Emporium" supplied delicious mouth-watering sandwiches, cakes and coffee that one could hardly resist. And all home-made, too, under the skilled direction of Mrs. E. George Pierce, Jr. and Mrs. Alvin Litchfield, assisted by Mrs. Frederick Ives, Jr., Mrs. Carl Goddard, Mrs. Clinton Mason, Mrs. Don S. Greer, Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, Mrs. Warren Shoemaker, Mrs. Frank d'Elseaux, Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mrs. Charles Crane of Wellesley, Mrs. Langley Keyes, Miss Pearl Prime, Miss Elizabeth Dutch, Miss Dorothy Hall, Mr. Houghton Goddu, Mr. Pierce and Mr. Litchfield.

After wandering about for several hours it was delightful to sit down in the Pergola, where the tables were gay in red, checked, gingham, and enjoy a delicious cup of tea and the delectable sandwiches. Mrs. William Cusack and Mrs. Richard Wilder were in charge here, assisted by Mrs. Forrest L. Pitman, Mrs. Carl Eaton, Miss Dorothy Pendleton, Mrs. Raymond Dexter, Mrs. Harold Blanchard, Mrs. Theodore Monroe, Mrs. John Penniman, Mrs. Harris Richardson, Mrs. Woodford Wilcox, Mrs. Harold Dadds, Mrs. John McLean, Mrs. Blanche Hill, Mrs. Charles N. Atwood and Mrs. N. Robert Voorhis. Also helping to serve tea were the Misses Anne Penman, Dorothea Richardson, Janice Dexter, Joyce Pitman, Mary Joan, Ray, Janet Eaton and Billy Cusack. Over 200 teas were served, even entertainment provided by the Burroughs Newsboys' Harmonica Band. Hundreds stayed for supper in the Town Hall, which Miss Gretchen Stone, Mrs. Harold Meyer and their committees had made most attractive with great branches of apple blossoms and forsythia, with cunning boxes of panies on some of the tables. Much intensive thought, based on past experience, had resulted in a smooth-running system, for all were served a delicious and satisfying meal with speed and efficiency. Helping were Mrs. Arthur Jackson, Mrs. Fred Ritchie, Mrs. Harold Richmond, Mrs. Benjamin Hill, Mrs. Wilbur Kinsley, Mrs. Ray Mauger, Mrs. Herbert Stone, Mrs. Chester Moakler, Miss Mildred Johnson and Miss Frances Keirce.

Also assisting were the following gentlemen: Mr. Harold Meyer, Mr. Herbert Stone, Mr. Benjamin Hill, Mr. Thomas Freeburn, Mr. Fred Ritchie, Mr. Harold Fuller, Mr. A. Allen Kimball, Mr. Francis Booth, Mr. Wilbur Kinsley, Mr. John Devine, Mr. John Hobbs, Mr. Roger Newell, Mr. Richard Harlow, Mr. Lyndon Burnham, Mr. Harold Lamont and Mr. Russell Joy.

Many attractive young people gave cheerfully of their time and served supper, including the Misses Polly Kimball, Joyce Beardsley, Geneva Underwood, Betty Jane Thompson, Peggy Conson, Anne Cole, Maxine Lybeck, Joan Moffette, Elmer Reeves, Berta Magnusson, Claire McGrath, Muriel Fitch, Shirley Cooke, Jane Kimball, Olga Systom, Priscilla Tapley, Jane Doty, Margery Harris, Zoe Tibbets, Jane Cahalane, Barbara Hughes and Edna McCormick.

Irving, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Atkinson, Leslie Curtis, Walter Smalley, Charles Bacon, Ray Williams and Ted Mauger.

Mrs. Harold Bates had charge of selling the always popular "hot dogs," and though it is hard to believe, some 1400 of these were sold! Helping Mrs. Bates were Miss Barbara Fernald, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Sargent, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. B. Smith, Mrs. Walter Winship, Miss Evelyn Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pease and Mr. Fred Abbott.

Mrs. Lucius Smith, assisted by Mrs. Whitlaw Wright, had a large group who had to work fast to keep up with the demand for Pop Corn. Helping here were Dr. and Mrs. E. Russell Murphy, Mrs. Roy Harris, Mrs. Leon Hughes, Mr. Whitlaw Wright, Mr. Louis Smith, Mr. Robert H. Johnson and son, Mr. Lowell Smith, Russell Murphy, Jr. and Lucius Smith, Jr.

The pleasant warmth of the day made the ice cream and cold drinks very popular, and the stand was in charge of Mrs. Elbridge Wyman and Mrs. Charles Werly, assisted by Mr. Wyman, Mr. Werly, Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred Eberle, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Maynard, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brinkerhoff of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Danon, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Newton, Miss Alice Davis, Mr. Elbridge Davis, Mr. Francis Booth and Mr. James Doty. Also helping here were the Misses Nancy Wyman, Betty Winship, Louise Milligan, Edna McCormick, Priscilla Tapley, Jane Doty, Jean Drake, Barbara A. Smith, and Frances Keyes, also Gilbert Smith, Charles Morrill, Richard Dana and James Weaver.

Shops

The little shops were attractively decorated and well patronized; articles were moderately priced and appealed to the average person, as evidenced by the fact that nearly all were sold out by the end of the fair. The "Variety Store" advertised a most diversified line, and quite remarkable for its price, still to be found in many a small New England village. So did the "Red Barn," a real realistic replica of an old farm building, even to the circus posters and cigar ads nailed up. The Variety Store was in charge of Mrs. Clarence Luitweiler and Mrs. Franklin Flannigan, who were assisted by Mrs. William Beggs, Mrs. Theodore Chilcott, Mrs. James Jones, Mrs. James Jones lin, Mrs. C. Chandler Parkhurst, Mrs. Alvan Smith, Mrs. Donald Woodward, Mrs. Ronald Wyman and Mrs. Clarence Zarse.

Mrs. Herbert T. Wadsworth and Mrs. Vaughn Harmon were co-chairmen of the Barn, and were assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Moffatt, Mrs. Richard Abbott, Mrs. Charles Wadsworth, Mrs. Philip Wadsworth, Mrs. James Harlow, Mrs. Albert Crockett and Mrs. Theodore Rosenvinge.

The Garden Shop was bright and gay, and supplied all kinds of plants to aid the early gardener. Here Mrs. Marshall Symmes and Mrs. Willard Hudson together were in charge, their helpers including Miss Constance Lane, Mrs. Paul Goddu, Mrs. F. Milne Blanchard, Miss Dorothy Nash, Mrs. George French and Mrs. Ralph Larsen.

Mrs. Edwin Zimmerman and Miss Flora Locke were managers of the Bake Shop, which had most tempting foods for sale. They were helped by Mrs. Sanford Moses, Mrs. Raymond Holdsworth, Mrs. Otto Becker, Mrs. Paul Forester and Miss Barbara Goodwin.

The Dairy was a cheese heaven for the connoisseurs, for all kinds were there in bulk and in packages. Mrs. T. Price Wilson and Mrs. Frank W. Rounds were in charge here, their helpers including Mr. Wilson, Dr. Rounds, Mrs. James Dwinell, Jr., Mrs. Phineas Newton, Mrs. Sanford Potts, Mrs. John Wilson and Mrs. John Wallace. Of great assistance too was Mr. Paul McComb whose strong arm cut cheese almost all day.

At the "Roadside Stand" Mrs. Thomas M. Richter, Jr. was in charge, where all kinds of fruit were displayed attractively. Cold refreshing drinks of orange juice were in great demand here also. Helping Mrs. Richter were Mr. Richter, Mr. and Mrs. Lindley Beardsley, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Ghirardini, Mr. and Mrs. Loring Gleason, Mr. and Mrs. William Wurster, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McDavitt, Jr. and Mrs. Thomas Bove.

How the children loved the Candy Shop! and the grown-ups too, for everything looked and tasted so good. Mrs. Harold Bates managed this shop, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Cameron, Miss Lucy Wilcox, Mrs. John Willis, Mrs. George Moffette, and the Misses Jocelyn Moffette and Edith Dorsey.

Antiques were auctioned off, and many articles sold on the Island, where Mr. W. Allan Wilde acted as auctioneer, relieved at different times by Mr. Guy Howe, Mrs. Howe and Mrs. Susan Cole. The auction was in charge of Mrs. Guy Howe, Mrs. Wilfred McKenzie, Mrs. Donald Connors, Mrs. Roger Hadley, Mrs. Frank Kelley and Mrs. William Phinney.

As soon as the supper tables were cleared away, Mrs. Theodore Cunningham and her dance committee took possession of the Town Hall, where Ken Reeves and his orchestra, who donned checkered shirts, overalls and farmers' hats, provided some real swing for everyone, from the most staid Grandpa, to the liveliest "jitterbug."

Assisting in various ways were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bolter, Mrs. John Murray, Mr. Theodore Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wyman, Mr. Carl Goddard, Mr. James Dwinell, Jr., Mr. Edmund Merriam, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cole, Mr. Herbert Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tutein, Jr., Mr. Alvin Litchfield and Mr. E. George Pierce.

Mrs. Charles Woolley was in charge of the Fortune Tellers, a group which included Miss Lowry, graphologist; Mrs. Ann Brabrook, card reader; Mari, palmist; and Zena, the Gypsy, all of whom told fortunes for hundreds of curious all day and evening. Mrs. Woolley's assistants were Mrs. Thomas Aldrich and Mrs. Theodore Atkinson.

The grand drawing for prizes took place during the latter part of the evening, and had interesting results. Mr. Ralph Bonnell, proprietor of the local Ford agency, drew for the winning ticket, and a Mr. A. S. Nye of Boston became the owner of a smart 1939 sedan.

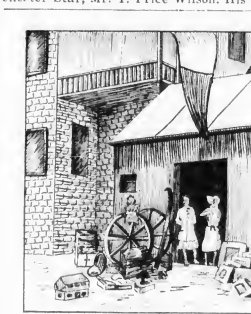

Mr. Ralph Hatch of the Winchester

Savings Bank drew the ticket bearing the name of Mr. Samuel Graves of Parker road, which will give him $100 for a vacation. Mr. George Carter of the Winchester Theatre drew the ticket of Mrs. Russell Joy of Edgemoor hill road as the one to enjoy a year's pass at the local theatre. Mr. Kenneth Grant drew for the lucky person to receive $20 worth of Seonny gasoline, which proved to be Mr. David Harris of Stevens street; and Miss Mary Spaulding drew the ticket that will provide Mrs. Robert Byer of Myrtle street with a year's subscription at the Mary Spaulding Bookshop. Miss Spaulding also drew for the winner of the permanent wave donated by the Mystic Beauty Shop, and the recipient was found to be Mr. Charles Symmes of Main street! Another prize winner from the tickets sold at the Tea Pergola was Mr. George Grey of Ridgely road, who received a ticket entitling him to four dinners at Seller's 1775 House; and Mrs. Robert Dotten, who received a large basket of luxurious fruits. They did splendid work in many places with courtesy and willingness.

There must be a great many more whose names we have unintentionally overlooked, whose help before the fair and on the great day itself was invaluable, willingly given and with no thought of reward, except the fun of it all. So many persons simply pitched in where help was needed—others offered their services and did what they were asked to do with a right good will.

One such group was the service committee of the Explorer Patrol of Boy Scouts, nine boys whose leader, Michael Saraco, offered their services to the Society. They did splendid work in many places with courtesy and willingness.

One person without whose assistance no event in town could be really successful is the editor of the Winchester Star, Mr. T. Price Wilson. His interest, enthusiasm, and co-operation have earned him the respect and admiration of the whole organization. His willingness to go forward making the Street Fair a success.

The townspeople sincerely hope that the Street Fair may be continued yearly, for while it is sponsored by the En Ka Society, the whole community feels that it belongs to them. More and more it is taking its place as a community event. Many former residents save this spring date on the calendar as the day to come back for a visit in town, for the Street Fair, they are sure to find their friends.

Of great interest, too, will be the financial report, for the money thus raised enables the Society to continue its good work in the town—work that is so sorely missed, were the organization obliged to discontinue it. Winchester is proud of this energetic group, and wishes it the greatest success in anything it may undertake.

CHAFF FROM THE COUNTRY FAIR

Well, 'twas a fine day for it! Didn't look so promising Friday afternoon and early Saturday morning amateur weather prophets were making dire predictions. By mid-morning, however, things were definitely all right, and the afternoon and evening were even a bit better than that!

Those sun-bonnets! Some of the girls wore up and some down their backs, the string acting as a chic gingham choker.

We should say the flying horses were the most popular feature of the fair. Crowds were waiting their turn all day and through the evening. We even saw Lieut. "Jim" Callahan of the Fire Department taking a whirl.

Something went wrong with the Merry-go-round during a practice run Friday evening, the big whirlazig tipping over with about 25 kids dies aboard. Patrolman "Dukes" Farrell was Johnny-on-the-spot to check on the youngsters and found none injured. "Dukes" claims the kids just started to sing "The Merry-go-round Broke Down!"

"T. P." had quite a nifty rube get-up and he actually didn't know him when he bumped us on the midway. Too bad his two horse hitch didn't materialize. That would really have been something!

Harry Bean claimed his outfit actually came from a barn in Arlington, and from the looks of his straw-hat we believe him. The overalls looked more like expressman's than farmer's, Harry, and they were just a leetle "short in th' reach!"

We saw one near calamity hooked the pole of the two-wheeled hitchhiker on the youngsters and found him upsetting it and precipitating the sleeping infant into the arms of a surprised looking gentlemen. Far as we saw, or heard, the youngster didn't even wake up!

Mrs. Wendell Mansfield came down for the fair from Springfield with Mrs. William Pendleton, both ladies and Mrs. Ray V. Hayward doing the midway up and down and sideways. It was a real old home week for Mrs.

Mansfield, a former Winchester resident and Phys Ed teacher at high school, and Mrs. Pendleton was delighted to meet up with Gladys Marchant, a member of the Country Fair Committee, with whom she has attended Bouve Boston School "in the old days."

Everyone we met figured to win the Ford. "Pug" Mercer, who was banker at the popular balloon booth, was rooting for Jack, the Mansfield's bull-pup, who had a chance on the machine in his own name! Hand luck, Jack!

A couple of boys went south with some golf sticks left at the antique auction on the Island. It didn't take Special Officer "Jimma" Flaherty long to get them back. The boys kept the officers busy trying to crawl under the back of the booths in search of handbags and other spoil.

"Edie" Goddu had a busy time of it with the grabs, for which the youngsters always seem to go in a big way!

A very diminutive colored boy lost his big new balloon when it came in accidental contact with one of the gal's cigarettes. His howls of grief were short lived when he was taken in tow by a sympathetic gentleman of ample girth who shepherded him back to the balloon counter. When we next saw the youngster his lost balloon had grown to two with a canary cane tossed in for good measure!

Allan Wilde as the auctioneer in a natty cutaway and ancient topper looked not a little like one of Cruickshank's famous drawings of the Dickensian Mr. Weather.

Once again Lowell Smith's delivery service failed to function, but as we say failed, that lemon pie was worth going after!

Among the prep school girls home for the fair were Jane Wilson and Nancy England from Abbot Academy. Jane brought down Barbara Fowler of Glen Ridge, N. J. and Nancy had as her guest, Patty Terry of Fontenac, Wis.

While the entrants for the Jitterbug Contest were not numerous, the couples surely gave of their best. Many who were seeing jitterbugs for the first time were more or less speechless for a few moments, at least!

The cheese girls, four blondes and three brunettes, added considerably to the fair, both picturesquely and financially. They sold nearly $200 worth of cheese. The big $500-pound New York State cheese went into Winchester homes to the extent of 280 pounds, and the gorgonzola wheel was completely sold—along with the succulent Swiss. They sold out completely.

Marion Pierce was noted as a devotee to the merry-go-round, even to the extent of climbing on alone—although she was soon rescued from this solitude by Dick Fenn, who got quite a kick out of it himself.

Pratkan (Ken Pratt) took first honor for costume and general rube get-up was by far the best at the fair.

Allan Kimball and Josh Kolley met the ally, Allen back of the Band on the arc and Josh just driving around looking things over. Damage slight, and no litigation in sight.

The absence of the cute little houses of previous street fairs was noticeable, and it is hoped that this feature will be revived next year.

A feature of the fair was the way in which the grounds were kept clear of rubbish. The ground-keepers did a good job and things were neat and ship-shape during the afternoon and evening.

You can bank on Street Fair weather.

Harold Farnsworth made a good thing out of the fair. He probably picked up his technique in the days when he was presiding over the Board of Selectmen.

That ten gallon hat worn by Clint Mason at the Beano booth was a real westerner all the way from the Pacific Coast.

Did you try to smell one of those white flowers offered for your inspection by solemn faced youngsters. Quite a little stream of waters those posies threw upon the unsuspecting!

A team of Hill-Billy musicians collected quite a little crowd with their music and antics in the afternoon, and were popular with their listeners.

One feller who really won win had $25 worth of chances on the Ford. No, he didn't collect. Probably the actual winner had a single chance!

A wild duck selected Leonard Field this winter for its cold weather quarters, building a nest this spring and hatching out a brood of ducklings a week ago. Park employees watched over the unusual vision. One day this week the mother took her brood out for their first swim in the neighborhood pond, but children in the neighborhood stoned her to death and took away a few of the ducklings. A step forward in the "youth movement."

We don't have much luck with our reforms. After dissecting, in our last issue, the various deceptions which have been perpetrated about town recently, we got ours on Sunday. After placing two of the handsomest baskets of fruit we have ever seen in our garage to take up to the sprouts at school, some kind soul (or souls) went in and wrecked them both, stealing all they could carry off.

We read that our ruler is going forward with his objective. The inference is that he will continue to spend and spend and reform and reform. Evidently that great wave of rejoicing which swept forth from business (?) when the business announcement was made that the ruler was going to be allowed to escape from the bag may now be relegated to the attic which is filled with similar exuberant flashes given out at various times during the past seven years. We are tempted to say we told you so. After seven years' example is anyone blind enough to imagine for one instant that the New Deal will give up votes in securing permanence in office and really strive to rehabilitate America rather than make it over? Not us. We note that "objective" is defined as external to the mind. The external results have long been seen and felt; what the mind has inside it is still a puzzle, but we have strikes and more strikes, division and greater division, spending and lending, and America the melting pot seems to be growing cold and foreign.

It now appears that two years ago when the world was younger than it is today in New Deal fancies and foibles, and our rulers were in the heyday of their resolute of the masses, the distribution of wealth, remarking the nation and piling up the votes of those seeking the more abundant life, we made a grievous error in the commission of our "social security" contribution. "Contribution" is the term of appeasement softening this confiscatory tax which is doing such a good job at laying business flat on its back and building up unemployment rolls. Now, after the two years have passed, we are brought to heel. We do not question the error, for such it undoubtedly was. With payments, back payments, omissions, added computations and what-not stacks of papers, blue forms, slips, instructions and like-wise, perhaps others who are experiencing this business appeasement can understand our fogged mental attitude at that time. Some were only lazily becoming aware of what was being done to us. Possibly this situation will be verified by our legal department—which finally turned the "batel" over to us as a personal and individual headache. But it now appears that we were in error and we have not enough money to question, legally or morally. It speaks well for the social security G-men that their two years' work is completed and our check for $67.24, including interest, is in their hands. The "co-operation" is of course appreciated. We suppose this is the root of the duplication ordered earlier this spring. We can now look forward to a period of peace and quiet while we try and gather together enough money to pay the next levy in passing about our business among those who need it more than we do and who have hitherto been looking in through the window. We hope so. This $67.24 brings the checks sent in for strike benefits and vacations thus far this year to a total of $369.19. A pretty good average for 19 weeks of contributing our wealth. With our eight employees this "contribution" runs to the tidy average of $46 each; truly a mighty distribution. However, we have not yet been required to pay for 1938 all over again and have received only one request for a second payment of the first quarter of 1939, so we suppose that in the course of years to come we are going to be in for something. The milking of America goes merrily on.

To the Editor of the Star:
Through the medium of your columns may I extend public thanks for the quick thinking of two Girl Scouts of our town, Jean Hatch and Jean Lavery, for when my daughter, Jacqueline, had the misfortune to break her leg last week.
The two girls, remembering their Scout training, realized an injured leg should not be walked on, and their determination to carry "Jackie" home prevented a fracture. Here is a concrete example of one of the many benefits derived from being a Scout.
I am indeed grateful to these two children and hope proper recognition will be given their prompt reaction to Scouting principles.
Very truly yours,
Muriel Barnes

SAVE THE LORD'S DAY

To the Editor of the Star:
There has come to my attention recently, the news that we are to have the privilege of enjoying movies Sunday afternoons, if the applicants succeed in winning the approval of the Board of Selectmen.

Can it be possible that only a few short years ago Winchester was so decidedly against movies? When the license was granted for the erection of a theatre and the exhibition of movies, I had hoped that the Lord's Day would be kept sacred and that no movies would be shown, nor any performance of a secular nature take place on Sunday. It now seems that as far as Winchester movies are concerned, we are losing more and more of the Lord's Day, even as in other parts of the country and world.

A story is told, of a kind-hearted man who had $7. He took $6 and divided among his friends, retaining but $1. After some time his friends became dissatisfied and murmured among themselves as to why the man did not give them the whole $7 so they plotted to secure the money themselves. The remaining dollar. Does this not remind you of the way we are losing the Lord's Day? I wonder if I am not right if I say that we all would be much happier if we had the Lord's Day back the way it was in the beginning, the way the Lord would like us to have kept it?

Our country will, in a few days, be privileged to entertain the King and Queen of the British Empire. How the millions of people will pour out to see their majesties, as they go through our cities and towns. This will be fitting and proper, because Great Britain and the United States are closely related. But as we think of our royal visitors, supposing the King of Kings were coming soon, too; (and who knows but what He might). Will we welcome Him in the same way?

Will we soon come to the day when the movie people the baseball and race track people will try to drive the churches and church properties out of the land, with the argument that they take up taxable property.

Let us keep watch for holy worship of the Almighty who does so much for all of us.

Sincerely,
Lawrence L. Thompson

LANGUAGE TERRIFIC!

To the Editor of the Star:

These warm evenings again remind people who live near the Mystic School of the wonderful vocabulary of the younger generation. Baseball and other games are played on the school grounds until darkness by youngsters who are less than high school age. The profanity reminds one of the old army days when the cook got drunk or the "chow" didn't come up due to reasons only the general staff knew and they didn't care because they always had plenty to eat. When any one strikes out or misses a fly the language is terrific. People thought this land was taken for school purposes but it is used as a playground during the daylight hours when school is not in session and the grass on the southerly side disappeared long ago. Sunday morning, when people like to sleep late, the games seem to start at break of dawn and baseball continues more or less all day until darkness puts a stop to it. Long flies often go out on to Main street or across Marshall road and one almost went through a windshield one day. Some residents of Marshall road no longer leave their cars in their driveways for obvious reasons.

SHOULD CONVINCE THE STAR

To the Editor of the Star:

The Star might like to know that a representative of the State Department of Health visited the Town Hall Thursday. This man's chief work is in connection with rainfall statistics and he is the only person in the State Department of Health who would make use of any information derived from the new $5000 raindrop counter in the Abernethy.

He said that undoubtedly the Federal figures would be of value to him, but unfortunately they go to Washington so that he does not get any use of them!

Probably this will convince the Star that we should pay $125 per year toward the cost of operation. "Doubtful"

Patrolman Henry Dempsey, in the course of investigating the damage done houses on Worthen road and Emerson road last Friday located two boys who the authorities say admitted being implicated. Their parents were notified and agreed to make good the damage done. In a hut near the home of one of the boys Officer Dempsey found three lanterns belonging to the Highway Department, paint and plaster cement, taken from new houses with a French telephone and wires which had been ripped out. The boards from which the hut was built were taken from a new house on Emerson road.

Mrs. Mary Gilbody of this town was toastmistress at the annual banquet which was the social highlight of the State Convention of World War Mothers at the Hotel Brunswick on May 2.

The Star learns on good authority that one of the prominent pharmacists in the center had a present last week-end of live pig, nicely crated and very active when on the hoof. The little porker got away from his embarrassed host who had him in his establishment long enough to be liable to action by the Board of Health before he could catch the animal. What finally was done with the pig seems to be a dark mystery such as that surrounding the identity of the donor. Steps, however, are being taken to may the latter to earth, along with the playboy who presented a well known resident of Bacon street with a pair of very cunning white mice!

EVERTS WON INTERSCHOLASTIC NET CROWN

Nasher won in the quarter-final bracket from Leonard Zins of Haverhill, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3. In the semi-finals, 6-3, 7-9, 6-3. A hotly contested quarter-final match with Frank Sharry of Worcester Classical, which he won, 6-3, 5-6, 6-2, took its toll from Johnson who wilted perceptibly in the deciding set of his succeeding match with the stocky Nasher.

Scamlon, a junior at Newton, entered the semi-final round at the expense of Winchester's sole remaining entrant, Lane McGovern, promising sophomore net-wielder, who made an excellent showing. Scamlon's winning scores were 3-6, 6-1, 6-2, the local youngster making his Newton opponent hustle all the way.

About 100 boys, from Attleboro, Boston Latin, Brockton, Brookline, Fitchburg, Haverhill, Lynn English, Malden, Manchester, Melrose, Needham, Newton, Quincy, Quincy North, Roxbury Memorial, Salem, Storey, Winchester and Worcester Classical High Schools, participated in last Saturday's play which was on courts at Palmer street, Leonard Field, Ginn Field and the Winchester Country Club.

Ray V. Hayward, faculty manager of athletics at Winchester High, was in general charge of the tournament, assisted by George Lauer, head of the Department of Physical Education, and members of the high school faculty. Dana M. Cotton was in charge of transportation, and the referees were Charles Wansker and Herbert Ross, the latter a former M. I. tennis captain and singles champion of Winchester. Men teachers at the high school served as umpires.

A good sized gallery was on hand for the matches and was treated to some excellent tennis. Sided players included Al Everts of Newton, 1; Ray Nasher of Newton Latin, 2; Ernie Johnson of Newton, 3; George Munn of Lynn English, 4; Bob Murray of Melrose, 5; Frank Sharry of Worcester Classical, 6; and Len Zins of Haverhill, 7.

Winchester's representatives, Dick Bugbee, Doug Graham, Lane McGovern, Jack Peniman, Dave Riley, Jimmy Coon, played plenty of good tennis with sophomore Lane McGovern blazing his way through to the quarter finals.

Both Bugbee and Graham, neither too well on his game, had the misfortune to draw members of the strong Newton team in the first round and were eliminated, the former by Lynch, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1; and Graham, by Scamlon, 6-2, 6-4. McGovern accounted for Shields of Attleboro in the first round, 6-1, 6-2; Coon beat Davis of Lynn English, 6-4, 6-3, and Riley beat Cincouor of Haverhill, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4. McGovern's second round victim was Siegel of Worcester Classical whom he defeated, 6-1, 6-1. Coon beat Zide of Malden, 6-2, 6-1, Riley beat Lawson of Boston Latin, 6-2, 6-4 and Peniman won from Beveridge of Worcester North by default.

In the third round McGovern won from Wright of Salem, 6-1, 6-2, and Riley beat Kulkoff of Salem, 6-2, 6-1. Nasher of Boston Latin won from Coon, 2-6, 6-1, 6-3; and Adams of Brookline beat Peniman, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. McGovern won his way into the quarter-finals by defeating Rice of Needham in the fourth round, 6-5, 6-3, a hotly contested and evenly placed match. Dave Riley was eliminated in this round by the second seeded Ray Nasher of Boston Latin in two closely fought sets, both at 6-4.

One quarter-final match was played Saturday, Ernie Johnson of Newton winning from Francis Sharry of Worcester Classical, 6-3, 5-6, 6-2. It was 7 o'clock before this match was concluded and both players, spectators and officials were more than glad to call it a day.

RED CROSS SWIMMING

In line with the recently inaugurated program in Life Saving and Water Safety adopted by our National Headquarters we are employing a qualified aquatic leader for this summer's instruction at the beaches.

Mr. Alfred R. Pennell of the Winchester Junior High School faculty, whose high standards of work and enthusiastic application to the interests of his pupils are well known and appreciated by students and parents alike, has been appointed Life Saving and Water Safety instructor.

Winchester Chapter feels particularly fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Pennell whose qualifications for this work are unusually fine.

During the winter of 1934-35 Mr. Pennell was the coach of the Nyack, N. Y. high school swimming team. At Watch Hill, R. I., he was in charge of the Fort Mansfield Boys Club for two summers placing emphasis on swimming and life saving work there, also cooperating with the Watch Hill Junior Improvement Society in staging water carnivals in 1936-37, and has directed all athletics in summer camp work for the past five years.

With the opening of the swimming area at Leonard Field for the full season the Red Cross plans to enlarge its offering to Winchester residents.

In response to increased demand for adult instruction in both common sense water safety and swimming there will be classes at Wedge Pond five days a week, held informally with a major emphasis upon practical water safety sense and simple swimming skills. There will be absolutely no requirements for entrance to this class except a conscientious desire to be of use in case of trouble in the water.

Swimming platforms are to be erected at Leonard Field pond by the Park Department and an enthusiastic response is expected to call for advanced swimming there. Only those who have passed their Junior Life Saving test will be eligible for this group. It will be held three times a week or more depending upon the scheduled activities.

Winchester is one of those unusual communities where the Red Cross chapter has generously donated money to pay for the services of a qualified swimming and life saving instructor whose time and energy are given to residents of Winchester free of charge.

The season will open June 19 and end August 12. Watch the Star for further announcements of plans.

MILLIONAIRES WON HOME OPENER

The Winchester Millionaires opened their 1939 season at home by beating the Chelsea Millstreams 17 to 2. Bob Lee besides allowing six hits, got four hits himself and batted in seven runs, his home run with two on was a long hit to left centerfield. The fielding of Red Noble for the Millionaires was sensational and Sullivan who played third for the Chelsea Millstreams was the best third baseman seen in Winchester for a long time.

Next Wednesday the Millionaires will play the Mayor Carr Club of Medford who defeated the Millionaires in the first game of the season by a score of 8 to 2. The game will be played at Manchester Field at 6:15.

WOBURN GAME JUNE 1

Winchester High School's baseball game with Woburn, scheduled for Monday of this week, was postponed until Thursday, June 1, when it will be played at 3:30 on Manchester Field. The locals won a 13 to 11 verdict over the Tanners in the first game played at Woburn, blowing a big lead. Woburn is reputed to have improved considerably since that game but hardly seems capable of winning from the locals on their home diamond.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL NOTES

The Junior Red Cross meeting for the month of May was held on Thursday, May 11 at 9 o'clock in the assembly hall. At this meeting it was a pleasure for president Kendall Way to introduce Marion Horwood of the Wyman School, who recently represented the Winchester Juniors at a Red Cross Conference in Washington. Marion told the children of her pleasant visit, describing many places of interest.

The annual Arbor Day exercises were appropriately observed on Friday, May 12, at 2:30 p. m. in the school auditorium. The fifth grade pupils presented three short plays. They were as follows:

The Prayer of the Forest Spirits
Characters—Jeanne Gilman, Eleanor Partridge, Shirley Bonnell, Marilyn Campbell, Mary Jean Browning, Ruth Jean Messenger, Wesley Collander, Ida Saffert, Emily Hanson, Fred Coombs, Joy Eldredge and Irene Lundin.

Johnny Appleseed
Characters—Evelle Rice, Blanche Thompson, Johnny Appleseed, Harvey Ralston
Let's Plant a Tree
Mother Nature—Connie Zimmerman
Breeze—Shirley Bonnell, Conrad Dana, Woodard Falden, Sally Oberdorfer, Eleanor Partridge, Emily Hanson, Mary Jean Browning, Barbara Fitzgerald, Joy Eldredge and Sheila Martin
Tree Givers—Peter Meigs and Eben Caldwell
Sunbeams—Martha Faye and Shirley Bonnell
Reindeers—Irene Lundin and Dorothy Byford
Announcers—Janice Tornaren, Teddy Glinzer, Joseph Derro, Richard MacNeil, Jack Keating and Frances Bodson
Curtain—Warren Coy

To conclude the program the entire audience assembled on the playground to observe rose planting. In behalf of the Mothers Club, Mrs. Helen Kenney presented a beautiful rose bush to Francis Sleeper, the sixth grade representative, for the purpose of beautifying the school grounds. Francis graciously accepted the rose bush and expressed his thanks to the Mothers for their kind remembrance. After the planting, the grade was passed to Conrad Dana, the fifth grade representative who promised to guard it until next Arbor Day.

Cape Cod is noted for the tenderest asparagus, the juiciest strawberries, and the biggest wild blueberries, in the United States.

VISITORS TO THE FAIR

One of the pleasantest features of the annual En Ka Fair is the home-coming of many former residents, who know that of all places, the Fair is the place to see friends and renew acquaintances. Kenneth Foster, sophomore at Arlington High School, a former Boy Scout and Junior Red Cross life saver was awarded a medal from the Massachusetts Humane Society and a Red Cross Certificate issued by National Headquarters signed by President Roosevelt and Norman Davis, National Red Cross Chairman, for his heroic deed in saving the life of Grace Chesterfield, 12 years old of Somerville, from drowning in Mystic Lake last February.

The Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross salutes Kenneth Foster for his daring and may his deed serve as an example to others.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Camps Fellsland and Ellis, the summer camps for local Scouts and Cub Scouts, were conducted at Amesbury, for six weeks, starting on July 2. Word has just been received from the Boy Scouts office that most of last year's staff will again be in charge, with the addition of two old-timers, who are returning to the staff this year. These two old-timers are Mr. Earle Doyle, who was formerly in charge of Division A in the Scout Camp, and now a teacher at the Poughkeepsie Business School at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The other old-timer is "Dick" Tilden, who was in charge of Division B for two or three years, and now a physical director at the Middleboro Y. M. C. A., will return this year in his former capacity.

Camp folders and applications have been issued to all registered Scouts and Cub Scouts and applications are coming in daily to the Scout Office. Any boys who have not received their Camp folders or parents who are interested in the camp, can secure this handsome Camp folder by writing to the Scout office on South Border road.

Mr. E. W. Nelson, the Scout Executive, will again be in charge of the Camp and Mr. Ned Bray of Stanton Prep Academy will again serve as assistant director. It is planned at this year's Camp to open up a new division to be known as the Pioneer Camp. This Camp will be set aside especially for boys who have had good previous camp experience, or for Troops who come to camp as a unit with their own leadership. This camp will be entirely under canvas, and some of the meals will be prepared in the open.

Other camp improvements for this year include the moving of the Craft shop and Nature Den over to the former Seascout Landship, the development of the old Craft shop into an additional rainy day recreation hall. New flush toilets, with a new pumping system are now being constructed so as to be ready for the opening of Camp. A new baseball backstop will also be built to replace the one blown down by the hurricane. All of the damage done during the hurricane has been cleared and other repairs completed. Applications for Camp received on or before June 1 will entitle the boy to a lower camp rate.

H. Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, read the service which took place by candlelight in a setting of spring flowers, palms and ferns.

One for Your Money That's Tuned to Go!

The model illustrated is the Buick Special model 41 four-door touring sedan $990 delivered at Flint, Mich.*

YOU spot it for its beauty—love it for its easy-going gait—but for its value. But there's no question at all about where the thrill lies in having this quick-stepping Buick for your own.

Action is its middle name—fleetness out where the roads are clear, nimble agility when the traffic's thick, quick-paced travel from the minute you get aboard.

You've literally got the hurricane harnessed to your service—for with every six inches you travel, a tiny cyclone lets go in the cylinders of this Dynaflex straight-eight to give life and lift to its movement.

Your hand on that wheel guides a big and roomy carriage—yet a finger movement steers it and a hand's weight holds it to the line.

On curves, its Knee-Action actually "banks" the road for you—on gravel, washboard, loose stone, or cobbles, giant coil springs of soft-flexing steel soak up, blot out, erase the bumps.

Your view's the view from seats in first-row-center—there's nothing that goes on you don't take in instant through an outlook stepped up as much as 412 extra square inches.

All the time, of course, you ride in style fresh as a breath of tomorrow's dawning. All the time you ride assured that you've bought both smartly and well.

For this roomy, full-powered, silken-riding Buick—sprinkled from bumper to bumper with standard equipment that costs you extra elsewhere—is priced down below last year—down below some sixes—down below your own idea of what it ought to cost.

Yes sir, here's the one for your money if you want the car and the value of the year—and it's tuned to go in a big way from the day you take it over.

Why not see your Buick dealer now?

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Dodge City," filmed entirely in gorgeous Technicolor with Errol Flynn, Ann Sheridan, Olivia De Havilland, Bruce Cabot, Frank McHugh, Alan Hale, John Littel, Henry O'Neill, Victor Jory and a cast of thousands, is the outstanding attraction opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden on Friday. "Dodge City" is the story of one of the most turbulent eras of the old west, a production of scope and authenticity that will make it a milestone in motion picture history. There are many impressive and hair-raising scenes in the production, but those that the spectator is most likely to remember longest are a cattle stampede in the early part of the picture, a rousing saloon brawl in which more than 100 men make a veritable shamble of the place and a climactic pistol battle in a railway mail car which is given a sudden and horrible twist when the car bursts into flames.

George Raft, Ellen Drew, Hugh Herbert and Zasu Pitts in "The Lady from Kentucky" will be the second attraction on the bill starting Friday. George Raft is cast as a former book-maker who loses everything but a half interest in a horse, Ellen Drew, a southern girl, own the other half and when Raft races the horse too soon it brings the film to a surprising climax. Hugh Herbert and Zasu Pitts provide the laughs.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Lovely Carole Lombard and popular James Stewart make their debut as a new romantic team in "Made for Each Other," a modern-day drama of young married love which begins an engagement at the University Theatre on Sunday.

Martha Raye wed to Bob Hope in order that both of them may escape the clutches of desperate fortune hunters who want to marry them—that's the state of affairs in "Never Say Die," the companion feature. As the heroine of "Dark Victory," the picture opening Wednesday, Betty Davis enacts what she considers herself the finest part she has ever portrayed in the course of the brilliant career that has established her as the greatest actress on the screen today. It is a poignantly tender love story, one of the saddest and yet bravest tales ever told. Besides Miss Davis, the cast includes George Brent, Humphrey Bogart, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Ronald Reagan, Cora Witherspoon, Henry Travers, Dorothy Peterson and many others.

"Blondie Meets the Boss," the associate feature, is the second in the series based on Chic Young's comic strip. Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake are featured.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

Mickey Rooney in "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" with Walter Connolly, Lynne Carver, William Frawley and Jo Ann Sayers, a screen version of Mark Twain's immortal classic, will headline the double bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Friday. During the past year Mickey Rooney has become the most popular screen star in the country and "Huckleberry Finn" marks his first starring picture. "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," has caught the full flavor of Mark Twain's whimsical humor and deep understanding of human nature.

Frederic March, Cary Grant, Carole Lombard and Jack Oakie in "The Eagle and the Hawk," will be the second attraction on the bill starting Friday. This is a story of the Royal British Flying Corps during the World War. Frederic March is cast as "The Eagle" of the story, a skilled aviator whose first love is flying. It is a tense, searing story, relieved by the romance of March and Carole Lombard, plus the comedy of Jack Oakie.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony
Director of A & P Kitchen

Poultry values are outstanding in this week's market. Not only are chickens and ducklings much cheaper than last year but cheaper than at any time since 1932 and '33. Eggs, too, are plentiful and cheap.

Meats in general are more plentiful. The cantaloupe season has begun and the first peaches and plums have already arrived from Georgia. Most of us, however, will continue to depend on bananas, grapefruit, oranges, pineapple, rhubarb, and strawberries.

An ample supply of staple vegetables is available.

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S WORK

Parents and teachers interested in art work being done by school children are invited to attend the tea which the Winchester Art Association is giving Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in the art gallery of the Public Library to observe the country week progressive exhibition of pictures and designs made by pupils in grades one through 12 of the Boston Public Schools. Miss Hazel Kingsley, head of the Art Department of the Winchester Public Schools, will speak at 4 o'clock about the exhibition and about the work being done in the local schools, illustrating her remarks with drawings done by some of her Winchester pupils.

The exhibition of drawings and paintings made by the Boston school children has called forth great praise for its orderly and artistic results and its careful development educationally. At the request of the Consul of Cuba and the director of the Art Department of the University of Havana, the major part of the exhibit was lent to Cuba for a month. Since then it has been shown as a whole or in part, in Philadelphia, New Bedford, Salem and at the Woman's City Club in Boston.

Because of space limits only a part of the exhibit will be shown at the library but the directors of the Art Association state that the pictures and drawings to be hung will prove of much interest. The local exhibit has been lent through the courtesy of the Boston School Committee. Miss Helen E. Cleaves is director of its Fine Arts department.

DERED MRS. GORMLEY

The many friends of Mrs. Alice Gormley, for twenty-one years the supervisor of the Winchester District Nursing Association, are invited to a public reception in her honor, which will be held at the Winchester Public Library on Sunday, June 11, from 4 until 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Gormley is retiring after a score of years of unselfish and invaluable service to the community of Winchester. Hundreds of the town's citizens know from personal experience of the help and comfort she has brought into their homes. The board of the Winchester District Nursing Association with to invite the citizens of the town to attend this reception as a tribute to Mrs. Gormley's many years of faithful service.

MRS. MARY L. WOOD

Mrs. Mary L. Wood, widow of Daniel W. Wood and mother of William B. Wood of this town, died early Tuesday morning, May 30, in Cambridge Hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Wood, a native of Claremont, N. H., was 75 years old and was for many years a resident of this town. She had made her home with her son at 247 Highland avenue in Winchester for the past eight years. Besides Mr. Wood she leaves two granddaughters, Mrs. Alma W. Sutter and Mrs. Doris W. Lloyd; three grandsons, William R. Wood, L. Allan Wood and Herbert L. Wood; and one great-granddaughter, Nancy Nutter.

Funeral services were held at the residence on Thursday afternoon, June 1, at 2 o'clock. Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVED
Winchester Has Observance First Time in Morning

Winchester honored its soldier and sailor dead on Tuesday, holding its observance and Memorial Day parades for the first time in the morning. The program was run off smoothly and many seemed to believe, despite the early start, that the morning observance was an improvement over that of the afternoon, in vogue here for so many years. Especially was this so of the marchers who have found the afternoon sun of hot Memorial Days particularly trying.

Actually the town's Memorial observance opened with the community church service, held this year at the First Baptist Church where the pastor, Rev. R. Mitchell Rushion, preached upon the significance of memorials, and the vested choir sang under the direction of Leroy P. Bezanon. Led by Commander Conrad Larson, a detachment of thirty Legionnaires, wearing their colors, carried by Theodore Lawson and Lee Mellett, attended the service in uniform.

Monday morning Commander Larson, Vice Commander Richard MacAdams, Adjutant Allan Kimball, W. Allan Wilde, Marshall Symmes, Theodore Lawson, Whitelaw Wright, Robert Johnson and Stafford Rogers, spoke to the townsfolk upon the significance of Memorial Day to the service men. In the late afternoon and evening a large detail of Legionnaires decorated the graves in Calvary and Wildwood Cemeteries and out-of-town cemeteries where local service men are buried.

Monday morning's parade to Wildwood Cemetery started promptly at the appointed 9 o'clock with the following roster:

Motorcycle Officer Winthrop Palmer, Police Officer, Lieut. Edward W. O'Connell, Commander Conrad S. Larson, Post 97, A. L. and Adjutant, Commander Post Band, Leader Walter Jones, G. A. R. and Winchester Post Colors and Color Guard, B. Company, 104th Quartermaster Regiment, 26th Division, M. N. G. Co., Capt. Edward Parker, Commander Post Detachment, Vice Commander Richard MacAdams, Commanding Officer, Scout Company, E. H. R. Smith, Commanding, Scout Ship, Skipper Louis E. Godin, Commanding, Girl Scout Detachment, Commissioner Boy Scout Detachment, Commissioner Edward Nelson, Commanding, Automobile Division, Women Officers and Guests.

The parade to Wildwood was by way of the War Memorial where the line of march stood at attention while Commander Larson placed a wreath on the monument. After swinging along Church street, the marchers stopped at the home of Comrade David Storey, G. A. R. veteran, Commander Larson presenting him with a bouquet of flowers. Services at Wildwood were held at the Soldiers' Monument. Commander Larson presided and introduced the speaker, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, who delivered a stirring address on the significance of Memorial Day and man's use of memorials through the ages from the earliest bible times. Following the address the band played "God Save the King," after which the military saluted, three volleys were fired by a firing squad of militiamen and echo taps were blown from the four corners of the cemetery.

Returning to the Legion Headquarters, a brief halt was made for light refreshments, after which lines were reformed for the march to Calvary cemetery in East Woburn, passing the Memorial boulder at Leonard Field with "eyes left."

Services there were held jointly with the Woburn veterans and took place at the big cross on the main drive of the cemetery. Rev. James Garrity of St. Charles Church, Woburn, made the invocation, and the memorial address was delivered by Rev. Francis Sullivan of St. Mary's Church. During his remarks Father Sullivan distinguished between the World War, which he said was fought largely for the benefit of foreign powers and the War of the Rebellion and Civil War which he said were fought for principles affecting our own country.

The Winchester Post Band then played "The Vacant Chair," after which the Woburn City Band, "The Star Spangled Banner," after which taps were blown.

Returning to the town hall, the colors were trooped and the military, bandsmen and guests were served luncheon in the town hall by members of the Auxiliary to Post 97, American Legion, under the direction of President Mabel Larson. Meanwhile the Scouts were given box lunches at the Legion House.

Following is the Memorial Day committee: Conrad S. Larson, Richard MacAdams, Allan W. Kimball, Marshall W. Symmes, Lee Mellett, Harry W. Dodge, John H. McCarthy, Stanley Mobbs, Martin J. Foley, Theodore Lawson, Stafford Rogers, Harry G. Reed, R. Mitchell Rushion, Kenneth S. Hall, Charles D. Roche and Robert S. Baylies.

PARADE PICKUPS

Well nigh a perfect morning for marching though the sun was a bit warm. The veterans all seemed enthusiastically in favor of parading before luncheon and the hot afternoon.

Two Boy Scouts and two Cubs had to drop out of ranks at the Cemetery, but it was found that several of the youngsters had marched without breakfast, due to the early start—and possible sleeping late.

MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHER'S

On Wednesday, June 7, at 8:30 in the evening, the Mystic School Mothers' Association will hold a reception in honor of Miss Violetta Dodge, who this year will retire from active teaching. Miss Dodge came to look upon a long and useful career in the educational field, and has been teaching in our Winchester schools since 1906. The members of the association wish, hereby, to extend to all friends of Miss Dodge and to any of her former pupils who may be still in this vicinity, a most cordial invitation to attend this reception—and hope that they will avail themselves of this opportunity to express to her the appreciation we all feel for the great contribution she has made to the community in her 33 years of teaching in our schools.

At 9:30 there will be a program of music, arranged by Mrs. Charles Livingstone, Mrs. Leon Hughes will sing, Mrs. Livingstone playing the violin obligato. Three former pupils of Miss Dodge will take part in the program: Eleanor Randall, Dolly Greene and Nancy Nickerson, with Mrs. Greene at the piano.

The reception will be held in the Mystic School assembly hall, Wednesday, June 7 from 8:30 to 10 p. m.

HAGOP F. MOURADIAN

Hagop F. Mouradian, proprietor of the Mouradian Oriental Rug Company of this town, died Thursday, May 25, at his home, 50 Woodside road, after a long illness.

He was a native of an eventful life. He was the son of Rev. Mourad and Mary Mouradian who was born June 10, 1868, in Aintab, Armenia. In 1892 he was graduated from the College of Central Turkey with the degree of A. B. and for several years after his graduation taught and supervising public education in several provinces of his native Armenia.

In 1900 he first came to this country and for ten years conducted a photographer's studio in Boston. Returning to Armenia, he served with distinction as president of the Armenian National Committee for the alleviation of his suffering countrymen during the World War, sacrificing both health and property in his work among the unfortunate and poor. He was instrumental in saving hundreds of Armenians from persecution through his contacts with Turkish officers, and his efforts for the behalf will never be forgotten by those who lived in Armenia.

In 1912 Mr. Mouradian married Mary Karajian, daughter of his native Aintab's leading merchant. Ten years after his marriage he again returned to Armenia, where he established a business in Constantinople, in Winchester, establishing the oriental rug business which he turned over to his son when he retired three years ago because of failing health. Quiet, philanthropic, industrious, gentle, intensely interested in education, Mr. Mouradian literally worked himself out by his labors in Armenia during the war. He leaves his wife, a son, Aram, and a daughter, Mrs. Aram Karajian of Constantinople.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the First Congregational Church with Rev. Hallajian officiating in the unavoidable absence of the Rev. Dean Charles H. Child. Favorite Armenian chants were sung by Diran Dinjian and culgures were delivered by two close friends of the deceased, Dr. N. Kakhasian and Dr. Mesrop Kakhasian. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

POLICE OFFICERS AT SCHOOL

Through the courtesy of Police Chief Archie Bullock of Arlington, members of the Winchester Police Department are attending sessions of a police school in that town conducted by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington.

The sessions are being held at the Brackett School Hall on Eastern avenue in Arlington and the subjects covered include: mechanics of arrest, arrest of juveniles, identification, identification, handwriting identification, etc.; investigation at scene of crime, footprints, plaster casts, etc.; interviewing persons, report writing, fingerprint identification and latent finger prints.

MAY AFFECT WATER SUPPLY

The Water and Sewer Board is gravely concerned with the proposal to place a dump at the Winchester-Woburn line at Lake avenue and Arlington road, adjacent to water supplies of both Woburn and Winchester. Chairman Edward S. C. Smith of the Water and Sewer Board called the matter to the attention of the State Department of Health, Commissioner Paul J. Jaknauk and Chief Engineer Arthur Weston, arranging to visit the proposed location today.

SCHOOL CLOSING

The Winchester elementary and junior high schools will close on June 15. The high school will close on June 20, two days earlier than the previously announced date. The state law requires 180 days of high school attendance and that number of days fell this year on June 20.

FLOWER SHOW POSTPONED UNTIL SEPTEMBER

The all-Winchester Flower Show, sponsored by the Better Homes Garden Club and scheduled for Thursday and Friday, June 8 and 9, has been postponed until September.

ROTARY CLUB NOTE

Fives members were absent from the meeting of June 1.

Walt Wilcox and Jim McGrath of Woburn save us from a blank visitor's column today. Many thanks, Walt and Jim. We always enjoy your presence as loyal Rotarians and good friends, and besides we heartily deplore a meeting devoid of visitors and guests.

Sergeant Frank is still displaying the "busy" sign. How does he do it. Our song leader opines that the Chairman of the Park Commission in Winchester is investigating possibilities for his department, just because George called for a rendition of "The Man on the Flying Trapeze" during yesterday's song period. We ask our citizens to keep in touch with developments along our parkways.

What! No registrations for the Cleveland Convention? Is it possible that this club must be represented by a proxy this year? This is no reflection on any Rotarian who might kindly consent to represent us as a proxy, but how much better, both for the club and for the delegate, if one of our members could speak in person for this club at Cleveland. But we must know at once as the time is short. Who will be first to answer the call?

The Rotary Club of Ouito, Ecuador, has adopted a resolution in appeal for the construction of a Columbus Memorial Lighthouse in the Dominican Republic, the scene of the first discoveries of Columbus in the New World. Rotary Clubs and individual Rotarians are invited to contribute to a fund for building the Memorial. The Pan-American Union is in sympathy with this project and will act as depository for contributions to the fund. Further details will be available shortly.

At our entertainment period yesterday there was a strict observation of the Rotary Club of Ouito, Ecuador, which was graciously placed the period in charge of past president Billy Beggs, Billy, in a manner equally dignified, called upon "Jimmy" Scott for a few words. Jimmy, with his characteristic candor, earnestness and earnestness of purpose and consternation, politely but firmly declined to fill the role of martyr on such short notice. And here the endeavor to entertain at the session of June 1. But Vice President Harry affirms that it will be different on the 8th. In all, so all are enjoined to be present at that time for a few words. (We need it.)

Yes! That Convention of Rotary International takes place at Cleveland, Ohio, June 19-23, 1939.

—Percentage of Attendance, May 25, 1939—82.5 per cent.

Once more the Editor is indebted to Mr. Sherman W. Saltmarsh of Highland avenue; this time for a fine pond and a half salmon. Mr. Saltmarsh spent the week-end and holiday with a party at Pierce Pond, Woburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Rounds of Central street returned Tuesday from a week's visit to their son, Charles, at Princeton. Their elder son, Frank W. Jr., now located in New York, was also at Princeton for the reunion.

They motored to New York via the Erie Railroad, and returned via the New York and New Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Woolley of Glen road entertained a large party of friends at their summer home at South Harswell, Me., over the week-end and holiday. WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

With the thermometer over 90, it seems odd to be writing again about the Winchester Ski Club, but since David Tufts and sister Jean dropped in Saturday night with Mrs. Tufts on route to Tuckerman's Ravine for a week's skiing, that is one reason to break into print again. David and Jean both are up from New York and say it seems awfully good to be back in Winchester again.

The big reason for the present writing is because on Friday night, June 9, at 8:30 in the Winchester High School Auditorium, the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association will present the Safety Trophy of the association to Otto Eugen Schniebs. This affair is under the joint sponsorship of the Winchester Ski Club and the Black and Blue Trail Smashers of Lowell.

This trophy is new this year, presented to the association by Mr. E. S. French, president of the Boston and Maine Ski Club. It is given to the individual or group who has done the most for safety in skiing during the past season. After much consideration, Otto Schniebs was unanimously selected by the committee to be its first recipient.

As many know, Otto Schniebs was for years the beloved ski coach at Dartmouth and the excellent skier at Dartmouth were, for the greater part, trained to their present stage by the inimitable Otto. Much of today's skiing popularity is due to the Dartmouth influence and this in turn was largely developed by Otto Schniebs. Long has he been recommended by credit Otto as the one man who has done more to bring true skiing to America than any other. It is Otto who says, "Skiing is a way of life."

Otto Schniebs will bring with him the finest set of ski movies in America today. These are in both black and white and in color and were taken by him during his past three visits to Aspen, Colo. They are the greatest actual skiing shots ever seen in New England.

There will be a representative from the National Ski Patrol who will tell us of the work of this new organization in the way of helping those poor unfortunate who are not skiing safely.

Next week we hope to have more for you on this most interesting of all skiing affairs in Winchester to date. From the entire region of the association, extending from Buffalo and Washington, D. C., to the tip of Maine, Winchester is most fortunate in being selected for such an event.

The National Ski Patrol and the F. L. S. Team Fund will share in the prize money. For more contacts, contact Ted Elliott, Bob Low or Ken Thomson.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS MOVE TO PLYMOUTH THEATRE, BOS-TON, IN "RED FLAME,"

The Unitarian Players of Winchester, who scored a success in the three night's run of The Red Flame, play at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, in the same musical comedy on Thursday evening, June 8, bringing production is sponsored by the Boston University College of Practical Arts and Letters. This is a tribute to the ability of the cast of 50, nearly all of whom are from Winchester. It is the plan of the Unitarian Players to incorporate the names of the Players on the cornerstone of the Boston University Playhouse to be erected at Anderson Centre in Brookline. This Playhouse is one of the largest and best located Little Theatres in New England. The stage will be so arranged that either outdoor or indoor performances may be given. The outside amphitheatre will accommodate several thousand persons. Not only will the Playhouse be a valuable adjunct to the Isabel Anderson Poetry Library, but it is also designed to serve the entire community and Little Theatre Groups.

Mrs. Larz Anderson, author of The Red Flame, will entertain at tea the entire cast on Sunday, June 4, at her estate, "Weld," in Brookline. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore von Rosenzweig and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Godwin of the Committee are also among Mrs. Anderson's guests. Rehearsals for the Plymouth presentation, under the direction of Doris Branson Whitcomb, continue at the Unitarian Church. Mr. Lee Shubert of New York is sending on here personally representatives to see the performance in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Berry of Stratford road and Mrs. Ellen Barrett of this town, have engaged to be married. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Alexander S. Berry of West Roxbury and the late Mrs. Berry. Dr. Berry is Dean of the Boston University Medical School and Secretary of the Massachusetts Medical Society.

TAXES TO BE LOWER!

Winchester's announced tax rate of $29.20 for the current year is going to be less! How much less no one knows as yet, but Chairman John F. Cassidy of the Assessors is hopeful that the reduction will exceed $1 and may be as much as $1.50 per thousand.

The reduction in the tax rate is being made possible by the return of $44,000 to the town in gasoline taxes and in an estimated saving of $5,000 in the county tax. Since the $44,000 must be used for tax reduction and could not apply to a tax rate already established, the town authorities were faced with the alternative of receding its previously announced rate or petitioning the Legislature for a special act to make the $44,000 available.

At a meeting held Monday evening, at which the Board of Selectmen, the chairman and secretary of the Finance Committee, Chairman of the Board of Assessors, Tax Collector, Town Counsel and Town Engineer were present, it was decided to recede the rate, fixing the new rate as low as possible. Many cities and towns have decided upon similar procedure.

Meanwhile to enable the town to get money to replace the 1939 real estate taxes, now being held up, Commissioner Long has recommended that while waiting for the new figure the Collector get his descriptions and advertise the 1938 unpaid taxes at once.

GAVE MISS PALMER LAMP

Miss Eva M. Palmer, veteran teacher of the Winchester High School faculty who is retiring in June, was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening when at a party given in her honor by her advanced mathematics class, at the home of James Gustin on Lakeview terrace, she was presented with a fine table lamp as a token of the esteem in which she is held by the class members.

The lamp arrived at the party during a pleasant social hour and was gaily wrapped to ensure a laugh all around. Long has recommended that while waiting for the new figure the Collector get his descriptions and advertise the 1938 unpaid taxes at once.

B & S LAUNDRY ANNOUNCES NEW SERVICE

The Boston & Suburban (B & S) Laundry of Cambridge now under permanent new management is announcing in this week's Star an exclusive new laundry service which enables housewives to determine in advance just how much their laundry is going to cost them when the route man takes it at their homes.

This new service called, "Bag-o-Wash" is like nothing any laundry has had before. First of all it is completely finished laundry service, there are no extra charges involved, and shirts and all other wearing apparel returns completely finished.

Customers have a laundry bag, divided into thirds, and into each third of the bag they may put as many pieces of laundry as they can get in. There is no piece charge, no weight charge, no bundle charge. If they send one-third bagful, they pay $1.49; two-thirds bagful, $2.49; and a full bag, $3.49.

B & S is not sacrificing quality for its new service. Everything is being finished to rigid plant standards. The management believes that by any comparison "Bag-o-Wash" service saves money. They invite Winchester housewives to call their plant at Trowbridge 2830 and have a driver-salesman call to explain this revolutionary new service. He'll even pack their bags to show them how to get in the most pieces possible. He's so sure everyone will like this new service that he wants a chance to explain it.

Mr. T. Parker Clarke, a well known resident of Winchester and formerly with the Winchester Laundry plant, is associated with the B & S Laundry as general manager. He will be pleased to explain his plant's new service to any interested.

EPIPHANY PARISH HONORS THOSE RECEIVING DIPLOMAS FROM THE CHURCH SCHOOL

Sunday, May 28, the place of special honor at the 11 o'clock service was reserved for the eight young people who were to receive diplomas: Bessie Fogg, Priscilla Flagg, Grace Kelley, Joan Moffette, Constance Murphy, Leonard Sherman, Geneva Underwood and Carol Wallis. The hour at which the graduating exercises were held also expressed the importance which the parish attaches to the work of the church school, for instead of taking place at the usual church school hour and apart from the regular service of morning worship, the awarding of the diplomas and the announcement of graduation and promotion with honor were embodied in the 11 o'clock service and with the adult congregation present. Diplomas with honor for the excellence of the work done were received by Leonard Sherman and Joan Moffette.

The following were promoted with honor:

Recognition was given also to students for responsible regularity in attendance. To Marie Barvon for perfect attendance, and for only one absence during the year to June Moffette, Marjorie Ruby and Hugh Hawkes.

Dr. Torr W. Harner, senior warden, addressed the graduating class briefly, calling their attention to the two symbols that dominated the service, the Flag and the Cross; and to their meanings, loyalty and sacrifice that stops at no cost. He directed their attention to two great historical figures who had based their patriotism on religion and had achieved what looked humanly impossible by the courage and direction which religion their trust in God supplied to them, Alfred the Great of England, and our own George Washington.

The rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, impressed upon the adult members of the parish the grave responsibility which they place on the church school and the necessity of willing participation in the work. He commended the leadership given by Miss Ethel B. Davis, director of religious education, and by Mr. Ellsworth Snow and Mrs. Edward F. Boyd, superintendents of the upper and the lower schools.

The Winchester High School chorus, under the direction of Mr. J. Albert Wilson, sang some patriotic songs, with the students joining in on "The Star Spangled Banner." Mr. Conrad Larson spoke on "Rearmament" for the Memorial Day address.

MRS. ELLA MARIA HAZELTINE

Word has been received in Winchester of the death of Mrs. Maria Hazelitine in Roswell, New Mexico, on Monday, May 22.

Mrs. Hazelitine died at the home of her son, James H. Hazelitine, 211 South Washington street, following a brief illness. She was born in Winchester July 29, 1862, and made her home here for some years before going West. Previous to going to Roswell to make her home with her son about three months ago, Mrs. Hazelitine had lived in Pasadena where she leaves another son, Dr. George H. Hazelitine. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. George H. Rice, living in Pasadena, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, May 24, at Talmage Mortuary in Roswell. Interment was in South Park in that city.

Winchester Red Cross

SWIMMING

With the opening date June 19th only a short three weeks ahead, the Red Cross plans for the summer courses at Wedge Pond and the Leonard Field pool are progressing rapidly.

If the young people are interested, there will be, possibly, a carnival planned for the last week of the course, which will include novelty races, life saving exhibitions by those who have participated in the work, and swimming races for all from six to sixty, inclusive.

All who are planning to pass their Junior or Senior life saving tests this summer are urged to consider the best time for them in view of the fact that three tests will be given during the eight weeks of instruction.

The first tests will come approximately July 7, the second July 21 and the third August 24. Instruction in preparation for these tests will require regular attendance for the two weeks previous to the examination.

All applicants are strongly advised to pick the period which they are reasonably sure they can attend without absence.

Competition among Winchester boys and girls in swimming and diving will be held every month, and the erection of the platforms for starting races at Leonard Field by the Park Commission will be a real boon to any ambitious swimmers for practicing starts and turns and for organizing interesting meets.

At present, the schedule allows for the presence of the Life Saving instructor four days a week at Wedge Pond and the other two at Leonard Field, with an additional period at Leonard Field for advanced swimming since the facilities there will be vastly superior to those at Wedge Pond.

In about a week an opportunity for signing up for the Life Saving courses for children and adults will be given so keep a look out for any notices concerning this.

Boston was the first city in the world to use radio to communicate with fire boats.

DOLLY GREENE LONGWOOD TENNIS WINNER

Winchester Youngsters Made Fine Showing

Dolly Greene of Winchester defeated Polly Kimball, also of this town, to win the final round of girls' singles in the annual spring tennis tournament for boys and girls under 15 years of age last Saturday afternoon at Longwood. On the boys' side Lane McGovern, high school sophomore who looked so impressive in the recent interscholastic invitation tournament at Palmer street, was defeated in the final round by the top ranking Bruce Daniels of Worcester.

In mixed doubles Polly Kimball and McGovern combined to give the prospects quite a job by defeating the favored team of Norma Meister and Daniels, 6-2. While both Winchester youngsters played good tennis in this match Polly gave a fine all around exhibition showing to good advantage her unusual abilities as a doubles player.

The girls' singles final was a nip and tuck affair with the sturdy Dolly Greene winning 6-5, after the match had been deuced. These boys' and girls' matches at Longwood are one-set affairs won by the first player to take six games.

McGovern's 1-6 showing against Daniels, while not so impressive from a score standpoint, was nevertheless, good in view of the Worcester boy's greater experience in tournament play.

Among the Winchester participants in the tournament were Mary Keyes, Barbara Dods, Betsy Drake, Anne Downer, Polly Kimball, Muriel Howard, Cynthia Newton, Jane Wanker, Marilyn Drake, Gurna Magnusson, Dolly Greene, Gordon McGovern, Robert Maynard, Edward Scully, Stearns Ellis, William Fluellwing, Jack Tarbell, Stephen Greene, Harrison Wagner, David Holmes, Bobbie Twombly, Dickie Fenno and Lane McGovern.

PUPILS OF HELEN BOEHM DOING WELL

To Miss Helen Boehm of the Physical Education Department of Wheaton College should go great credit for the fine showing of young Winchester girls and boys in outside tennis tournaments.

At the last three semi-annual parties organized by Mrs. Wightman at Longwood nine of the 12 first prizes have been carried home by Winchester players competing against the best youngsters from other cities and towns.

A year ago Jean Drake took the girls' singles. At the same meeting the mixed doubles was won by Polly Kimball and James Coon, Jr. In the fall Jean repeated in the singles and paired with Robert Kitchin in the mixed doubles. This spring the singles went to Dolly Green after a brilliant all-Winchester final against Polly Kimball. Polly then returned to the court to win her second mixed doubles title, this time with Lane McGovern who had been runner-up in the boys' singles.

When one considers that no other coach in New England has anything like as fine a record in this age class, the skill and thoroughness of Miss Boehm is evident. Her work in the Saturday morning groups indoors in late winter and early spring and her individual instruction on the teaching court at Palmer playground for the past two Junes has been certainly effective.

Tomorrow, and every week day until June 23, Miss Boehm will teach by appointment from 9 to 11 at Palmer street. On June 23 she leaves for the Lake Placid Club to take charge of the instruction of the tennis group.

MILLIONAIRES AND HOBOES TIED

Winchester Millionaires and the Woburn Hoboes played a 4 to 4 tie Wednesday evening on Manchester Field, the Hoboes substituting for the Mayor's Carr Club of Medford.

"Albie" MacDonnell got three out of three for the Millionaires including a long home run. Lee worked for the home team and Manzie for Woburn. Next Wednesday evening the Millionaires will play the Carr Club on Manchester Field at 6:15. The Medford Club beat the locals in a previous game at Medford and the Millionaires are out to reverse that verdict.

SEASON OFFICIALLY OPENED

For the fourth consecutive year the "weenie roasters" opened the season at Crane's Beach on Memorial Day with an all-day picnic and "weenie roast." The affair was well attended, there being 23 persons in the party and the general consensus was that it was the "best ever."

Those of the party that were exposed to the sun all day looked like the proverbial "boiled lobster." Reports have been circulated that "Gig" McCormack is still in bed from the effects of having absorbed too much sun. At the baseball game held in the afternoon the girls defeated the boys by the close score of 21 to 20. "Dolly" Goodhue broke up the game with a home run with the bases loaded.

"Joe" Flaherty looked like the original soldier of the Foreign Legion. "Joe" had marched in two parades and then spent half an hour tramping through the sand trying to find the rest of the party.

The absence of "Dex" Mobbs was generally regretted, as no "weenie roast" is quite complete without his inimitable flair for comedy.

Those attending from Winchester were Dorothy Goodhue, Marjorie Poland, Barbara MacNiff, Dorothy Hamilton, Virginia Shaw, Ralph Ambrose, George McCormack, Joseph Flaherty, Robert Murphy, Charles Dolan, John Lynch, Robert Smith, R. Sheldon Hamilton, Thomas Donaghey and Gordon Farrell. Also Rita Clark and Jean Hersom of Woburn. Also guests from Arlington, Newton and Natick.

FACTS FAVOR FORD

1 The 1939 Ford V-8 is a beautiful, modern motor car. Its 85-horsepower engine gives you economical, well-balanced performance over the entire speed range—and the 60-horsepower engine is even more economical.

2 The structural strength of the Ford car—frame, bracing, axles, body—makes not only for safety, but durability and long life.

3 Ford hydraulic brakes are exceptionally large and strong in proportion to car weight.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 0029

No less an authority than Rev. William S. "Bill" Parker, Winchester Park Commissioner and universally acknowledged tennis savant, states that there have been few, if any, better run interscholastic tournaments than the one recently handled at the Palmer street by Raymond V. Hayward, the high school's unassuming faculty manager of athletics. This is high praise and will be pleasing to the many friends who have long admired "Ray's" ability, versatility and the quiet way in which he gets such excellent results.

For an individual style, all their own, it is hard to beat the genuine, old-in-the-wool Cape Codders for choice expressions and individuality. Spending Memorial Day at the Cape this year brought forth still another one. After hearing last year, somewhat to our mystification, of the visit to the little yard in the morning and the big yard in the afternoon, we succeeded in puzzling it out as referring to graveyards. This year we found that these "yards," along with five others, had to be "flagged and flowered." As a figure of speech the expression may be classed with a recent invitation here in Winchester to the Girl Scouts to participate in our own Memorial Day exercises. In giving their duties, the girls were told that they would do so-and-so, after which they would "receive liquid refreshments and then reform!"

PUPILS OF J. ALBERT WILSON IN REPERT

The spacious auditorium of the First Congregational Church was well filled Wednesday evening for the recital given by organ pupils of J. Albert Wilson, organist and choir-master of that church and for the past 15 years prominent in local musical circles.

Voice and pianoforte pupils of Mr. Wilson assisted with the program which was pleasantly varied and not too long. The combining of organ and piano in some of the numbers and as accompaniment for the vocalists added to the interest.

It would be unfair to make special mention of individuals on the program since several were of the church organists, playing professionally. Naturally their performance was smoother and more finished than that of the young people not so far advanced in the study of the organ.

All, however, showed a sense of rhythm, a regard for phrasing and expression and a general musical style that indicated skilled and painstaking instruction. Especially was this true of the hymn-playing, to which Mr. Wilson devotes much attention, believing the ability to play hymns well and in singable fashion to be of great importance to the organist in the church field. The intelligent use of the swell pedal was another example of finished playing displayed alike by the younger and more advanced pupils. The smoothly combined playing of both organists and pianists in their duet numbers was also very praiseworthy.

Varying the organ music, the singing of Mrs. Taylor and Master Smith was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Taylor's beautiful contralto voice, long a favorite with Winchester music lovers, was heard to advantage in the lovely aria by Bizet, the two high F's being taken with full voice and no loss of quality. Master Smith showed a promising soprano voice of good quality. Both his sustained singing and breath control were worthy of mention.

Mr. Wilson played the organ accompaniments for the vocalists. Both organ and piano were used in these numbers, the pianist being Mr. Buell, whose finished playing of the difficult Tocatta from Widor's Fifth Symphony was the program's climactic selection.

The complete program follows: Andante Cantabile (from Fifth Symphony) by Chopin, played by Mr. Buell; Venner Makant, St. John's Church, Ashten, R. I.; Choral and Minuet (from Gounod Suite) by Saint-Saëns, played by Mr. Buell; Natalie Gifford, St. Andrews Church, Orient Heights; M-dely; Hymn "The King of Love" by Harrison Parker; Contra to Solo "Agnus Dei" by Bizet; Music in C "Josephine Taylor" by Smart; Cello, Prelude "A Rose Spring" by Brahms; Solo "The Lord Is My Light" by Sully Parker; Assisting Pianist in Choral Prelude by Marguerite Clarke.

Aria, "The King of Love" by Harrison Parker; Hymn "O Jesus Thou Art Standing" by Sully Parker; Solo "The Lord Is My Light" by Sully Parker; Assisting Pianist in Choral Prelude by Marguerite Clarke.

LET THE KIDS PLAY

To the Editor of the Star:

I was much shocked when I saw the letter of "Symmes Corner" in the last issue. I had always thought that those people who buy land near a playground were tolerant enough to let the shouts of school children pass unnoticed.

I, also, live at Symmes Corner. I, also, have heard the usually happy voices of the children throughout the days. Unlike "Symmes Corner," I have played on the Mystic school playground and can speak from personal experience. Granted that a majority of the boys swear at some time or other, I have yet to hear the loud name used in vain. However, there is a difference between profanity and obscenity, and we are concerned with the latter in this case.

From the letter of "Symmes Corner," we might infer that there is a continuous babel of off-color "swear words." No, I find that no more than 10 per cent of the boys indulge in such filthiness. It seems to me that the other 90 per cent have an attitude of disapproval against these actions.

Far be it from me to laud obscenity. If we desire to keep our playgrounds reasonably clean, we must educate the children to choose the chaste path. If each teacher were to conduct a frank discussion of the evils of the common use of slang sex words, the boys would soon learn that only disdain is given to those who are too free with their tongues.

What shall we do if obscenity continues, you ask. The boys of the present age are intelligent. Lewdness would stop if barring from participation in playing were the penalty for it. This forbearance will not permanently undermine the morals of anyone. Remember, Winchester has not had a serious sex crime in its history. Personally, I think that the claim of obscenity is greatly exaggerated.

Changing the subject, I think that "Symmes Corner" is wholly unsportsmanlike in the rest of his letter. Even if he has no children of his own, the abuser should consider that these boys are the sons of other people, and as such, are entitled to a place to play after the busy work of school.

There is an old adage, which is as true now as it ever was: "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." That is why every suburban school has a playground. Baseball is the great American sport. The teamwork gained in playing baseball is invaluable in life. I know, for when I was in the Mystic School I did not like baseball. I now regret that dislike deeply. But here we have a resident whom I interpret as saying that the playgrounds should not be used except for recess. Yes, "the grass on the southerly side disappeared long ago." Is there anyone so blind, so selfish, so irrational, that he would prefer the green grass to grow quiply and the corner games to form rather than the boys to join in good wholesome participation in that greatest of sports? No, there cannot be. Probably I have misunders tood "Symmes Corner." If I have not, I need hardly say that Winchester is not a fit home for such fault-finders.

Every red-blooded boy dreams of "knocking the ball over the fence." The fence at the Mystic School is a row of barberry bushes. Never have I seen a ball go over onto Main street in a game at the larger diamond. Perhaps two or three "fungoes" have penetrated the asphalt this year. But no damage has been done. Once in a while someone hits a fly onto Marshall Road. But there should be no objection to this, since it happens so infrequently. On the other hand, when playing at the small diamond at the end of the grounds, it is easy to hit a ball into Main street; but there is a rule, made up by the boys with no outside pressure, that if the ball clears the bushes on the fly, the batter is out. This shows that the boys do not desire to do any harm.

If "Symmes Corner" will name me the date that Sunday games have "started at the break of dawn," I shall be more inclined to believe him.

In closing, may I apologize to "Symmes Corner" for any obnoxious remarks. They are purely impersonal, and only arise because I do not like to see anyone accused unjustly.

Sincerely,

CHILDREN'S OPERETTA

The Children's Choir of the Second Congregational Church, will present on Friday and Saturday nights, June 9 and 10, E. Humperdinck's version of the operetta "Hansel and Gretel" in three acts. This presentation will be welcomed by all those who were fortunate enough to witness the extremely successful production of "Cinderella Flower Land," last year. The children have been well coached and directed by Mrs. Harry Goodwin, with Mrs. George Lochman directing the music.

The cast of characters is as follows: Peter, the boy, by Margaret Lavery; Gretel, their sister, by Allan Hargis; Hansel, their brother, by Joan Lavery; Witch, who eats little children, by Virginia Nelson; Dawn Fairy, who wakes little children, by Lois Thompson; Marjorie Collender, by Pauline Josephine; Joyce Dana, by Nancy Lavery; and Kathryn Perkins, by Ellen Carlson. John Thomas, Marilyn Clark, Conrad Dana, Bobby Tucker, George Farnham, Sam Perkins, Bobby Lavery, Stewart Chaffin, and the Boodikian, David Thomas and Bobby Horn.

Scenery for the production was built by Harry Goodwin, John O. Robinson, John E. Webster and Fred Saults. Painting and decorating of the scenery was done by George Hayden.

Costumes were made under the direction of Mrs. Martha B. and Mrs. Arnold Chandler.

After a Craig, Jr. of Newbury, Mass., supplied with a P. O. box, the short introduction between the actors.

Remember the time, 8:30 to 9:00 p.m., June 9 and 10, the Second Congregational Church.

A distinctive service always attended by a capable staff to serve your best interests.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVED

tioner Farnsworth, their leaders were Capt. Mildred Davis, Capt. Marion Symmes, Capt. Ruth Gunby and Capt. Run Williams. The girls had for the first time this year the International Girl Scout flag which was carried by Marjory Ruby. The other color bearers were Anne Downer and Marty Jacobson.

The girls were not a little peeved because their leaders decided against the second parade to Calvary. The Cub pack too broke ranks for good after the parade to Wildwood, but any disappointment was lost in shouts of glee at the announcement of "ice cream in the Legion House."

About 75 Boy Scouts were in line with the following Scoutmasters: Anthony Barbaro, Troop 1; Charles Hart, Troop 2; Harry Moore, Troop 3; John Casler, Troop 7; and R. H. B. Smith, Cub Pack.

Every one remarked the fine showing of the Cubs, who were carrying their new flags and guidons for the first time. "Rev" Smith changed shows' good discipline in their line up for refreshments at the Legion House.

Winchester's new Sea Scout troop, though small in numbers, made a fine appearance in their sailor togs and marched well. Skipper Lou Goldin opined that they would in advance of the parade! Herb Rutledge is mate of the outfit!

Marching behind big "Ed" O'Connell were Patrolmen James E. Farrell, John H. Boyle, Clarence Dunbar, William E. Cassidy, Joseph E. Quigley and D. Irving Reardon. Patrolmen John J. Regan and James E. Noonan were on duty at the hall.

"Squire" Henry F. Lunt was back in the traces carrying the G. A. R. colors after a year's layoff due to illness. He went over both parade routes in good shape. Legion color bearers were George Donaghey and Anthony Cullen, Ted Lawson and Ted Baker were the guards.

The National Guardsmen from Woburn made a good showing and did a lot to dress up the parade. Besides Captain Parker their officers were Lieut. Malcolm White and Lieut. Edward Woodbury, the latter a Winchester boy, living on Norwood street. Among the guardsmen were noted "Packagers" O'Malley, well known to baseball followers as a former second baseman on Woburn Glensmores.

Marshall Symmes served as Commander Larson's adjutant and Vice-Commander Dick MacAdams adjutant was the Post Adjutant, A. Allan Kimball. The Post mascot, marching with the Commander was George Barbaro, Jr.

The Legion detachment, while perhaps not so large as some others, made a good showing, being virtually 100 per cent in uniform.

"Dick" MacAdams marching in the parades made the Selectmen short-handed as they drove over the routes. With Ralph Bonnell in a spandy new Mercury, "King" Cass deserted the board on the march to Calvary, leaving Elliott Cameron, Donald Heath and Alvin Litchfield in the machine.

There were neither Grand Army veterans, Spanish War Veterans nor Sons of Veterans in line, as such, aside from "Squire" Lunt. A disabled member of Winchester Post, Louis Goldman, rode in the parade in a machine driven by former Commander Jack McCarthy, Police Lieut. John A. Harrold, retired, who led Memorial Day parades time out of hand, rode in the same machine.

Two Legionnaires, unable to march, Tom Conlon, home for the holiday from the Soldiers' Home in Chelsea; and Stanley Larson, were remembered with flowers presented to them by Commander Larson.

Auxiliary members assisting Mrs. Larson included Elizabeth Moynihan, Annie Hanlon, Gladie MacAdams, Frances Ryder, Agnes O'Brien, Mary Carroll, Almira Pierce and Josephine McKell. These ladies handled their difficult commissary job with smoothness and dispatch, assisted by Russell J. Luck, William, Conrad Larson, J. and Harry Dodge.

Scramled fairly near to see Elizabeth Fitzgerald, serving about the time of the parade, but she was not seen. She turned home from the hospital after a major operation and wasn't out yet.

Every one was in favor of the split in the luncheon groups, adults in the town hall and youngsters at the Legion House. The silence was almost painful at the town hall this year.

Wouldn't be just right not to say a word of praise for the Post Band which once again played good music and plenty of it all morning. Towing Chester Kochs makes a striking drum-major, and any one who can be easily seen above big boys like "Ed" O'Connell and Clarence Dunbury is plenty tall.

All in all everything worked along smoothly, both parades starting absolutely on the dot. The crowded condition around Calvary held up the services there, but that was not the fault of the Legionnaires. The Second Heart Cadets of Woburn made a very colorful appearance there in their fine new uniforms.

WINCHESTER WON FROM BELMONT

Young "Bob" Farrell proved too good for Belmont in a Middlesex League baseball game at Belmont Wednesday afternoon, Winchester winning 7 to 1.

Farrell held Belmont to a pair of hits and runless after the second frame. Winchester found Arlington's conqueror, Hazlett, not too tough, banging out 11 safeties including a two-base hit by Farrell and a three bagger by Tony DeTeso.

At their meeting Monday evening the Board of Selectmen voted to grant a license to Rosario Marchesi to conduct a bowling alley at his place of business on Swanton street. Mr. Marchesi made an unsuccessful effort to secure a license more than a year ago, the permit being denied because of opposition expressed by adjacent property holders. There was considerable opposition to the proposed alleys in the present instance and the Board had the application under consideration for some time.

Against the local high school, Winchester and Maynard are now tied and each plays today. Winchester and Maynard loses. Winchester is champion, and vice versa. If both win or lose, the title is T. L.

A Sad, Sad Story

Once there was a man who wanted a home of his own, but he was unmarried and thought a house would be too much trouble. So he didn't buy a home.

Then he fell in love and got married and he and his wife wanted a home but their own, the man said, "Maybe I'll lose my job." So he didn't buy a home.

Then the man and his wife had a little boy and girl and they all thought it would be nice to have a home of their own, but the man said that the market wasn't just right, and they had better wait a year or two. So he didn't buy a home.

Then the man's children grew up and left him and he and his wife said to each other that they ought to get a home of their own, just a little one for their declining years. But the man said that political conditions disturbed him and he didn't think he would buy a home until they straightened out. So he didn't buy a home.

Quite a few years passed and the man and his wife were along in years and they told each other they were sorry they had never had a home of their own, but that it was too late now. So they never did buy a home.

One day the man sat down and figured out how much he had paid for the places he had lived in, and it came to such a staggering sum that his hat would have leaped from his head had he been wearing one.

So he went to a mirror and looked at himself and said, "You old fool. You could have had a home of your own years ago if you had had the guts of a week-old calf." And he broke his leg trying to kick himself where it would do the most good.

And that is another, oft-repeated American Tragedy.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thus saith the Lord, he that created the heavens, and stretched them out; he that spread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it; he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk thereon: I am the Lord, and there is no name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images" (Isaiah 42:8, 9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Bible: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause. To grasp the reality and order of being in its Science you must begin by reckoning God as the divine Principle of all that really is" (p. 276, 275).

JUNE BREAKFAST

True to tradition the first day of June is celebrated with one of the most beautiful mornings we have been privileged to experience this spring. And likewise the June Breakfast at the First Congregational Church, which will be a most popular and pleasant occasion. Persons were served in a very efficient and professional manner with such a variety of choices that no one felt that his favorite breakfast had been forsaken.

Mrs. Arthur D. Speedie and Mrs. Alfred E. Drew, as co-chairmen have been receiving many congratulations on the great success of this undertaking. The table decorations lent an air of importance to the breakfast with colorful table coverings and garden flowers, all very ably arranged for by the table hostess.

Special tables were reserved for business men and students so that no delay would be experienced by those to whom time was an element to be considered.

Tickets were handled by Mrs. Florence R. Seales and Mrs. Roland Carter, a very important part of the success of any undertaking and as usual these ladies showed splendid results of their efforts.

Mrs. Marshall R. Pihl was responsible for the posters and general publicity.

THE GINN FIELD

In a recent issue of your paper a correspondent gave an excellent report of the activities of the park commissioners in the last few years. It occurred to me that it might be interesting for your readers to know of the work performed by this important commission from its inception, and if you can afford the space I should be glad to have you print the brief report of the original park commission issued in 1895—44 years ago.

TO THE CITIZENS OF WINCHESTER:

Acting under the vote of instructions passed at the Adjourned Annual Meeting held March 19, 1894, your Commission has worked continually to carry forward the negotiations opened in December, 1892, which should secure to the Town a park, to the City of Boston protection to the Mystic Water Supply, and to the Metropolitan Park Commission a beautiful approach to the Middlesex Fells.

We are happy to state that although every step has been contested by the most active opposition the negotiations have been brought to a successful termination, securing to each of the contracting parties the benefit sought.

The parkway, which will be under the control of the Metropolitan Park Commission, extends from Walnut Street in Winchester to High Street in Medford, taking all the land between the Aberjona River and the railroad, all of the swamp east of the river between Walnut Street and Mystic Avenue and a strip along the easterly bank of the river to Bacon Street wide enough for the Metropolitan roadway which follows Bacon Street over the new railroad bridge, then turning southerly passes the site selected for the new station and follows the westerly bank of the river to the lake when it crosses to the eastern shore, thence running along the water front to High Street; all of the land between the railroad and the lake to the dam is included in the parkway as indicated upon the map just published by the Winchester Water Board, making the total area in the park between Walnut Street in Winchester and High Street in Medford about 107 acres.

It is proposed to use that portion of the tract now covered by the tannery, coal yard, lumber yard and railroad yard for the playground proper, it having many natural advantages which will enable the town to have an excellent place for healthful exercise.

To defray the expenses of the undertaking Winchester has appropriated $50,000, the City of Boston has appropriated for land damages $60,469, and for labor $4,531; the Metropolitan Park Commission have appropriated for land damages $80,000, for labor and construction $40,000, making a total of $235,000.

Besides these amounts Mr. Edwin Ginn has donated $5,000 for the purchase of the lot near the Mystic station, while Messrs. Irving Palmer, Henry M. Shepard, F. L. Ripley, Harrison Parker and Henry J. Symmes have given land in Winchester, and the Brook heirs have made a most public spirited and generous contribution of land in Winchester and Medford.

Bonds were taken by the Metropolitan Park Commission for much of the land. The bond on the Tannery property was about to expire when the City Government of Boston for 1894 failed to appropriate the amount apportioned as Boston's share.

The tannery people refuse to renew the bond and the managing partner told your commission that if the bond expired the price would be raised, of the expense, at the best, and might have led to litigation, thereby placing the whole undertaking in great hazard, but at this crisis Mr. Edwin Ginn stepped forward and became responsible for $33,000, the balance of the $35,000 not previously subscribed, taking the property in trust for the benefit of the Town, to be turned over as soon as the amount can be repaid him, and his associates. It would otherwise have been impossible to have secured the amount. When the Town sells its bonds it certainly ought to use so much of the premium received as is necessary to pay the interest on $35,000, from the date of the purchase January 15, 1895. We desire to place on record our thanks to the officers of the Boston & Maine R. R. for the broad and liberal public spirit with which they have met and cooperated with us in this undertaking for mutual benefit and also to express our appreciation of the consideration with which we have been treated by the Metropolitan Park Commission and the officers of the City of Boston in this long and tedious work.

Respectfully submitted,

FORREST C. MANCHESTER
DAVID N. SKILLINGS
LOUIS GODDUE

Winchester Park Commission

This report covers a very critical time in the development of the town. The present commissioners are now developing Ginn Field, which came into the possession of the public almost half a century ago. I remember very well when Mr. Manchester, who had worked so hard to bring about this project, came into my office in great distress one morning, saying that he was afraid the whole plan would fall through unless the appropriation of $33,000 from the City of Boston were forthcoming immediately, as the option on the tannery was about to expire. I went with him to Mr. Edwin Ginn's office where he explained the whole situation to him. Mr. Ginn put up the money, as is stated in the report, and in due time the appropriations were made and Mr. Ginn was reimbursed—principal and interest.

The Ginn Field, so-called, was a part of the original grant of 300 acres made to Zachariah Symmes by the Town of Charlestown in 1638. The Symmes family decided to sell this land and it was likely to go into the hands of a manufacturing establishment very near Mr. Ginn's estate, so he purchased it for $5,000 and later presented it to the Town, as stated above.

Most of the land given by the various people mentioned above, located in back of the Unitarian Church and the Junior High School was a swamp at that time, about the same as what we have recently seen filled up north of the center of the town. After Ginn Field is completed, I hope that the park commission will erect a suitable marker on the field to show the public spirit of Mr. Ginn at this very critical time in the development of the town.

Dupont High School of Wilmington, and attended the Wilmington Academy of Art. Her father, Ernest M. Symmes, was a resident of this town for many years and still has numerous relatives here.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The annual meeting of the Winchester College Club was held on Wednesday, May 24, at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. William L. Davis, 3 Central green. Interest in and loyalty to this large and growing organization of college women was expressed by the unusual number of members who were present when the business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. John L. Lobinger.

Mrs. Theodore Brown gave the report of the secretary, Mrs. James S. Allen was responsible for the program of the year which included two evening meetings, one in the fall at which Dr. Walter C. Eds, executive secretary of the American Association of Junior Colleges spoke on "Junior Colleges" and one in the spring when the speaker was Dr. Bayard Dodge of Beirut who spoke on the "Near East Colleges." Mrs. Warren Jenney gave a gratifying report on the increased state of the treasury and in the absence of the social chairman, Mrs. William Kugler, the report was read of her conscientious labors to provide refreshments and hostesses at the social meetings.

Mrs. F. M. Gunby, membership chairman reported an increase in membership from 154 in May, 1938 to 167 in May, 1939 in spite of some loss of members who have moved away.

Mrs. Wayne E. Davis, chairman of the Morning Study Groups called upon the chairmen of the individual groups for their reports. Mrs. John Pearson told of the activities of the Art Group which had a most successful and interesting year. Nearly 60 members joined in the six trips to nearby museums where gallery talks were given by the directors of the museums for the benefits of the College Club Group. The Boston Museum of Fine Arts, Abbot Academy and Addison Gallery in Andover, Worcester Art Museum and the Gardner Museum in Boston were included.

The Drama Group under the leadership of Mrs. James S. Slocum comprised 18 enthusiastic members who held five meetings to study outstanding plays of the current season. The History Group is a College Club perennial whose 14 members under the guidance of Mrs. Lyman Smith met regularly every two weeks throughout the season to study "Latin America" and also gave three books on the subject to the Public Library.

Mrs. John Chipman, chairman of the Music Group reported that 31 members joined in the fall in the study of the "Growth of Music in America" when their course was completed, their enthusiasm led 15 of the group to continue for ten weekly meetings to study "Musician-ship" under Miss Louisa Parkhurst who kindly donated her services.

Mrs. Lester H. Armstrong reported for the Evening Study Group which held seven meetings throughout the year with an average attendance of 30. Husbands of members are welcomed to the evening group, but a husband is not a prerequisite. A variety of subjects dealing with international affairs, social, religious and medical problems, the latest books and even "Information Please" were taken up by this group which combines sociability with brain work.

Mrs. Davis mentioned briefly the plays of the study groups for next year. The chairman of the Morning Groups will be Howard A. Morrison, whose report was read by Mrs. Fred H. Abbot. A variety of courses is being planned and the members of the College Club were asked to express their preferences in the tentative plans for Art, Music, Nature Lore, Literature and History.

Mrs. Wayne E. Davis has been promoted to chairmanship of the Evening Study Group and urged that every member, married or single is welcome.

Mrs. John P. Carr will be chairman of the Music Group for the coming year and Mrs. John Chipman is offering a course in Nature Lore. Other chairmanships will be announced later. The Study Groups are the College Club's unique contribution to the cultured life of Winchester and are proud to state that 128 of the 167 members have been enrolled this past year.

Mrs. Lobinger announced that a scholarship of $75 was to be offered to an outstanding member of the graduating class of the Winchester High School.

The most important item of business on the program was the acceptance by the College Club of the revision of the constitution which had been carefully studied and rewritten by Mrs. Alexander MacDonald and her committee. The one important change was in the basis of membership in the past a member has been eligible who had completed one year in an accredited college. Henceforth, any Winchester woman who has completed two years in any college recognized by the A. A. U. W. will be eligible for membership.

The following officers were elected for the coming year:

President—Mrs. John L. Lobinger
Vice President—Mrs. John Chipman
Secretary—Mrs. James B. Willing Treasurer—Mrs. Richard W. Wyman

Refreshments were served by the social committee, Mrs. Richard Johnson, chairman, assisted by the following members of the Smith College Groups: Mrs. Clark Collins, Miss Helen Hall, Mrs. Albert Hanson, Mrs. Kenneth Hall, Mrs. Richard Parkhurst, Mrs. Henry Spencer.

The special guests of the College Club who enjoyed the garden party which followed the meeting were: Mrs. James J. Quinn, Mrs. Wade L. Grindle, Mrs. R. J. Dickman and the teachers of the High School and Junior High School who are eligible for membership.

Everyone expressed the greatest appreciation of Mrs. Davis's kindness and hospitality in inviting the College Club to meet in her home and to enjoy her beautiful garden.

RALPH EDWARD CARLISLE

Ralph Edward Carlisle of 4 Crescent road died Tuesday night, June 8, in the Morrell Memorial Hospital at Lakeland, Fla., following a brief illness with pneumonia. He went to Florida for his health early in February and not long after his arrival underwent a serious operation, from which his convalescence was slow. He had, however, improved sufficiently to enable his wife and daughter, Miss Katharine Carlisle, who were with him in the South to make plans to bring him home, and reservations had been booked for the trip last week-end when he contracted pneumonia.

Mr. Carlisle was the son of Edward A. and Ida F. (Kent) Carlisle. He was born Aug. 4, 1879, in Melrose, was graduated from Wakefield High School and attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He had for the past 20 years been associated with Lever Brothers Company in Cambridge, holding the position of Industrial Relations Manager. He was a member of the Associated Industries Inc. and of other organizations of an industrial and technical nature.

Mr. Carlisle came to Winchester from Wakefield in 1921, living on Mt. Pleasant street until last November when he moved to Crescent road. He was a man highly esteemed by his associates and genuinely beloved by those who knew him well.

Besides his wife, the former Margaret March, and his daughter, he is survived by a son, Ralph E. Carlisle, Jr. of this town; a sister, Mrs. John B. Stetson, Jr. of Elkins Park, Pa.; and by three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at a funeral home in Lakeland.

ORGANIST FETED

J. Albert Wilson 10 Years at Congregational Church

Last Friday evening's annual party of the Chancel Choir of the First Congregational Church, "Fieldstones" in Andover, turned out to be an anniversary surprise for J. Albert Wilson who was on that occasion completing 10 years as church organist and choir-master.

Specially prepared souvenir menus bore a cartoon of Mr. Wilson in action at the organ and a clever likeness of the church chancel, organ desk and choir-stalls, done by Paula Mountain, was presented to Mr. Wilson with the names of the members of the choir.

The honor guest was also given a child's beach set to help him keep his summer home on the Cape in order without W. P. A. assistance, and as a real token of his chorists' appreciation of his services, a handsome leather music case.

Members of the choir participated in a program of readings and musical selections, after which a side-splitting farce, from the pen of Margaret Randall, entitled "The First Year" was given. The farce was produced by a cast including Harry Clarke, Bill Harris, F. Milne Blanchard, Doris Perry and Jane Albro.

A special feature of the entertainment was an original "Ode to A. J." written and sung by Betty Perry, assisted by the choir, to the tune of "The Merry Widow Waltz."

At the morning service following the party the pastor of the church, Dr. Howard J. Chidley, spoke of Mr. Wilson's anniversary, praising his ability, loyalty and the quality of music which he and his singers have given the parish during the past ten years, adding commendation for the loyalty and faithfulness of the chorists to Mr. Wilson's leadership during that time.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATED 188

Largest Class Received Diplomas Tuesday Evening

One hundred and eighty-eight members of the Class of 1939, the largest class ever to graduate from Winchester High School, received their diplomas Tuesday evening at the annual graduation exercises in the high school auditorium.

RICHARD MCCORMACK
1939 Class President

The graduates marched to the enlarged platform to the strains of the "Battleship Connecticut" by Fulton, played by the high school orchestra under the direction of Frederick Dillz. The platform was decorated with shrubbery, cut flowers and palms, and the National and State Colors were displayed.

Rev. Fr. Francis L. Sullivan of St. Mary's Church made the invocation at the exercises. Several Rotary Clubs in North America as well as the central office at Chicago have received appeals from overseas Rotarians or former Rotarians for assistance to enable them to continue their work. The situation is such that the central office will endeavor to make such arrangements that it can offer to act as a clearing house to care for their requests. If this is practicable, avoidance of overlapping of effort will result since several clubs have already received appeals from the same source and have responded. It is possible for Rotary to forestall much suffering if it becomes feasible to extend this service and to do so in an effective manner. We shall hear more from this enterprise before long and we may be surprised with how possible to act efficiently. Rotary and Rotarians will strive valiantly to ameliorate a sore spot in the social world of today.

Guest speaker at our current meeting was Mr. Coleman Flaherty, business agent of Local 22, National Leathermen's Union, operating under the regulations of C. I. O. The subject of Mr. Flaherty's address was "Union and Cooperation Between Employer and Employee." The speaker made it clear that it is the object of his organization to overcome such differences as may arise between employer and employee with regard to the rights and privileges of both parties and to carry on negotiations without resort to that violence which has been all too conspicuous in the history of the past.

Two selections, "Tomorrow" by Wesley and the hymn, "God of Our Fathers" by Warren, were given by the high school chorus directed by J. Albert Wilson. The final address, "The Gentleman" by John O'Neil and which was followed by the first of four commencement addresses by members of the graduating class, "Our Goals" by Richard McGee, Margaret Hall delivered the second address on "The Trained Mind."

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Four members were absent from the meeting of June 8. Question from the chair, "Where is Jimmy Scott?" No definite answer was offered but we are authorized to assure Jimmy that the coast is clear and it is perfectly all right to appear in person.

It becomes increasingly evident that members can be certain of a most fervent farewell by leaving the dining room immediately at the close of the luncheon.

We have long been aware that, when marked differences of opinion arises in public gatherings, one may expect a volley of over-ripe tomatoes. But we now learn that, regardless of opinions expressed or unexpressed, it is permissible to broadcast the well-matured juice of tomatoes. Let the drops fall where they may. Don't ask Pat Walsh about the origin of this practice nor George Carter as to its desirability.

We were well supplied with pianists today and they performed notably. A new patriotic song was given its first trial at our club and was so well received that, in all probability, it will serve as the opening exercise at our meetings.

W. H. S. ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION AWARDS

On Monday June 5, the Winchester High School held an assembly to award letters to those who had earned during the baseball, tennis and track season.

The first awards were given to the girls' baseball team by Miss Young, the coach. Those receiving letters were: Capt. Joyce Maxson, Ann Downer, Janet Doub, Mary Marchesi, Rita Collins, Sally Sharon, Margaret McNally, Margaret Munnie, Janet Hayward and Mildred Ghirardini.

The next awards were to the girls' tennis team, also presented by Miss Young. The following received them: Capt. Francis Keyes, Lois Ladd, Peisella Tapley, Jean Drake, Rachel Kimball, Margaret Greene, Dolly Greene and Miriam Nash, manager.

Mr. Shaw then presented the track team with their letters. Don't ask Pat Walsh about the origin of this practice nor George Carter as to its desirability.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS

Swimming and Life Saving

Beginner's swimming has always played a large part in the Red Cross water work during the summer months and this year will be no exception. The program is being planned around the younger boys and girls who usually predominate the list of candidates. Small flutter boards will be available so that they may develop more easily a good kick with plenty of power and smoothness. This training will be at the Leonard Field as well as at Wedge so that all families may benefit by the free offerings of the Red Cross representative. With the two regulation diving boards at the Leonard Field, pool facilities there for practice diving are excellent. Those who are interested in diving may consider themselves fortunate to have such boards and with proper care these should last a long time.

At this time it might be well to mention something more about the adult classes, particularly the swimming class. This year's instruction will base its development upon a very conservative type of stroke. Basically, the crawl, no matter what the leg beat is a speed stroke, and since very few of us have been quoted as in favor of winning any important races, the stroke that will be taught will be the side stroke with certain small variations. Several adults have looked askance at the swimming class just because they felt that the faster stroke was a more "cool" one, and consequently most of the time was spent in developing a stroke as simple as possible and as useful as possible.

A word or two in recognition of the efforts and enthusiasm of the Park Commissioners in preparing for the swimming meet tomorrow. Such a meet should stimulate interest in water skills among both the young and the old.

Mr. Shaw then presented the track team with their letters. Don't ask Pat Walsh about the origin of this practice nor George Carter as to its desirability.

We were well supplied with pianists today and they performed notably. A new patriotic song was given its first trial at our club and was so well received that, in all probability, it will serve as the opening exercise at our meetings.

Several Rotary Clubs in North America as well as the central office at Chicago have received appeals from overseas Rotarians or former Rotarians for assistance to enable them to continue their work. The situation is such that the central office will endeavor to make such arrangements that it can offer to act as a clearing house to care for their requests. If this is practicable, avoidance of overlapping of effort will result since several clubs have already received appeals from the same source and have responded. It is possible for Rotary to forestall much suffering if it becomes feasible to extend this service and to do so in an effective manner. We shall hear more from this enterprise before long and we may be surprised with how possible to act efficiently. Rotary and Rotarians will strive valiantly to ameliorate a sore spot in the social world of today.

Guest speaker at our current meeting was Mr. Coleman Flaherty, business agent of Local 22, National Leathermen's Union, operating under the regulations of C. I. O. The subject of Mr. Flaherty's address was "Union and Cooperation Between

A NEW FREIGHT YARD

Very few people in town probably have noticed that the Boston & Maine Railroad has a new freight yard, and the few who do know about it perhaps don't consider it a matter of very great importance. But 50 years ago the location of the freight yard of the Boston & Maine Railroad was a matter of great consequence to the Town of Winchester.

It was then situated on a part of what is now Manchester Field, and as is usual in such cases, the coal and lumber yards and many undesirable structures were grouped around it. There was also a tannery supplied with a side-track. All this had to be removed if we were to have Manchester Field and the Mystic Valley Parkway. The tannery was bought outright and razed to the ground. A new location was found for the coal and lumber yards, now owned and operated by George W. Blanchard & Co., but the most difficult problem was the location of the freight yard of the railroad. That was before the days of automobiles and trucks, so that the amount of material brought in and out of the town over the railroad was relatively much larger than at present.

At that time there seemed to be no available land alongside of the main track for quite a distance above Winchester, as it was all swampy land on both sides of the track. But there was a large tract of vacant land north of Swanton Street. This was acquired by the town at 3c per square foot and given to the railroad. The cost of moving and constructing the long spur track was a part of the expense of developing Manchester Field. For many years the freight station was on Swanton Street and there was a branch line running north from there to the main track of the railroad, half a mile long. This was a very expensive move for the railroad to make, and in the first annual report of the park commissioners of that time we find this reference to their co-operation in the general move to lay out the future of Winchester:

"We desire to place on record our thanks to the officers of the Boston & Maine R. R. for the broad and liberal public spirit with which they have met and co-operated with us in this undertaking for mutual benefit."

So it remained for more than 40 years. In due time the swamp land of the town was converted into a baseball and football field. But the water in the swamp land and river above this track came under the railroad through two culverts, the upper culvert carrying the stream directly across what was to be the playground, so that it was necessary to get rid of this culvert in order to have a field such as the town desired to develop at that point.

However, the railroad was not willing to close up this culvert because at high water one culvert would not be sufficient to take care of the stream, so the railroad was requested to build a new larger one between the other two to take care of the stream under all conditions, and to close up the two old ones. The financial condition of the railroad at that time was very weak. It was estimated that it would cost between $39,000 and $40,000 to do this work, and they felt they could not afford it.

The Boston & Maine officials were taken out to Winchester and shown what an expensive layout the freight yard and side-track were to operate. It was suggested that the town might be able to procure a new freight yard alongside of the main track, thus doing away with this long side-track and railroad freight station, as it was discovered that to keep this track in condition and operate the freight yard where it was incurred an expense of nearly $4000 a year, which the officers had not fully realized before. So they thought that if they could reduce this expense they might be willing to do something towards building the new culvert.

As I was interested in the development of the whole Aberjona project, I undertook to secure for them a new location. The freight business, on account of trucking over the road, had become so much less than it was when the station was built years ago that they thought they could get along without a freight station. I immediately began to try to find some land alongside of the railroad where a freight yard would be less expensive to operate.

There was one piece of swampy land between the main track and the Woburn branch which I believed if filled would make them a good freight yard, so I went to the party whom I thought owned it, to see if I could purchase it, and she said she didn't own it. On trying to find out who did own it I found it was land that had never been taxed and was never on record as belonging to anybody. There was no record of such a piece of land in the assessors' office. But upon looking back 75 years or thereabouts, I found that it had at one time belonged to a Mr. Stone, long dead, who had sold it to Mr. Langford and apparently it was not considered worth anything and his heirs had forgotten all about it. Upon further investigation I learned that there were seven heirs, second or third generation from the original owner, and I was finally able to purchase from all of them their rights. Then I was in position to trade with the railroad, agreeing to fill this land and take in exchange their old land above Swanton Street, and so relieve them of great expense, provided they would join with the town in building the new culvert under the railroad which would enable the town to construct the shore drive, so-called, and do away with one bridge over that drive, and also complete the playground as they wished to do. The cost of building this culvert was not so great as the railroad had estimated. The chief engineer of the railroad lived in Winchester at that time and took an interest in it. He worked out the plans for the construction and found that it could be built for about half what they had always contended that it would cost. Therefore, the town and railroad divided the expense and the work was thus completed as it now stands.

The proposed new location was then being used for the town dump and the new freight yard was constructed as fast as it was feasible to do so. Altogether the location of this freight yard 50 years ago was of great importance in developing the town south of the center, and the relocation of the freight yard has again been of great importance in the development of the town north of the center.

Summer Street, the entrance to the new freight yard, was in existence only on paper in a plan made 75 years ago by the local surveyor, Mr. Hovey. It was half a filthy swamp and the location of the freight yard could not be reached even with a truck, except over the railroad track. This was all to be filled, a rough road built at once, and finally the street laid out and accepted by the town. This has all been done to the great benefit of the neighborhood.

When all this was finished the railroad, for a further consideration, agreed to exchange the old yard for the new. Mr. James J. Fitzgerald has been holding and caring for this property as a trustee for the past five years, renting the old station and leasing much of the land for farming purposes. Now in June, 1939, it has been deeded to me.

It seemed best to all concerned that a fence similar to the one between the railroad and the shore drive be built around the new yard. Bids were secured for constructing it as follows:

Winchester Park Commission	$692.24
Snow Iron Works	440.00
American Chain Link Fence Company	417.00

The contract was awarded to the lowest bidder, and the cost agreed to be paid for as follows:

Boston & Maine Railroad	$208.50
Town of Winchester	150.12
Mrs. Politano	58.38

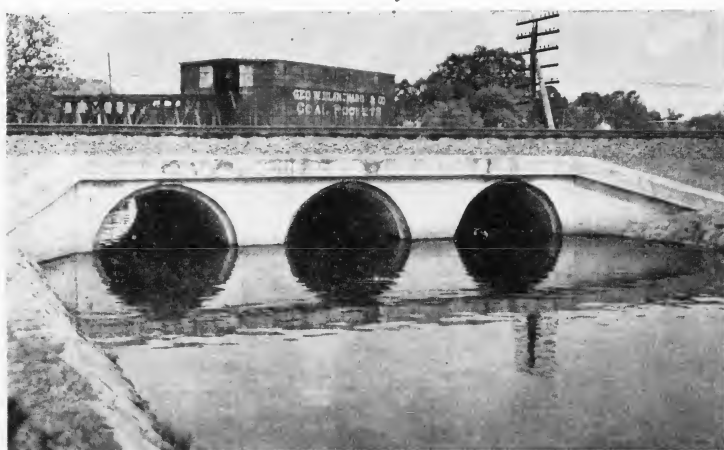

After five years of hearty co-operation between the Boston & Maine Railroad, the Board of Health of Winchester, the Selectmen, the Park Commissioners, and the Highway Department, this transaction has been completed. The railroad has its new yard beside the main line, where a permanent siding was already in existence; the Town has been able to construct the shore drive with only one culvert instead of two, and construct the football and baseball field as desired; the entire neighborhood has been greatly improved, and I now have full possession of the old freight yard—it is for sale!

TEA OPENED SCHOOL ART EXHIBIT

The Winchester Art Association gave a tea last Sunday afternoon in the library art gallery to open the progressive exhibition of pictures and designs done by pupils in the Boston Public Schools. Hostess for the tea was Mrs. James O. Murray and the pourers were Mrs. Raymond Dickman and Miss Violeta Dodge.

Miss Hazel Kingsley, head of the Art Department in the Winchester Schools, gave a most interesting and comprehensive address upon the work being done in the field of art by her pupils, illustrating her remarks with drawings and paintings done by Winchester school children. In the lower grades Miss Kingsley said that the art work done by the pupils is generally connected directly with other studies, such as History, Geography, Literature, etc., the drawings and paintings being done in a certain sense to illustrate the subjects studied. In high school the pupils are allowed to work along the lines most congenial to them, much freedom of choice being permitted.

Miss Kingsley, who was introduced by Mr. John L. Lobingier, president of the Art Association, showed examples of her pupils' work that were eye-opening. These included murals done collectively by younger grade children, a most commendable design for a stained glass window by a sixth grade pupil, paintings by junior high pupils and an excellent collection of subjects by high school boys and girls, including original drawings and paintings, drawings from models, pencil sketches, sketches for design and repetitive designs such as appear on wall-paper and cloth points.

Despite the fact that but a part of the Boston pupils' exhibit is shown at the library, the gallery is filled with work that progresses from first grade through the high school. Generally speaking the earlier work shows a wide choice of subjects to suit the individual whims of the children. Gradually this is ordered in design, geometric and natural, then into still life, and finally in the work done by high school pupils, into drawings from models and sketches of specific places and objects.

Contrasted from the work done by local high school pupils, that done by the Boston boys and girls seems less imaginative and developed along more conventional lines. There are several good studies among those displayed in the high school group; one, a view from an upper window of a city building, being well drawn and showing a good grasp of perspective as well as the ability to portray buildings and objects as they appear from above.

The Boston exhibit is a riot of color and those who worship at this art shrine will find it very much of their liking. There is much of interest and merit to be found among the pictures on display.

WINCHESTER 9—STONEHAM 1

Victory Gave Locals Middlesex League Title

Winchester High's 9 to 1 victory over Stoneham at Stoneham last Friday afternoon, coupled with Reading's surprise victory over Maynard gave the locals their first Middlesex League championship with a league standing of 10 games won and two lost. Going into the game Winchester was tied with Maynard for top honors, the Orange having given the local boys their only defeats of the season.

Stoneham was expected to prove a tough hurdle in the path to the title, but a five run second inning coupled with the effective hurling of the veteran "Al" DiMinico really decided the issue in that frame. It wasn't until the fifth that Stoneham was able to hit or get a run across, three of its four hits coming in that inning to score Davis.

DeTeso opened the second with a hit, Ramsdell sacrificed and Rallo batted to sacrifice. A wild pitch moved up DeTeso, who scored on Carr's hit and Goldsmith drew a pass. Successive hits by DiMinico, Carr and Connors accounted for four more runs before Kenney fanned to end the inning.

DeTeso hit a long home run to far right field to start the third inning, but that ended the scoring until the fifth when the locals added two more. Kenney and DeTeso hit safely. On an attempted sacrifice, DeTeso was erased at second, Rich to Gardner. Rallo's hit brought in Kenney and Ramsdell who had reached on a fielder's choice was squeezed in by Clarcia. Goldsmith fanned and Gardner tossed out DiMinico. Hits by Carr and Connors, Kenney's sacrifice and a fielder's choice accounted for the final run in the sixth.

DiMinico pitched to only 32 batters in the nine innings, fanning three and issuing no free tickets. Two of the extra men to get on base arrived through errors. Despite these hitches "Al" was given great support by his mates, the local infield looking very workmanlike in cutting off potential hits, especially through the middle diamond. Tony DeTeso, fiery little backstop, led both teams at the plate with three hits out of five. Including his homer which was really a homeric swat, Carr, Kenney and Rallo handled 16 of 17 chances perfectly.

MEISTER-McGOVERN MIXED DOUBLES WINNERS

Norma Meister of Sharon and Winchester's Lane McGovern combined to win from the all-Winchester team of Polly Kimball and Jimmy Coon in the final round of the town doubles tournament for boys and girls not 18 years held under the auspices of the Park Department at the Palmer street court last Saturday afternoon.

The Meister-McGovern combination served championship notice in the semi-final round by playing excellent tennis to defeat a favored Helen Carroll-Dick. Baggie team in straight sets 6-3, 6-1. The Kimball-Coon duo won its semi-final match from another capable combination, Priscilla Tapley and Dave Riley, 6-4, 6-5.

Playing steady tennis and outmaneuvering their smaller and younger rivals, Polly and Jimmy took the opening set 6-3. Miss Meister's inability to keep her nonchalant drives inside the base line proving costly.

The second set found the tiny Sharon Meister stroking more accurately and it was nip and tuck with the teams until midway through the games when an admonition from the referee to "play tennis" and not "play about the score" seemed to advance in the first set, Polly and Jimmy softened their game and in so doing played right into the hands of their opponents. As a result the former Meister team completely reversed and the team that looked like an easy winner early in the match found itself outstaked, outlucked and outlasted in the deciding set, losing at love.

All four youngsters contributed to their fair share to the pleasure of the gallery, turning in some excellent shots and making some really hard "lets." Miss Meister matched drives with her older and larger opponent, adding some effective net playing. She was well supported by McGovern who played a nice all around game. Both Miss Kimball and Coon played good tennis in the first set.

Paula Boardman and William Davis of Natick won the consolation round from Ethel Schall and Dick Day. Following is the summary:

Jan Deak and Robert Kitchin beat Eleanor Boardman and Joseph Davis, 6, 3, 6, 2.

Edith Carroll and Richard Buehler beat Ethel Schall and Richard Day, 6, 3, 6, 2.

MRS. ANDERSON HOSTESS TO WINCHESTER FOLK

Mrs. Larz Anderson, whose play "The Red Flame" was given last night at the Plymouth Theatre in Boston with the original Winchester cast, opened her home "Weld," in Jamaica Plain for a play rehearsal tea last Saturday afternoon.

Guests included the cast, some of the members of play committees and others who have contributed to the play's success in one way or another. The afternoon will be long remembered by those who accepted Mrs. Anderson's invitation, for it was a great privilege as well as a pleasure to be given the opportunity to enjoy her gracious hospitality in the magnificent ancestral home of this cultured and traveled family.

Situated on an elevation which commands a sweeping panoramic view of Boston and the harbor, as well as the rolling hills to the west, the house is surrounded by velvety lawns, many varieties of imported shrubs and long shady terraces which open onto a beautiful formal garden.

The house itself is spacious and luxurious, filled with the exquisitely chosen antiques and Oriental treasures which Mrs. Anderson and her husband have collected during their extensive travels. Pictures of many royal families, as well as of many famous and important people of our own country testify to the affection and admiration in which those charming people were held. Yet, in spite of the vastness of the beautiful rooms there is a feeling of homeliness, comfort and informality which reflects the simple friendliness of its accomplished mistress.

After an hour's rehearsal tea was served and since the rain had ceased, the guests strolled about the gardens and visited the carriage house and garage, where there is so much of interest. For here are displayed each and every conveyance that the Andersons ever owned, dating back beyond 1800. Dog cart, pony cart, "one horse" and motor vehicles of all bygone age, all shining in perfect condition. The writer was assured by no less an authority than Miss Pomeroy, Mrs. Anderson's pleasant and ubiquitous secretary, that each one would run, but examination of these stately coaches, and of the harness and trophy rooms threatened to delay the rehearsal indefinitely, but soon it was over.

Following another hour of rehearsal, several performers stayed on to rehearse for the radio broadcast which was given from WBZ at 10:15 that night. Dean T. Lawrence, lyricist of the Boston University College of Practical Arts and Letters, spoke to the assembled company and assuring them of his heartfelt gratitude and best wishes for the Boston performance, Mrs. Anderson then read a few words expressing her pleasure.

Included among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Norton, Mrs. Doris Buchanan Whitehouse, the dramatic coach, Mr. Paul Anderson, singing and dance director, and Mrs. Anderson; Miss Margaret Brady, Mr. Gordon C. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. E. Phillips Waller, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dorey, Mr. Walter Winslow, Mr. William Schwartz, Mr. Carl Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cunningham, Mr. Fred Churchill, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holdworth, Mr. Sam I. Dornay, Miss Elizabeth Jones and Mr. J. H. Woolley.

Also Mrs. Guy B. Howe, Mr. Robert M. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. David Downer, Miss Jane Norton, Miss Paula Mountain, Miss Shirley Wood, Miss Jean Rooney, Miss Barbara Hayden, Miss Charlotte Hall, Elizabeth Dutch, Miss Rhoda Elliott, Miss Margaret Hall, Miss Madeline Little, Miss Marjorie Little, Miss Olive Hill and Miss Edna Wild.

Others were Mr. Frank V. Barnes, Jr., Mr. Frederick C. Hitchcock, Jr., Mr. William P. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. William Sweet, Miss Virginia Hill, Miss Rosamond Rivinus, Miss Betty Winslow, Miss Louise Millican, Mr. George B. Hall, Mr. David Burnham, Mr. William Fluwelling, Mr. Robert W. Sibley, Mr. Jacob W. Bond, Mr. Edward W. Jackson, Mr. Edmund Merriam, Mr. George Glass, Miss Miriam Little, Mr. George Whitehouse, Mr. Basil Barwell and Mr. Thomas Lyman.

Also attending were Mr. George Cumings, Miss Edith Cumings, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wood, Miss Barbara Watters, Miss Ruth Bove, Miss Louise Giles, Mr. George W. Hayden, Jr., Mr. Kenneth Hall, Mr. Richard de Fole, Miss Anna Gage, who poured during the tea hour; Miss Anna Weld, Mr. Don C. Tiffany, the accompanist and Mr. Willem Frank, orchestra conductor and the orchestra.

Also Mrs. T. Lawrence Davis and her son; Miss Carla Paaske, production manager for the Boston performance; Miss Doris Currier of Boston University; Miss Trent Kelley, president of the student government and other members of the faculty. Also Mr. Hans Weiner, well known head of the Hans Weiner Studio, and a group of men dancers, whose inclusion on the program was added since the Winchester showing. Their dance, "Drum Cerebral," was given during the current season of Boys at Symphony Hall. Also Mr. and Mrs. Shapel of Brookline; Mr. Joseph Muse, Mr. Pelham Greenough and Miss Mildred Davenport of Boston.

CLUBWOMEN HERE ADOPT NEW TAX STUDY PROGRAM

The educational campaign of the National Consumers Tax Commission to "study and expose hidden, consuming responsibilities" spread to Winchester last week with the announcement of plans of club women to undertake a tax study program.

Mrs. Mabel Lawson, of 19 Hancock street, will lead the NCTC campaign here. Mrs. Melville Mucklestone NCTC vice-president announced. She will present tax study programs to club members during the club season.

SOFT BALL AT GINN FIELD

Winchester "Blues" played the brokerage firm of R. L. Day & Co. of Boston.

Tuesday night on the new Ginn Field layout and the field must be good because the Blues came away with 18 to 9 win. "Bob" Harmon was the new hurler who proved his right to be on the pitching staff.

Last Thursday at Hamilton the "Blues" seemed to be in a batting and fielding slump which meant that Hamilton nearly blanked them out with a 10 to 1 beating.

Tuesday of last week saw the fine contest with the "Economy" team who took it on the chin all the way through.

But they must be able to "take it," they've signed up for another game soon.

The "Blues" are grateful to Mr. Davidson and Mr. McGovern of the Park Department for their co-operation in providing facilities for soft ball.

A KINGDOM WITHOUT A KING

Hungary, whose adherence to the Rome-Berlin axis was recently solemnly reaffirmed, is a kingdom without a monarch, says the National Geographic Society. After the World War, this country first became a republic, then a revolutionary process; then, in 1919, a Soviet state under the dictatorship of the proletariat. The following year the opposition came into power, annulling the previous regimes and returning the nation to its former status of a monarchy. A kingdom with an empty throne, Hungary has been ruled since by a regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, who, for nearly two years, has been absolved from responsibility to Parliament.

The Connecticut River Basin represents about one-third of the entire area of the State, covering 2721 square miles.

TRAINING SCHOOL GRADUATE

Miss Pauline D'Ambrosio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D'Ambrosio of Salem street, was among those graduated yesterday from the Children's Hospital Training School for Nurses in Boston.

The Children's Hospital is this week celebrating its 70th anniversary and the Training School its 50th anniversary. Baccalaureate services were held Sunday in Trinity Church and the graduating class attended "Pops" at Symphony Hall Thursday evening. Miss D'Ambrosio was graduated from Winchester High School in 1935.

W. H. S. CLASS NIGHT JUNE 3

The Class of 1939, Winchester High School, celebrated the lighter, more frivolous side of Commencement at their Class Night activities, Saturday night, June 3, at the high school.

The program opened with the usual Class Night talks, including the Class Oration, humorously given by John O'Neill; the Class History, by Richard Bugbee; the Statistics of 1939, by Bette Dickson; and Martin Underwood; the Prophecy, prepared by Anne Phipps and Samuel Pilkington, and read by Samuel Pilkington, and the Last Will and Testament, by Lillian Speedie and Charles Bacon.

Following enthusiastic reception of the speeches, the class and guests were allowed to witness the thrilling melodrama in three 16 mm. reels, entitled "Hold Your Breath!" Shouts of glee and enthusiastic approval were apparent during the showing of the films. Edward Welch was master of ceremonies.

The entire assemblage changed to the scene of a gaily decorated gymnasium where they could amuse themselves by playing games on the midway, dancing in one half of the gymnasium, or just sitting and eating. Everyone was intrigued by the gay, gaudy and tricky prizes possible on the midway. An indication of the popularity of this sport, which cost each contestant nothing, was the ice cream and cake left untouched until it was brought to their attention. When high school boys and girls can't stop to eat, they're being entertained.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Grindle, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens, Mrs. Ella Stacy, Miss Frances Allison, Miss Mary Hudson, Mr. Kenneth Meinke and Mr. George Lauer.

General committee in charge of Class Night included Margaret McNally, Frederick Donahue, Frances Randall, John MacPartlin, Bette Dickson, Edward Welch and Philip Cabot.

Others who did vocam service were Daniel Roon, a sophomore, who operated the 16 mm. projector; several sophomore girls who served refreshments under the leadership of Eleanor Randall; and the midway operators: John MacPartlin, Francis Murray, William Conlon, Richard McCormack, Daniel Dineen, Frederick Donahue, John Halligan, John Mulrenan, Richard Oliver, Martin Underwood, Everett Kimball and Frederick Murphy.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 2

Patrol competition was to have ended May 29, but was extended because of a tie between the Flying Eagle and Beaver patrols at 375 points.

Last Monday competition was closed with the Flying Eagle patrol taking first place in each event, namely: first aid carries, general questions on first aid, and compass races. Awards will be made next week for those having had perfect attendance all year. Awards will also be made to those of the winning patrol whose final score was 565 points.

Troop 3

The last hike of the season was held at Camp Fellsland, the week-end of May 26-27. Twenty-one boys made the trip with assistant scoutmaster Millikan, Mr. Moore, Mr. Horne and Mr. Felt. The troop left Friday evening and returned Sunday evening. Scoutmaster Dunn joined the troop Saturday evening. Everyone enjoyed themselves thoroughly, playing baseball, soft ball, capture the flag, swimming and also passing advancement tests. Sunday morning a number of the boys attended church while the remainder enjoyed an outdoor service conducted by Mr. Millikan. It was perhaps the most successful and enjoyable hike of the year and another hike to Camp Fellsland is temporarily planned for the last week-end of September.

For the first time in a number of years, two patrols from Troop 3 took part in the Camporee at Camp Lane, June 3 and 4. The two patrols scored 832 and 765 points out of a possible 1000. Considering the fact that this was the first time any of the scouts had taken part in the event, the participants are to be commended.

The last meeting of the year Monday, June 5, was held as a parents' night. An investiture ceremony was held and the awards for promotion were presented by Mr. Millikan. During the year the following boys have joined the troop: Robert Sheehan, Richard Sheehan, Donald Warren, John Armstrong, Daniel McAuliffe, Dave Tolman, Robert Swyer, Raymond Peppard, Ralph Muehligh, Richard LeRoy, Ronald Leary, Franklin Lane, Richard Hanson, George Cross and William Cassidy. Frank Horne, Richard Young, Robert Costello, Robert Moore, Ronald Leary and Ralph Muehligh have advanced to Second Class while Robert Sheehan and Robert Moore reached First Class rating. Two scouts who joined the troop during the year, Erskine White and James Lane were advanced to Star rank and James Weaver won the Eagle Palm. Following the ceremonies refreshments were served.

Troop 3, under the leadership of Mr. Moore, Mr. Dunn and Mr. Millikan has enjoyed a very successful year in every way. Starting with a nucleus of 12 boys, the membership has increased to 32 at the end of the year, the boys have won their share of honors in the scout competitions, and much has been done to put the troop on a firm foundation for further progress. It is hoped that all the members will be back in the fall to continue the program which has been so well started. Plans are being made by the troop committee for a still more active and interesting year of scouting.

Two more troops of Winchester Boy Scouts have attained high ranking in their official spring reviews on attendance, advancement, appearance and activities. When recently inspected by Commissioners Clayton Colcord and Fred Cole, Troop 2 was rated 89 out of a possible 100 points, while Troop 3 received a 95.

Camp-O-Ree

Over 100 boys and officers from Medford, Stoneham and Winchester participated in the Third Annual Camp-O-Ree at Camp Lane, Burlington, on Saturday and Sunday, June 3 and 4. This was the largest turnout of boys during the three Camp-O-Rees held to date.

This Camp-O-Ree is a plan whereby the boys themselves go into a wilderness camp and set up their own shelter, cook all meals, and do general camping without adult leadership. They are, however, visited during periodic times by members of the Commissioner's Staff, who judge them on their ability to cook, to provide proper shelter, to make proper bedding and all other preparations necessary for their comfort. This year for the first time there were representatives from Stoneham and Winchester, where in the past only Medford units have participated. The units encamped were as follows: two patrols from Troop 2, Medford; two patrols from Troop 5, Medford; two patrols from Troop 14, Medford; one patrol from Troop 12, Medford; and one patrol from Troop 10, Medford; in addition to two patrols from Troop 3, Winchester and one patrol from Troop 1, Stoneham.

All units start with a score of 1000 to their credit, and during the entire encampment judges are allowed to deduct credits for any breach of discipline, general behavior, or actual projects work. All units who received between 850 and 1000 points received an A rating, those who scored between 700 and 850 received a B rating, and all units under 700 received a C rating. Up to this year only one unit had ever received an A rating, but this year there were three units receiving highest scoring. These units were patrol 2 of Troop 2, Medford; patrol 1 of Troop 10, Medford; and patrol 10 of Troop 5, Medford. The other eight units received B ratings. This indicates very clearly that all units have prepared very carefully for this Camp-O-Ree, and without doubt every group is every capable of going camping without adult supervision.

The officers in charge of the Camp-O-Ree, under the direction of Scout Executive Edward W. Nelson, were as follows: Commissioners Raymond A. Alden, John M. Drohan, Charles Wetmore and Charles Douglass of Medford, and Fred Cole of Winchester, assisted by Scoutmaster John Patterson of Troop 20, Medford and Harry Moore of Troop 3, Winchester.

TEELE WON AGAIN

Royal P. Teele of Wedgemore avenue, president and chairman of the board of directors of the Palmer Beach Horsehoe Association, for the second consecutive year, won the horsehoe championship of the Boston Paper Trade Association at the organization's annual outing Monday at the Charles River Country Club.

As a result of his victory the Teele household is the richer by one handsome electric clock and Roy's personal satisfaction increased at least 100 fold. For it has been rumored by certain members of the P. B. H. S. Association that his victory of a year ago was open to doubt, if not to question.

As a consequence the Star representative was invited to be present at this year's competition, and will state that the current championship was won in glorious fashion with a double ringer at a crucial moment. Yes, that was the one to watch!

SOCRATES SAYS-

A POSSIBILITY

The reorganization proposal may simply be a "Trojan Horse" to give greater control of government. Let us forget—New Dealers are still holding the reins.

THE THIRD TERM

If there should be a "shooting match" between European countries "ever there" in 1940, some think the New Deal could take a shot at a third term over here—but Americans want peace and no more "shooting the works."

CAN IT

According to the press, Argentine canned beef is used by the United States Navy. President Roosevelt is quoted as saying he thought "domestic beef producers might improve their brand and lower their price." If this can be true, then it is time to seriously consider canning the Hull Blamed Reciprocal Trade theory, etc. and buy America.

YOUTH

According to the press, a book by seven Harvard and Tufts economists (average 28 years old) entitled "An Economy Program for American Democracy," is said to have become the Bible of the New Dealers.
If this book shows how "to make Democracy (go to) work," then their mental labors will not have been in vain, and many will no longer be required to look to endowments, or millions to the State for assistance.

NAME CALLING

President Roosevelt, according to the press, wrote to Thomas R. Amle stating "They do not realize that name calling ill serves the democratic form of government which this Nation, as a whole, wishes to continue" (April 17, 1939).

Mr. Amle wrote, according to the press, April 7, 1939, "A reactionary press and an unscrupulous political cabal," etc.
Name calling? "Tories," "Economic Royalists," "Entrenched Greed," etc., etc.
Name calling, where is thy sting?

SALARY GRABS

The $4000 a year salary suggested by certain Massachusetts legislators, because of bi-ennials, is not unlike a damage suit settled out of court. After all, it is generally cheaper in the long run to settle such cases on a compromise basis, for think of the harm that could result if we kept meeting every year. The electorate must have had this danger in mind when they voted for the change.
Let 'em vote their own salary—over the Governor's veto—then let the citizens decide who is to get it in 1940.

THE WAGNER ACT

There is a widespread belief that an employers has no right, under the Wagner Act, to communicate in any manner whatsoever with his employees regarding collective bargaining or his relationships with them.

If this is the theory of the New Deal and its National Labor Relations Board, then two things have been definitely proven; first, free speech is not to be allowed in America by the New Deal; second, all this talk by New Dealers that they wish to foster a better understanding between Labor and Management is pure baloney. There will never be better relationships until Labor and Management do freely talk it over. When they do, there are never misunderstandings.
The Wagner Act should have sufficient amendments so that the Board can never make its own laws. We have become a nation of rule by men instead of rule by definite law.

WAR?

The Bill recently filed in Congress, by 50 Senators, to tax incomes in the event of war, is beyond comprehension. Not one of those Senators could have read the Bill as re-introduced. Its provisions could confiscate not only the entire income, in certain brackets, but more than the individual's total income. The intent is said to discourage war, but if it comes, to pay for it.

The cost of living always jumps in war times, yet those Senators would lower exemptions of married men and raise normal income levies.
Business has already been demoralized by laws during peace times. Now Congress is considering means to complete the demoralization thus helping any foreign enemy if war should come.

As to the discouragement of war by killing income and profits during a war, Congress, itself, is the only body that decides whether war should be declared.
Oh, Congress, where is thy sting?

ABERJONA STATION GOOD INVESTMENT

To the Editor of the Star:
I have noticed a number of communications in regard to the gaging station situated on the Aberjona River at the foot of Mystic avenue. Realizing how difficult it is to get projects approved by the United States Government, I felt assured that there was some good reason for the expenditure which produced this station. The matter has been taken up with the State Department of Health and I am attaching their communication. From my investigation certain facts have been ascertained.

Five industries situated in the Aberjona River Valley are now using approximately 7,000,000 gallons of water per day, which is pumped from underground sources in the valley.
The Aberjona River has a watershed of approximately 23½ square miles, and, up to the present time, no accurate records have been available as to the flow or quantity of water that can be safely taken from this valley.

The figures that will be obtained from the gaging station will be assembled by the United States Geological Survey in Washington and sent to the states interested. They will be used by two different Massachusetts departments.

The State Department of Public Works is interested from point of flood control, this being one station in a chain extending through New England to get the rapidly and quantity of the runoff from rain and snow. They do not expect that the Aberjona Valley will be flooded, on account of its small water shed, but the figures obtained will indicate the size of storage basins that will have to be built where there are large water sheds.

The records from the gaging station situated in this town will be very valuable in the future as they will indicate to the State Department of Health when a danger point is reached in taking water from the ground, and it is my personal opinion that the small amount of money that is asked to be paid by this town will be a good investment. In the future we will find that the industries have swallowed the Aberjona River, hook, line and sinker.

The water in the Charles River Basin is now being used by industries and towns, overtaxing the supply of water, which resulted in the river recently going dry in Waltham. There is a bill now in Legislature to prohibit any further taking of water from the Charles River Basin. If proper records are available, this draught would have been limited a long time ago.

Hoping this communication will throw a little light on a very foggy situation, I remain,

Very truly yours,
Edmund C. Sanderson,
Chairman Water and Sewer Board

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Mr. Edmund C. Sanderson,
Chairman, Water and Sewer Board
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Mr. Sanderson:
My attention has been called to a clipping from the Winchester Star of May 26, 1939, which reads as follows:

"Should Convince the Star"
To the Editor of the Star:
The Star might like to know that a representative of the State Department of Health visited the Town Hall Thursday. This man's chief work is in connection with rain-fall statistics and he is the only person in the State Department of Health who would make use of any information derived from the new $5000 raindrop counter in the Aberjona.
He said that undoubtedly the Federal figures would be of value to him but unfortunately they go to Washington so that he does not get any use of them.
Probably this will convince the Star that we should pay $125 per year toward the cost of operation. "Doubtful"

The gaging station in question is on the left bank of the New Deal Commission several hundred feet upstream from the railroad crossing at Wedgemere depot. All of the cost of installing this station and one-half of the maintenance are to be borne by the United States Government. The reason for its installation is to provide means for determining the flow in the Aberjona River at all times, more especially during periods of drought. This is important as large quantities of water are diverted daily from the valley of this stream by industries in a manner which must inevitably result in reducing the flow during periods of drought. Should these measurements show that the amount of water pumped from this valley by industries is unfavorably affecting the Aberjona River, then this Department with such evidence would be in a better position to take action.

In view of these needs and the value of such information, the cost of maintenance is to be paid one-half by the United States Government and the other half should be paid by the interested parties, viz., the Metropolitan District Commission, the Department of Public Health and the Town of Winchester.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) Arthur D. Weston,
Chief Engineer

REPORT OF PLANNING BOARD

June 5, 1939

To the Editor of the Star:
A study of Winchester's finances, in connection with a long-term program of public improvements recently conducted under the direction of the Public Works Committee of the National Resources Committee, has now been completed and a final report submitted. The report of the federal staff is too long for publication in the "Star," but I am enclosing a copy of the report of the Planning Board, dated June 1, briefly explaining the material submitted, which you may like to publish. The original report of the Planning Board, attached to the original report of the federal staff, has been filed in the town clerk's office and is available for examination there by town officers and others who are interested.

Very truly yours,
W. L. Parsons,
Chairman

Town of Winchester
Middlesex County, Massachusetts
Planning Board, Town Hall
Report of the Planning Board
June 1, 1939

Early in April the Public Works Committee of the National Resources Committee, acting through its subcommittee on State and Local Programming, conferred with the Planning Board and other town officers with a view to making a study of our finances and preparing a program of proposed capital expenditures for a six-year period. The town officers were glad to cooperate in furnishing the essential data. Projects in contemplation involving capital expenditures during the next six years were submitted by the departments of the town. The report arranged in a priority grouping tentatively determined by the Planning Board after conference with the departments concerned. Estimates were made of the future revenues of the town in relation to the cost of the projects listed on the six-year program.

Winchester was selected for this study because of its excellent methods of municipal procedure and its complete records. It is the first of a group of municipalities in the United States where similar studies will be made and is the only town, as distinguished from city, included in the group.

The local work in Winchester has been done without expense to the town under the general direction of Mr. W. Stanley Parsons, a member of the Public Works Committee, by a staff headed by Mr. Melvin E. Scheidt, Research Technician of the National Resources Committee, Washington, D. C., assisted by Mr. Sidney T. Thomas and Mr. Morgan D. Hayes, furnished by the Public Works Administration, and Mr. Frank W. Blanchette, furnished by the Works Progress Administration. Their report contains much valuable material.

A part hereof in order that it may be available for public use.

It is the intention of the Planning Board, in co-operation with the other town officers, to revise the six-year program annually, in the light of future developments, adding or subtracting projects, changing priority groupings, and extending it over one year so that at all times there will be a plan and a program of what the town may expect to meet in the way of capital expenditures during the next six-year period. This we believe will be helpful to the town in arranging its finances and keeping its taxes in order.

Respectfully submitted,
William L. Parsons,
Chairman
Frank E. Rowe,
Secretary

HEIL, OTTO:

(Winchester Ski Club)

Thus will Otto Schniebs be greeted by veteran skiers from all over New England and farther points when he arrives at the high school auditorium tonight at 8:30 to be honored as the first to receive the new safety trophy of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association.

He is coming here from his home in Lake Placid, N. Y. by way of Bolton, Vt., where he will be joined by Mr. E. S. Bryant of Bolton Mountains. They will arrive in time for a buffet supper at the home of the Alton Dunsford on Yale street and will be joined there by the members of the committee, officers of the Winchester Ski Club and their wives. Among these are the Robert Lows, the Kenneth Thompsons, the Marshall Phils, the Theodore Elliotts of all Winchester and the Harry Pollards of Lowell.

The evening's program is a full one. Mr. Schniebs is bringing his unexcelled ski movies and will comment on them in his colorful and inimitable way.

The representative of the National Ski Patrol will be Bob Livermore, first Harvard man to win a Dartmouth skiing event, holder of many skiing records and a member of the Ski Club Hochschule of Boston. He will tell us of the excellent work of this new national organization for ski patrol.

Mr. Roland Peabody, closely connected with the construction of the Cannon Mountain Aerial Tramway and now its managing director, will tell us about this first tramway in New England. For want of a better title, his talk could be called, "Aerial Tramway Tales."

Mr. Alexander H. Bright, who was an almost if not all-letter man at Harvard in pre-war days, of the H. Bright & Co. of Boston, squad man of the 1936 Olympic ski team, member of the Ski Club Hochschule of Boston and despite his statement that he "has grown grey in the snow," can still run circles around most skiers, hopes to be able to tell us briefly something about the F. I. S. Ski team which will represent the United States in Finland in 1940.

In addition, there may be one or two other surprises for the evening.

For a good seat, come early.

WINCHESTER MT. HOLYOKE ASSOCIATION MEETING

The Winchester Mt. Holyoke Association met around the fireplace of the Girl Scout cabin on Monday evening, June 5, for their annual picnic. As husbands and friends are invited to this outdoor meeting 42 people gathered for the picnic meal which Mrs. Hazel B. Ayer had assembled. Mrs. Walden Hersey directed games afterwards with baseball for the men and ring-toss for the women.

A short business meeting was held by Mrs. Adin Bailey. The association voted to give the scholarship fund which they had raised this past fall by sponsoring Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond's book talks to Miss Eleanor Greene of Winchester again next year as it will come to Winchester again next year with her talks in the interests of this same scholarship fund.

Miss Jacqueline West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. West of Wedgmore avenue, has completed her first year at the Child-Walker School of Design in Boston, where she is specializing in design.

ROYAL VISITS OF OLD

The visit of the English king and queen to America with fewer than 50 persons in their party contrasts with the magnitude and splendor of royal tours in the realm with all the trappings of medieval pageantry, made by English sovereigns in earlier days, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

None were more gorgeous than the "progresses" of Queen Elizabeth who each summer visited her summer palaces throughout England, enjoying the hospitality of many distinguished lords en route. The colorful group, including maids in waiting, councilors and gaily dressed courtiers on horseback, stretched along the rough country roads, with the queen's baggage bringing up the rear in some 300 carts, the only vehicles in the procession.

Of notable record is the visit to the castle of Kenilworth, then the property of the Earl of Leicester, where the three weeks entertainment of the royal party included banquets, jousting, hunting, bear-baiting, fireworks, acrobatics, speech making, masques and pageants. "An estimate may be formed of the expense," writes Leicester's early English biographer, "from the quantity of ordinary beer that was drunk upon this occasion, which amounted to 320 hogheads."

On another occasion Queen Elizabeth and her retinue were entertained by the Most Reverend Matthew Parker, Archbishop of Canterbury, at the ancient episcopal palace of St. Augustine. So pleasing was the entertainment to the queen that she remained for a whole fortnight, at a cost to the archbishop of 2000 pounds. This would not mean $10,000, as the present rate of exchange might indicate, but between $30,000 and $100,000 in current values, a sum nearly equal to the income of the see.

"I trust your lordship will have in remembrance," the Earl of Bedford wrote Lord Burghley, the queen's minister, on the eve of a royal visit "to provide and help that her majesty's tarrying be not above two nights and a day, for so long time do I prepare."

W. C. T. U. Notes

In the March issue of "Missions" the following editorial comment should attract the attention of all those who wish only the best influences to enter the homes.

"The National Broadcasting Company recently announced that it will no longer broadcast programs that advertise light wines or beer. However, it has rejected only whiskey and other distilled liquor advertising. Now all alcoholic beverages are to be excluded. President Lennox R. Lohr of the Broadcasting Company, who addressed the Federal Council of Churches at its 50th anniversary celebration in Buffalo, ought to receive an avalanche of letters from all over the United States in commendation of this new policy. Millions of homes in America, equipped with radios and supplied with children, can now live in with grateful assurance that alcohol will not be forced into their attention. It is bad enough to have newspapers and magazines saturated with liquor advertising. Its elimination from the radio after five years of the delusion of repeal is one of the most encouraging signs of our times."

STRANGERS WITHIN THE GATES

During the last fiscal year, more immigrants came to the United States under quota law, from Germany and former Austria than any other national groups, according to the National Geographic Society. The total number of immigration visas issued to Germans and Austrians, State Department statistics show, amounted to more than 20,000, including both quota and non-quota classes. (Non-quota visas are given, among other groups, to students, ministers and professors, returning aliens, and natives of independent countries of the Western Hemisphere). Despite her large proportion of immigrants, Germany, however, used only about 71 per cent of her annual quota. Eleven countries, including Albania, China, Greece, Hungary, Palestine, came in with 100 per cent of permitted immigration. On the other hand, a number of nations, such as Siam and Liberia, contributed only one immigrant. Afghanistan, Monaco, and the Island of Yap were among the countries which, with an allowed quota of 100, sent none.

HOW NAVAL VESSELS ARE NAMED

The very name Squalus indicates that it is a submarine, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Squalus is the scientific term for a large family of sharks, commonly called dogfishes. Since 1931 it has been a policy of the U. S. Navy to give the name of fishes to its submarines. Just as battleships are named for States, cruisers for cities, destroyers for notable Navy men, gun-boats for smaller cities, mine sweepers for birds, and airplane carriers for important historical events such as the battles of Yorktown and Lexington.

Letters and Figures First Used for Submarines

The United States has 87 submarines in service, and 10 more are in various stages of construction. For two decades after 1911, submarines of the U. S. fleet worked under the anonymity of such titles as K-2, D-1, C-4. The S-series, minus the S-4 lost in the disaster off Provincetown, in 1927, and the R-series are still designated by initial and number. The V-series were re-named in 1931 for sports appeal, and emerged from the transformation with titles to quicken a fisherman's pulse: Bonita and Bass, Barracuda and Cuttlefish. Since then, Navy submarines have plunged into the deeps with names to make them feel at home—Narwhal and Cachalot (the sperm whale), Tarpon, Shark, Pike, and Porpoise.

Submarines named at the same time have received titles beginning with the same letter, resulting in alliterative lists such as Salmon, Seal, Skipjack, Snapper, Stingray and Sturgeon. The Squalus is one of six submarines authorized by Congress in 1924: the Sargo, Saut, Spearfish, Sculpin, Squalus and Swordfish. The Sargo, one of the porgy fish family, is a name for sheephead, a southern food fish. The saury is an Atlantic relative of the Pacific flying fish; it travels in schools and sometimes skips out of water for short leaps. The spearfish and swordfish are relatives, both famed for their weapons and their struggles against fishermen. The sculpin squalus are related also, belonging to the shark family. The sculpin, a ground shark, cruises near the bottom of the cool waters along the North Atlantic shores; one species inhabits the Great Lakes. The squalus, existing in various forms including a deep-water model just one foot long, can swim at great depths. Sometimes great hanks of squalus are met, and their lives cut out for oil.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Governor Saltonstall has taken a worthy attitude in regard to increasing the state revenues to the detriment of the welfare of the people. Would that all officials were as conscientious! The Boston Herald of Friday, May 19, has the following statement:

"The financial situation of the Commonwealth will have to be much more seriously impaired than it presently is before Gov. Saltonstall will recommend the establishment of a state lottery as a means of obtaining new sources of revenue, he indicated last night.

Discussing suggestions that have been advanced to the Governor said, "I should be extremely surprised at myself if I ever considered seriously a recommendation for a state lottery." Admitting that the proposal had been advanced to him at a recent session of the executive council, the Governor indicated that he had discarded the suggestion.

He also said that he is opposed in principle to putting the Commonwealth into the liquor business as a means of increasing state revenues. During the 1938 election campaign, he said, he took a position against having the state engage in any private business enterprise.

He said he had considered the situation in Maine, New Hampshire, and a few other states in which state liquor distribution is employed as a means of increasing public revenues but he indicated he is hostile to the suggestion of having the state become a partner in the liquor business."

PRAISE FOR MR. GILBERT

When Hon. F. A. Bayrd of Malden retired from the Civil Service Commission after seven and one-half years of service to take his seat on the Board of Public Welfare, to which he was appointed by Governor Saltonstall, he asked as a matter of personal privilege that a statement from him be spread upon the records of the Commission. In Mr. Bayrd's statement was the following reference to Mr. Jean C. Gilbert, 6 Stevens street, who for many years one of Winchester's well-known citizens.

"With the loyal members of the staff of the department my relations have been happy, and I have the highest praise for their devotion to their duties."

His well-merited praise is particularly deserving to the executive secretary, John C. Gilbert, whose knowledge of civil service far transcends that of any other person in New England. Mr. Gilbert has been a tower of strength to all who have been wise enough to lean heavily upon his sagacious counsel.

FIRE AT BEGGS &amp; COBB

An alarm from Box 42 at 11:25 Monday night attracted a big crowd to the main plant of the Beggs & Cobb tannery on Swanston street. Fortunately the fire spread non-sequential. It originated in some rubbish which had been piled in an old dump cart backed up to the main shop to receive rubbish from the plant. The damage done was slight even the old cart escaping. Ext a police were needed to handle the crowd.

SCOTLAND PROTECTS WATERWAY AGAINST WAR

Ghosts of the World War are stirring on the west coast of Scotland, as men take steps to protect their ships and shipbuilding on the Clyde River. The setting up of a boom, or barrier, across the Firth of Clyde near the mouth of the river recalls that it was there, in 1915, that a German submarine sank a British armed cruiser, says the National Geographic Society. Torpedoed at five o'clock in the morning, the ship was reported to have gone down within four minutes of the blow, with her commander and crew of some 200 men. The River Clyde was then the scene of humming shipbuilding operations, King George V and other officials making several inspection visits there during the war to look after the defenses of the Empire and encourage the workers. Now navigable by oceangoing craft all the way to Glasgow, the Clyde River, with its busy shipyards, is Scotland's most vital industrial and commercial stream.

SUMMER'S COMING! Warm sun—deep shade—buzzing bees—long, lazy days inviting you to take it easy!

Gonna fall for that? Well, maybe—if that car in your driveway is just a run-of-mine job. But suppose it's a Buick—then what?

Then, good sir, you're in for an active summer. A summer of going places, seeing sights—and having some honest-to-goodness fun!

You'll boss around a brilliant Dynaflex straight-eight engine as thrilling to handle as a flyrod.

You'll go exploring over the little-traveled back trails—and soft springs of coiled steel will cradle every jolt and jar. You'll look out to the far horizons through windows wider, and bigger—there's as much as 412 square inches more space to make your outlook easier.

Yes, you'll pilot a carriage that's staunch and snug and firm beneath you—yet every nudge of your treadle foot gives instant-quick action that'll bring a grin of deep delight.

This far-ranging beauty is not only the car of the year for performance, but the value of the year. It's priced lower than a year ago—lower than you'd think to see it—lower even than some sixes!

And when you check all of the standard items that you're asked extra for elsewhere, you find that Buick costs less in the end even than some cars with lower advertised prices!

S. S. STEEL PIER STARTED SEASON THURSDAY

The S. S. Steel Pier, the big Provincetown ship, started its daily 100 mile round trips to Provincetown, Thursday, June 8. The ship leaves Foster's Wharf, next to Rowes Wharf, on Atlantic avenue, at 10 a. m. and returns at 8 p. m. after a two hour stop-over in the Cape end town.

Aboard the 1750 ton, steel hulled, oil powered vessel on Thursday were several groups who have made the all day cruise on the Steel Pier, part of their yearly outings program. Among them were groups of students from Holy Rosary Academy, Burdett College and the Kathleen Dell School.

This is the 35th season of the Cape Cod Steamship Company, which operates the Steel Pier, and according to Paul E. Thurlow, gen. mgr., more than 2,000,000 passengers have been carried on the Provincetown run, without a single fatality.

Among the innovations this year on the Steel Pier are the newly installed ship-to-shore telephone set, on which one may call any part of the world as simply as one would at their telephone at home; redecorated salons, and the cafeteria has been enlarged and redecorated.

Dancing, deck games, dining, harbor lectures, the marine cocktail lounge, all go far to make the all day cruise on this luxury liner, a most enjoyable one day vacation.

Beside the daily trips to Provincetown, now known as the Nation's Summer Art Capitol, the Steel Pier will make its twice weekly, Moonlight Sails, starting the last week in June. The Steel Pier leaves Foster's Wharf at 9 p. m. for the Moonlight Sail, and returns at midnight, after three hours of cruising up along the North Shore. Many clubs and organizations have already booked and chartered special nights for their summer dancing parties and seasonal affairs.

H. P. HOOD & SONS

Seventy-six route salesman of H. P. Hood & Sons have been given special recognition for their remarkable records in safe driving. According to an announcement made by the Company all of them have driven continuously five years or more without accidents of any kind. The aggregate of their records is 514 years with no accidents.

The high man is Walter E. Ryan of Orient Heights who has driven 17 years without an accident of any kind. Four others have gone 10 years with no accidents, seven have gone nine years, 13, eight years, 11, seven years, 13, six years and 27, five years. In recognition of their remarkable records they have been made members of a Star Drivers' Club recently organized by the Hood Company as part of its program to reduce accidents. No one can become a member of this club until he has driven five full years without accidents. He then gets a five star membership card with an additional star for each year without accidents. New cards will be issued the first of every January. There are about 50 other route salesmen who have completed four years without an accident and will become members of the club Jan. 1 if they have no accidents in the meantime.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in "The Story of Vernon and Irene Castle," will open at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. As the title indicates the film deals with the dazzling career of the noted pre-war dancing couple. It was a happy thought to team the wing-footed Fred Astaire and the lithe Ginger Rogers in the respective roles of the Castles, for they are perfectly cast as that famous duo, and their interpretation of the Castle routines are delightful to behold. Aside from the dancing routines the film is also a musical treat. Scores of old-time tunes, "Pretty Baby," "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee," "Missouri Waltz" and others of that melodic vintage, are abundantly scattered through the offering, either as songs sung by the stars, or as dance music for their graceful routines. A notable supporting cast adds much to the film's excellence, and to the amazing realistic performance of the principals. Edna May Oliver, Walter Brennan, Janet Beecher, Etienne Girardot, Lew Fields and other well-known players appear in important roles.

Something new. Smooth writing pencils in attractive colors with your initials. See them at the Star Office.

WESTERN CINEMA ACE AT SQUARE THEATRE SOON

Lovers of the old Western cinema thrillers are in for a treat, this coming Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and evenings, at the Square Theatre in Medford, as Tom Keene, handsome Hollywood cowboy and stunt man extraordinary brings his famous Dude Ranch Jamboree to that city, in person.

Keene has been the hero of so many Western plots that it is almost impossible to place him in any other role.

However he received his start in pictures from Cecil B. DeMille, famous Hollywood producer. A handsome typical American rider of the range, Keene is a great favorite with the youngsters as well as the older folks.

Along with Keene, the stage presentation will consist of a series of cowboy songs, roping tricks and anecdotes of the West related by Keene. Keene who is Mayor of Sherman Oaks, Calif., will be surrounded by a bevy of charming cowgirls and will be available for autographs after each performance.

THE STORY OF VERNON AND IRENE CASTLE AT THE UNIVERSITY

The colorful career of Vernon and Irene Castle, world-famous dance team of pre-war days, is depicted in striking fashion in the latest screen musical. The picture is called "The Story of Vernon and Irene Castle," and starts Sunday at the University.

Many popular songs of yesterday, as well as the famous dances created by the Castles, are interpolated throughout the picture. Edna May Oliver, Walter Brennan, Lew Fields, Janet Beecher and Etienne Girardot have featured roles. Mrs. Irene Castle was technical director of the production.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "The Hound of the Baskervilles," one of literature's most shocking, spine-chilling mystery stories and the greatest of all of Sherlock Holmes' astounding adventures, is the companion film. Tall, spare, hawk-like Basil Rathbone, in the perfect-fitting role of the great detective, is co-starred with Richard Greene and Wendy Barrie.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "History is Made at Night," featuring Jean Arthur, Charles Boyer, Colin Clive and Leo Carrillo and "Man-Proof" with Myrna Loy, Franchot Tone and Rosalind Russell.

"Confessions of a Nazi Spy," starring Edward G. Robinson, starts Thursday, with a huge cast which includes besides Robinson, Paul Lukas, Francis Lederer, Lya Lys, Dorothy Tree, Henry O'Neill, George Sanders, Henry Victor, Grace Stafford and hundreds of others.

"The Lady's From Kentucky," the associate film, is a down-to-earth story of a gambler and a lady, told in a warm manner, punctuated by the thrills of Kentucky's Derby Day excitement, and seasoned with the comedy of Hugh Herbert and Zasu Pitts. George Raft is the gambler; Ellen Drew the lady.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"The Ice Follies of 1939," with Joan Crawford, James Stewart, Lew Ayres, Lewis Stone and the "International Ice Follies," with Bess Ehrhardt, Roy Shipstad, Eddie Shipstad and Oscar Johnson, will headline the bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. A picture designed for the entire family, "Ice Follies of 1939" has everything in the way of entertainment. There are breath-takingly beautiful Technicolor skating scenes, a story with a Hollywood background that permits intimate glimpses of studio life. Special comment should be made on the elaborate ice spectacles, filmed in Technicolor, featuring the original Ice Follies Troupe. Specialty and group numbers, executed on wet ice to give a mirror effect, are breath-taking in their beauty. This is especially true of the Indian Ballet which features, in addition to champions Bess Ehrhardt and Roy Shipstad, a chorus of 24 girls.

"On Trial," with Margaret Lindsay, John Lidel, Janet Chapman, Edward Norris and James Stephenson as the players, will be the second feature on the program starting today. "On Trial" is one of the dramatic hits of the year.

HAVE YOU A NEGLECTED FATHER IN YOUR HOUSE?

FATHER'S DAY IS SUNDAY, JUNE 18

All year round do you take father for granted—like, let's say, the front door mat?

It's no crime. Most families do. But once a year—on Father's Day—there's a chance to show how much you think of him.

For as little as $2, you can make him happy as a lark. That will get him an Arrow shirt, and it's the best-looking shirt there is.

The minute he puts it on, he'll notice how much better it fits. That's because the Arrow Mitoga design slopes with his shoulders and curves with his waist.

When he gets his tie tied and looks in the mirror, he'll get a kick out of that well-fitting Arrow collar. Arrow collars are cut right. They ought to be. We've sharpened our skill on two billion of them.

ANNUAL LUNCHEON OF EN KA

Street Fair Made $3,117.24

The annual luncheon and business meeting of the En Ka Society was held on Friday, June 9, at the Winchester Country Club with 82 members attending. The head table was beautifully decorated with spring flowers and corsages of roses were at each end of the table. Individual nut baskets shaped as sun-bonnets carried out the motif of the Country Street Fair.

After an enjoyable luncheon Mrs. Guy B. Howe, the president, declared the business meeting in session. She welcomed the provisional members into the Society and expressed delight at the large number of members assembled. Annual reports of the treasury and treasurer were followed by those of the committees.

Mrs. Carl H. Bolter, chairman of the Meetings Committee and responsible for the artistic decorations and luncheon that day, reported an interesting and busy year serving the Society at four meetings and a Provisional members tea.

The hospital committee also reported. Mrs. E. Ober, president, expressed her thanks to the girls who carried on the hostess work at the hospital so efficiently throughout the year.

Membership committee, Mrs. Harold Dwyer, chairman, spoke of questionnaires sent to all resident members to determine the type of work they preferred, of new booklets and the four new members who had completed the provisional year and were now eligible for active membership.

Mrs. J. Warren, Shoemaker, Mrs. Fred E. Ritchie, Mrs. Wilfred L. McKenzie and Mrs. Richard Wilder, Mrs. Francis Bolter, all of the Civic Committee, gave a very gratifying report; work done for the Winchester Welfare, typing, filing and soliciting for both Community Fund Drives, providing entertainment and furnishing transportation when needed at the Home for Aged along with holidays, anniversaries and birthdays being remembered by greeting cards and flowers.

Also gifts of money were sent to the following: $25 to Miss Minna B. Noyes, former adviser and honorary member of En Ka; $25 to Winchester Welfare at Christmas; $10 to Ellsland Council of Boy Scouts and $50 to the Red cross for hurricane relief.

Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, Finance Committee chairman spoke of further repairs at the Home for the Aged, thus completing the renovation of the roof, also of the installation in the pantry of a large and much needed steam cabinet for keeping dishes and food hot until ready to serve. At the hospital the slip covers in the En Ka room were renewed, two metal dish sterilizers were purchased along with curtain partitions for six semi-private rooms to give added comfort and necessary privacy.

The Winchester District Nursing Association was given $100 and the Winchester Community Chest, Inc., $200 to be used exclusively for the Hospital and Home for Aged.

The Recreation Centre was given $200 for a series of five dances and a Christmas party, also a gift of $10 was given Mr. William Parker to make possible and inaugurate a twilight field hockey team for girls and young women.

The highlight of the meeting was, of course, the report of Mrs. A. Allen Kimball, the very capable Ways and Means chairman who thanked her committee for their splendid work and the society at large for their interest and co-operation. Prolonged applause greeted the announcement of the 1939 Street Fair profit, $3,117.24.

The Nominating Committee, Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth read the equally important and interesting ballot:

President: Mrs. Charles H. Bolter.
Vice President: Mrs. Harold F. Meyer.
Secretary: Mrs. Samuel D. Cole.
Treasurer: Mrs. L. Eaton.
Ways and Means Committee: Mrs. Allen P. Lindblad.

Finance Committee: Mrs. Harold B. Richmond.
Hospital Committee: Mrs. Edwin W. Zimmerman.
Civic Committee: Mrs. Eleanor Dowd.
Membership Committee: Mrs. Clara C. Clarke.
Chairman: Mrs. Harold Bates.
Mrs. Gordon H. Smith.
Mrs. Alvin S. Menez.
Meetings Committee: Mrs. H. B. Palmer.
Nominating Committee: Mrs. George Collins.
Chairman: Mrs. Francis Bolter.
Mrs. Alvin M. Littlefield.

Mrs. Howe graciously presented the new president, Mrs. Wadsworth with the gavel which she responded by speaking of her gratitude for the honor and trust she had accepted and hoped she might worthily follow in the footsteps of her predecessors.

A rising word of thanks was given to Mrs. A. Allen Kimball for her splendid chairmanship of the 1939 Street Fair and to Mrs. Howe, the retiring president of En Ka.

LINCOLN HOUSE PLAYERS

At Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chidley's Home

Staged against the natural setting of rock and trees in front of Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chidley's home in Winchester "King Lear" will be presented at 8:30 p. m. on the evening of June 22 by the Lincoln House Players of Boston. Under the direction of Miss Ruth Elder, the play is a shortened, fast-moving, highly dramatic production that cannot fail to be convincing to even the most hardened cynic of amateur staging of Shakespeare.

Residents of Winchester who dug down into their trunks for old bedspreads and table cloths are scarcely likely to recognize the former property in the costumes of the actors, skillfully cut and dyed under the supervision of Miss Marjorie Hamilton, costume director. The accessories, including the famous crown of peacock feathers, plus papier mache and metallic paint—armor (Have you ever seen a "tailor-made" of armor hammered and cut and fitted from sheet tin by members of Lincoln House).

The switchboard which controls the elaborate lighting effects has already attracted the attention of light experts, claiming that the experts might have been the aim of the Lincoln House young men, for the Board, constructed on a frame of old steel cots, is being praised as more flexible than that of the average professional theatre.

APPEAL BOWLING ALLEY LICENSE GRANT

Taxpayers living in the vicinity of the proposed bowling alley at 66 Swanton street, for which a license has finally been granted to Salvatore Marchese, have appealed from the action of the Board and have lodged a protest with the Town Board of Appeal, the members of which now have the matter under consideration.

According to the plan of the Star, 16 property holders with property having an assessed valuation of $91,000 on which they pay taxes totaling $2,484.08 object to the granting of the license for a bowling alley nearby, claiming that the alley will create a noise nuisance and have other harmful effects upon the neighborhood, causing depreciation of their property and consequent loss of revenue to them and to the town.

Protestants to the granting of the license claim that a large majority of those owning property and paying taxes in the vicinity of the proposed bowling alley oppose the plan. A hearing on the matter was held by the Selectmen this spring at which there was a large attendance. After some delay the license was granted. An attempt to secure such a license had previously been made by Mr. Marchese and denied by the Board on a split vote, reported to have been three to two.

Under town by-laws the granting of which is discretionary with the Board of Selectmen. Just what the Board of Appeal can do about the matter is conjectural.

TOWN EMPLOYEES TO HEAR PENSION EXPERT

On Wednesday evening, June 21, the town employees will meet at the town hall to hear the contributory pension system, which Winchester has voted to accept, explained by Kenneth H. Damren, county personnel director of the Division of Accounts at the State House.

Mr. Damren will explain in detail the various details of the contributory pension system and answer such questions as may be asked of him by any present. Preliminary steps toward enrolling the town employees in the system will be taken at the meeting but the system will not be operative in town until after July 1.

After that date the employees will choose a representative to be a member of the town's pension committee, of which seven Audite, southern and northern are already members. Mr. Priest and former Selectman Vincent P. Clarke are already members. Mr. Priest holds membership on the committee, ex officio, and Mr. Clarke was chosen to serve on the committee by the Selectmen.

FILLING UP MYSTIC LAKE

Dredging operations in Mystic Lake have run into some difficulties. The gravel which is being excavated sinks out of sight in the soft mud. Nearly all the dirt thrown up last week sank into the mud. The mud being lighter than the gravel used by the system will not be operative in town until after July 1.

It is fortunate that the original plan of dredging the water and then taking the mud out with a steam shovel were not attempted. The shovel would have gone out of sight in the soft mud. The warnings of old time residents about the condition of the bottom of this lake were finally heeded.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Watkins of Ridgefield road opened their summer home at Gloucester this week.

GHIRARDINI-McKEE

A marriage having much Winchester interest took place in St. Paul's Church, Hingham, Thursday evening, June 15, when Miss Dorothy Geradine McKee of Thaxter street, Hingham, became the bride of John Raymond Ghirardini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini of Foxcroft road. Attending her as bridesmaids were her cousin, Miss Ruth McKee, Miss Barbara Gorman and Miss Frances Handrahan, all of Hingham; Miss Catherine Lally of Dorchester; Miss Jeannette Angelo of Cambridge and Miss Angelo W. Ghirardini was his brother's best man and Harry C. McKee of Hingham, brother of the bride, headed the brides corps, the other member of which were H. Russell Taylor, Jr. and Francis Felt of Winchester, Dr. Albert S. Murphy and Robert Warren, both of Boston and John Traggard of Mansfield.

The bride wore a plain fitted gown of ivory slipper satin, made with long vionnet sleeves, a court train and small lace collar and yoke. She wore a matching lace Juliet cap with her long veil and a cluster corsage of orchids. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and valley lilies. The honor maid wore gray over pink, and the bridesmaids, fuchsia over pink. All wore picture hats to match their dresses and carried old fashioned bouquets.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the South Shore Country Club. Upon their return from an extended wedding journey which is to take them to New York, Washington, Virginia, Lake George and Ogunquit, Me., Mr. Ghirardini and his bride will make their home in Winchester.

The bride is a graduate of Hingham High School and of the Cathedral of the Holy Spirit, Worcester. Mr. Ghirardini attended Winchester High School, Worcester Academy and University of Vermont.

Mrs. Jones was born in Sabot, Va., and spent her early childhood there. When a young woman, she went to Danville, N. J., where she met Mr. Jones and was married in 1901. She lived in Methuen, and about a year later came to Winchester where they have since made their home.

A. A. U. MEET AT LEONARD FIELD POOL

One Record Broken, Two Established in Fine Competition

"You have one of the finest outdoor pools in New England," said "Eddie" Murphy, representative of the New England A. A. U. at the conclusion of last Saturday afternoon's swimming carnival at the new Leonard Field Swimming Pool. "Only at Needham," he continued, "is there one like it."

Competitors attracted from Greater Boston and more distant points echoed Mr. Murphy's sentiments and gave an even stronger endorsement of the Park Department's most recent addition to the town's recreational facilities by breaking one record and establishing two more over the 50 meter course, marked with regulation lanes and stationary platforms.

Joe Jodka of Lawrence churned through the clear water of the pool in the open 100 meters breast stroke to lower the record from 1m 21s to 1m 19 2/5s. Winning the Massachusetts State 40 yards free style championship in impressive fashion, sturdy Bob Donnelly of the Worcester Boys' Club established a record of 5m. 38 2/5s, last Saturday, marking the first time this event had been contested over a 50 meter course.

The meet's other record was established by Ruth Howarth of the Whitin C. A., who swam the 100 meters backstroke for the Massachusetts State title in 1m 26 2/5s. Miss Howarth also won the N. E. A. U. Junior 100 meters breast stroke championship in 1m 37 1/5s.

Dorothy Leonard, classy swimmer from the Winchester W. S. A., also classed the field in the 100 meters free style for women, a scratch event, winning in 1m 12 4/5s. Priscilla Walker of the Boston Swimming Association won the novice event at this distance, and Catherine Kennedy of the same association, the 50 meters free style for novices, 15 and under. Helen Carroll of Winchester, swimming under the banner of the Boston A. A., was entered in the novice event, but was barred because she had won prizes in previous competition.

Ralph Gossler of Pawtucket, R. I., won the N. E. A. U. Junior 220 yards free style championship in 2m 43 4/5s, and Al Nadeau of the Lowell Y. M. C. A., the 100 meters free style novice event.

About 500 persons attended the carnival which was sponsored by the Park Department and personally supervised by the commissioners, George T. Davidson, Fred Alexander and Rev. William S. Parker. Superintendent Thomas McGowan was in charge and was assisted by employees of the Park Department. Herbert Holm, president of the New England A. A. U. was referee. ## LEXINGTON LIONS MEET MILLIONAIRES

Next Wednesday evening, June 21, the Lexington Lions' baseball team comes to Winchester for a game with the Millionaires on Manchester Field at 6:30. The Lions play in the Suburban Twilight League and are considered a strong club.

WOBBURN WON BATTLE OF CUBS

The South End Cubs rode to a 2-1 victory over the Winchester Cubs Tuesday evening at Leonard Field on the big bat of bulky Fran Maher, veteran outfielder, who homered in the first and scored the winning run after doubling in the 6th.

Aside from Maher, the Woburns found Peter Provinzano, freshman right-hander of the locals hard to hit, getting only four hits altogether. Murray, who worked for the visitors, was tight in the pinches and though Winchester had the tying and winning runs in the 7th, couldn't deliver.

Manzie doubled in the 7th with two away and rode home on Murray's triple over Duffy's head in very short right. DiMinico hit for Provinzano and rapped to Murray who crashed Murphy at the plate, on a foolish attempt to score. Rallo hit safely and there were two on with two out. Kinton tried hard but his long drive to right center was taken by Maher to end the game.

The Cubs had runners on second and third in the 6th, but Tony De-Teso, over-eager, popped up to Duran. Maher went to third on Duran's scratch hit to Sam Provinzano, a slow half fly on which Sammy wasn't fast enough. The run counted on John Murphy's hoist to Kinton. The summary:

MILLIONAIRES LOST AT ROSINDALE

The Winchester Millionaires lost their game to the Mt. Hope A. A. Sunday afternoon at Rosindale, 7-6. Playing loose ball behind their kid right-hander, "Bob" Farrrell. The locals out-hit Mt. Hope 16 to 10, and had a 5-3 lead going into the 7th frame. In the 9th the Millionaires staged a rally but scored only one run which wasn't enough.

"Tom" Donaghey, local third baseman was forced out of the game when he was hit a hard smash in the face by a ground ball that hopped poorly. The force of the blow nearly put Donaghey out of the picture, and he was removed to the fieldhouse where ice packs took down the swelling and relieved the pain. He returned to Winchester with a cut under the eye and a real "shiner" which however was not expected to have any serious results. The summary:

The Police have this week consumed not a little time that could have been spent to much better advantage breaking up the premature touching off of fireworks about town. Many people undoubtedly feel that two days of detonation and reverberation are quite enough without having an open season for explosions starting about a week before the 4th and lasting through the Fourth of July. Elderly and sickly people subscribe wholeheartedly to this view, while other less hardy souls who have reason to wonder whether one's patriotism is in direct ratio to the amount of racket he can make by exploding salutes off and on for about three weeks.

It seems a situation that could easily be corrected and it is surprising that the authorities permit it to continue to the annoyance and discomfort of many citizens.

"While Administration economic imbalances are soaring on golden wings in the clouds of dreams and theories, while plausible forecasts are harangued from platforms and the selfish, subservient politician with his ear to the ground is listening to detect the direction of popular movement to learn on which side the fence it is expedient for him to jump, how good it feels," Daniel C. Dennett, of Winchester declares in a letter published in the New York Herald Tribune on Monday, "to feel one's feet on the solid earth as one recalls once more the wholesome counsel and common sense of Calvin Coolidge, who said, 'I favor the policy of economy, not because I wish to save money, but because I wish to save people. The men and women of this country who toil are the ones who bear the cost of government. Every dollar that we carelessly waste means that their lives will be made much more difficult. Every dollar that we prudently save means that their lives will be much more abundant. Economy is idealism in its most practical form.'"

SOCRATES SAYS-

"THE MERCHANTS OF SPENDING"

The trial of "The Merchants of Spending" has been set for the late fall of 1940. Whether America will be sentenced to a third term, for New Dealism, or the "Gold Division" of '33, with the '39's, will be adjudged as squatters, or share croppers—is to be determined.

The probabilities are that the jury of voters may well decide that the last course will never be handed over. It appeared smart to play "follow the leaders" when they had something to give you, but it will appear smarter not to when it comes time (through confiscatory taxation) to pay the bill. America will be found the innocent bystanders of "New Dealism," the "Merchants of Spending" will be found guilty, and the gold will be "laughed up" from the hole in Kentucky to be mined again in "them thar hills" of commerce.

CONGRESSIONAL PENSIONS

It has been suggested that congressmen be pensioned after 20 years' service. One argument is that due to their service in public life they thus find it difficult to earn a livelihood when they return to private life. This is claimed as especially true concerning lawyers.

Recognizing the great desirability for "abundant life" and economic security, and not wishing to suggest opposition to the general theory of pensions for congressmen, there are, however, one or two ideas that might be considered.

So far as the public well is concerned, why wait 15 or 20 years in all cases? Is it not possible that great public benefits might occasionally be obtained if pensions were offered only after one year's service now and then?

As to their inability to earn a livelihood later in private life, may it not be possible that occasionally a congressman could be discovered as unable to earn his livelihood before he became a congressman?

Further if a congressman has served 15 or 20 years, he may rest assured that during that time some of the very acts for which he has voted are responsible for many of the difficulties he finds later in private life.

Is it not possible that should every legislator be assured of his own economic security for life; that even greater recklessness in unsound laws might result?

Perhaps it is worth consideration to wonder if it would not be wiser, from a sound government standpoint, to consider public service as a "trial period" and public servants to be pensioned according to good behavior while "up the river"—Potomac.

From a practical standpoint, let the W. P. A. decide each case.

LECTURE BY WINCHESTER ENGINEER

To the Editor of the Star:
The possibility of stopping recurring industrial depressions by applying the economic philosophy of Henry George is arousing a wider and wider circle of profound interest. In Boston, Arlington, Brookline, Cambridge, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Winchester and Revere, branch classes of the New York Henry George School of Social Science have been in session during the past season. These classes, for the public, are a part of a great national movement directed by leading educators, with John Dewey, President of Columbia Teachers College, as honorary president. The objective is to educate the American people in the fundamentals of economics and social philosophy in a way which will be interesting and clearly understood by the average citizen, who may not have studied economics, or who has found economics too "dry" reading and so very theoretical.

Last Tuesday evening, June 13, an illustrated lecture showing the practical application of the Henry George Plan was given by Mr. W. L. Upton, a resident of Winchester, at the Gleason School, West Medford. The lecture was free to the public and attended by many residents of Boston and adjoining cities. The local Winchester branch class of the Henry George School of Social Science attended.

Mr. Upton is an engineer with a wide experience in the metallurgical and chemical fields. Last winter he attended the local Winchester branch class. He was very skeptical of the theories of Henry George, and had a multitude of critical questions during the first few lectures. However, the end of the course found him willing to concede that Henry George's plan for stopping recurring industrial depressions—preventing the increase of poverty in the midst of plenty—remedying the unemployment situation—is theoretically sound. However he was not at all sure that the plan was practical, so he decided to make a complete analysis of the Town of Winchester and apply the ideas of Henry George. At the completion of this arduous piece of work Mr. Upton was thoroughly convinced that the Henry George plan is most logical and entirely practical, and of great benefit to the people as a whole, and in particular to the taxpayers.

Those attending Mr. Upton's lecture were amazed at the thoroughness with which his data and information was presented.

Every thinking person knows that something is basically wrong with our national economic system. Poverty in the midst of plenty—so many millions unemployed not only in the United States, but throughout the world. Everyone has been searching for the cause of this situation. The Henry George School of Social Science considers that they have found the proper solution to our economic ills and the way to protect and further our great democracy. They know the way to eliminate the havoc of undeclared wars, the armament race among peace-loving nations, and the taxation turmoil that appears to be ever present and increasingly pressing.

These classes, expounding the principles of Henry George, are free to all to learn of a simple solution to set in motion a business boom of greater magnitude than this great country has ever known. No subtle isms are taught—only sound common sense, basic laws, simple ethics, and one justice. The rights of property and the rights of men are specifically studied and discussed.

Most of the local classes will soon recess for the summer. Those desiring information as to where and when the classes will re-open may obtain full information from the secretary, Mrs. Francis Goodale, 79 Webster road, Weston, Mass.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the "Union Signal" of Jan. 28 appeared the following article, short, but arresting.

Cause and Effect?
A fire recently gutted the building in Digby, Nova Scotia, which had housed the Government Liquor Commission store, leaving the town without such conveniences (?) for a time. A press correspondent to Forward, published at Truro, N. S., reported that the local merchants of Digby claim that the business had improved since the fire, particularly over the week-ends.

Is it only a coincidence?

In 1938 there were 6912 children enrolled in Massachusetts State-supported hospitals for crippled children.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Camp Fellsland

A group of 41 leaders held a working week-end at Camps Fellsland and Ellis, the local Boy Scout Camps in Amesbury, and started the construction of the new flush toilets. This is the major camp improvement for this year, and is being constructed under the guidance of H. Vernon Harrington, chairman of the Council
Health and Safety Committee and Norman Houghton, member of the camp committee. This installation involves the sinking of a new well, erection of a new pumping house laying of 400 feet of piping, building four washstands, setting up three bubblers and building two new toilet buildings.

Other projects worked on during this past week-end were the re-modeling of the old craftsman into a recreation hall for this summer, and the re-building of the old Seaside Ship into a craft and nature building. The camp infirmary is now up and span, dressed all in white, both inside and out. A new baseball backstop and a new coal bin were also constructed during the week-end party.

The enrollment in both the Scout and Cub Camps is especially good at this date. Word has just been received at the Scout office that many others are planning to enroll. Those who plan to go to camp for any specific week should get their applications in immediately as two of the weeks are practically filled at this time.

George Nelson, who was formerly the assistant camp director, and who directs the Mt. Washington trip each year, has informed the Scout office that he will be at Camp the last week in July, and during his stay the camp will again conduct its annual hike to the top of Mt. Washington. This is a two day trip and very intensive.

Only strong and healthy boys with a good P. E. I. rating are allowed to take this trip, as it calls for stamina and strength.

CONFIRMATION AT ST. MARY'S

Three hundred and four, the largest class yet presented, received the sacrament of confirmation Monday afternoon at St. Mary's Church from Bishop Robert Emmett, S. J., Bishop of Puerto Rico.

The altar of the church was beautifully decorated, and a musical program was presented by a choir of children from St. Mary's School.
The direction of the Sisters of St. Joseph with Mrs. Florence Fisher Reardon, organist. Mrs. William F.
Hickey of Edgell road was godmother for the girls and Mr. Hickey, godfather for the boys. Following is the program:

"Come Holy Ghost"
"Faith of Our Fathers"
"See the Parable Descending"
"Confirmation Hymn" by William Cardinal
O'Connell
Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament
"O Salutaris Hostia"
"Adore Te Devote"
"Tantum Ergo"
"Agnus Dei"

its kind in the United States.

RED FLAME SCORED AGAIN

The Plymouth Theatre in Boston, where many a professional play has been staged, was the playhouse for a night of the Winchester Unitarian Players, when they again presented "The Red Flame" to a completely sold-out house on June 8. The Boston University College of Practical Arts and Letters sponsored the affair, the proceeds to go toward a cornerstone of the proposed theatre in connection with the Drama department.

The cast was the same with a few substitutions in minor roles; there were a few changes and additions in the lines which seem to point it up more successfully and several costume changes which added to the character in good measure. The big stage and perfect acoustics added much enjoyment to the musical score and the songs were clear and understandable. Needless to say, the cast, all seasoned trouper now, performed with credit.

Different arrangements of the settings, with some new scenery that was necessary in view of the large stage, gave the depth and meaning to several scenes that could be only suggested on our local stage. New sound effects and the inclusion of a group of professional dancers also were highly successful.

Dean T. Lawrence Davis spoke briefly, introducing several who had been instrumental in the play's success and President Marsh of Boston University also spoke from his box of his appreciation and enjoyment of the show. Mrs. Larz Anderson, author, appeared on the stage for a moment to acknowledge the well-merited applause.

There were a number of Winchester people present, among them Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs.
Theodore von Rosenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Godwin, Mr. and Mrs.
George R. Vining, Mrs. Ethel Barnard,
Mr. Richard Barnard, Mr. and Mrs.
George Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. Dermot
W. H. Townley-Tilson, Miss Florence
Watters, Mrs. Robert S. Clark, Mrs.
Irving Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hill and Mr. Guy B. Howe.

by genial "Big Mike" Connolly, who did a land-slide business as he towered above the crowd.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, BOSTON, MASS., JUNE 5, 1939

Thousands of Christian Scientists, meeting in Boston, Monday, June 5, challenged a troubled world to change its perspective from a material to a spiritual basis in its search for release from pressing economic and political problems.

The occasion for the great influx of the followers of Mary Baker Eddy was the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, which was filled at an early hour in the afternoon right up to the center balcony under the very dome of the great edifice. Through an entire afternoon's round of addresses and reports from the field, the power of the Christ, Truth, to lift individuals above the ills of human sense was acknowledged and the same spiritual power was recommended for the healing of the nations and the establishment of a permanent world peace.

Looking beneath the surface ripples of troubled international relationships apparent in the world today, The Christian Science Board of Directors saw the deep-running currents of spiritual progress "keeping alive the vital realization of spiritual truth which Christian Scientists must always nurture, whether their work be along the specific line of healing or in the important channels connected with home, church, business, and government."

Church Progress Reported

Various reports heard during the afternoon cited specific instances of spiritual enlightenment actively at work among the nations today. One revealed that the "inner work" being carried on with greater success or along broader lines than it is today.

Benefit to World Sought

Continuing, the Directors said: "Surely in this period of unsettled world conditions our prayers are most essential, and each one of us should ask himself if he is doing all that he can to meet the aggressive suggestions of error, which would try constantly to intrude, and if he is working to help spiritualize thought, thereby correcting the generally accepted material beliefs."

Announcement of new officers constituted the main business of the day.

meeting, George Shaw Cook, C. S. B., of Brookline, was named President for the ensuing year to succeed Ralph H. Knapp of Needham. Edward L. Ripley, of Brookline and Ezra W. Palmer of Marshfield were re-elected Treasurer and Clerk, respectively.

The President is elected by The Christian Science Board of Directors for a one-year term, his chief duty being to serve as presiding officer at the Annual Meeting.

Mr. Cook is a native of Iowa, moving to Chicago at an early age where he received his public school education. Entering the commercial world he became a partner in a firm dealing in investment securities. He became interested in Christian Science in 1885, was class taught by Edward A. Kimball, C. S. D., served as First Reader of Fifth Church of Christ, Scientist, Chicago, and served successively thereafter as Committee on Publication for Illinois, member of the Board of Lectureship, First Reader of The Mother Church and Associate Editor of The Christian Science Journal, Sentinel, and Herald which position he now holds.

Appreciation of Founder

As incoming President, Mr. Cook directed attention to the place that Mary Baker Eddy holds in the movement as Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. Genuine appreciation of the revelation of Christian Science, he said, can come only through a proper appreciation of the Revelator.

Because Mrs. Eddy was firm in her stand for the Christ-idea, he said, Christian Scientists are privileged to meet in Boston today and rejoice in the continued growth of The Mother Church during the last year "both spiritually and numerically."

In handing over the meeting to the new President, Mr. Knapp traced the growth of spiritual healing from the Resurrection down to the revelation of Christian Science.

Growth of Membership

Analyzing what Christian Science means to Mother Church members, Mr. Palmer, in the Clerk's report, pointed out that "Christian Scientists follow their Leader when they obey the Manual of The Mother Church, uphold The Mother Church and its branches, and heal the sick by prayer. The Bible and Mrs. Eddy's writings contain the primal and ultimate facts of being, which heal ills, and usher into human consciousness the fulness of salvation."

Other speakers alluded to world unrest as indicating the need and growing demand for spiritual inspiration and refreshment. Mr. R. H. Harney, Publishing Society, for instance, referred to the occasion of the world becoming, perhaps more than ever before, "the arena for conflicting forces" (Science and Health, p. 96) as an opportunity, welcomed by the Publishing Society, to meet humanity's need through spiritual enlightenment. This is being done, he said, through the use of the "ever-present perfection of God's spiritual universe, or a healing demonstration over some manifestation of present-day discord."

Favorable Legislation

C. Augustus Norwood, Manager of Committee on Publication, emphasized the growing favor of legislators toward the simple, yet sound proposals of Christian Scientists. This favor is most apparent, he said, "when legislators are fully informed about our aims and purposes."

Removal of restrictions on the free practice of Christian Science in Texas, was cited by Mr. Norwood as a notable legislative victory of the last year.

An added note of progress was sounded in the report of Miss M. Rosamond Wright, Manager of the Department of Branches and Practitioners, showing that 688 practitioners and 83 nurses were officially recognized during the year. Lecturers also pointed to a definite quickening of public interest in messages given by them everywhere in the civilized world.

"Church edifices and public auditoriums," stated Robert Stanley Ross, Chairman of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, "heretofore adequate in size, have been unable to meet demands for seats in the last year." Large and attentive audiences were reported to have attended lectures in Germany, without government interference of any kind.

MISS PALMER LEAVES HIGH SCHOOL

Resigning After 48 Years' Service

With the closing of Winchester High School today, Miss Eva M. Palmer, head of the mathematics department and dean of the teaching staff, severs her active connection with the school after 48 years of continuous teaching service, said to be the longest time any teacher has taught regularly in the school's history. In accordance with Miss Palmer's wishes no public recognition of her resignation and years of service to the school and town is being made.

Miss Palmer's parents were Rev. Edwin Beaman and Thirza Meryman (Field) Palmer. She completed her education at home under the tutelage of her father who was pastor of the First Congregational Church in Ipswich and subsequently from 1885 until his death in 1904, treasurer of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society. Her father tutored her until she entered Manning High School in Ipswich and she has always felt that her unusually good preparation for high school work was due entirely to the expert instruction she received at his hands.

After graduating from high school Miss Palmer was graduated from Boston University, subsequently returning to U. S. or post graduate courses and taking additional courses at Harvard. She came with her family to Winchester in 1885 and in 1891 was appointed a teacher in the Winchester High School at a salary of $200 per year.

This munificent remuneration was doubled her second year and for a time she taught such college preparatory subjects as mathematics, English and Greek. She had specialized in mathematics at college, and during the years that Robert Metcalf was superintendent of the Winchester schools she was placed definitely in this department which she has headed since 1917.

In that year the position of Dean of Girls was created at Winchester High and Miss Palmer was chosen as Dean, continuing until 1936, since when there has been no such position.

From the time she came to Winchester until the death of her husband, Francis, on April 28, 1934, Miss Palmer made her home in the house on Dix terrace, designed by and built for her father. For the past five years she has lived in Stetson Hall, in 1934, and she has been teaching in the high school. Miss Palmer was honored with a big reception, attended by faculty and school committee members and many former pupils.

MUSICAL DEBUT

A very interesting Muscleda was given at the home of Miss Margaret Alexander on Monday evening when Miss E. Margery Caruthers made her debut as 16 year old pianist.

A group of 40 friends and music lovers lent their hearty appreciation to the program, which was charmingly rendered. Tokens of flowers from friends, added much to the setting of the "happy social hour" that followed. This is the last of a series of three recitals given at the home of Miss E. Margery Caruthers, the program follows:

To a Wild Rose ..... MacDowell
Waltz in A Flat ..... Brahms
March from ..... Chopin
Russian Romance ..... Rimsky
Waltz in D Flat ..... Schumann
Reverie ..... Liszt
Polichinelle ..... Rachmaninoff

BREAK SUSPECTS LOCATED

One of a pair of young men said by the police to be implicated in the break discovered early Monday morning at the Soony Filling Station operated by Robert E. Shaw at the junction of Washington and Forest streets, was interviewed yesterday morning by Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy of the Police Department at Station 15 in Charlestown after being in the lineup at Headquarters in Boston.

The young man, picked up by the Boston Police Wednesday night, gave his name as Sgt. Cassidy as Charles J. Kenney, 19, of 18 Chelsea street, Charlestown. He said that he and a companion, who he said was Edward J. Miller, 21, of 12 Seaver street, Charlestown, participated in a series of gas station breaks and had broken into the Highlands Station, but had thought at the time that the place was in Stoneham.

Kenney described the break to Sgt. Cassidy and admitted taking $2.85 from a metal money box in the desk at the station. In reply to a question he said that he and Miller were frightened and did not bother with some slot machines near at hand.

Kenney, Miller and the latter's brother were stopped Tuesday night by Quincy police while driving an automobile through that city three on a seat. Miller was driving and was caught by the Police, Kenney and Miller's brother escaping.

Miller had no license and was being questioned by Police when news of a gas station break in Quincy came in. According to the Police, Miller admitted that he and his two companions had been responsible for the break.

Charles Miller was also communicated with the Boston Police who picked up Kenney and Miller's brother Wednesday night. According to the local authorities only Kenney and Charles Miller were involved in the break at the Shaw station.

Since Quincy has first claim upon the young men they are being returned to that city where the Police are holding Charles Miller. The Winchester Police say they will seek to indict him and Kenney by the grand jury on the charge of breaking and entering and larceny. Lowell, Waterbury, Medford, Malden, Somerville and Stoneham are waiting for police say, to press similar charges.

DYSON—TANNER

At St. John's (Episcopal) Church in East Boston Saturday evening, June 17, Miss Virginia M. Tanner, daughter of Mr. Elmer F., and the late Grace Tanner of West Eagle street, East Boston, became the bride of Chester F. Dyson, son of Mrs. Herbert Dyson of Bonad road and the late Mr. Dyson. Rev. Philip Anthes performed the marriage ceremony, and the organist was Miss Dorothy Eaton of this town. Miss Marion Dyson of Winchester, sister of the bridegroom, sang "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond and Reginald De Koven's "O Praise Me" from the opera, "Robin Hood."

Miss Tanner, who was given in marriage by her father, had for her honor attendant Miss Arlene Leary of East Boston. Bridesmaids were Miss Grace Tanner, Miss Marie Tanner, Miss Mildred Tanner, all of East Boston; and Miss Phyllis Darling of Medford. Harry Dyson of Melrose was his brother's best man and the ushers were William McElwain of Lynn, George Butler, John Hines and Charles Hoff, all of Medford.

Miss Tanner wore a gown of white marquisette and lace, made with a close-fitting bodice, puffed sleeves and full skirt. Her finger-tip tulle veil was arranged with a cap of lace and orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of valley lilies with an orchid center.

The honor maid wore a dress of aqua lace and net with a small matching hat and carried blue and yellow snapdragons. The bridesmaids wore frocks of sunflower yellow lace and net with shoulder lace tulle veils held in place by clusters of yellow flowers. Their bouquets were similar to that of the honor maid.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Fiske Hall in East Boston. Upon their return from a honeymoon spent in Virginia and Maryland Mr. Dyson and his bride will make their home in Winchester.

The bride was graduated from East Boston High School in 1932 and from the Alice Darling Private Secretarial School. She was secretary of the Atlas Enterprise Travel Company in Harvard Square, Cambridge; is former president of the East Boston Junior Home Club and past president of the Seventh District Junior Past Presidents' Club which is affiliated with the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs. Mr. Dyson, who is a graduate of Winchester High School, is manager of the Kennedy Store at Davis Square in Somerville.

Nyros of 192 Center street, Quincy.

According to the Police Nyros was driving north on Highland avenue and was making a left turn to go south on Forest street when the accident occurred. Both machines were damaged, the Oldsmobile having to be towed away.

Miss Hennelly was taken by James Cullen to the Winchester Hospital where she was treated by Dr. P. J. McManus for injuries to both knees, a severe shaking up and nervous shock.

WHITE—BROWN

Palms and cut flowers decorated the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church on Saturday afternoon, June 17, for the marriage of Miss Ruby A. Brown of Wyman court, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Brown, to Paul Maurice White, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. White of Cliff street, Arlington. A former pastor of the church, Rev. Allison E. Gifford, performed the ceremony at 4 o'clock, and the wedding music was played by Miss Mary H. French, the church organist and choir director.

Miss Brown, wearing a princess style gown of slipper satin with a long train and veil, and carrying a shower bouquet, was given in marriage by her father. She was attended only by Miss Alma Natalie Strout of Lynn who wore an aqua chiffon dress with a shoulder length tulle veil and carried a bouquet of roses.

Walter P. Hatch of Medford was Mr. White's best man and the ushers, headed by Marvin Cadman Brown of Melrose, brother of the bride; included Robert Inman of Peckskill, N. Y., Frederick Paine of Newton and Linwood Foster Brown of this town.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Upon their return from a wedding journey Mr. White and his bride will spend the summer at Hamilton.

Miss Ruth A. Foster, daughter of Mrs. Malinda A. Foster of Mystic Valley Parkway, and John D. Palace, son of Mrs. Annie Palace of Wilmington, were quietly married at high noon on Saturday, June 17, in Brookline by Rev. LeRoy W. Coons.

Miss Foster was attended by her sister, Mrs. Linda F. Hamblin of this town, and Jerome P. Foster, all of this town and brother of the bride, was best man. A luncheon was served the immediate families and a few intimate friends at the Shaker Glen House, after which Mr. Palace and his bride left upon a motor trip to the Cape.

The official Harvard crimson kerchief was adopted by the governing board in 1910 as the standard college color.

Newton won first prize in the 10th annual city health contest in 1938 for United States cities with a population of 50,000 to 100,000.

MILLIONAIRES WON GRUDGE GAME

Winchester Millionaires had no trouble at all winning their "grudge" game from the Lexington Lions' Club team on Manchester Field Wednesday evening, 10-2. The visitors were so confident of their ability to take the lions that they asked to play for side bets which were promptly forthcoming.

The Millionaires teed off on Hutt in the second, scoring eight runs and putting the game on ice. The veteran, "Olio" Lee, and "Joe" McKee divided the pitching assignment for the Millionaires and found the visiting batters not too potent. "Joe" Dineen, Tufts regular first sacker, played second for the home team and batted for 1,000 with three out of three. "Red" MacDonnell was the Millionaires' fielding star, but had to divide honors in this department with Pessia, underslung second sacker of the Lions, who accepted 10 of 11 chances, reminding one of "Bob" Burns a few years ago. CUBS PLAY TWO

The Winchester Cubs have two games scheduled for Leonard Field next week. Tuesday evening they will play the Arlington Pals, a team that defeated them earlier in the season, and on Thursday evening, the Melrose City Club will be the attraction. Manager Marone is trying to bring good attractions to town and his Cubs are playing aggressive ball. He did, however, make few friends for his team when he called off his game with the Stenham Cubs after seven short innings Tuesday evening with the score 2-1 for him and plenty of good daylight left for at least nine frames.

TO LEAD KIMBALL TRACK TEAM

William E. Spaulding, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Spaulding of Main street, has been elected to captain the track team at Kimball Union Academy in Meriden, N. H. Spaulding, a sprinter, will be a senior at Kimball next year.

Lee relieved "Charlie" Johnson who had pitched good ball through the early innings. The locals scored all their runs in the 4th and led, 4-2, going into the 6th. Flag and J. Mullen got six of Newton's eight hits and Rusty Donaghey two of the Millionaires' four safeties off Vail. The summary:

CUBS WON 2-1

With big "Lab" Gaudioso pitching, one hit ball the Winchester Cubs won a 2-1 verdict over the Stenham Cubs on Leonard Field Tuesday evening.

Much to the disgust of the fans, most many of the players, the Winchester management called the game after seven innings with plenty of daylight remaining for the regulation nine innings.

The game was very fast up to the time it was called and there at the field would like to have seen it go to a real decision. The way Gaudioso was going the Cubs had little to worry about. The summary:

KENNEY ON GLOBE TEAM

Captain "Ed" Kenney, star shortstop and captain of the Winchester High School championship baseball team, had the distinction of being chosen as shortstop on the Boston Globe's current honorary "all schoolastic" line.

Kenney, who concluded his schoolboy career this June, has been the pick of the shortfielders in the Middlesex League for the past two seasons and one of the best in the schoolboy ranks in the Mystic Valley during that time. He is a very smooth workman, a flossy fielder and has a fine throwing arm. At the bat, while no slugger, he is still a pretty fair hitter and a lot more dependable than his .264 average would indicate. He has been working out with the Red Sox at Fenway Park this spring and is well thought of by some of the wise ones.

Aside from Kenney, "Tony" DeToro, fiery litb catcher, was the other member of the current high school team to catch the eye of the Boston newspapermen, being chosen backstop on the Post's third team, and receiving honorable mention on most of the other clubs. "Tony" is much better than Kenney, but is inclined to be a bit over-eager for the best interest of his fielding average. It is interesting to note that few of the Boston sportswriters gave any Winchester pitcher ever honorable mention, yet in "Charlie" Johnson, "Al" Dimicco, "Roubie" Farrell and "Don" Thomson the locals had as strong a mound staff as any schoolboy club in Greater Boston.

"I thought I knew all about automobiles!"

A LOT of folks have had their eyes opened wide by a ride in a 1939 Ford V-8. They just didn't realize how much more value and how many improvements we've put in this car the last few years.

Today's advanced Ford is a product of progressive engineering, fine materials and honest construction. It is backed by an experience of building far more cars than anybody else in the world.

One ride in today's Ford — with its smooth 8-cylinder engine, stabilized chassis, hydraulic brakes — will prove it's the modern car in the low-price field.

Well—we have another Social Security fine. This is because our "contribution" was not filed in time. Evidently they intend to sock us and keep on socking us until all our great wealth is properly distributed among the more abundant old natives of this free and equal United States. This time they have included the Little Woman in the inditement, so we suppose we had better hustle up and make the "contribution" pronto, for we cannot have her going to jail for our misdeemeanor. We got off easy at that, for we only have to pay a five per cent penalty. The poor fellows who are paying this fine, and paying it promptly, are sure the ones who are being soaked.

With the closing of high school today Miss Eva M. Palmer, head of the mathematics department, concludes her active teaching career after 48 years of continuous service to the school. Nearly half a century is a long time to give to any occupation, and especially to the arduous and nerve-racking job of teaching. Yet from the way in which she has discharged her duties, from the joy she has expressed from time to time in her work and from the zest she has maintained for teaching through the years, we do not hesitate to say that she is resigning with genuine regret, a regret, incidentally, that is shared by her present and former pupils, faculty associates and all friends of the school. We suspect Miss Palmer has gotten a lot of pleasure out of teaching and that she would not trade her years in the classroom and study-hall for anything. Her liking for and understanding of young people has enabled her to assist them in many ways aside from her profession which she has always practiced most ably. Here is the satisfaction of a good job well done and the realization that influence is bound to linger long in the school for which she has labored and of which she has been a part for so many years. Miss Palmer is the last of the high school staff to leave the old school on Church street. She has bridged the years between the "old days" and the new. Her valentidore teams with pleasant memories, happy associations and the affection and best wishes of two generations of pupils everywhere.

WITHOUT EXPERIENCE OR LEARNING

The following extract is reprinted from the speech of Clayton Rand, Guilford, Miss., publisher and columnist, at Wednesday's Kiwanis meeting:

"As the President packs the United States Supreme Court with a number of young and brilliant legal lights, upstarts who have neither the experience nor the learning and character that come with seasoned charges our forefathers laid at the feet of their King in the declaration, 'He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices.'"

"There isn't any moral or legal distinction that can be made between Mexico's expropriation of oil properties and haciendas, and TVA. The only difference is that the Mexicans are stealing the property of foreigners and we are stealing the property of our citizens, and where our government is not openly expropriating, it uses the more insidious method of taxation."

"I have said before and I think with truth that this nation which was discovered by Columbus, made independent by Washington and freed by Lincoln is being mortgaged by Franklin D. Roosevelt."

SOCRATES SAYS—

LEVERETT SALTONSTALL

Watch Leverett Saltontall gain national recognition. He was elected Governor of Massachusetts to clean house and to conduct the administration of government the way the people want it done.

New Dealers are yelling "purge," which can only mean that they approve of the way things have been done. Politicians are yelling against the tax proposals, which can only mean that they approve of the wasteful spending of previous administrations.

Governor Saltontall is doing a very courageous thing. He is bringing out into the open the exact problems that are facing every citizen in the State. The taxes that affect rents and every necessity of life are really for the first time being shown to the citizens.

Leverett Saltontall will probably be drafted for even higher public service, for he is forcing economy and fighting for law and order.

MORAL EVASION

Congressman George Bates brought out in the House the tax evasions in certain States where expositions are granted on homes, industrial plants, and other kinds of property, thus aiding them in getting federal New Deal grants on the grounds of their inability to pay relief. This is a "moral evasion" of their just share of the cost of government, which adds to the burdens of States like Massachusetts.

Such States as Louisiana and Mississippi, strong New Deal backers, practice such tax evasions. Is it possible that the political phrase "redistribution" means to cover such practices—or that "moral evasion" does not include this type?

Someone of these days, along the fall of 1940, the citizens of America will issue a mandate, and the "date" will be with the man or men who had the plan.

In Massachusetts, if a citizen fails to pay his full taxes, he loses his home—then goes on relief if he can. Evidently some States, exempt up to a certain amount, then look to States like Massachusetts to make up the balance. If this is a New Deal, let's go back to the horse and buggy.

A GASPING SPELL

At Sioux City, Sept. 29, 1932, Franklin D. Roosevelt said, "I accuse the present administration (Hoover) of being the greatest spending Administration in peace times in all our history."

In the seven lean years since the stand at Sioux City, in 1932, the first and second "year plans" have spent billions upon billions of the people's money, greatly increased taxation and more than doubled the national debt.

On May 22, 1939 President Roosevelt said, "We are the conservatives, because we simply cannot bring ourselves to take radical chances with other people's property and other people's lives."

This situation requires far more than a "breathing spell," we are now gasping.

The President further stated that not to continue spending would be "playing a speculative hunch." It is meant that seven years of unbelievable spending, with a promised continuation of the same policies (with eleven million still unemployed) was not "speculative" or a "hunch"—if deliberate and well thought out it would have worked.

A plan that is tried for seven years and does not bring desired results, can only be called a "speculative hunch." If the itch to spend is continued it cannot be classed simply as the seven-year type—for it has become chronic.

THE SEVEN LEAN YEARS

President Roosevelt denounced President Hoover in 1932, blaming him for the depression, for unemployment, and for not doing something about it. President Hoover, being able to understand the cause of the depression; namely, world-wide economic conditions, had made great progress through orderly deflation. In June of 1932, President Hoover issued the "Smear Hoover Campaign" started by the belief in New Deal success gripped the people, and all progress stopped. (The superstitions that appear in all depressions were rampant.)

Now in 1939, seven lean years later, with unemployment great, if not greater, with taxes higher, national debt doubled, and standards of living lower, President Roosevelt has at last discovered that the economic problems of the United States will never be solved until world stability is achieved, world trade recovered, and political stability restored to Europe. The first definite proof of this came out in April 1939 when a White House spokesman said "Our political and economic well being is made less secure with each new foreign aggression." The final proof, of course, came with the Roosevelt "note" to Hitler and Mussolini.

History will place President Hoover as having one of the greatest intellects of modern times, a married president, and it will ponder as to why the people did not understand, especially those that were called New Dealers, for they had "a plan" (in 1932).

SAVINGS DRAFT

It is beyond the imagination that any citizen in the Congress of these United States should pass without one dissenting vote a proposed measure that would confiscate for 50 years at one per cent, part of the savings of all United States citizens.

In the case of war, whether we participate again in some European brawl or not, any citizen whose total property—home, savings, life insurance policies, automobile, or anything else—worth $100.00 or more, would be forced to buy 50-year bonds paying him one per cent interest, from five per cent of his entire savings and personal property up to 45 per cent.

If this should become a law, millions upon millions of dollars in the aggregate savings of the people would, of necessity, be sold—dumped upon the market—to pay this tax.

The results of this forced selling would so depreciate values that the panic of 1929 would look like a boom. Tax on incomes is one thing, but in this case, the cash to pay it with is available only by the sale of pure confiscation of property, and it would wreck the value of every savings account and life insurance policy in America, for the savings of the people are invested by the banks and insurance companies in the very stocks and bonds that investors must sell to pay such a tax.

This Congressional Committee should be told that they should stick to military strategy, and not attempt to outflank the New Deal in finding ways to dissipate the savings of the people.

When another war is forced upon America, it will be paid for by all other wars have been—through patriotism. The only possible excuse for this proposal is that the Military Committee is becoming worried that the New Dealers have so soundly defeated the old policy that it will be necessary, in case of war, to tap their personal property to pay for it, even their watches, family pictures, or what have you?

THE SALARY GRAB

To the Editor of the Herald:

As a former member of the House and the Senate I was astonished as well as disturbed that members of the lower house would vote for a large increase in their own salaries at this time. I hope the Senate will not follow suit.

A recent editorial in one of the Boston papers said: "It is a mighty poor set of men who not only raise their salaries 50 per cent, in a period of economy and financial distress, but lack the courage and decency to come forth and try to justify their actions." They were apparently ashamed to have their vote recorded. That was a cowardly act.

One of the reasons for a biennial session was that it was a move to reduce the expenses of the Legislature. People who voted for it believed that there was no need of having a session every year, and it would not only be a saving in expenses, but it would be a great relief to the average citizen to feel that he had a breathing spell between the action of one Legislature and the next one after it.

The members of the Legislature knew when they were elected that the salary was $2000, and these are not times when salaries in general are being raised. On the other hand, where it is possible they are being reduced. Now to come in and ask for an increase of 50 per cent, or even 25, or 10 per cent, shows a lack of real co-operation with many leading men of the state who are trying to reduce our expenses and lower our taxes.

The session need not be any longer this year than it was last year and they should not draw another cent above what they did last year. Then, if it is necessary to have a special session for any extraordinary occasion, let them be paid per diem for the time they are actually in session. After thinking this over I hope they will discontinue pressing this question and not put the Governor in a position where he must veto or approve such a bill.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

The Better Homes Garden Club met in the art room of the Winchester Library on Wednesday, June 22 at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Arthur P. Teele, Northeastern Regional Vice President of the Federated Garden Clubs was introduced by Mrs. Norman Mitchell. Mrs. Teele is an enthusiastic speaker and her criticisms of the arrangements of flowers brought in by club members proved very helpful and enjoyable. She stressed the importance of structural line in all flower arrangements. Much to be desired was of course the Hogarth line of beauty (the "S" curve). Once a line is established, she advised flinging into the arrangement heavy round blooms, considering always the grouping of colors.

For accents, mullen, veronica, astilbe, columbine, lemons, buds and flowers could be used to advantage at this time of the year with the flowers blooming now.

Her advice in preparing flowers for shows was very helpful. Arrangements should always be firmly anchored in the correct type of holder. Imperfect material should never be used in shows.

In pitcher arrangements, it was important to select material that followed the "pour" of the pitcher. Balance and having the handle showing, were of equal importance, with the heavy colors massed low in the design.

In the difficult table arrangement, she illustrated deftly, with the material at hand, a rather low arrangement beginning with three simple accents and with a design to stimulate an interest in what was on the other side of the bouquet.

The rules of one and one half times the height of the vase in vertical designs, and one and one half times the width of the diameter of the vase, in horizontal ones, was still a good one to follow. She encouraged however the development of individuality in all arrangements. Stands for vases were now not only allowed in flower shows, but were considered important in many instances, she said.

Mrs. Teele is a vital speaker and her ready wit and sound advice made the afternoon a most enjoyable one for the members of the Better Homes Garden Club.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Packed with musical, romantic and comedy thrills, "Broadway Serenade," starring Jeanette MacDonald, opens Friday at the Granada Theatre, Malden for an engagement of seven days. Definitely one for the "must see" list, "Broadway Serenade" hasn't missed a trick in including all of the elements of top flight entertainment. Not in recent months has Miss MacDonald had the vocal or dramatic opportunities that this new production affords her. Rich in elaborate stage numbers, tempered with a good down-to-earth story revolving about a girl who climbs from singing in cheap night clubs to musical comedy stardom, "Broadway Serenade" contains every conceivable element of entertainment. In his role of Miss MacDonald's composer-pianist husband, Lew Ayres demonstrates stardom in a few short moments. Comedy is split three ways between Frank Morgan, as a Broadway producer, Virginia Grey and Rita Johnson, chorus girl who vie for his affections. An interesting third point to the romantic triangle is provided by the dependable Ian Hunter.

Striking a keynote of distinct originality, "Tell No Tales," featuring Melvyn Douglas, will be the second feature opening Friday at the Granada Theatre, Malden. The film proves to be dramatic entertainment of the highest order, replete with breathless and suspenseful action. It's one of the most unusual dramas ever to reach the screen. Five separate stories of characters are told, each intensely dramatic in itself, and all building to a high climax of action and drama. The picture reveals the efforts of Melvyn Douglas, as a doggedly determined reporter, to bring to justice a group of criminals guilty of a murder and kidnapping. Ever a master of the dramatic form, Douglas turns in one of his most moving and convincing performances in the role of the reporter. Louise Platt is the engaging love interest, with Gene Lockhart, Douglas' flamboyant, Florance George, Halliwell Hobbes, Sara Haden and Hobart Cavanaugh holding the supporting cast.

MORE WORK FOR THE MAP-MAKER

Map-making business is booming, as the world's new boundaries, canceled countries, and potential danger spots are more and more charted in the daily press, in magazines, and in books. Maps serve today an astonishing variety of purposes, points out the National Geographic Society. In such contrasting interests as travel, education, war, adventure, and safety, the "map" have become available in thousands of millions of copies. In addition to political maps showing the latest changes in history-in-the-making, there are road maps, "geologists' and aviators' maps. Aerial mapping and photography are even used now to aid traffic authorities in cutting down accidents and relieving street jams in crowded cities. Yet, despite the fact that the ancient Egyptians, Greeks and Romans knew various forms of mapping it was not until after the world learned to print, in the 15th century, that maps became a part of everyday life. The comparatively few maps of the Middle Ages were more religious than geographic. Some of them showed Jerusalem at the center of the world, and cherubs and dragons decorated many examples of the early map-maker's imaginative art.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

The power and sincerity of a magnificent portrayal by Wallace Beery, the camera magic of director Josef von Sternberg, the crackling action with which he has infused his film, and a group of inspired performances by a trio of young secondary leads make "Sergeant Madden," the feature attraction opening a week's engagement at the Strand Theatre, memorable and thrilling entertainment. Story of the New York police, "Sergeant Madden" presents Beery in the title role as a thirty-year veteran of the force. He is that Irish cop to the life. His despair is his son, Dennis, played by Alan Curtis, a hot-headed young "smart guy" who knows a quicker way to success than his father's plodding methods, but runs afoul of the law and becomes a snarling, defiant criminal. Curtis, as a result of his work, becomes the season's finest young menace. Laraine Johnson, as the adopted daughter who marries Curtis, and Tom Brown as a gripping climax when Curtis, a fugitive from justice, dares to visit his wife and newborn son in a New York hospital while Beery waits outside to take him bare-handed.

The second feature with "Sergeant Madden" to start Friday at the Strand Theatre, Malden, will be "The Story of the Star," the latest in the series of popular stories concerning the wise-cracking girl reporter, Torchy Blane, played by Gladia Farrell and her friend and sweetheart, Barton MacLane, as police detective.

"ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL" AT THE UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The great love that inspired a dreamer to span continents with human voice is the motivating influence of America's most thrilling story—that of Bell and the invention of the telephone in Dury! F. Zapp's production of "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell" coming Sunday to the University Theatre. The deafness of the lovely Mabel Hubbard inspired the dreamer and eager scientist to his miraculous achievement—the human voice spanning continents through a copper wire! Don Ameche portrays Bell in the film, with Loretta Young as Mabel and Henry Fonda as Tom Watson, Bell's assistant.

Two comparative newcomers to screen ranks, Alan Curtis and Laraine Johnson, with outstanding opportunities in "Sergeant Madden," modern story of the New York police, the associate film, with Wallace Beery in the title role.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Hands Across the Table" co-starring Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray and "Four Men and a Prayer" featuring Loretta Young, Richard Greene, David Niven and C. Aubrey Smith.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Camp Fellsland

The personnel of the Staff at Camp Fellsland this year is as follows: Scout Executive Edward W. Nelson will again serve as Camp Director. Edmund C. Bray, instructor at the Stanton Preparatory School of Cornwall, N. Y., will again serve as Assistant Camp Director. This will be Mr. Bray's 18th year in camp. Doug has Raymond, famous athlete and captain of the B. U. Track and Cross-Country teams, will again have charge of the physical fitness testing, as well as serving as Scoutmaster of Division A. Mr. Raymond is now a teacher in Auburn, R. I. Richard Tilden, physical director of the Middleboro Y. M. C. A., will be returning this year to serve as Athletic Director with Doug Raymond, and will also serve as Scoutmaster of Division B. John Donlan will take over the waterfront this year, and will be assisted by his brother Paul. John is now a student at Tufts College, and Paul a student at Harvard University. Both Paul and John are from Medford. Emmons Douglas of Medford will be in charge of the camp office and trading post. White law Wright, Jr., of Winchester will be in charge of the mess hall and ride range. Robert Millican, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 3, Winchester, will be the first aid and public health director. Paul Butterworth and Ralph Jury, both of Winchester, will be the handicraft men, with Paul in charge. Jack Cushing of Medford will be the maintenance man. Jimmie Weaver of Winchester will be in charge of nature study. Leo Treacy of Winchester and Leo Young of Medford will serve as helpers in the kitchen.

Miss Anna Little, the favorite of past campers, will again return in charge of the kitchen. Mr. Earle Doyle, instructor at the Poughkeepsie Business School at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., will be in charge of Camp Ellis for the younger boys. He will be assisted by J. Roulston Kingston, Jr., of Medford, who served in this same capacity last year.

A new development at Camp this year will be the Ranger Unit for older and experienced campers. This group will select a new camp site every week, where they will have meals at least twice daily. This is a new adventure at Camp Fellsland and has been developed to take care of the demand of old-time campers to have a special division developed for them. Equipment will be issued from the trading post, and the boys with their leaders will set up their own equipment under the leadership of Bob Wheeler of Medford. Many good things are planned for this Unit. Only sound physical boys with proper previous camp training will be allowed in this division.

Both Camps Fellsland and Ellis will open with a bang on Sunday, July 2, and according to early registrations there should be a full camp through the entire summer. Applications for these camps must be made through the Scout Headquarters (located on South Border road) for all Fellsland Scouts and Cubs. Mr. Edward Nelson, the Scout Executive, and Miss Louise Campbell, the office secretary, are both willing at any time to give additional information to the parents of any boy registered as a Cub or Scout.

The first of three automobile accidents reported to the Police over the holiday week-end took place at 10:30 Friday morning when Esther Cummings of 16 Cabot street, while riding a bicycle west on Mt. Vernon street, rode into the rear of a Plymouth sedan, driven by Kathryn R. Boulter of 349 Pleasant street, Malden, who had stopped her car and was waiting for a green traffic light. The bicycle only was damaged and no one was injured.

Friday afternoon at 3:35 Robert W. Kitchin of 10 Winthrop street reported to the Police that a Pontiac sedan he was driving south on Highland avenue was in collision just north of the corner of Appalachian road with a Brookway truck driven by Florrie A. Kelly of 83 Highland ave., Arlington, who was headed south on Highland avenue and making a left turn into Appalachian road. No injuries were reported but Kitchin's machine was so badly damaged that it had to be towed away.

Saturday evening shortly after 8:30 an Oldsmobile sedan, driven by Folke H. F. Gronquist of Wellesley avenue, Burlington, while crossing Church street from Fletcher street to Bacon street, was in collision with a Plymouth sedan, headed south on Church street and driven by John A. Williams of 26 Wedgewood avenue. After the collision the Williams car tipped over on an Oldsmobile sedan, driven by Donald E. Curten of 54 King street, Weymouth, who was stopped facing north and waiting for a green light. All three cars were badly damaged, the Williams machine having to be towed away. Rid in this machine with two other young men was David Harris of South street who complained of injuries to his left shoulder and right knee. He was taken in the Police cruiser to the office of Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne.

As far as Mr. Shaw could determine after a checkup only some money from the sale of newspapers kept in a small metal box in the desk was missing.

CHARGED WITH THEFT AT BEGGES & COBB

Two Winchester men were arrested by Sergt. Joseph Derro and Patrolmen Joseph L. Quigley and John J. Murray at a home on Loring avenue early the holiday morning after the Police allege they had stolen several lengths of brass splitting machine rolls from the lower end of the Begges & Cobb shop on Swanton street.

Officer Quigley was notified by one of the shop watchmen that two men had been seen leaving the yard gate with something in their hands and had run up Loring avenue toward Cross street. Sergeant Derro and Officer Quigley investigated in Patrol 51, and discovered two men examining the rolls in the cellar of a house on Loring avenue. One of the men was taken into custody by Officer Quigley, but the other resisted arrest and during a scuffle is alleged to have punched Sergeant Derro, breaking his glasses.

Sergeant Derro finally subdued the man and he and his companion were taken to Headquarters, Sergeant Derro and Officer Quigley being assisted by Officer Murray. According to the police they admitted the theft of the brass rolls from the shop.

Both were charged with larceny, the additional charge of assault on a police officer being lodged against the man who resisted arrest.

In the District Court at Woburn Monday morning Justice Henchey found both guilty and imposed sentence of two months on the man alleged to have punched Sergeant Derro, giving his companion, one month. Sentence on both was suspended for six months.

WEEK-END FIRES

The first fire of the holiday week-end was discovered at 5:53 Friday afternoon by Fireman Alexander W. MacKenzie, who was on duty at the desk in headquarters and was able to see the curtains blazing at the home of Mr. Daniel W. Langill, 11 Mt. Vernon street, next door. The fire, the origin of which was not known, was quickly extinguished with slight damage.

Saturday at 6:12 p. m. Box 411 was sounded for a slight fire in the insulation of a telephone wire which caused a flash from a vent pipe at the Texaco Station on Main street north of the square. Charles A. Murphy, one of the proprietors of the station, had extinguished the fire before the arrival of the apparatus.

Sunday at 6:44 Engine 1 went to Woburn to cover in at headquarters during the big fire at the Jacquith grain shed on High and Prospect streets. Incidentally this fire was first discovered and the alarm sounded by Howard Ambrose of Hancock street, a member of the Winchester Engineering Department.

MACDONALD-CALLAHAN

Miss Margaret Giles Callahan, daughter of Mrs. Francis Callahan of this town, formerly of Brookline and the late Mr. Callahan, was married Saturday afternoon, June 17, to William Colin Macdonald, son of Mrs. Colin William Macdonald of Brighton and the late Dr. Macdonald. The 3 o'clock ceremony was performed in St. Mary's Church and a reception followed at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Guglielmo Cini of Winchester.

The bride wore a gown of pink net. Her sister and only attendant, Miss Eleanor Giles Callahan, was gown in blue chiffon. Joseph Winkler Downes was Mr. Macdonald's best man.

Massachusetts, in 1912, was the first State to adopt effective billboard regulations.

WYMAN PROGRAM

The children of Miss Wallace's sixth grade in the Wyman school presented a program on the lawn of the school on Thursday afternoon, June 15. Their presentation was the culminating activity of a study of the Middle Ages. It was divided into two parts: first, the showing of exhibits made, and second, the giving of three original plays. The exhibit consisted, first of all, of a large castle with surrounding castle walls, church, storehouse, moat and bridge, drawn to scale. Other scenes showed a knight's vigil, a serf's house, the armory. Robin Hood's first meeting with Little John, and a tournament.

The second half of the program was devoted to the giving of three plays, the first, "The Kitchen Knight" by Barbara Booth. The other two were written by members of the sixth grade, depicting scenes from the adventurous life of Robin Hood. Original stories and poems were also read at this time.

With the completion of Marionettes by Miss Chapman's fifth grade, a Marionette show was given on Wednesday afternoon, June 14, in the school hall. The puppets, their costumes and even the stage itself were all constructed by the pupils. Three original plays were presented, in conjunction with the study of the South, during and after the Civil War. An interesting feature was the opening of the curtains at the end of the program, showing the children working the puppets.

MODERN ITALY-GERMANY YOUNGER THAN U. S.

As united, centralized nations, Germany and Italy are both younger than the United States. It was not until 85 years after the American Declaration of Independence that the modern kingdom of Italy was formed by the union of various small Italian states, says the National Geographic Society. Victor Emmanuel II, formerly King of Sardinia, was crowned its first sovereign. Still later by another decade was the modern German Empire cemented together under Prussian leadership in 1871. First Emperor was William I of Prussia. On the other hand, in terms of racial and political history, Italians and Germans both look back on a past many centuries old when the Phoenicians landed in New England. Rome once ruled an empire from England to the Persian Gulf, including the Mediterranean and the countries that rimmed it. The Teutons had their "innings" in the Holy Roman Empire of the Middle Ages, when their domain stretched from the Baltic and North Seas to the Mediterranean, and half-way down the Italian boot.

ERADICATION OF RAGWEED

The campaign for the eradication of Ragweed in Winchester has begun. The Better Homes Garden Club plans to make it one of their major projects. To make it a real success, the co-operation of all the men, women and children in Winchester, is earnestly requested. Plans are being made in next spring's campaign to enlist the good services of the Girl and Boy Scouts, the Board of Health, school nurses, teachers and pupils will be asked to assist in educational lines.

In pulling up the small rag weed plants now, before they pollinate you will be doing your bit in ridding the town of this dangerous weed. You will find rag weed anywhere and everywhere, but it grows unusually abundantly in newly broken ground. This year especially where so many tree stumps have dislodged the earth, rag weed will flourish as never before.

The whole rag weed plants pull up easily with the roots but should not be pulled after mid August, as pollen is produced from mid August to late September. Along highways and lanes and in vacant lots plants should be mown down now and again in mid August.

Millions of people in the United States suffer from Hayfever and Asthma, due to wind borne pollen of rag weed. America is the home of rag weed. Hayfever is more prevalent in the United States than in any other country in the world. In some states the cutting of ragweed is obligatory by law.

Quoting from the Health Bulletin of the Brookline, Mass. Board of Health:

"Brookline has been destroying rag weed for the past 10 years. Reports from this town are, that the Hayfever victims are practically free from the symptoms if they stay in town during hayfever season."

Stoughton, Mass., is another town where eradication is making splendid progress.

Begin now and pull up rag weed whenever you see it.

Leaflets with pictures of this weed and other hayfever grasses, may be had free, at the Winchester Star, the Winchester Library, the Public Health Center and Mary Spaulding's Book Shop.

For more detailed information call Mrs. H. T. West, Win. 112-W, chairman of Committee of Eradication of Rag Weed, Better Homes Garden Club, Winchester.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

On page 15 of the May issue of "Our Message" Dr. Izora Scott, the Temperance National Legislative chairman, is said to have "ably represented the W. C. T. U. and the National Temperance and Prohibition Council at the hearing of the subcommittee of Senate Inter-State Commerce on S. 517, the bill of Senator Johnson of Colorado against advertising of liquor. Some of the important reasons she gave for the favorable consideration of the bill were: It is objectionable to the family circle because it comes into the home with insidious education of the children to accept the product as wholesome and harmless; because it comes at all times, day or night, mingled with all kinds of programs, often following a Sunday morning sermon with an invitation to drink some kind of beer; because it violates the Federal radio law as to "public interest, convenience or necessity" and because the promotion of consumption of liquor results in keeping with the declared objective of the 18th Amendment as set forth in President Roosevelt's proclamation of December 5, 1933 where he stated that "the policy of the government will be to see to it that the social and political evils that have existed in the pre-prohibition era shall not be permitted to exist."

DYNAMITE—FOR PEACE

Nearly 500,000,000 pounds of explosives annually ride the railroads of the United States. These explosives are placed in an inner compartment, surrounded by an outer wall making a second compartment in which hot water has been poured.

Mr. Davis died Friday morning, June 23, at his home after a two weeks' illness. He was born Feb. 13, 1869, in Newmarket, N. H., son of Charles and Abigail (Drew) Davis.

Later he was associated with the Banking House of Lee Higginson & Co. in Boston, serving as confidential secretary to Mr. Henry Lee Higginson. He was for 15 years secretary to Mr. John D. Mr. Davis came to Winchester 35 years ago and maintained his residence here during the 15 years he was in Mr. Rockefeller's service, returning to town after his resignation. He was widely known and highly esteemed, having been actively identified with the Crawford Memorial Church, of which he was a member, singing for 12 years in the quartet at the old church on Mt. Vernon street, later serving as trustee and for the past few years having been a member of the Official Board.

He was an active member of the Sons of the American Revolution and at the time of his death was governor of the Colonial Wars Society of New Hampshire. MISS PALMER GUEST AT TEA

Miss Eva M. Palmer, retiring head of the mathematics department at Winchester High School, was guest of honor at a tea given Wednesday afternoon in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Dutch on Herrick street.

Tea was served after an informal half hour in the garden and over the tea, Mrs. Lucius Smith, representing the committee of high school alumni who arranged to honor Miss Palmer upon the completion of 48 years service, presented the retiring teacher with what she happily termed a "graduation present," a huge box gift wrapped in white.

The box contained letters of greeting for Miss Palmer, gathered by the committee and written by former pupils far and wide. A substantial gift check from the same source was presented by Mr. Dutch, who reminisced delightfully about the old days with the class of 1897 and paid high tribute to the instruction in Greek he had received from Miss Palmer.

The entire affair was most informal, both Mrs. Smith and Mr. Dutch being humorously "heckled" by the guest of honor who simply refused to take any words of praise for herself or her services seriously. She was, however, very gracious in receiving greetings and sincere expressions of appreciation from the present high school student body, brought to the tea by David Riley of the class of 1939.

The committee in charge of the testimonial to Miss Palmer who had herself absolutely refused to permit anything of a public reception nature, included Mrs. Smith, Miss Helen M. Menzies, Kenneth F. Caldwell and Charles R. Main. Assisted by interested friends, they compiled a list of 2500 graduates, scattered all over the country, to whom letters were sent.

Miss Palmer received greetings to Miss Palmer and contributions to her present.

Miss Henrietta Garner, Miss Palmer's companion and friend for the past 41 years, coming from Virginia to enter the Palmer household on Dix terrace at the age of 18, was not forgotten by the committee. Miss Garner, who still serves Miss Palmer in Stonington Hall and who is characterized as a "true friend," was sent a handsome bouquet of flowers. Ladies at Wednesday's tea were given attractive little old fashioned bouquets.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Dutch, their daughters, Misses Marie and Miss Elizabeth Dutch, Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. James J. Quinn, High School Principal and Mrs. Wade L. Grindle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Main, Miss Helen M. Menzies, Miss E. E. Emerson, David Riley, Mrs. Daniel C. Dennett, Mrs. Lucius Smith and the honor guest, Miss Palmer.

FIREMEN OF 1914 CONFAGRATION FORM ASSOCIATION

More than 25 men who assisted in fighting the Salem fire of 1914 gathered at the Central fire headquarters on Church street, Salem, yesterday afternoon, formed an organization to be known as the "Fire Association of Salem" and elected David D. Courcy, chief of the Winchester Fire Department, as its first president.

Box 48, for which the association was named, was the box from which the alarm was issued on the day of the conflagration, June 25, 1914. Joseph H. Flynn, chief of the Salem fire department, was elected vice-president, while P. Hildreth Parker, of whom, who battled the fire as a member of Engine 6 of Boston, was named secretary-treasurer.

Firemen who fought the big blaze 25 years ago were on hand from Salem, Newburyport, Winchester, Boston, Swampscott, Danvers, Peabody, Reading, Manchester and several other cities and towns. Each man was given an opportunity to tell the assembly of his experiences while fighting the fire.

Chief Flynn opened the meeting and then turned the chair over to Mr. Parker who introduced the various speakers and told the gathering of the plans to form a permanent organization, the "Fire Association of Salem," to visit his city often.

The mayor invited the visiting fire-fighters to call on him at his office when they pay a return visit to Salem. He would be pleased to greet the gentlemen who assisted us in our time of need."

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Eight members were absent from the meeting of June 29, one of whom has already made up for his absence.

There were but two visitors present at this meeting, one from Massachusetts and one from California. And so the Atlantic greets the Pacific over a span of 3000 miles. We also had the pleasure of entertaining seven guests.

George Reed is enjoying his summer period of relaxation. He will return for regular attendance in September. Also Harry Winn is out of town for a brief interval. Church Hinde figures that the Fourth of July merits a seven day celebration and will conduct himself accordingly. George Welsh, too, will disport himself over the holiday and—well, the writer submits apologies to those club members whom he has overlooked. May they enjoy their outings to the utmost.

Our District 196 will carry on during 1939-40 under the guidance of Reuel W. Beach of the Rotary Club of Cambridge, District Governor-elect. "Bill," as he is known to his intimates, is president of the Cosmos Press of Cambridge, has been a Rotarian for 14 years and has served in many official capacities.

We look forward to his inauguration including the presidency of 1937-38. He is especially interested in boys work activities. Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and is a savings bank executive. We look forward to a highly successful administration for Governor "Bill" and we shall do our best to assist him to this end.

Our guest speaker at the current meeting was Hon. William E. Kane, Mayor of the neighboring city of Woburn. Mayor Kane, as a result of the novel tactics he has used for the purpose of reducing municipal expenses, has become one of the best known names in the United States and his services have been recognized appreciatively in all parts of the country and several foreign cities.

Naturally there has been more or less criticism of such features as inoperable in portable iron cages, oversized mounted police, school teachers with unproductive pay-days, etc. But Mayor Kane can submit substantial reasons for these bizarre performances and, best of all, can point to a reduction of some seven dollars in Woburn's altitudinous tax rate, undoubtedly as a result of his ability to bring home to his constituents a real and sane economy.

At the necessity of correcting long-standing abuses, Winchester Rotarians are most grateful to hear a first-hand explanation of Mayor Kane's methods and his reasons for them. We know that there is much more of this work to be done and that Woburn is by no means the only field for action. We shall follow the Mayor's future career with much more than ordinary interest.

And now "Happy New Year" is in order for Rotarians here, there and everywhere. Of course there will be good resolutions all along the line. May we have the energy and enthusiasm to keep them.

Percentage Attendance, June 22, 1939—94.12 per cent.

KING LEAR PRESENTED TO CAPACITY AUDIENCE

Played before a full house, or, to be more exact, a full driveway, "King Lear" held sway at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Chidley on the night of June 22, under an audience of approximately 350 people.

Irring Berlow, as Lear, was a powerful and yet pathetic figure in his flowing white robes, with his long white hair tossing in the breeze. Scene after scene, mood after mood, he carried his audience with him—in dignity, anger, sorrow, and finally madness. George Kyrton, playing Kent, was a forceful figure, too, putting into the part its innate strength and loyalty. Yolanda Brizuglio, with the gentle grace of her movements, and the soft purity of her voice, was an ideal Cordelia.

Goneril (Sophie Mantos), regal and treacherous; the Fool (Richard Valton) and the rest of the cast, all members of Lincoln House settlement, gave ample support to the production, which showed, as it swept the audience through the gamut of emotions, the result of its intensive and dynamic direction by Miss Ruth Elder.

Mary Lyon, founder of Mt. Holyoke College, was born in Buckland.

PREMONT-KILCOYNE

In St. Patrick's Church, Stoneham, on Saturday, June 24, the birthday of her mother, Miss Esther Lorraine Kilcoyne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kilcoyne of Emerson street, Stoneham, became the bride of Archie Joseph Premont, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Premont of Eaton street, Rev. William Conley performed the marriage ceremony at 9 o'clock and also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed. Joseph Murray, church organist, played the wedding music and Miss Mabel Cotey of Winchester sang "Ave Maria." "O Lord I Am Not Worthy," "Just For Today" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother." The church was decorated for the marriage with peonies, roses and ferns.

Miss Kilcoyne's honor attendant was her sister, Miss Anne Regina Kilcoyne. Miss Ethel McPartlin and Miss Grace Hogan, both of Woburn, were bridesmaids and Miss Claire White of Woburn, small cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Joseph Premont of this town was his brother's best man and the ushers were William White of Woburn, cousin of the bride, and James Conley of Reading.

The bride wore a gown of white silk organza over celanese taffeta, made with a train, and a long tulle veil arranged with a coronet of orange blossoms to form a short face veil. Her flowers were white carnations and babies' breath in a shower bouquet. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in aqua mousseline de soie over satin with matching halos and carried old fashioned bouquets. ### ARLINGTON EDGED CUBS

A big first inning and three runs enabled the Arlington A. C. to win its return game from the Winchester Cubs Tuesday evening on Leonard Field, 5-4. The locals out-hit Arlington and made fewer errors, but both local boys were costly. "Al" DiMinico pitched his usual good game, but had bad luck, though his states staged a rally in the 9th that fell just one run shy. The summary:

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB HITS MID-SEASON STRIDE

Busy Week-end of Sailing and Celebration Planned for the Fourth
By Telette

Winchester may lack the salty atmosphere of Marblehead or Gloucester but it can brag just as loud about its fleet of fast-sailing boats and their weather-beaten skippers. Anyone who cares to make a story by the middle of the Mystic Lake on a Saturday afternoon or Sunday morning and see most of the Winchester Boat Club's flotilla of Snipes working around the triangular course with all the earnestness and probably more enthusiasm than America's Cup Defenders.

Snipes are perhaps the most popular and certainly one of the largest official classes of small racing sailboats. They measure 13½ feet overall, carry both a mainsail and a jib and are usually handled by a skipper and a one-man crew. Winchester can be proud of these trim little boats, not only because they bring a clean and stimulating activity to our town but because they add an extra touch of color to the already picturesque Mystic Lakes. The sight of a dozen or more boats in racing formation, all heeling to the breeze on a windward beat, is bound to bring a gasp of admiration from passing motorists.

The result of last week-end's racing are a sample of what can be enjoyed simply by finding a good vantage point on the shore of the second lake any Saturday afternoon at three or Sunday morning at 10:30. On Saturday, eight boats contended in a race three laps around the triangular course. With practically the entire fleet trying to hit the line at the windward buoy, the start looked like a bumping contest and the air was blue with protests and sea farin' language.

At the end of the beat home, "Dickie" Morrow had his Don't Duck in win position, the two Burleighs rode their Tee Bees to a place and Blanchard tacked in for show. Hall's No. 3418, Hill's Wee Too, Croughwell's Sans Peur, Simonds' Weave-It, Reeves' L'Allegro and Pyne's Phooka trailed along in that order.

Sunday's miserable weather produced one of the best races to date. Getting away from the Medford buoy at 10:30, it resolved itself into a reaching start, a windward thrash and a free run with the course shortened to two laps because of the pelting rain. The first four boats hit the final mark within a heartbeat of each other—practically a photo finish in this type of racing.

"Charlie" Reeves' L'Allegro squeaked out top honors with Sprague's Peanut, Croughwell's Sans Peur and Morrow's Don't Duck in hot pursuit. "Don" Simonds Weave-It, Burleigh's Tee Bees, Hill's Wee Too and Pyne's Phooka also ran.

After the race, the skippers toasted their dampened shins in front of the club house fireplace while Mrs. Hill served the regular after-the-race fleet luncheon.

Official standings to date are: Morrow 1579 points, Burleigh 1493, Sprague 1426, Simonds 1434, Blanchard 1391, Reeves 1377, Hill 1366, Croughwell 1363, Sherman 1301, Millican 1245, Hall 1190, Pyne 1102, Cunningham 910.

Plans for the Fourth of July week-end include the regular scheduled races at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon and 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning with a special race on the morning of the Fourth, a "Splash Regatta" in the afternoon and a weenie roast and Fourth Celebration on the club lawn in the evening.

The Star, following the New Deal tenet of more work and less pay—pardon us more pay and less work—will close all day Monday, July 3, thus forestalling administration criticism and any presidential proclamation. Happier business in 1941.

The New York World's Fair, hailed as the "World of Tomorrow," seems to be running true to New Deal form, if one may judge by the number of exhibits which are being closed owing to labor trouble. In this respect the exhibitors are about in the same position as American business, and it signifies what may be expected "tomorrow" if New Deal rule continues. Apparently a little new legislation from the White House is needed to direct these exhibitors into line.

SOCRATES SAYS-

THE DELUGE

Watch Government spending in 1940—the year of a national election—the last stand of "The Dealers." The theme will be "Preparedness"—plans to business to refit plants for war purposes; loans to railroads for new equipment in case of war; purchases of anything and everything as a war surplus; grants for harbor and river developments; increased government propaganda and education criticism. It will be spectacular—the "Abundant Livelihood."

The citizens desire adequate defense measures—but no offense, or the mending of New Deal fences. The questions will be—When is a fence not a fence?—Who is rattling what sabre?—Why a third New Deal "Four-year Plan"—whatever that is or was.

A SPECULATIVE HUNCH

Speaking of a "speculative hunch"—the definition of "hunch" is, "An impression that a certain thing will happen."

The spending of billions upon billions join the past seven years, has been the greatest "peace-time hunch" ever played in the history of the world, and like most "hunches" it has not worked out.

How many gamblers (with eleven million unemployed still in the hole) would or could continue "speculating" and spending "other people's property" on a "hunch" for seven years—yet it is to be continued.

It can now be fairly said that New Dealers consider it "conservative" to continue the "gamblers' speculation" that "double or nothing" seems "abundant life." They have speculated on doubling the national debt and flag has resulted.

FLAG POLE SITTING AGAIN

United States Attorney-General Murphy is quoted as saying that "13 per cent of a family's annual income for the public payroll is too much," also "I do maintain that instead of 2,000,000 Government employees, less than 3,000,000 should be plenty."

Think this one over, also after seven years of the wildest New Deal spending and the highest number of Government employees in peace times in the history of our country, Mr. Murphy, the ardent New Dealer, states, "Passing out of Government jobs in payment of political debts should end." "One million employees and one billion dollars annually should be cut out."

This indictment of government waste by the Attorney-General of the United States, a former New Deal Governor, who sat out the "sit downs" is worth more than just mild amusement. It reminds us of those "and those" flag pole sitters, those chaps whose aim it was to gain fame by trying to jump off "the perch" at the right time.

THE SALES TAX

If it is anywhere near a fact that one third of the people are "ill-housed, ill-clothed, and ill-fed," then those politicians who believe this are fooling the one-third when they insist that there be no sales taxes.

The very people who have the greatest difficulty in maintaining the standard of cost living conditions can have no idea of the enormous amount of their wages that are taken away from them in hidden taxes.

Every necessity of life that they must buy is taxed—first they imposed in one form or another by the very politicians who represent them, but they don't know it. If the people of America were ever allowed to see exactly, in the form of a sales tax, what proportion of their dollar earned really goes for taxes, practically every politician would be defeated for office.

Let's have a sales tax—first try it out as a "relief" tax—every dollar thus raised only to go for relief. Let the people know by direct taxes what this New Deal really costs. Let's not hide it by under-cover taxes. The people pay the bills, anyway—let them in on it—for it will not cost any more, except in disillusionment. Massachusetts will have a sales tax by 1940, due to New Deal waste.

LARGE ENROLLMENT IN RED CROSS WATER SAFETY AND SWIMMING CLASSES

With both Leonard Field pool and Wedge Pond open, the enrollment in the beginner's swimming classes has reached the century mark. Approximately 120 boys and girls have partaken of instruction so far. A surprisingly heavy enrollment in Junior Life Saving has kept the instructor busy particularly at Leonard Field. In response to the call for learners in the adult classes a few courageous ones have been enrolled and more are expected. It is hoped that there will be a swimming meet about the middle of July as well as the carnival planned for August 12. If present hopes are realized, about 100 of the most promising youngsters will be chosen from the Winchester boys and girls and sent in with expenses paid to the Boston Swimming Association pool next winter for instruction in both swimming and diving.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the June issue of "Our Message" there is an illuminating article by W. G. Calderwood. It is headed

The High Cost of Low Living
How do Americans spend their money? J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, puts our annual expenditure for crime at 15 billion dollars. That is more than we spend on any one essential, except food. Other major items as shown by a table that has been going the rounds of the press, place our expenditures for 1937 at:

$6,200,000,000 for gambling
$6,000,000,000 for liquor
$5,000,000,000 for travel
$3,000,000,000 for medical care
$2,000,000,000 for education
$1,500,000,000 for recreation
$1,000,000,000 for cosmetics
$750,000,000 for armaments
$250,000,000 for religious purposes

This is a total of $42,991,000,000 of which $29,000,000,000 or a little over two-thirds goes for crime, gambling, liquor, and tobacco, all of which, to say the least, is for non-essentials. That statement staggers belief. It seems and perhaps is, incredible. Hoover's statement of the cost of crime is probably essentially correct. There are abundant government figures to support it. The figures on gambling, however, are probably based on estimates, with inadequate data. The cost of taxed liquor can be computed from taxes paid, and there has been only a small addition to cover the bootleg, though government authorities have frequently stated that the volume of illicit intoxicants equals the legal. The amount spent for tobacco, computed on tax receipts, should be accurate. To allow five billion dollars as the possible margin of error would seem to be generous. This would leave 24 billion dollars per year, or two billions per month spent by Americans for non-essentials.

These ugly facts prove the higher cost of low living.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Taking full advantage of the versatility of its star, "Broadway Serenade" starring Jeanette MacDonald, comes to the University Theatre Sunday for three days. Appearing opposite the singing star is Lew Ayres. Ian Hunter forms the necessary point of the film's love triangle and Al Shean, famous old vaudevilian gives an interesting characterization as Herman, elderly concert cellist who befriends both Miss MacDonald and Ayres.

The rapidly growing ranks of the screen's Western stars are joined for the first time by Nelson Eddy in, "Let Freedom Ring" the associate film, a romantic and pulse-stirring drama of American pioneer days at the turn of the '60's.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "No Man of Her Own" co-starring Clark Gable and Carole Lombard and "Josette" featuring Don Ameche, Simone Simon and Robert Young.

"Juarez" the brilliant new production starring Paul Muni and Betty Davis, starts Thursday. Supporting Mr. Muni and Miss Davis are such stellar names as Brian Aherne, John Garfield, Claude Rains, Joseph Calleia, Gale Sondergaard and a host of others.

"Torchy Runs for Mayor," the companion film, features Glenda Farrell and Barton MacLane.

GRANADA THEATRE

Tyrone Power and Alice Faye, the romantic stars of "Alexander's Ragtime Band," are joined by the inimitable Al Jolson, singing against the songs he made great, in "Rose of Washington Square." You'll hear all your old favorites, "My Man," "I'm Sorry I Made You Cry," "April Showers," "Rose of Washington Square," "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows" in addition to some new hit tunes. In addition to three stars the picture has in the cast such well known character players as William Frawley, Joyce Compton and Hobart Cavanaugh.

A thrilling story of a psychiatrist who matched his wits against a murderer's blazing gun is the theme of "Blind Alley" the co-feature opening Friday at the Granada Theatre, Malden. Ralph Bellamy and Chester Morris in the leading roles turn in flawless performances as the professor and the criminal, respectively. Others in the cast include Ann Dvorak, Joan Perry, Rose Stradner, Scotty Beckett, Marc Lawrence, Melville Cooper and John Eldridge.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

The Western breathes new life with every note of Nelson Eddy's songs in "Let Freedom Ring," the Strand Theatre Malden's offering for the current week starting Friday, June 30. The cast includes Virginia Bruce, Victor McLaglen, Edward Arnold, Lionel Barrymore, Guy Kibbee, and Charles Butterworth.

The Ritz Brothers have turned detective in their latest picture and you'll have the time of your life watching these three half-wit Hawks tracking down a weird man-killing beast in "The Gorilla" which is the second feature opening Friday at the Strand Theatre, Malden. A cast of top-notch fun-and-fright players, headed by Anita Louise, Patsy Kelly, Lionel Atwill, Bela Lugosi, Joseph Calleia, Edward Norris and Wallis Vernon were chosen to help the Ritzes.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If God, the All-Being, be the creator of the spiritual universe, including man, then everything on earth is a classification of spirit, or Science, must be comprised in a knowledge or understanding of God, for there can be nothing beyond illimitable divinity" (p. 127).

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony
Director of A & P Kitchen

Beef prices are now lower, than they have been in a year, making it the best meat value with the possible exception of pork loins. Poultry is relatively even cheaper including ducklings, heavy fowls and young chickens. Butter, cheese and eggs are also very reasonable. Most fish and seafood items are inexpensive.

Dry weather is beginning to affect the growth of some foods on the eastern seaboard, particularly peas and berries. Most varieties of berries, sweet cherries, apricots, peaches, apples and melons are now in market. Apples are nearly gone, grapefruit and oranges are less plentiful and banana supplies vary little but all are adequate to meet the demand.

Salad and vegetable supplies are generous at attractive price levels.

ITALIAN EMPIRE BIGGER BUT LESS POPULOUS THAN GERMANY

When it comes to adding up modern empires how does Italy stand with regard to lands and people? According to the National Geographic Society, "The Kingdom of Italy, an area of less than 120,000 square miles, holds nearly 41,000,000 people. The annexation of Albania in April of this year added more than 10,500 square miles and something over a million people. The conquest of Ethiopia in 1935-36 brought to some 7,500,000 inhabitants and 660,000 square miles. With these late acquisitions, plus the home land and the African territories of Libya, Eritrea and Italian Somaliland, Italian sovereignty today extends over more than a million and a half square miles of territory and 54,000,000 people. Compared with the expanding empire of her "axis" partner, Germany, Italy controls about seven times as much land, but in terms of population, less than two-thirds as many people.

BOY SCOUTS NOTES

On Sunday, June 25, the Winchester Explorer Patrol, under the leadership of Adult Leader Stafford Rogers and Explorer Mate Nick Zamanakos, made a conditioning trip to Mt. Monadnock.

Although the weather was not at all to be desired, the trip was made without a wetting. The clouds covered the summit when the patrol arrived but lifted enough for some limited views before the descent was made. The new pack boards, constructed by the boys, were tried out and found to be very successful.

The following members of the patrol made the trip: Adult Leader Stafford Rogers, Explorer Mate Nick Zamanakos, Assistant Mate Joe Russo, Log Keeper, Rocco DeTosco, Mike Saraco, John Campbell. And the following guests: Scout William Papard, Scout Nick Molen, Scout Dante DeTosco.

There are a few vacancies in the Patrol and any first class scout over 15 years who would like to join should make application to one of the members listed above.

Troop 7 Held Week-end Camping Trip

Friday afternoon, June 23, about 4 o'clock the following left the First Baptist Church for the annual week-end camping trip at Camp Fellsland on the Pow Wow River in Amesbury.

On arrival at camp the boys were assigned to quarters in cabins A-2, A-3 and A-4. Fire was started in the kitchen range so as to make it warm and comfortable since the weather was very wet outside. A picnic supper was enjoyed and announcements of various details made.

As the rain had stopped somewhat a campfire was built and everybody took part in a song fest. All were in bed by 10 o'clock, but it proved rather difficult to go to sleep as there was considerable life in everybody present.

Saturday morning most of the Scouts took an early morning dip and breakfast was served consisting of pancakes, sausages, fruit, milk and coffee, at 8 o'clock. As the weather seemed somewhat better, it was decided to take a hike and we started toward S. Hampton, N. H. A picnic lunch was eaten on the village green in that town and then it was thought best to continue along the Pow Wow River by another route so as to see new country and also to pass from one state into the next several times. However, it was also discovered as we journeyed along that this route was much longer. Many felt that they had done a 14 mile hike twice, but on more sober thought, we probably did it once. Some of the scouts went ahead and laid a very good trail through some woods and a clay pit which could easily be followed by the remainder of the troop.

As the sun had come out when we returned to camp, everyone went in bathing and then began the great baseball game for the championship of the camp. The two teams were chosen by Scoutmaster Casler and Scout Johnson. The battery for Mr. Casler's side was Tracy and Jury; and for Johnson's side, Johnson, Post and O'Connor. Mr. Casler's side won 10-7, but it would seem that this side was extremely fortunate in having the game end where it did for the other team was just beginning to hit and if this game had lasted one or two more innings, they certainly would have won the game.

Scoutmaster Casler, was lucky in making one hit and one run.

One outstanding point of the trip was the interest shown by Mr. Casler in using Mr. Swanson's electric razor because it did not have to be plugged into a tree.

For supper we had baked beans, frankfurts, pickles, mustard, bread, and watermelon which was enjoyed by all. More baseball and then the following investiture service was held:

Mr. Butterworth presented Mr. Casler with the Scoutmaster's Badge, after which the new Scoutmaster took charge and presented the following badges:

Paul Butterworth, Assistant Scoutmaster's Badge and five year veteran badge
Mr. Swanson, Head Scout's Badge
Augusta, Second Class Badge Merit Badges:

R. Swanson, Painting, Scholarship
Ernest Butterworth, Citizenship, First Aid to Animals, Animal Industry, Carpentry Perfect Attendance Badges

Ernest Butterworth, Ellsworth Post, Ralph Swanson Perfect Attendance Bars
Ernest Jones, Johnson, Mr. Casler

The Patrol Contest

Silver Flying Eagle 93, Beavers 90.

A number of tests were passed during the day. After the hike and baseball games, everyone was ready to go to bed at 10 o'clock and immediately went to sleep.

Sunday morning we were served cereal, fruit, bacon and eggs, bread and jam, milk and coffee for breakfast. Inspection was held at 10 o'clock and the results were as follows: Cub in A-3 won with a total of 13 points deducted, A-4 had a total of 14 points deducted and A-2 16 points deducted.

A church service was held in camp for the Protestant boys and the Catholic boys were taken to Amesbury for mass.

The final meal which was Sunday dinner consisted of Roast Lamb, mashed potatoes, peas, bread and butter, strawberry shortcake, mint jelly, milk and coffee. New records in eating were made by several members. The troop committee is very grateful for the co-operation and help of Dr. O'Connor and Mr. Jury for furnishing transportation.

After the grounds had been policed and final inspection made, we left for Winchester. Although it had been cold and rainy, it did not dampen the spirits of the various members and it was noted that this was one of the most successful camping trips taken by the troop.

Camp Fellsland

Mr. Edward W. Nelson Scout Executive of the Fellsland Council, Boy Scouts of America, and also director of their summer camp, located in Amesbury and Newton, N. H., reports a very heavy enrollment of boys for this year's camp. Last week has helped to swell the attendance figures which will undoubtedly mean filled weeks again this season, as it was last year. He reports that all 19 staff members are now in camp making preparations for the opening day on Sunday, July 2.

As a result of last year's hurricane an accumulated amount of brush from uprooted trees will be stacked, in addition to some of the big roots, to make a monster bonfire over the 4th of July, that will be a part of the 4th of July celebration. In addition to the monster bonfire there will be special ice cream served during the day to all campers, and a regular barrage of fireworks will be set off by the individual campers and members of the camp staff.

On the following week, starting July 9, one of the highlights of the week will be the visitation of all Fellsland Council Scouters and their wives at camp for the annual meeting on Wednesday, July 12. This affair will again be headed by a committee of Har. Peble, Woburn; Walter Fish, Jr., of Stoneham; Reginald H. MacMinn of Medford and John B. Kenerson of Winchester. Mr. Kenerson will serve as chairman of the committee. This committee will arrange a program of sports in the afternoon, and a regular banquet to be served by the camp staff at 7 p. m.

The first plant in the United States for the manufacture of sugar, from sugar beets, was erected in Northampton in 1838.

EDISON CREWS GUESTS AT WOBURN

The Woburn District crews of the Boston Edison Company, which recently were awarded the Claude L. Matthews Medals of Valor for the outstanding utility accomplishment in the country in 1938, were the guests of honor this week at the regular meeting of the Woburn Rotary Club. George C. McNeill, district foreman for the Boston Edison Company, who recently received the award on behalf of his men at the annual convention of the Edison Electric Institute at New York, was a member of the Woburn Rotary Club.

Claude L. Matthews of St. Louis, for many years an outstanding leader in the utility business and the donor of the award, was present at the meeting and awarded individual medals to each of the 37 members of the crews for their accomplishment in restoring service to Woburn, Winchester, Stoneham and Burlington on the night of the hurricane of Sept. 21, 1938. Present with Mr. Matthews at the luncheon was J. J. Costello, his New England representative, a former Woburn boy.

Representing the Boston Edison Company, in addition to the recipients of the awards, were Vice President Thomas H. Carens, Herbert W. Moses, Industrial Relations Manager, Thomas H. Haines, Superintendent of Transmission and Distribution, J. V. Macdonald, Publicity Director and others.

In his speech Mr. Matthews paid high tribute to the courage and ingenuity of Foreman McNeill and his men for the deeds which won them the award. He congratulated the utilities of New England on their quick recovery from the devastating effects of the hurricane.

Mr. Carens voiced the pride of the Boston Edison organization in the fact that a part of it had been singled out for distinguished honor.

"The manner in which George McNeill and his boys overcame difficulties on that wild night of the hurricane," said Mr. Carens, "was an outstanding example of the readiness with which our forces in the field are prepared to meet a great emergency. The work of the Woburn crews on that night was submitted in the competition for the Matthews Award because it contained so many spectacular deeds of courage. But nobody knows better than George McNeill and his men that they were merely following a principle of service which has long been an integral part of Boston Edison activities. They know that throughout our system on the night of the hurricane and in the weeks that followed there were other acts of heroism by individuals and by groups which contributed to the very early recovery of normal service."

"While the men in the field played the part of the infantry men in the front line trenches, they knew at all times that they were backed by a hand-working service of supply which was keeping tools and materials moving toward them as fast as they were needed. It is interesting to note that within a single week we were able to round up and bring in to New England the equivalent of three years' supply of poles and enough wire to meet our normal needs for five years."

"Our happiest memory of the hurricane, however, will always be the sympathetic and tolerant attitude of our public during the emergency and their complete understanding of the problems we had to meet."
